Soviets Junk British and French Pacts

Friendship Treaties
Killed in Reprisal
for Arming Germany

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government, in diplomatic thrusts on two fronts, moved Saturday to scrap its friendship treaties with Britain and France and demanded quick agreement on the long-delayed Austrian independence treaty.

Both moves seemed calculated for their effect on public opinion in Western Europe.

The Council of Ministers asked the Soviet parliament, which is sure to act quickly, to cancel the treaties of friendship and alliance signed with the British and French governments in World War II.

The Russians made clear this is in retaliation for ratification of the Paris accords to rearm West Germany, a step the Soviets view as bringing that country into an alignment directed against the East.

Earlier, Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov had handed envoys of Britain, France and the United States similar notes in which the government declared the Austrian treaty must be completed speedily and expressed hope that next week's visit to Moscow by Austrian chancellor Julius Raab would help.

Recently the Western powers declared that the Austrian treaty is a matter of four-power concern.

In Saturday's communication, the Soviet government said it took into account the exchanges of opinion on the subject between the Austrian and Western governments since the Berlin Big Four foreign ministers' conference in 1954.

Dulles Meets With Ike as Reds Bluster

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles conferred Saturday while U. S. officials studied blunt threats by the Chinese Reds that they will attack Formosa.

Dulles was not on the White House calling list. But he went in a White House side door and talked with the President in his office before Mr. Eisenhower left for a quick trip to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm.

After the meeting—described by the White House as an "international matter"—Dulles returned to his office to work on foreign policy problems and a speech he plans to deliver Monday night before a local Catholic order.

The speech will not be televised or broadcast. It was not known whether the secretary's remarks would be made public or whether he would talk on the Far Eastern crisis.

The non-scheduled White House meeting was held against a backdrop of a very close study being given at the State and Defense Departments of Peiping's sudden resumption of blunt threats to "liberate" Formosa, and new propaganda attacks on United States "aggression" in the Far East.

Probe Pays Off

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army reported Saturday that its investigation of fraud in dependency claims has netted monthly savings of about $1,225,432 over a 26-month period.

L.A.C. SAYS:

Why More Drilling?

The Harbor Commission is about to ask for bids for oil development of parcels K and L. Those parcels are south and east of the parcels now being produced by LBOD and Richfield. The extreme southeast corner of parcel L appears on the map to be an extension of the harbor to a point east of Alamitos Ave.

It raises the question: Why should there be more wells drilled, in view of the Mallon case decision? Certainly we do not need more oil. Any amount we produce may all go to the state, or at least half of it probably will.

The Harbor Department has stated the main object of developing K and L is to pump water into that area and, thereby, push the oil landward. This, it is assumed,

'For He Is Risen'... Four Words That Changed the Face of the World

Eloping N.Y. Pair, 15-16, Wed in Utah

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A boy who sold his trombone to get enough money to elope was married to his 15-year-old sweetheart Saturday.

An alert truant officer, the director and his assistant at the Salt Lake Detention Home and more than a dozen sympathetic social workers broke down the obstacles in the way of the young couple.

Fifteen-year-old Barbara Catter of Syosset, N.Y., was married to 16-year-old Kenneth Brown, East Norwich, N. Y., in St. Mary's Episcopal Cathedral.

Mrs. Brown wore a white floor-length wedding gown loaned her by Mrs. Lloyd Bennett, who also prepared the pair's first meal in their new apartment. She is a social worker, married only six months ago herself. Her home formerly was in Cardston, Alta.

Ken wore a dark blue suit box.

Sunrise Services Hail Risen Christ

For thousands of Long Beach area families the rising sun today took on added significance as a symbol of their Christ risen from the dead.

Outdoor amphitheaters throughout the area were filled to overflowing with Easter Sunday worshippers who assembled in pre-dawn darkness to await the rising sun and the reaffirmation of their religious faith. However, the Weather Bureau predicted that fog would shroud the services in Long Beach and other coastal cities. It is expected to lift by 8 or 9 a. m.

In Long Beach, in addition to special services in the various churches, the Long Beach Division of Christian Endeavor and youth for Christ held open service for the congregations of 12 local churches in Recreation Park, 7th St. and Park Ave., beginning at 6:30 a. m.

In San Pedro's Green Hills Memorial Park, more than 7,500 persons from 85 churches were expected to turn out for 5:40 a. m. services, sponsored by the Long Beach Council of Churches and the Ministerial Association of Long Beach City, San Pedro and Wilmington.

Report on Salk Polio Vaccine Delayed Slightly

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — The long-awaited hour of decision on the success of the Salk polio vaccine Saturday was pushed back 70 minutes.

Original plans to release the information—painstakingly gathered over more than nine months—at 9:10 a. m. Tuesday, April 12 were changed. Instead, the announcement hour will be 10:20 a. m. Tuesday.

The decision to change the time came at a conference between officials of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and the University of Michigan.

BLONDE CRIES 'I'M A MAMA'

Unmarried 'Mother Goose' Hatches Fuzzy Triplets

MIAMI (AP) — A shapely blonde who sat on a nest of goose eggs for 28 days hatched three little goslings Saturday and gushed, "I'm a mama."

Blue-eyed Patricia Ann Godbee, a 21-year-old waitress who carried out the daffy Mother Goose stunt, was so excited she could hardly sit still on the four eggs still remaining in her specially-built "brooder house."

"I'm really surprised," she said. "I hoped all along it would work but not until I heard the first peep could I believe it."

The first of the "fluffy little things" started coming through the shell early Saturday, she said, and it wasn't long until its two brothers, or sisters, arrived. Patricia's mother, Mrs. Mell Godbee, stood by expectantly, then sighed.

"I've finally become a grand-mother."

Patricia's smiles quickly turned to cold glares whenever a curious passerby suggested there may have been a bit of barnyard

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is considering tighter controls on exports of iron and steel scrap. Assistant Secretary of Commerce Samuel W. Anderson said Saturday.

Corsi Ouster Stirs Storm; Dulles Accused of Surrender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and Democrats Saturday accused Secretary of State John Foster Dulles of "cowardly buckling," "shameless surrender" and "a disgraceful flip-flop" in ousting Edward J. Corsi as State Department immigration expeditor.

Rep. Emmanuel Celler (D-NY) said State Department Security Chief Scott McLeod is "the villain in this piece." He called McLeod a "stooge" of Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and charged that Dulles dismissed Corsi "so as not to offend McCarthy or to alienate the McCarthy group in the Republican party."

McLeod refused to comment on Corsi's charge. But he told a reporter that "my association with Mr. Corsi has been entirely pleasant. . . . He has made a valuable contribution . . . to our administration of the refugee relief act."

Corsi also declined to comment on Celler's statement. But he told a reporter that he feels he was a victim of the same methods that "the Communists, Nazis and Fascists use to intimidate people and force them into submission."

He said he will decide today or Monday whether to accept a substitute job which Dulles offered him. Friends predicted he will reject it.

Corsi has been accused by Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee and co-author of the McCarran-Walter immigration law, of having associated in the past with Communist front organizations. Corsi has denied this, and the State Department said there is no question about his "security" status.

Corsi said the real reason for his dismissal was that he had offended Walter and others by fighting for liberalization of the immigration law. He said Dulles told him simply that there is no sense in continuing the controversy with Walter—"that it didn't do anybody any good."

"I am a controversial figure," said Corsi, "and it is easier to get along without a controversial figure."

3 Men Arrested;
'Elaborate' Setup
at One Apartment

By LEE CRAIG

Two bookmaking establishments doing an aggregate business of nearly $7,000 a day were shut down and three men were arrested on bookmaking charges in raids here Saturday by sheriff's vice squad officers.

Working in co-operation with Long Beach police, deputies first raided an apartment at 920 Linden Ave., where they found what one officer described as "one of the most elaborate bookie setups we've ever uncovered."

Acting on information gained at the Linden Ave. apartment, deputies went to a residence at 161 Claremont Ave., where they broke down a door after they had been refused admittance.

Netted in the first raid were John Edward Jenkins, 63, of 1745 E. Ocean Blvd., and Jack William Freed, 40, of 1885 Chastain Ave. Arrested at the Claremont Ave. address was Thomas Michael King, 40, of 1927 Lees Ave.

Each establishment had two phones in addition to betting markers, scratch sheets and other betting paraphernalia. In the Linden Ave. apartment, cards containing bettors' names and in-

Boy, 7, Badly Injured in Crash Here

A 7-year-old boy was in "very critical" condition at Community Hospital as a result of a two-car accident at Del Amo Blvd. and Graywood Ave. Saturday afternoon.

David Chandler was treated at the hospital for head injuries. His brother, James, 2, suffered a broken nose when a car driven by their mother, Mrs. Betty J. Chandler, 29, of 2839 Senesac Ave. collided with one driven by William F. Combs, 37, of 6075 Lakewood Blvd.

Combs was given a citation by Off. A. L. Hlatt for failure to make a boulevard stop sign and failure to grant the right of way to a car making a left hand turn.

The accident occurred about 2 p. m.

would increase production of oil. It would also have a tendency to slow down subsidence. This, however, does not tell us if more oil is to be extracted than water will be injected.

In view of the issues raised by the Mallon decision it is evident we should go slowly in any further tideland oil development. There is no danger of drainage of these parcels. There is no better place to store oil than in the ground. But any further drilling does increase the danger of subsidence.

The asking for bids at this time will whet the appetite of those seeking more and more of our tideland oil. It will be some time before the attorneys and City Council will decide just what further legal action is to be taken to protect our stake in the tidelands. Until we have thoroughly explored the future, it seems reasonable that we stop further development of new areas.

From an action taken by the City Council some nine years ago, it appears the Harbor Department may have authority for such an extension of operations. But the present City Council must approve any contract and budget for that purpose. That makes it important that the Harbor Commission and City Council agree on what is to be done. The City Council has the responsibility of protecting the city from further subsidence.

It is believed the Harbor Commission's plan for dredging to provide more filled land is to provide drill sites to reach further east by slant drilling. In view of the confusion over what money may be available it would seem this program should be delayed. The City Council should take the necessary steps to stop wells from being bottomed further east—until we are assured we have solved the subsidence problem.

Some oil companies still refuse to admit oil extraction is the cause of subsidence. But qualified geologists from our universities have accepted that fact. The subsidence, now 20 feet at the Edison plant and three feet at Pine Ave. and the ocean, has occurred as we have drained millions of barrels of oil from the harbor district and from the Richfield lease, which is taking oil from under the beach, east to Pine Ave.

It is a good time to stop, look and listen. We do not need the additional oil. No one is draining the areas covered by parcels K and L. We have not solved the subsidence problem. We do not know how far-reaching the Mallon decision may be. For these reasons it would seem a good time to hold up any further bidding for development from which we may not profit at all, but from which we might incur greater losses from subsidence.—L.A.C.

Suicide Leap Prevented by Janitor

CHICAGO (AP)—A janitor slammed a window on the arms of a young airman as he tried to leap out of an eighth-floor office Sunday and kept the distraught youth pinned safely until help arrived.

Police identified the serviceman as Airman W. C. James R. Setty, 23, of the 118th Operations Squadron, Lincoln Air Force Base, Lincoln, Neb.

Policeman John Keller, who was in on the rescue, said Setty told police he is AWOL from the base and had been drinking the last three days.

"I'm sorry that guy saved me; there's no place on earth for me," Setty was quoted by Keller.

The airman was spotted climbing out the window of a vacant office in a west side building by janitor John Kupisch.

Kupisch slammed the window on Setty's arms and yelled to a telephone operator on the floor to notify police.

Keller and policeman Peter Shoup responded to the call. They and Kupisch struggled with Setty as he dangled outside the building and pulled him to safety.

Setty told police his mother lives in Northridge, Calif., a Los Angeles suburb, but refused to disclose her name. He was turned over to military authorities.

Corsi Ouster Stirs Storm; Dulles Accused of Surrender

Rep. Victor L. Anfuso (D-N.Y.), in a telegram to Dulles— "This thing goes beyond partisan politics... I demand a complete explanation."

Recalling that Corsi had served under former Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for many years as New York state industrial commissioner, Lehman said the way in which he was "mercilessly sacrificed" by Dulles is "an insult to the people of New York."

Here's the way other people saw the ouster:

New York State Attorney General Jacob K. Javitz, a Republican— "A setback to enlightened immigration policy."

John Lamula, executive secretary of the Lower Manhattan Republican Club in New York— "A disgraceful flip-flop... will cost the Republican party many thousands of votes in 1956 and possibly the loss of New York and several doubtful states."

Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.)— "Demanded that Dulles give a 'full explanation' why he suddenly decided to oust a man whom he described only three months ago as 'the best qualified man in America' to handle refugee and immigration problems. Referring to Walter's charges, Frelinghuysen also asked: 'Are we witnessing a new McCarthyism from the Democratic side?'" formation on the bets were neatly filed in a wooden rack.

More than 60 cards were in the rack, indicating, officers said, that at least that many persons had placed bets with Jenkins and Freed Saturday before the 3 p.m. raid.

Deputies estimated the pair's daily business at nearly $5,000.

Jenkins told officers he remained at the apartment all day, taking bets on the phones, while Freed worked mornings "in the field," contacting bettors, collecting money and making payoffs.

In the afternoon, Freed said, he returned to the apartment to help Jenkins with the phones.

The pair said they had been operating in the apartment for about six weeks. Both said they were working for a third person but told police they didn't know their employer's name.

King, who officers estimated was doing about $2,000 business daily, also said he had been hired by someone else. He said he knew for whom he worked but refused to tell the man's name.

The suspect told police he had been paid $15 a day by his unnamed employer.

The three men were booked in Long Beach jail for investigation of bookmaking.

The three arrested suspects obtained release on writs signed by Superior Judge Joseph M. Maltby.

Writs for Jenkins and King set bail at $10,000 each. Freed's bail was set at $500. All three posted bail.

The writs are returnable April 15 at 9:15 a.m. in Department C of Superior Court.

Demo Defends Billions In Plane Obsolescence

WASHINGTON (AP)—The race to develop better armaments is leaving a vast amount of obsolete aviation equipment on the government's hands. But Sen. Stennis (D-Miss.) says that does not spell waste.

Stennis said Saturday he agrees with Secretary of the Air Force Talbott that an obsolescence cost of one to two billion dollars involved in converting to new, heavy jet bombers cannot be classed as money down the drain.

"The price of air superiority in this tense world comes high but it is worth it," Stennis said.

Stennis is a member of the Senate appropriations committee now considering a request for 14½ billion dollars for the Air Force during the next fiscal year.

Talbott told senators this week that the Air Force now has 100 million dollars worth of jet aircraft engines that are obsolete.

"I don't know what to do with them," the secretary said. "They can't be used as guided missiles. We can't give them away."

He said there are 2,500 of the obsolete engines that cost $40,000 each.

Under sharp questioning of Sen. Ellender (D-La.) Talbott said there probably will be even greater costs in the shift from the huge propeller-driven B-36 long-range bombers to the fast jet-engine B-52s. They will take over the job of delivering atomic or hydrogen bombs on distant enemy targets if war comes.

"The B-36 has finished production and it is obsolete," Talbott said.

Ellender asked what steps were being "taken to stop such waste."

Talbott said the shift would probably cost "a billion or two billion dollars but that is not lost."

"That is how much we have spent and if we had not had those we could not have had the protection and strength that we needed during the last few years," Talbott said. "It is an unfortunate depreciation or obsolescence."

Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, testified that a single B-52 "costs close to 10 million dollars" and that 3,000 men are needed to maintain and operate a group of 30 of these latest bombers.

The actual B-52 crew numbers only five but Twining said in wartime there must be several trained crews for each bomber. Cost of training one pilot is estimated at $120,000.

Talbott told Ellender the 100 million dollars worth of obsolete jet engines resulted from ordering too many during the Korean war in 1954-52.

As they left the cathedral, his young wife told a reporter: "Tell our parents we're both very happy."

Ken and Barbara fell in love while attending Oyster Bay High School, where he was president of the junior class. He sold his trombone, they gathered their savings and, with $240 in their pockets, headed for Salt Lake City aboard a bus.

They chose Salt Lake City, they said, "because we thought it would be a good place to marry and settle down," besides, with consent of parents, boys can be married here at 16 and girls at 14. There is no waiting period.

After arriving here, Ken got a job with a florist. But while they were filing marriage applications and getting blood tests, a truant officer picked up Barbara for questioning.

When he learned anxious parents were looking for the pair, he took them to the Salt Lake County Detention Home.

There the director, Kenneth A. Griffiths, and his assistant, Claude C. Dean, decided to help.

They arranged telephone calls to the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Cotter and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brown. After lengthy talks, permission finally was won.

KIDS, MAYOR COMPROMISE

'Trillion-Dollar Suit' Settled Out of Court

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mayor Allen Thompson bowed Saturday to a child's plea that the "Popsicle man plays the same tunes mother sings me to sleep with" and spared the city a trillion-dollar suit.

Five determined kids threatened to slap the astronomical suit against His Honor if he didn't let the ice-cream vendors play their music boxes, a violation of the city's anti-noise ordinance.

"I don't think that music disturbs the peace," said 10-year-old James Connor Halfacre.

Young Halfacre, appointed spokesman for the little group, pointed out in a two-hour session in the mayor's office that "my mother sings me to sleep and she sings the same tunes as the Popsicle man plays."

Thompson, stuffing the children with ice cream and pleasantly harassed by weeks of publicity resulting from the somewhat fantastic controversy, settled the affair once and for all by ruling that music, after all, isn't noise.

"The kids can have their music and the ice-cream salesman can too," he said, "if they'll tone the sounds down to a more soothing level."

Thompson agreed to amend the ordinance, on a trial basis of 60 days, if the kids would be his guests—with all the ice cream they could eat—at a Guy Lombardo Orchestra concert here Saturday night.

"We agree," replied Ann Shaddock. "This has been a very successful talk and we promise to drop the lawsuit."

Ann James and three other playmates wrote the mayor, "If you don't do what we say, we will sue for a trillion dollars. Please let the ice-cream man put his music box back on his wagon."

The petition also was signed by Garland Richmond, 10; Buddy Lowther, 7; and Sandra Richmond, 9. Some of them signed their names twice "because we wanted to make the list look bigger," explained James.

"This business has spread all over the country," Thompson said. "I hope the outcome shows that I'm not a mean man after all."

Lombardo had written Thompson inviting the children to hear his orchestra if the mayor would supply the ice cream.

"I hope you aren't anti-music," Lombardo wrote, "or anti-ice cream, for that matter."

"I don't want people thinking Thompson is such a horse," said the mayor, who is president of the American Municipal Association.

Interim Study of Tidelands Grants Seen

By MALCOLM EPLEY

Home for a brief rest and conference with city officials, Assemblyman William S. Grant said Saturday that there is talk in Sacramento of turning over the Long Beach tidelands questions and all other tidelands grant matters to an interim committee for study.

"This thing is becoming so complicated that some legislators think the only proper solution can be found through a study between sessions," said Grant. "Because of the far-reaching implications, they see danger in any precipitate action."

Grant said there is feeling among legislators that in view of the Supreme Court decision in the Mallon case affecting Long Beach tidelands funds, all state tidelands grants should be investigated. A bill to that end may be introduced soon, he said.

The Mallon decision which held that 50 per cent of Long Beach tidelands funds should go to the state under a 1951 legislative act has had "considerable impact" in Sacramento, Grant stated. Already, new bills are showing up for making use of the money in various ways.

Grant opined that Long Beach must step up its efforts to defeat the bill introduced by Assemblyman Bruce Allen, San Jose, which would take not only the 50 per cent of Long Beach funds covered by the Supreme Court decision, but all other local tidelands funds.

Allen has stated he will amend his bill to provide for funds for operation of Long Beach harbor, but Grant said he had not seen any draft of the proposed amendments. "We cannot ignore the threat in Allen's proposal," said Grant. "I'm convinced that this threat can be repulsed, but it will take our best effort."

Grant said he was pleased that the city had decided to ask for a rehearing in the Mallon case.

"Many people in Sacramento feel that it will be a long time before it is finally determined whether Long Beach has actually lost half its tidelands money," said Grant.

The Assemblyman will return to Sacramento by airplane this evening.

DEMO ACTION
The 18th Congressional District Democratic Council has voted unanimously in favor of every possible action—"an appeal to the Supreme Court, if necessary"—to retain local control of the Long Beach tidelands oil fund.

Danny Brice, vice president and press secretary of the organization, said the Democratic Council's sentiments on this have been made known by letter to Assemblymen Grant and Herbert Kloocksiem and State Senator Richard Richards.

REDONDO TO VOTE ON DRILLING PLAN

REDONDO BEACH—An offer by a combine of petroleum companies to seek oil under the local tidelands will be put before the voters of this city, probably in September.

Meanwhile, the Hermosa Beach City Council has decided that it will wait for more offers before deciding what to do about a tidelands proposal it received from the Artnell Gas & Oil Co., one of three firms involved in the Redondo deal.

The decision by the Redondo council to seek a mandate from the people on their oil proposition came after four of the city council members voted to override a veto by Mayor Russell Shea.

Both cities now have initiative ordinances which ban drilling along the shoreline.

Dope Addicts Admit 'Burglary a Day'

NORWALK—More than 40 Lakewood area burglaries were solved Saturday when Norwalk sheriff's deputies reported three separate teams, including two narcotic addicts who admitted a burglary a day to finance their heroin habits, made confessions.

The narcotics addicts were adults, detectives said, and the other two teams were made up of two teen-agers and two young boys who had earlier admitted setting a $1,200 fire at a school.

The adults, Ralph R. Roberts, 24, and ex-convict Emilio Alvarez, 26, both transients, pointed out eight houses in this area which they said they had broken into during daylight hours in the past three months.

Detective Sgt. Jim Kelly and Walt Hotra said the pair arrested in the act of pulling a burglary in Los Angeles, said they had been averaging a burglary every day since the first of the year in order to finance their growing heroin habits.

They hit only corner houses and took only cash and articles which could readily be converted to cash. Many guns were included in the list of properties taken. Prosecution will be handled by Los Angeles police, who made the arrests.

Youngest of the three burglary crews whose careers were halted this week were the 11- and 12-year-old Lakewood City boys who Wednesday admitted setting fire to the MacArthur School, 6061 Central Ave.

Sgt. E. V. Carver, crime prevention bureau, said the boys pointed out four houses they had broken into, two of them the same day they set the fire. Carver said that under the state educational laws the boys' parents may be held fi-four persons including two motorcyclists and a woman pedestrian, were killed Friday night and Saturday morning.

Michael Egger, 5, is still in critical condition at Harbor General Hospital where he was taken after a three-car accident in which his father, Julius Egger, 46, of 9556 Farm St., Downey, was killed at Rosecrans Ave. and Broadway Saturday morning.

Michael suffered head injuries. Driver of one of the other cars, Jack L. Johnson, 19, of 21337 Carolalee St., suffered shock and possible head injuries when his car collided with a truck driven by Ray Campos, 38, of Los Angeles. Egger and his two sons were passengers in the truck.

Two motorcyclists, Terry Lee Kira, 27, of 9800 McNerney Ave., South Gate, and C. L. Winters, 27, of Los Angeles were killed when their cycle was struck by a hit-run driver on El Segundo near Avalon Blvd. Friday night.

A pedestrian, Miss Nancy Brown, 22, of Los Angeles, was killed when she was struck by a car driven by Ernest L. Britton, 2533 E. 115th St., Willowbrook, at Alameda St. and Century Blvd. Friday night.

In a Long Beach accident Saturday afternoon Barbara Nurse, 24, of 2337 Euclid Ave., suffered minor injuries when a car driven by Douglas Nurse, 23, same address, collided with one driven by Roy E. McGinty, 48, of 6250 McKnight St., Lakewood City.

Nurse was cited by police for failure to obey a traffic signal.

Mrs. Ivy King, 74, of 1083 Alameda Ave., a pedestrian, was treated in St. Mary's Hospital for cuts and bruises suffered Saturday afternoon at 4th St. and Cherry Ave. when she was struck by a car.

Police said the driver, William F. Noble, 24, of 5929 Greentown St., was issued a citation for failure to grant a pedestrian right of way.

El Toro Trio Safe; Crashes Fatal to 10

By United Press

Two widely separated military plane crashes killed 10 persons and injured seven Saturday. Four other airmen, three of them from El Toro Air Base near Santa Ana, parachuted to safety from a Navy plane when its engine "conked out."

Four of the 10 deaths and all seven injuries resulted from the crash of a F4M1 Navy patrol plane at Norfolk, Va. The craft veered off course while taking off and smashed into a seawall.

The dead were identified as Claude F. Howell, aviation ordnanceman, 3rd class, Norfolk; John C. Pustinger, aviation electronics technician, 1st class, Winsted, Conn.; Richard J. Caughlin, aviation electronics technician 3rd class, Concord, N. H.; and Joseph M. Barnes, airman, Russell Springs, Ky.

The three El Toro men and their companion parachuted from their Marine Corps plane over northern Louisiana Saturday night. All four were unhurt.

The plane crashed into woods about six and one-half miles east of Baskin, La., in Franklin Parish (county) at about 7:55 p.m. (EST).

Three of the men, 1st Lt. W. W. Wamel, M/Sgt. P. T. Harri-man and Pfc. T. R. Stewart, were from El Toro, Calif. They were taken to Winnsboro, La.

The other man, Seaman B. D. Squires from the USS Brown, was taken to Rayville, La.

At Brisbane, Australia, a Royal Australian Air Force bomber on a mercy mission crashed into a mountainside, killing all six persons aboard, including a newborn baby being rushed to a hospital. The bomber was carrying 3-day-old Anna Huxley, suffering from a rare blood disease, and her nurse, from Townsville to Brisbane for urgent blood transfusions. Four crewmen were killed in the crash.

tions issued against adults and juveniles through Friday.

According to the police department, 32 reserve officers have joined the force of 34 regulars. 8 military policemen, 4 agents of the state liquor control authority and 2 federal narcotics agents.

The two late citations were issued against juveniles for petty theft of a camera from a parked car.

Meanwhile, in some quarters, Balboa's problem with holiday-spirited youth was discounted.

Typical of the residents who think troubles resulting from the annual spring influx of youngsters have been overemphasized is the builder-owner of the amusement zone on the bay.

"We haven't had any serious trouble in the zone for the last eight years," said 60-year-old Al Anderson, who has operated the carousels and carnival attractions for 18 years.

"I use three special officers to watch for trouble in the amusement zone," Anderson said Saturday night, "but this weekend I could have gotten along with only one."

Some residents of the area near the fun zone think that the guardians of the peace soon will outnumber the teen-agers.

Patrol cars droned relentlessly up and down the narrow streets. Saturday night. Men in uniform strolled on foot and plainclothesmen strolled through the crowds.

"It's almost like the Gestapo," protested Anderson. "You start threatening the youngsters with jail and you're sticking your neck out for real trouble," he maintained.

"Pushing them around will only get them mad. Treat teenagers like adults and you'll have no trouble," Anderson concluded.

One businessman on the island said, "Folks come up and ask where all the rowdiness is. Then they seem disappointed when I tell them there isn't any."

Youth's viewpoint was represented by Johnny Lindell Jr., son of the former major league and Hollywood baseball star.

"I've been hearing about fights and riots down here for quite some time now," said young Lindell, "but damned if I have seen a single brawl."

Bunny Nips Boy's Finger Almost Off on Easter Eve

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (AP)—Four-year-old Bruce Comer's gift Easter rabbit bit the child's hand so severely Saturday he may lose a finger.

Dr. Benson McGann of Los Altos ordered the rabbit impounded for rabies test.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Comer had given Bruce the rabbit as an Easter present.

L.A. to Reconsider Anti-Rabies Law

LOS ANGELES (AP)—City Councilman Ed Roybal Saturday announced a committee on public health and welfare will reopen the anti-rabies proposal because of the recent rabies outbreak.

The City Council turned down an anti-rabies law last Aug. 13 but Roybal said the proposed ordinance will be discussed again because of the 13 rabies cases already reported this year.

Police Displaying Retrieved Bikes

Youths who have lost their bicycles are urged to inspect 75 bikes that have been picked up by police and Juvenile Bureau officers since Jan. 1.

Bikes may be viewed at the city yard, 905 W. 14th St. each Thursday, between 3:30 and 4:30 p.m. Juvenile Bureau officer Clarence Richie said.

Bicycles unclaimed by December will be auctioned by the police department.

Workman Killed by Load of Pipe

LYNNWOOD — Crushed by a load of falling pipe, Hoyt C. Barrett, 31, of 11601 S. Figueroa St., Gardena, died Saturday morning at St. Francis Hospital here.

Barrett was working on a construction job at 210 E. Compton Blvd., Compton, when the accident occurred. He was seriously injured late Friday night and died several hours later at the hospital.

The body was taken to Lynwood Mortuary.

India Eases on Monkey Exports

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Indian government has decided to allow restricted export of monkeys which are used for polio research in the United States, it was announced Saturday.

The decision alters a ban on monkeys imposed by the government a month ago when a shipment of rhesus monkeys suffocated at London airport.

Christians Celebrating Joyous Rite

By Associated Press
Joyous Christians the world over celebrate the Resurrection this Easter Sunday with prayers for the help of a triumphant Christ to bring peace to the world.

Led by President Eisenhower, Americans in the gay finery of spring turned to churches, shrines and outdoor services to hear again in song, pageant and sermon the glorious story of Christ's victory over death.

The rejoicing was universal. In Rome, St. Peter's Square filled with thousands of pilgrims, tourists and Romans to hear the blessing and address of white-robed Pope Plus XII. There was every prospect the number would reach $50,000 or more at the time of the pontiff's appearance at noon.

At the Church of the Holy Sepulcher in Jerusalem, where Christ's body was placed after it was taken from the Cross, some 5,000 pilgrims, including many diplomats from foreign lands, heard the story of the risen Lord.

The 40-day Lenten period ended at noon Saturday. Families stocked up on Easter treats and planned their festivities for the happy day. The weatherman forecast generally fair weather for most of the United States—good news for the Easter paraders.

President Eisenhower arranged to attend morning services at the National Presbyterian Church in Washington. He visited Mrs. Eisenhower, who is recuperating from a recent illness, at their Gettysburg, Pa., farm, Saturday. She may remain at the farm for another 10 days.

Churches everywhere scheduled extra services to mark the day. Thousands of Americans planned to attend sunrise services in churches, amphitheaters, on mountain tops and canyon rims, in parks and city squares throughout the nation.

The warming spring may fill nearby highways after the church services, but the National Safety Council doesn't expect the nation's traffic deaths to be any higher than any other Sunday in the year.

"Easter is the safest holiday in the year in terms of traffic deaths," Ned Dearborn, council president, said.

With fair weather, 1 to 1½ million are expected to watch the glitter of the annual fashion promenade along New York's Fifth Avenue. Thousands of children will shrill and laugh in the annual Easter egg roll on the great lawn in Central Park.

Holiday tourists from almost every land in Europe and the Americas streamed into Rome Saturday, by road, train, sea and air. Thousands gathered at St. Peter's basilica for the Holy Saturday High Mass. The ringing of the great bronze bells of the church, joined by the bells of Rome's nearly 500 other churches, marked for Catholics the end of Lent.

4 Big Dairies Charged in Illegal Loans

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Charges have been filed against four major California dairies by the State Department of Agriculture charging them with milk law violations, an official said Saturday.

W. E. Kuhrt, chief of the division of markets, said the charges varied from case to case, but "all stem from special financing under which groceries and other wholesale customers were loaned money for the purpose of getting their business."

Accused were: Foremost—Golden State, Arden Farms, Carnation, and the Challenge Cream and Butter Association.

Kuhrt said the violations centered in the Los Angeles area, but added that a few of some of the companies' plants in northern California were also involved.

Kuhrt said that if the accusations were sustained, it might lead to revocation or suspension of the licenses of the guilty plants and possibly even criminal penalties.

Kuhrt said the companies would be given 15 days to answer the charges after which an administrative hearing would be held by the department.

Kuhrt said the violations were brought to the attention of the department when several of the accused dairies told department investigators what they were doing and asked if it were legal. They said they had been forced into the practice by their competition.

The department investigated and filed charges.

Kuhrt said he did not know how much money had been loaned, but said it was "substantial." He said there were dozens of violations.

Theda Bara Rites Held Quietly in Hollywood Chapel

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Private funeral services, attended only by her husband and sister, were conducted Saturday for Theda Bara, celebrated "vamp" of the silent movies.

Miss Bara, who died Thursday of abdominal cancer, was said to be 62. She had been ill for several months.

Her husband, Charles Brabin, former film director, and sister, Miss Lori Bara, attended the quiet, chapel services. The film star's mother, Mrs. Pauline Louise Bara, was reported too ill to attend.

THEY DANCE TO HELP OTHERS

Couples spin merrily Saturday night during "Square Dance for Life" program at Municipal Auditorium. Scores of dancers from cities throughout the Southland participated in the event, sponsored by the South Coast Assn. of Square Dance Clubs and the Paramount Rotary Club. Woman Love Thief Fails in Freedom Bid

CHICAGO (UP)—A 52-year-old housewife, jailed for love theft, lost a court bid for freedom Saturday.

Mrs. Alma Ferguson's petition for release on a writ of habeas corpus was rejected by Judge B. Fain Tucker, who commented:

"There is no one in jail who would not like to be out Easter."

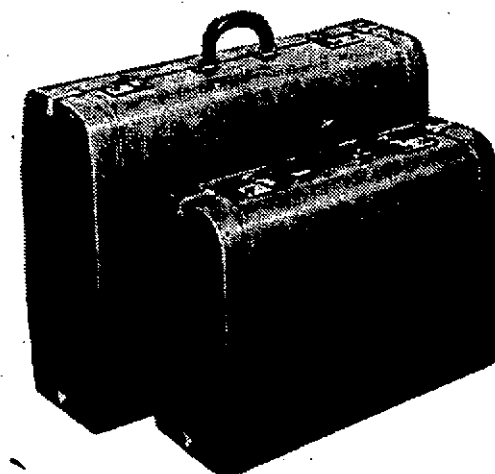

After the session in criminal court, Mrs. Ferguson met briefly in an anteroom with her husband, Roy, 49, whose affections she was found to have alienated from his first wife.

"Don't worry, honey," she told him: "I want to be home, but they are very good to me in jail."

Mrs. Theresa M. Pritchard, 42, Ferguson's first wife who resumed her former name, won a $25,000 judgment against the second Mrs. Ferguson in an alienation of affections suit.

When the second Mrs. Ferguson didn't pay the judgment, Mrs. Pritchard took advantage of an Illinois law Wednesday and had her sent to jail.

Kids Prove Magic of I, P-T Ads

Youth Aid Plan
Attracts 3,000
Classified Units

By BOB SWANSON

Pogo sticks, doll buggies, horses and dogs . . . Plus homing pigeons, baby sitter jobs and domesticated white mice. . .

These and other commodities all week have flooded an unusual market place — the Kids Classified Ads, which have been appearing in The Independent and Press-Telegram. The ads end today.

In all, some 3,000 of the free classified ads were placed by youngsters during the week. They reveal an amazing range of interests of Young America.

The warmest story of all, however, centers around a boy and a dog.

It began when 11-year-old Robert Lee Taylor of 2578 Adams St., Dominguez, placed an ad reading:

"Please, a boxer pup or police dog. Please, mine died and cannot afford high price. Call TE 4-7576. Will give good home. Our family suffered great loss. Please hurry."

Robert is the son of Roy C. and Ellen Paz.

Until January, Robert had a dog named Zippo.

"Zippo was a great friend of all of us," said Mrs. Paz, a semi-invalid. Then in January he died. Robert has been trying to get another dog since then. He especially wanted a police dog.

ROBERT, a 6th grader at Dominguez School, put a free Kids Classified Ad in the paper.

The next day, something like a miracle occurred.

A man knocked at the door. He had a 1-year-old pedigree police dog at his side.

"He's worth $100," said the stranger, "but he's yours for $25."

Robert and his family made the deal.

"Oh, mother," Robert cried, "it's just what I wanted."

Mrs. Paz said, "The dog just loves Bob. He has named him Trask."

The ad which brought boy and dog together had been seen by a member of McElroy & Holder, Realtors, Wilmington. That brought to mind a client named Lowell Swain, who had sold his place and could no longer keep his police dog.

The firm got in touch with Swain and, presto, young Robert Taylor had a new dog.

This was a case in which the youthful buyer won happiness.

A SELLER named Johnny, aged 12, was made happy, too. He advertised a pogo stick for sale.

Normally, Johnny reasoned, there is only a limited demand, at best, for pogo sticks. But he had 21 calls. "I could have sold 21 more," the boy reported.

A boy named Dale, 13, got 12 lawns to mow through his ads. Now he believes he'll have steady work — and a steady spending money — all summer long.

Jo Ann, age 11, had over 50 calls to "swap" comic books.

Charles, 12, advertised that he was able and willing to fix old bicycles. After buying parts for one repair job, he got a better offer — a summer-long job of repairing bicycles.

A boy named Scott, 7, not only sold a child's desk, but delivered it himself to the buyer.

One little girl sold her doll buggy on the first call.

The wheels of commerce went round and round all week. Happy over the results, Classified Ad Manager Lois G. Smith hopes to make the free kids classified page an annual Easter Week feature.

Live Mines Found at U. S. Consulate

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — The garden of the U. S. consulate general here has yielded up a powder keg — six live World War II mines linked by electric wiring. Workers excavating for a new wing found this detonation charge imbedded in the concrete ruins of a former German military building long covered by the soil. The consulate's 150 employees withdrew while German experts defused the mines.

One Man Left on Santa Ana Freeway Path

BUENA PARK—State highway officials will have a clear path here this week for the new section of the Santa Ana Freeway.

Only one occupant of the numerous buildings that had to be vacated—and then demolished—still remains.

He is Dr. Arthur Ferree, who was forced to continue business in the Schumacker-Trapp Building until new quarters were built.

His moving date is expected to be April 14.

With his vacating, the state's right-of-way through the heart of Buena Park will be ready for the giant earth moving equipment and the demolition experts.

Before the summer is over, a 220-foot-wide gorge nearly two miles long will be cut diagonally through the community, following generally a parallel with Manchester Blvd.

Highway officials have set no date for the work to begin, but city officials believe they will proceed quickly now that the right-of-way is completely vacated.

Originally, the state had set March 15 as vacating deadline.

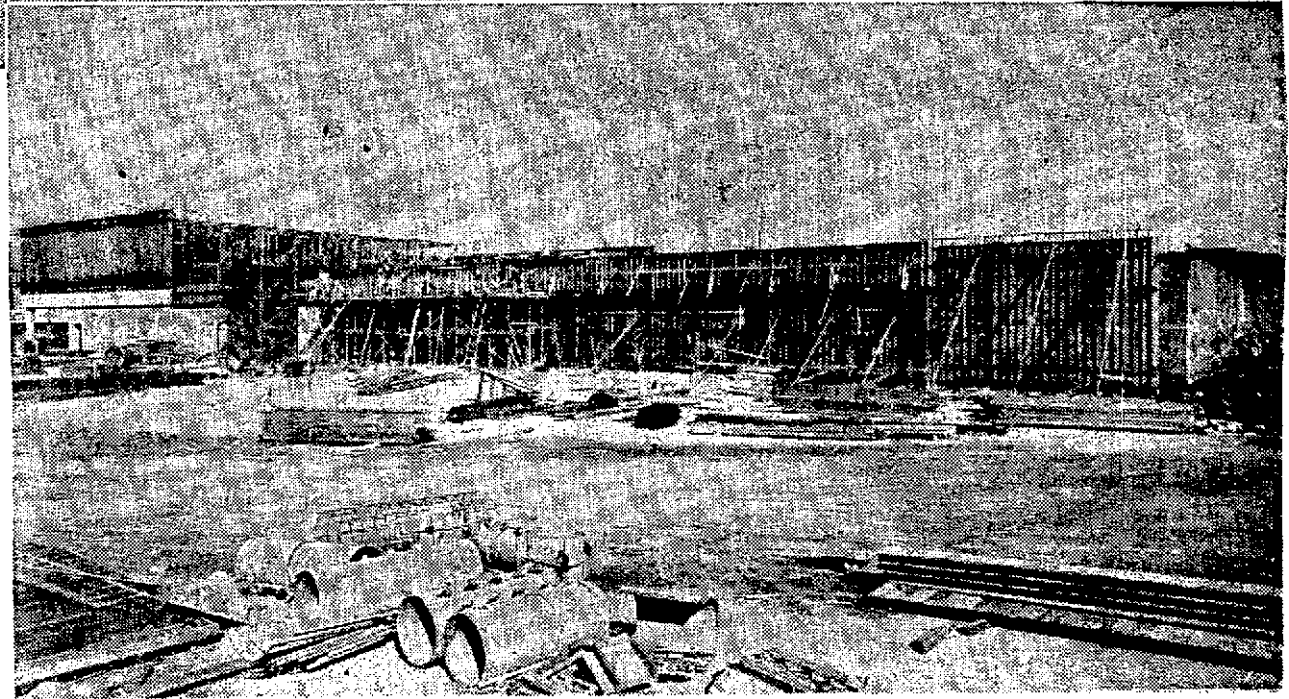

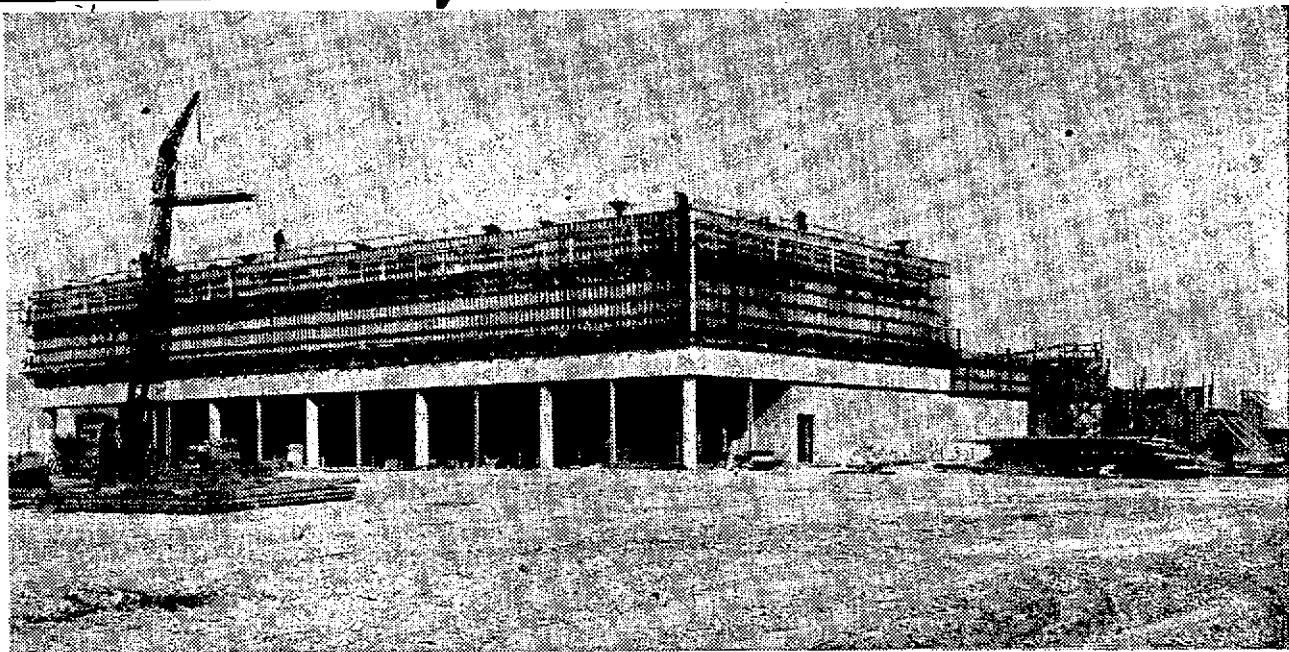

Overpasses for the subsurface freeway length are planned at Stanton, Grand and Western Aves.

NATION SHOCKED DECADE AGO

Record of FDR Still Disputed

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Ten years ago a President died. A nation wept. An epoch ended.

A massive cerebral hemorrhage brought to a sudden, stunning close on April 12, 1945, the unprecedented 12-year-Presidential term of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Seldom in history has the death of one individual struck America and the world with such emotional impact.

Thousands upon thousands of people stood hushed and tearful through the night as his funeral train wound northward toward Washington. To a sorrowing Marine private, and probably to millions of others, "he seemed like one of the family."

Even political opponents lamented his passing. The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio—Mr. Republican—called Roosevelt "the greatest figure of our time."

The President was buried on a brilliant, burgeoning spring morning in the hemlock, bordered rose garden of the Hyde Park, N. Y., estate where he was born and lived for 63 years. That was the spot he loved above all others.

I remember the day he sent his little Ford leaping out of the driveway with the King of England jammed back against the seat, crumpling his hat onto his head. I remember the odd, whimsical little songs he used to sing now he jeered and cheered at soft ball games, how he beamed and clapped at square dances, how he used to exclaim, "I love it! I love it!" at anything that delighted him.

He was a warm and magnetic man. Women wept, shrieked, wrung their hands at the sight of him. People were injured and even killed in crowds surging and shoving to get near him.

Yet Roosevelt could be bitter or even vindictive. He once awarded a Nazi Iron Cross to a reporter he thought had written unfairly reflecting upon another newsmen who had entered the Army.

His administrations were marked by a number of spectacular feuds. AT TIMES he walked deliberately on shaky legal and constitutional ground. The destroyers for bases trade with Britain was an example. And he once wrote a House committee he hoped it would not "permit doubts as to constitutionality, however reasonable," to block regulation of prices, wages and hours in the soft coal industry.

Roosevelt strongly rejected Communist backing as early as his first bid for re-election in 1936. Still, the names of men on the order of Alger Hiss appear on the rosters of his administration.

And he was the first President, and the last according to the

FAREWELL TO FDR

Almost overcome by grief was this woman as Franklin Roosevelt's funeral cortege passed in Washington, D. C., a decade ago. A mourning nation, under the shock of his passing, put aside the controversy over FDR's record, but 10 years later the pros and cons are still debated.—(AP photo.)

changed Constitution, to run for and win a third term and then a fourth.

While his administration spent vast billions, Roosevelt himself could pinch pennies. He wasn't adverse to having collars and cuffs on his shirts turned. He wore a jacket with a patched elbow on a 1936 trip through the dust bowl.

HE WAS a man who could rear at jokes on himself and delighted in pulling them on others. He didn't fret as much as his successor at the confining, goldfish bowl of White House life.

Roosevelt once asked a friend: "Wouldn't you be President if you could? Wouldn't anybody?"

A number of persons—Republicans and Democrats—who served on the Roosevelt team or knew him in one capacity or another were asked in interviews for appraisals of Roosevelt in 10-year retrospect.

Of the men who fell before FDR in the political arena, Wendell L. Willkie (1940) is dead and former President Herbert Hoover (1932) and former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York (1944) declined to be questioned. Former Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas (1936) had this to say in reply to a question as to Roosevelt's greatest strengths and accomplishments and his greatest weakness and failures: "I think his greatest accomplishment was giving leadership to the awakening of the American people to a new sense of civic consciousness in dealing with the social and economic problems of an expanding, complex industrial society, and his greatest weakness was the superficial way in which he attempted to solve many of them."

Roosevelt's leadership in wartime, his dealings with Russia, his sweeping changes in the structure of government and the agreements he made at Yalta were among the outstanding aspects of his administrations.

These cropped up time and again in the interviews.

EX-ADVISERS Bernard Baruch and Samuel Rosenman listed his wartime leadership as among his outstanding accomplishments. This view was shared by Adm. Leahy and Charles E. Wilson.

Baruch and Rosenman also mentioned erection of a framework for building peace through the United Nations.

Former assistant secretary of state A. A. Berle Jr. listed FDR's greatest single failure as "not winning Russia to become a co-operative member of the family of nations."

But Berle credited him with "mastering the fact, and communicating it to the world, that probably no country, and at best no two or three great land masses, could go it alone."

"His greatest accomplishment domestically," said Berle, "was to bring the federal government alongside the problems of the 20th Century capitalist revolution. We now have a modern government we didn't have before. It makes possible a direct economy which the Eisenhower administration is working at with great regularity and which businessmen support."

Wilson, who was later to head the Office of Defense Mobilization and is not related to the present secretary of defense, listed a softness toward Communists as among FDR's mistakes and failures. He and Robert E. Sherwood put the Supreme Court row in this category.

Sherwood says Roosevelt's worst error was in clinging to "blind faith in Chiang Kai-Shek as representing the future of China."

Raymond E. Moley, the former brain-truster, spoke of

Sparkman Asks Open Hearing on Yalta Leak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala.) proposed Saturday that the Senate Foreign Relations Committee conduct in public its investigation of the Yalta report "leak."

The committee has asked Secretary of State Dulles to testify before it, April 18, on the circumstances surrounding delivery of the documents to the New York Times in advance of their general release.

Sparkman, a member, said in an interview he will ask the committee to open its sessions to the public. He said he doesn't think reporters ought to be barred.

"I think this hearing ought to be open," he said. "I will do my best to get it opened up. If the press were not involved in this matter, there wouldn't be any need for a hearing."

Another committee member said that if a closed hearing is held he has no doubt there will be "leaks about the leak."

Chairman George (D-Ga.) has said he is not in favor of a public inquiry and Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, senior Republican in the group, said he would follow George on the matter.

SOLON SEES PERIL IN FAR EAST AREAS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) said Saturday the free world is in danger of losing South Viet Nam and possibly Japan unless it substitutes a "bold new" program for "crisis diplomacy" in the Far East.

Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The status of major legislation remained the same as Congress took its Easter recess:

TAXES—President signed into law bill extending present corporation and excise taxes one year.

MILITARY PAY—President signed into law bill giving armed services $745,000,000 pay increase.

RESERVES—House armed services committee plans hearings April 18 on compulsory service military reserves bill.

FEDERAL PAY—House leaders seeking acceptable compromise of Senate-passed bills granting postal and civil service workers 10 per cent wage increase.

GAS—House commerce committee ready to continue hearings on bill to exempt independent natural gas producers from federal control.

FARM—House scheduled to vote to restore 90 per cent of parity price supports on major crops.

HIGHWAYS—Senate public works committee continues consideration of president's $101,000,000,000 highway plan.

SHIPS—House action pending on Navy's $1,300,000,000 atomic-age shipbuilding.

Thousands of Egg Hunters Keep Easter Bunny Hopping

Molly Cottor, all and the rest of her furry friends issued a sigh of relief today and contemplated more normal pursuits of family-raising after producing a record number of Easter eggs for thousands of youngsters in the Long Beach area.

One of the biggest turnouts was at Lakewood Center's annual Easter egg hunt, a civic affair sponsored by members of the Lakewood Center Business Assn. Saturday morning.

Another large turnout was reported at the Easter egg roll of Truman Boyd Manor, cosponsored by the 20-30 Club of Lakewood and the Memorial National Home Foundation and its staff, and the Mothers Club of Truman Boyd Manor.

Countless other egg hunts were held at playgrounds and private homes, which kept the Easter Bunny hopping.

At the Lakewood Center affair, mystery eggs were hidden in the field along with others. Finders were awarded ducklings. Other prizes included hundreds of dollars in gift certificates valued at $5 each.

Two thousand happy youngsters ranging in age from 1 to 11 participated Saturday afternoon at the egg roll at 486 Truman Boyd Manor.

Peck Park in San Pedro was thronged by youngsters who participated in an egg hunt sponsored by the San Pedro 20-30 Club and the Los Angeles City Recreation and Park Dept.

At Torrance, the Easter bunny was on hand to entertain a crowd that gathered in El Prado Park for an egg roll organized by the Torrance Recreation Dept. and merchants of the city.

Stassen Says Peace Assignment Stirs Hopes All Around World

By ROBERT E. LEE

WASHINGTON — Harold E. Stassen disclosed Saturday he is getting a considerable volume of mail from overseas about his new disarmament post, indicating a "great yearning" for peace throughout the world.

Stassen said the way he has been quickly labeled "Secretary of Peace" here and abroad emphasizes the concern of individuals over the international arms race.

"The handling of the story of the appointment around the world is very significant," Stassen said in an interview with the Independent, Press-Telegram Washington Bureau.

Stassen said he has ordered, as one of the first steps in his new post, a "systematic analysis" of the "heavy mail" as a means of judging foreign and domestic reaction to President Eisenhower's creation of the position. It is unique—at least in modern history.

The former Minnesota governor and aspirant to the Republican presidential nomination now devotes half his time to getting started as "Secretary of Peace."

While he continues to run the Foreign Operations Administration with one hand, Stassen already has begun lining up a staff to help him tackle disarmament problems and is supervising a review of the whole tragic history of the world's efforts to cut arms production and end war.

His immediate staff will include an officer from the Army, Navy and Air Force—each with combat experience, two State Department foreign service officers—one a veteran of Iron Curtain country duty, and two Atomic Energy Commission specialists—a weapons expert and allies peace.

scientist of broad atomic experience. Most have been nominated by the various agencies.

Only in the broadest outline can Stassen say at present where the research and co-ordination will take him.

He has no deadline to work against. He refuses to "pre-judge," as he puts it, "any particular aspect of the job."

Stassen knows the task is monumental as it is unprecedented.

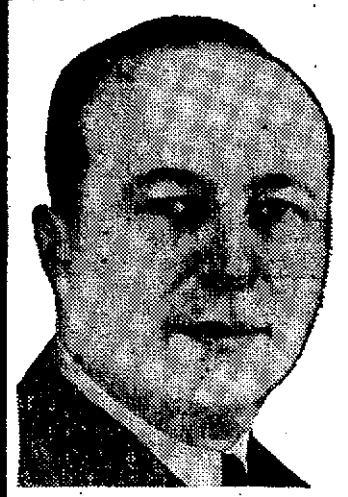

"A major problem," he said, "is that disarmament has never worked. We're studying every disarmament plan in history, conducting research into what happened to prior agreements, what went wrong."

Stassen said the research will follow a road between two well-defined facts—that war comes as the "crescendo" of an international arms race, or it comes as a "climax to unilateral disarmament."

Here's Your Big Chance! Bonanzagram Prizes Rise

This week's prize has been doubled in the Bonanzagram Fun Game!

Independent, Press-Telegram home delivery subscribers have a chance to win $300 by solving today's puzzle.

It's an opportunity you won't want to miss.

Last Sunday's word-twister was a real puzzler. Nobody had quite the right answer. The correct solution appears on this page. Here's how it was deciphered:

HOLDING UP MY CAREER. This is the robber's bold statement of fact for there is no indication that he is FOLDING UP. WITH FAST STUNT—FAST is better than LAST, again because this outlaw is still in business and gives no evidence of retiring; and being a supreme egotist he would not consider anything he did a STUNT but merely a STINT or necessary job to be done. ALWAYS HAVE EXTRA FUN—he might or might not tote an extra GUN but he always has FUN in baiting his old enemy. He goes on in similar vein. IN SHORT, LIKE TO SEE YOU REACT. His whole message is an effort to get a reaction out of the sheriff, which makes REACT more logical than REACH. YOUR SIX SHOOTER MAKES ME SMIRK then becomes fairly obvious.

He goes on to the object of his outlawry, MY JOB'S THAT SHIPMENT OF GOLD, and he believes the shipment MUST

HOLDING UP MY CAREER. WITH FAST STUNT, ALWAYS HAVE EXTRA FUN IN SHORT, LIKE TO SEE YOU REACT, FOR YOUR SIX SHOOTER MAKES ME SMIRK. MY JOB'S THAT SHIPMENT OF GOLD. MUST HAVE OTHER MINE PRODUCTS. CANDY FOR TAKING, IS JUST LOOT FOR ME. WON'T STOP AT KILLING. STATION POSSES ALL AROUND, MAYBE FIND ME. SIDING NEAR GRAIN DEPOT GOOD SPOT TO DUMP YOU OFF. YOUR TONY POSTER READ, IS WASTED, FOR PRIME REASON YOU CAN'T TAME ME OR NAIL ME IS MY SCORN. HATRED OF YOU WILL STAY ALIVE, AND LICKING MIGHT SERVE TO CLEAR THE STATE OF BAD MAN. JAMES STOLE

SOLUTION

HAVE OTHER MINE PRODUCTS. This is more logical than GOLD DUST and MINT PRODUCTS, and if GOLD DUST were used, the phrase HAVE OTHER MINE PRODUCTS would be left dangling. The bravo which is evident in the whole message comes out in CANDY FOR TAKING, which is more in character than DANDY or HANDY FOR RAKING IN. He adds the egotistic statement, IS JUST LOOT FOR ME.

He WON'T STOP AT KILLING. It would not be FILLING STATION because this must have happened many years ago when there were no FILLING STATIONS in the Wild West. STATION POSSES ALL AROUND becomes fairly obvious. SIDING NEAR GRAIN DEPOT—the outlaw is too much of a show-off to be HIDING and it is obvious that he would be RIDING. But here he is egotistically specifying the exact place where the sheriff will find him. The introduction stated that the sheriff "rode out of town to intercept the robber" and he was heading for the GRAIN DEPOT where the railroad siding was; the TRAIN DEPOT would have been in town. GOOD SPOT TO DUMP YOU OFF—he wouldn't have been apt to say BUMP YOU OFF for that phrase is of fairly recent gangster vintage, and DUMP follows the idea of the unloading of grain at the GRAIN DEPOT. And the outlaw has threatened he WON'T STOP AT KILLING, so that DUMP YOU OFF YOUR PONY does not follow logically; DUMP YOU OFF is more of a threat.

He now turns his attention to the sheet of paper with his picture on it, which has evidently aroused his wrath. YOUR TONY POSTER READ. He has undoubtedly studied it before writing on its back, and POSTER is better than PASTER for these "Man Wanted" sheets are usually posted in Post Offices. The size of the reward has been the descriptive TONY from the outlaw, and he goes on to taunt his old enemy with the statement that the POSTER IS WASTED. WASTED has more validity than his repeating the words WANTED FOR CRIME from the printed sheet; WASTED is another dig at the man of law, the sheriff.

The rest of the message bears out the boldness of his challenge. FOR PRIME REASON YOU CAN'T TAME ME OR NAIL ME—PRIME means "foremost" or "most important" and TAME ME OR NAIL ME is better than TAKE ME OR JAIL ME (using both TAKE and JAIL would be redundant). NAIL, a slangy way of saying "seize" or "arrest," is more in character with a man whose whole attitude is pride at being untamed and still out of jail.

AND THE PRIME REASON, he goes on to say, IS MY SCORN. SWORN HATRED OF YOU would leave the rest of this sentence dangling. The message goes on, HATRED OF YOU WILL STAY ALIVE—in other words, he is cut to get this enemy of his, and the hatred will not abate. AND LICKING MIGHT SERVE—this is more in character than PICKING A FIGHT, because that's what he's been doing from the very start. His concluding boast is that he'll give the sheriff a LICKING by pulling off this robbery right under his nose. And killing him in the bargain, for the final words are TO CLEAR THE STATE OF BAD MEN. The holdup man wouldn't be apt to use a schoolish phrase like CLEAR THE STATE, but he is interested in his effort to CLEAR THE STATE of this enemy.

The signature is not JABEZ STONE, but JAMES (evidently after the notorious American outlaw of the 1870s) STOLE, an appropriate name for the writer of this message.

No one gave a correct answer to last Sunday's puzzle. Therefore, last week's prize money is added to this week's! BE SURE TO READ THE RULES AT THE BOTTOM OF THIS PAGE. They must be followed exactly.

The solution to this 'Bonanzagram' will appear in next Sunday's Independent-Press-Telegram with 'Bonanzagram' number 7.

CLAIM CHECK

Below is a duplicate of the "Bonanzagram" entry you send in to contest headquarters. It is ESSENTIAL that you fill it in and save it until the correct solution to "Bonanzagram" No. 6 is published next Sunday. Unless you do so, you will be unable to collect the prize if you should send in a winning solution. Check the rules below for further details.

BONANZAGRAM NO. 6

A private school teacher found a post message from one of his prize English students chalked on the blackboard one cold morning. It was evidently intended to jog his memory in regard to the coming holidays and the pile-up of extra school work. By chance, a prankster had come by earlier and erased some of the key letters. However, the teacher was able to reproduce the student's communication, and got a good laugh from it. Can you, too, fill in the proper letters and so decipher the meaning?

Warden Due Soon to Head 'Coed' Prison

SAN PEDRO — Preston G. Smith, recently appointed warden of the Federal Prison on Terminal Island, is due to arrive here about April 20. It was announced.

He will be in charge of the facility when it becomes the first "co-ed" prison in the history of the Federal Dept. of Corrections.

Smith, who has been with the department of corrections for 17 years, is coming here from Washington, where he has been a budget officer.

Some mechanical employees already have arrived at the prison to prepare it for full use as a federal prison. About half of the federal staff of 120 persons is due to arrive in early May and the rest are expected about June 1.

There will be approximately 600 "medium security" prisoners, of whom 100 will be women. This will relieve overcrowding of the Federal women's prison at Alderson, W. Va.

Some male federal prisoners already have been transferred to the local prison from other institutions or have been committed there by the courts.

The prison has been used by the state as a medical facility since 1930. These prisoners are being transferred to a new state institution at Vacaville. Built in 1938 as a federal prison, it served as a Navy disciplinary barracks during World War II.

Ballet Bounces Back

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP)—The Royal Winnipeg Ballet, knocked out of action last spring by fire that destroyed all its property, will be back on Canadian stages in the fall. A fund raising campaign has brought in $44,000 and artistic director Betty Farally is pointing toward rehearsals in September.

How to Play "Bonanzagram"

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message. Clues may also be found in the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Proper punctuation is one of the important keys to a correct solution. When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How To Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.
2. Entries will be received at the Independent, Press-Telegram office at 6th St. and Pine Ave., until 5 p. m. on the Wednesday following publication of each new "Bonanzagram." Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Wednesday. Address "Bonanzagram," P.O. Box 230, Long Beach.
3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name must be printed in upper left corner of address-side of envelope.
4. Copies of the Sunday Independent, Press-Telegram need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the newspaper will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How To Collect The Prizes

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Independent, Press-Telegram each Sunday, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with it at the newspaper office, 6th St. and Pine Ave., between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employees of these newspapers, newspaperboys and dealers and their families, employees of other publications or their families.
2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.
3. The Independent, Press-Telegram will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly "Bonanzagram." A bonus of 50% will be paid if the contestant is a home delivered subscriber to either the Independent or Press-Telegram. If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the - amount will be added to the next week's prize.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize.
5. The Independent, Press-Telegram retains the right to correct typographical errors.
6. Judge's decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.
7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.
8. The Independent, Press-Telegram reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

Boy Who Fled Reds Returns to Kin

BERLIN (UP)—Valery Lysikov, Molotov and other high Soviet, 17-year-old Russian who fled to officials, but U. S. authorities re- the West three weeks ago, went fused to turn him over unless back behind the Iron Curtain the youth actually wanted to go voluntarily Saturday to save his back to communism.

The teen-age refugee was handed over to his Russian parents at U. S. High Commission headquarters at noon Saturday. He was driven immediately to Communist East Berlin, accompanied by two Russian soldiers. Lysikov, the son of a Soviet Air Force officer, entered West Berlin, March 18, and asked for political asylum. He said he was fed up with Communism and wanted to "breathe the free air of the West."

His return had been demanded by Soviet Foreign Minister V. M.

that his father and mother would be punished by the Communists because of his flight to the West," McDermott said. "He dwelled constantly on what might happen to his parents and finally decided he would return home."

U. S. High Commissioner James B. Conant informed the Soviet High Commissioner the boy had "changed his mind" and was being returned "in accordance with the free will of the individual."

The youth's father is a lieutenant colonel stationed at a Soviet airfield near Berlin. The reunited Lysikov family was escorted back to East Berlin by two Soviet officers.

A U. S. spokesman said the teen-ager "began to spout Soviet propaganda" a few days before he returned, as if to prepare himself for his reception in the East.

Artist Alberto Vargas, who has spent 53 years of "hard work" studying the anatomy of beautiful females, checks art display for California Hobby Show with actress Barbara Britton.—(Staff Photo)

'WOMAN OF TOMORROW'

Barbara Britton Teams Up With Vargas as Hobbyist

By HERB SHANNON

Long Beach and Peru have teamed up to drop a broad hint to those of us who haven't yet found an avocation.

Barbara Britton, a product of Poly High and City College here, who moved on to Hollywood and TV fame, and Alberto Vargas, Peruvian-born painter of pulchritude, have combined talents to produce the leading display in the 7th annual California Hobby Show, opening April 22 in Shrine Exposition Hall, Los Angeles.

Since Barbara became busy with movie, stage and television acting, she hasn't had much time for modeling, which she used to practice at Buffums' and other local stores. And for some reason, Vargas has been neglecting his pinup studies for the past five years.

But now both have come out of retirement in their respective early fields to present "The Woman of Tomorrow," and to dramatize art as a hobby, according to Fred Tabery, director of the annual pastime show.

Such a hobby! Vargas claims it has led to nothing but hard work—53 years of studying anatomy, with only assorted shapes like Ava Gardner, Hedy Lamarr, Shelley Winters and Marlene Dietrich as subjects.

This field seems choice enough for all practical purposes, but to Vargas it is just a point of departure. He continually looks to the future of the race and the improvement of the breed.

That is why Vargas rejected the woman of 1953 for his painting of the "Woman of Tomorrow." Even with a model like Barbara Britton, he used only one anatomical feature—her thighs. For the rest he used his imagination!

As Vargas has visualized her, the woman of the year 2005 will be taller, slimmer and stronger. She will virtually discard foundation garments and what clothing she does wear will reflect the influence of science. Much of her strategically-distributed metallic apparel will be magnetically attached.

Because Vargas believes the woman of the future will far outnumber the opposite sex, he has supplied her with a couple of superfluous accessories—a golden apple and a lasso.

Adult vocalists are invited to rehearse with the Long Beach Civic Chorus in preparation for its June public performance of Hayden's stirring oratorio, "Creation." Mitchell Bills Adlai Talk as Plain Speech

CHICAGO (UP)—Shepherd A. Mitchell, former Democratic national chairman, said Saturday that a radio address planned by Adlai Stevenson "will fill a need for plain speech on a serious Far East situation."

Stevenson's half-hour talk on Far Eastern foreign policy will be carried as a public service feature Monday night by radio nets of the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Co.

Mitchell, a close friend of Stevenson's, told a reporter that the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate "is very much concerned with the possible consequences of the present situation with respect to Formosa and Red China, and particularly with respect to Quemoy and Matsu."

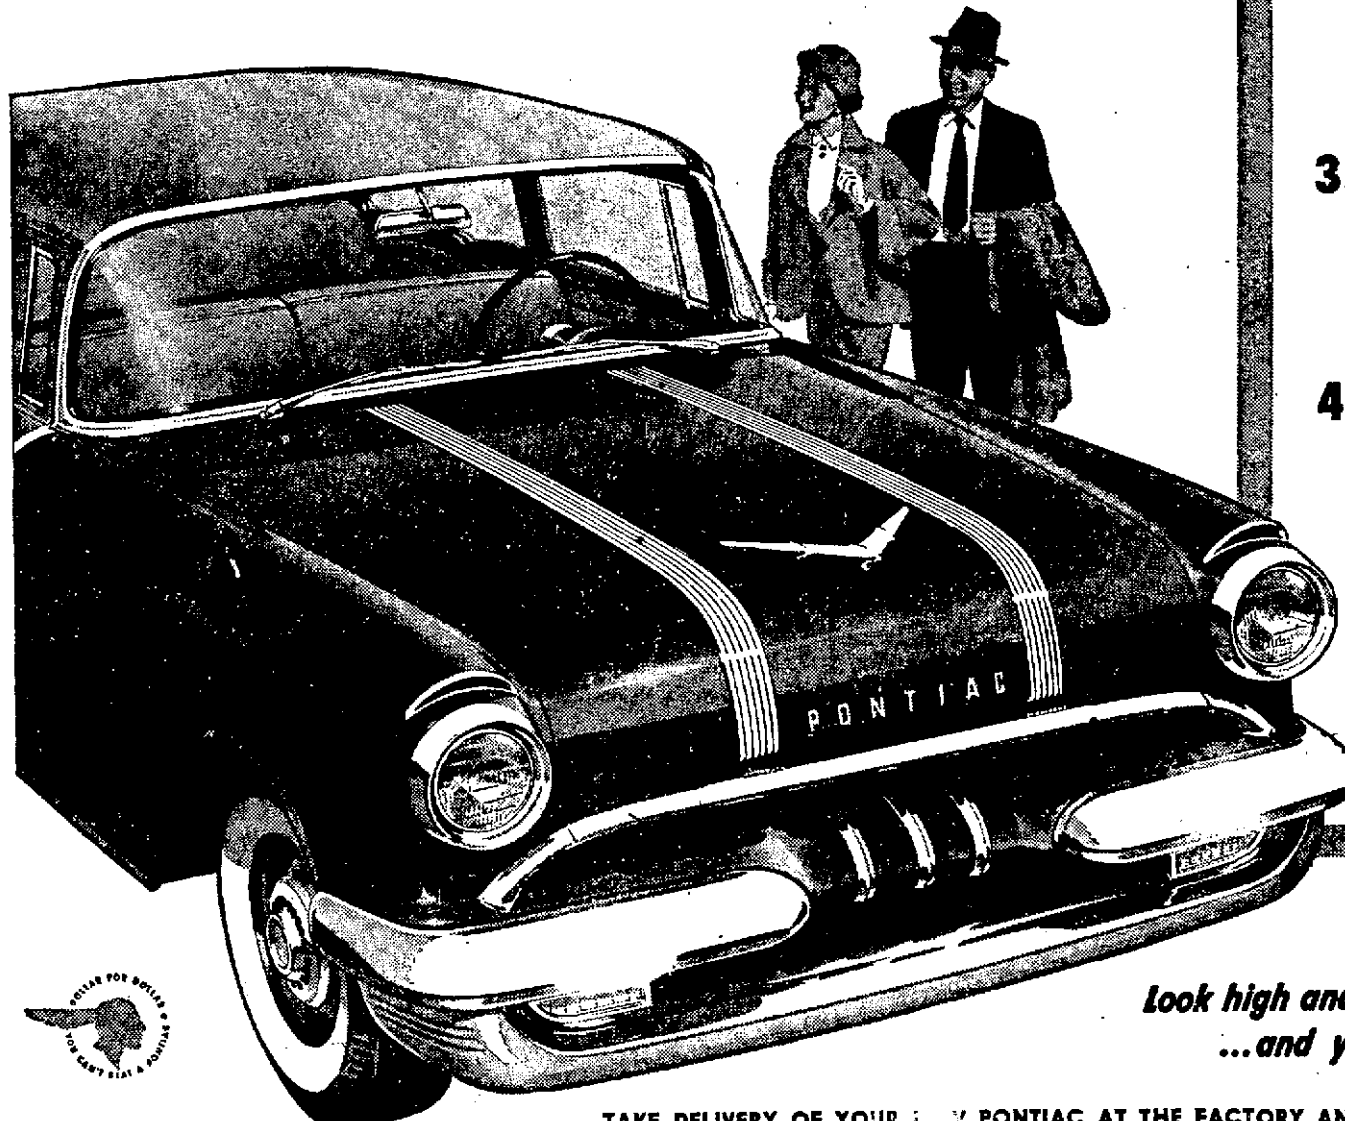

Concert to Star Camilla Wicks

Long Beach violinist Camilla Wicks is to be featured in a concert by the Torrance Area Youth Band, at Torrance Civic Auditorium, Tuesday evening.

The band will play selections by Shostakovich, Strauss, Padilla and Saint-Saens. Clement Hutchinson, clarinetist, will be featured in this portion of the concert.

This is the third in a series of musical events jointly sponsored by the youth band and the Artists Concerts Assn.

New Process of Rotation
Aids Morale

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Operation Gyroscope," the Army's new rotation plan, is stimulating reenlistment and making an Army career more attractive, an Army spokesman said Saturday.

Under the new plan, which starts in July, eight divisions will be rotated each year between the United States and overseas points. The men will serve about 33 months.

Brig. Gen. W. C. Westmoreland, who has charge of manpower control, told a reporter the operation "has already had perceptible impact on reenlistment rates even at this early date."

Servicemen also believe this type of unit rotation will stabilize their careers, he said. Individuals can now build homes with the assurance they will always return to a "home base."

"The strongest psychological force in Army morale is unit spirit," Westmoreland said.

Arline Judge Married for Seventh Time

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Actress Arline Judge and her seventh husband, Edward Cooper Heard, Beverly Hills, Calif., businessman, had an atomic background for their marriage Saturday.

The ceremony for Heard, 40, and Miss Judge 43, was performed at 4 a.m. by Justice of the Peace John Mendoza in the chapel of the Flamingo Hotel.

The hotel said the couple watched, as did other guests, the flash of an atomic explosion one-half hour later.

When Miss Judge announced her engagement to Heard last Christmas day, she said, "I am sure this will be lucky seven for me." Her previous husbands were film director Wesley Ruggles, millionaire Dan Topping, Jimmy Adams, Vincent M. Ryan, Henry (Bob) Topping, brother of Dan, and George Ross. This was Heard's second marriage.

No Strike-Breaking, Folsom Vows

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. James E. Folsom said Saturday he would not use the National Guard as a strike-breaking organization and turned down a request for martial law in Birmingham where frequent violence has accompanied southward raid and communications strikes.

"I'm not worried at all about violence in the Birmingham area," Folsom told an early morning press conference. "I feel the public will cooperate with us."

The new governor, who took office in January, said, however, that he has ordered the Birmingham district of the highway patrol reinforced "to protect human lives and property."

Birmingham, the "Pittsburgh of the South," is crippled by seven separate strikes, chief among them four-week walk-outs against Southern Bell Telephone Co. and the Louisville and Nashville Railroad.

The telephone strike, affecting nine states, has been marked by the most frequent incidents of violence in industrial Birmingham and Folsom called on both the company and the Communications Workers of America (CWA) to "get together peacefully... and work the situation out."

He again attacked right-to-work laws as "right-to-wreck" measures and blamed Alabama's right-to-work statute for "more labor unrest in the first months of my second administration than there was in the four years of my first term."

"Any security provided by me will be to protect human lives, including those of the workers, first—and then property," Folsom said the additional highway patrolmen would be in Birmingham to "protect any body — not take sides" but "I do not intend to use the state militia as a strike-breaking organization."

Injunctions have been issued in Birmingham and six other Alabama cities as well as at Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., and Asheville, N. C., to limit picketing and prevent interference with Southern Bell employees.

Meanwhile, at Clinton, Tenn., a "misunderstanding" arose between Southern Bell regarding the use of police to assist non-strikers in entering the picketed exchange.

Pickets turned back a truck loaded with beds and food for personnel inside the building today after police failed to show up. Some employees have been sleeping and eating inside the exchange for the past two days.

Nab 3 More In 'Bel Air' Burglary Ring

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Three more persons were arrested Saturday as suspects in a burglary ring allegedly led by a young attorney in the looting of more than 40 fashionable homes of $110,000 in furs, jewels and liquors, police reported.

The new arrests came as the attorney, Lowell Lyons, 32, declaring he was "framed," denied police charges he was the "master mind" of the ring which robbed fashionable homes in Bel Air, Brentwood, Pacific Palisades and West Los Angeles.

Arrested Saturday on suspicion of burglary were men identified as Thomas R. Morgan, 37, Burbank; Thomas R. Lyle, 52, San Francisco, and Dann Rio Jr., 24, West Los Angeles.

Lyons, son of late Police Det. Lt. Lowell Lyons, was arrested Friday night along with three other men and two women in what officers called the climax of a week of intensive detective work by a specially assigned squad of 25 policemen.

The robberies occurred over a period of four months, investigators said. Det. Lt. Grover C. Armstrong said two mink coats, one valued at $7,500 and the other at $5,500, were recovered. He said he knew the whereabouts of another fur worth $14,000.

Doctor Bans Garner Trip

UVALDE, Tex. (UP)—Former Vice President John Nance Garner's doctor said Saturday, "I just came right out and flatly said no" when Garner proposed to go to Washington for an April 16 testimonial dinner for House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas.

Garner, 86, had promised to make the trip, which would have been his first to Washington since he retired from politics in 1931, if he felt like it.

But Dr. Leroy Guice, who has been Garner's physician for about two years, said the former Vice President suffers attacks of severe arthritic-type pains in his ankles and "I think it would be against his health and against him to undertake this trip."

"I just came right out and flatly said no," Dr. Guice said. "So that's it, I guess."

Railway Strike Parley Recedes

WASHINGTON (UP)—Federal mediators Saturday recessed efforts to settle the 27-day-old Louisville & Nashville Railroad strike until Monday.

A National Mediation Board member said hopes which were raised Thursday for getting a settlement soon "still burn" but that the board could report no definite developments.

Bank Robbery Witness Threatened

NEW YORK (UP)—A mysterious woman witness to the $305,000 Queens bank robbery woman's home on Thursday. It has received a threatening note, police reported Saturday.

Investigators said the woman, identified only as "McDonough," was threatened because she had been in contact with police.

The woman, about 40, was walking near the bank when it was held up last Wednesday. Police said she could "be an important witness" in solving the case.

The note, written in pencil on a plain piece of paper, was pushed under the doorway of the bank, and Henry Bardenhagen, the chief clerk, received phone calls warning them, "don't talk—keep your mouth shut."

Murder Stories OK If Crime Doesn't Pay

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—Publishing houses of Communist Poland have a green light for murder mysteries so long as they emphasize crime does not pay. Polish newspapers disclosed this development. The Red government previously had frowned on detective novels.

Courses for Senior Citizens Scheduled

Three new lecture series on investments, "Health for Senior Citizens" and "Preparation for the Senior Years" were announced Saturday by Fred A. Dow, forums director of the City College School for Adults.

Scheduled forums, all open to the public without charge, are the following:

INVESTMENTS: Jess Grundy, local investment counselor, will speak on "Your Place in the Stock Market" Wednesday at Hughes Junior High School auditorium at 7:30 p. m.

Four additional lectures on successive Wednesdays will cover investment topics.

HEALTH: First lecture in the "Health for Senior Citizens" series will be presented by Dr. Richard Schug at 2 p. m. Wednesday in Dewey Auditorium, 8th and Locust, on the topic "What the Public Should Know About Medicine."

Other lectures in the series are scheduled April 27 and May 4. Dr. Schug is a Long Beach surgeon and a specialist in geriatrics.

SENIOR YEARS: First of six lectures on "Preparation for the Senior Years" will be presented by Harvey Franklin in Room 4 of Jordan Adult Center Monday at 7:30 p. m. Topic will be "Looking Forward to the Later Years."

Additional lectures on successive Monday evenings will cover health, employability, hobbies, finance, living arrangements and the philosophy and spiritual aspects of aging.

Franklin, who pioneered the study of gerontology in this area several years ago, is a member of the Long Beach Senior Citizens Survey Committee, which is now completing an extensive study of the needs and problems of the older population.

Like Inspects Wife's Work at Farmhouse

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower checked up Saturday on the interior decorating and planting his wife is doing at their farm home at Gettysburg, Pa.

It was a quick check. The President spent about three hours at the farm home to which he and Mrs. Eisenhower hope some day to retire.

The President arrived at Gettysburg shortly after noon after motoring from the capital. He left about 3 p. m. to return to the White House.

ARE YOU A KILLER? ARE YOU GUILTY?

One of the greatest killers of man is man himself. Due to neglect of his own health by the constant and persistent neglect of serious symptoms, symptoms of disease. These symptoms or warnings if treated in time can save your life. While the delaying of these same symptoms can be the killer, or the cause of death. Millions of dollars each year are spent in research in the prevention of death, while all around us are the most deadly of all, yes, you and you.

CONSTIPATION HEART TROUBLE, LIVER TROUBLE

These can be due to a lack of muscle control due to a lack of exercise of the abdominal muscles or even a dropped colon, or an obstruction in the intestines, or even a tight spastic colon creating a sluggish action of the bowel, which in turn prevents the cleansing of digested and infected areas of the bowels from being eliminated properly. These infected areas and masses of degenerated tissue and masses of stool are more or less common in all adults and this sluggishness of the colon allows infection and toxins to enter the blood stream.

45 ENTER 'WELCOME' RACE

Board of 7 Judges Named for Contest

A board of seven judges for the Miss Welcome to Long Beach Contest was announced Saturday by Bill Muntz, chairman of the event for the sponsoring Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The list follows:
MRS. ESTHER RANDALL, executive chairman of Miss Universe Beauty Pageant hostess committee.
JUNE DOHERTY, administrative secretary of the pageant.
MALCOLM EPLEY, executive editor of the Press-Telegram.
HOWARD JONES, Convention Bureau director.
CAPT. J. C. WOELFEL, commander of Long Beach Naval Station.
LARRY BURRELL, KBIG disc jockey.
R. A. REID, vice president of California Bank.

At the same time, Muntz announced 45 candidates have entered the contest. Entry deadline will be May 2. Miss Welcome, who will be the city's official hostess for the Miss Universe Pageant and other civic affairs, will be selected in a series of eliminations May 10-13 as a special feature of the Do-It-Yourself Show in Municipal Auditorium.

Candidates must be in the 18-28 age bracket, either married or single, and may file entries at

Shriners Will Watch Judo Demonstration

A showing of the Chamber of Commerce film, "It's Everybody's Business," and a demonstration of judo are scheduled for Lakewood Shrine Club's stag night meeting at Lakewood Country Club Wednesday. The judo demonstration will be given by Jonn Ogden. Keith Card will be chairman, and President H. E. Haberman will preside.

DR. CHAN SAYS: NO LONGER MUST YOU SUFFER FROM Asthma-Diabetes-High Blood Pressure

For the past two generations, the offices of Dr. Chan, D. C., located at 928 American Ave., have been outstanding results in treating chronic ailments such as ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, ARTERIOSCLEROSIS, HYPERTENSION, HIGH OR LOW BLOOD PRESSURE, HEART TROUBLE, STOMACH OR LIVER DISORDERS, KIDNEY OR BLADDER AFFECTIONS, OR A GENERAL RUNDOWN CONDITION. Men and women from all walks of life come to take these treatments because other methods of healing have failed to help them. Many have spent a fortune in seeking cure before they try this simple, effective, natural method of Dr. Chan. Our patients tell us they wish they had known of our wonderful treatments sooner so that their suffering could have been avoided.

READ THESE AMAZING TESTIMONIALS

928 American Ave.

Dear Dr. Chan: "The day I came to your office with my mother and brother I was about to give up hope of getting rid of my asthma attacks. I spent hundreds of dollars for shots and pills, but yet found no relief. After reading your advertisement, I tried you for my last resort and was thrilled to find that I responded wonderfully. After the first treatment, I was able to breathe normally and could sleep better for the first time in months. Now I am feeling fine and hoping others will benefit from my experience with Dr. Chan's Natural Method."

Signed: Mrs. Vivian Murray.

To Whom It May Concern: "For over 30 years I have been going from one doctor's office to another hoping to find someone to help me with my asthma and stomach condition. No one knows how much I had suffered until I came to Dr. Chan. Right after night I had to sit up because I wasn't able to lie down to sleep. I was coughing and wheezing most of the night. Besides my stomach was full of gas. After taking Dr. Chan's Natural Therapy for one week, I began to improve. Now, after five months of continuous treatment, my asthma and stomach troubles are just about over. I wish to recommend this treatment to anyone who is anxious to get well. I am sure that Dr. Chan will do all he can to help you as he has helped me."

Signed: Mrs. Tina Smith.

Few Parents Object to Polio Shots

By BOB BECKMAN
SANTA ANA — Parents of more than 88 per cent of Orange County first and second grade pupils have requested that their children receive polio vaccine. This was revealed Saturday by Dr. Edward Lee Russell, county health officer, who said tabulations from 94 of the 118 elementary, parochial and private schools are complete.

Assembling the data is Dr. Donald P. MacDonald of the county health department staff.

He said the parents of 10,875 children have indicated they want their children immunized. Total enrollment is 12,305.

Dr. MacDonald believes the percentage will rise when all reports are in.

The county-wide immunization program, for which detailed plans have been made, depends on a favorable report Tuesday from evaluating committee headed by Dr. Thomas Francis of the University of Michigan.

The committee has studied the results of tests of the new Salk polio vaccine among 440,000 school children last year.

Health department staff members here have prepared supplies for the clinics to be located at strategic schools throughout the county.

The moment the Francis report is issued, if it approves the new vaccine, the program will move into high gear.

Supplies of the vaccine are expected to be delivered here late this week and first inoculations may be given on April 18, immediately after Easter vacation for Orange County schools.

Judge to Set New Date for Rupp's Death

SANTA ANA—Superior Court Judge Kenneth E. Morrison is expected to set a new death date Monday for William Francis (Bill) Rupp Jr., 20-year-old ranch hand convicted of slaying an attractive Yorba Linda baby sitter.

The judge has received formal notice from San Quentin Prison's Warden Harley O. Teets that a new death warrant should be signed because of a denial of Rupp's plea for a review by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Rupp was convicted in 1952 of the fatal shooting of Ruby Ann Payne, 15.

He was declared sane by the same jury which found him guilty of first-degree murder.

The young ranch worker was sentenced to death in December, 1952, and after a first appeal was denied by the California Supreme Court, Judge Morrison set the initial execution date for Nov. 20, 1953.

A last-minute stay came from a U.S. District Court jurist at San Francisco on Rupp's petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

The plea was denied and that decision was appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court. It dismissed the action last Oct. 25 and a second death date was set for Feb. 4, this year. That order was stayed pending the last appeal, which also was denied.

Norway Movie at 'CC' Wednesd

City College Vikings will get a view of their "adopted" country-land Wednesday when Egil Roed of the Norwegian Consulate in San Pedro presents a film and talk on the Lakewood campus.

The film, "Majestic Norway," will be sponsored by the Order of Tyr, men's social and service club, and The Forum, student discussion group.

Roed, who has been attached to the Norwegian Consulate in this area for four years, was decorated by both Norway and France for his services against the Nazis during the war.

Roed was a member of the Norwegian resistance group in England and served in the famous Scottish Black Watch regiment.

LBCC Concert Slated Tuesday

Works by Beethoven, Borghardt, Hindemith and Brahms will be played by the Redlands University Trio Tuesday in the third program of the City College Spring Concert series.

The concert begins at 8:15 p. m. in Studio D of the Lakewood campus music building, Clark Ave. and Harvey Way, and is open to the public without charge.

Next program in the series will be a presentation of Japanese classical music April 26.

The series is sponsored by the City College music department and the School for Adults student body.

Engineers Seek Former Members

City College members of the American Association of Engineers put out a friendly "dragnet" this week to uncover former AAE members in the Long Beach area.

Members of the engineers' society from 1930 to the present are being sought for the organization's 25th anniversary reunion early in June.

Former members are to call John Marriner, president of the City College chapter in 1933-34, by telephoning 448-84 or calling on him at 2781 Magnolia Ave.

It's 'Play Ball' for Majors Monday

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Giants and the Cleveland Indians are favored to meet for the second straight year in the World Series as the 16 major league teams today awaited the first pitch of the 1955 baseball season.

With Kansas City replacing Philadelphia as the new home of the Athletics and seven new managers hoping to make good on their jobs, the season promises to be different—at least.

A quick check of the probable opening day lineups as compared to a year ago shows a turnover of about 30 per cent. Baltimore, for instance, will field only three of the men who started them on their way to a seventh-place finish in 1954.

The openings will be strung over a three-day period—Monday, Tuesday and Thursday—before all 16 clubs will have played their first home games. The attendance total is expected to top last year's count of 448,935 and may approach the record of 492,772 set in 1946 if the weather is good.

Kansas City, enthusiastic about its new major league status, should account for a healthy increase with a sellout 16,331 who saw the sorry A's open at Philadelphia in 1954.

Washington and Cincinnati get the jump on the others by opening Monday, a day early. President Eisenhower is due to throw out the first ball at the presidential opener at Griffith Stadium, where the upstart Senators will play Baltimore's "New Faces of 1955." Chicago will be in Cincinnati for the Redlegs' traditional opener before the usual sellout crowd of over 33,000 fans.

NATIONAL LEAGUE—New York at Philadelphia, Pittsburgh at Brooklyn, Cincinnati at Milwaukee, St. Louis at Chicago.

AMERICAN LEAGUE—Detroit at Kansas City, Chicago at Cleveland, Washington at New York, Boston at Baltimore.

On Thursday, they will shift partners and cities for home openers at Detroit, Chicago, Boston in the American, and St. Louis, New York and Pittsburgh in the National.

Only Al Lopez of Cleveland and Casey Stengel of New York remain among the American League managers of '54 with the same club. Bucky Harris shifted from Washington to Detroit, Lou Boudreau moved from Boston to Kansas City, and Paul Richards left Chicago to become manager-general manager at Baltimore. Coach Marty Marion took over the White Sox. Chuck Dressen came back from the minors to handle Washington and Pinky Higgins advanced from Louisville to boss the youthful Boston Red Sox.

Mayo Smith, a successful manager in the Yankee farm system at Birmingham, became the only new boss in the National when he succeeded Terry Moore at Philadelphia.

Lopez' job of repeating in the American seems to have been eased by the great spring pitching of rookie Herb Score, who allowed only one run in 17 innings, and the addition of homer-hitting Ralph Kiner.

Cleveland still has its pitching "Big Three" of Bob Lemon, Early Wynn and Mike Garcia plus Bobby Feller, Art Houtteman, Hal Newhouser, Ray Narvesi and Don Moss. With Larry Doby, Al Smith and Kiner in the outfield and hitters like Al Rosen, Bobby Avila and Vic Wertz in the infield, they will be tough to beat.

Most observers expect a two-club fight in the American between the Indians, who won 111 games and finished eight games in front last season, and the runnerup New York Yankees. Bob Turley, former Baltimore strikeout ace, is the chief hope of improved Yankee pitching with Whitey Ford, Bob Grim, Tom Morgan and Eddie Lopat back from last year.

The Yanks count on a running start by Mickey Mantle and the solid thumping of Yogi Berra, Hank Bauer and Bill Skowron to put the club back in the World Series. With a surplus of infielders, there is a chance of a deal for another starting pitcher before May 15.

It will be an upset to almost everybody, except manager Marion and general manager Frank Lane, if the Chicago White Sox sneak home. The Sox are solid with Minnie Minoso, Chico Carrasquel and Nellie Fox, but must get a terrific year from Walt Dropo and every day play from George Kell to stay in the race. Pitchers Jack Harshman, Virgil Trucks, Billy Pierce and Sandy Consuegra must carry a big load.

In the National, the experts expect a three-club race among

New York, Brooklyn and Milwaukee with St. Louis the "dark horse." Cincinnati's power and Philadelphia's pitching earn respect and improved Pittsburgh and Chicago are supposed to fight it out for the cellar.

The Giants are practically a stand pat club, counting on Johnny Antonelli, Sal Maglie, Ruben Gomez, Don Liddle and Jim Hearn as front line pitchers with relief help from Marv Grissom and Hoyt Wilhelm. Willie Mays, of course, is the big gun of the attack.

Brooklyn's hopes rest on comebacks by catcher Roy Campanella and Don Newcombe and better pitching. Karl Spooner, the September phenom, came up with a sore arm that has complicated manager Walter Alston's plans.

Milwaukee is a solid ball club. With Eddie Mathews, Joe Adcock, Hank Aaron and Bobby Thomson to hit the home-run and Warren Spahn, Lew Burdette and Gene Conley to top the pitchers, the club should be in the race all the way. Thomson's ankle appears to have completely recovered, but now he has shoulder trouble.

St. Louis may have the top rookies in third baseman Ken Boyer and outfielder Bill Virdon. With such men as Stan Musial and Red Schoendienst to build around, manager Eddie Stanky needs only the pitching to be a threat.

Cincinnati also has power to burn in Ted Kluszewski, Gus Bell, Ray Jablonski, Jim Greengrass and Wally Post, but is short on pitching.

Alston Posts Birdie Upset

By JACK TEELE

In one of the most stunning upsets in badminton history, United States champion Joe Alston scored an amazingly easy, 15-5, 15-8, victory over defending champion Eddy Choong of Malaya in the finals of the second National Open badminton championships at the LBCC gym Saturday night.

PAT MCCORMICK Wins as Expected

Pat Wins 3-Meter Dive Title

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Teen-aged Shelley Mann climaxed three years of dominating the senior women's National AAU swimming and diving championships Saturday when she set an American record while winning the 250-yard freestyle event.

The 17-year-old Arlington, Va., mermaid sped 10 times around the 25-yard fresh-water pool in two minutes, 49.4 seconds, breaking the old American record of 2:50.6.

With his victory, the peppery South Pasadena FBI agent gained sweet revenge for a three-game loss to his tiny rival in the finals of this same tournament at Niagara Falls, N. Y., last year. The surprise victory also gave a much-needed shot in the arm to America's hopes in the Thomas Cup finals which are scheduled for Malaya late in May.

Alston, who came within three points of beating Choong last year, was not to be denied Saturday.

Although Choong is only 4-11, he usually is the aggressor and possesses one of the most powerful smashes in all of badminton. However, Alston never gave the hustling law student a chance to open up as he put on a brilliant display of overhead firework himself. He jumped into a 5-0 lead in the first game and was almost always on the offensive.

After Choong got his first point to make it 5-1, Alston rattled off four more in a row and then ran out the count, forcing Choong into errors and posting his final on a viciously-hit smash which landed to Choong's right just an inch inside the line.

It was much the same story in the second game.

Alston went ahead 4-0, had that margin narrowed to 6-5, but then added three more before Eddy could score again. After the Malayan got his sixth point, Alston got two quickies with a pair of smashes down the line and coasted home to his title.

The women's singles finals between defending champion Judy Devlin of Baltimore and last year's runnerup Margaret Varner of Mt. Holyoke, Mass., also furnished an upset with Miss Varner staging a never-say-die comeback to win her Defending champion Pat McCormick easily won the three-meter diving competition as expected by amassing 570.90 points. Her closest competitor, Paula Jean Myers, also from Los Angeles, compiled 522.25 points. Emily Houghton, Lafayette, was third with 510.95, followed by Ann Cooper, Los Angeles, 479.70, and Gail Benton, Los Angeles, 436.20.

Miss Mann also anchored the Walter Reed Hospital team from Washington, D.C., which successfully defended its title in one relay Friday and again captured the 400-yard medley relay Saturday by setting a world and American record of 4:33.50.

The Lafayette, Ind., Swim Club's "A" team was second in 4:37.1. Lafayette set the old record of 4:34.2 earlier this year.

Swimming with Miss Mann on the winning quartet were Mary Jane Sears, Betty Mullen and Wanda Werner. The Walter Reed swimmers won the team championship.

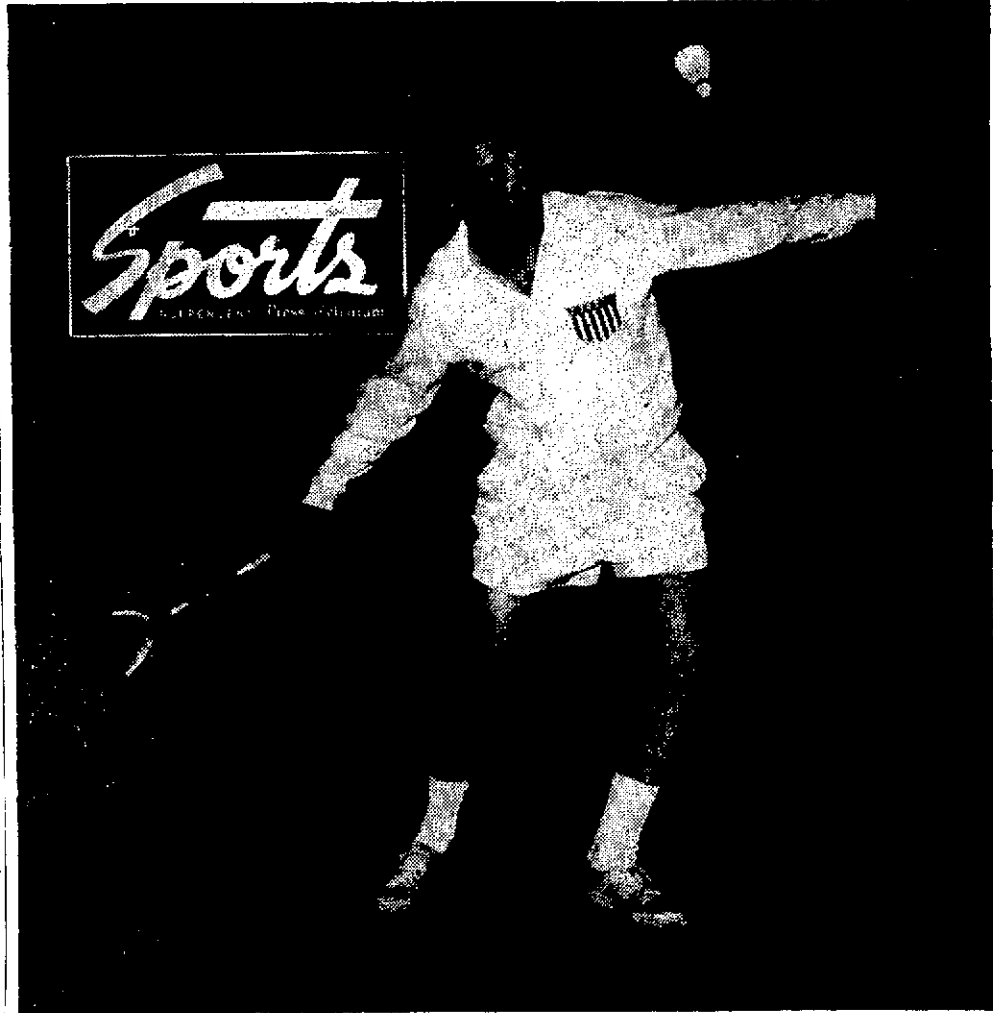

Miss Mullen took home the 100-yard butterfly trophy in time of 1:05.4 when Miss Mann decided not to defend her title in order to swim on the relay team.

Miss Myrna Bar Scores Upset in Shue Fly Stakes

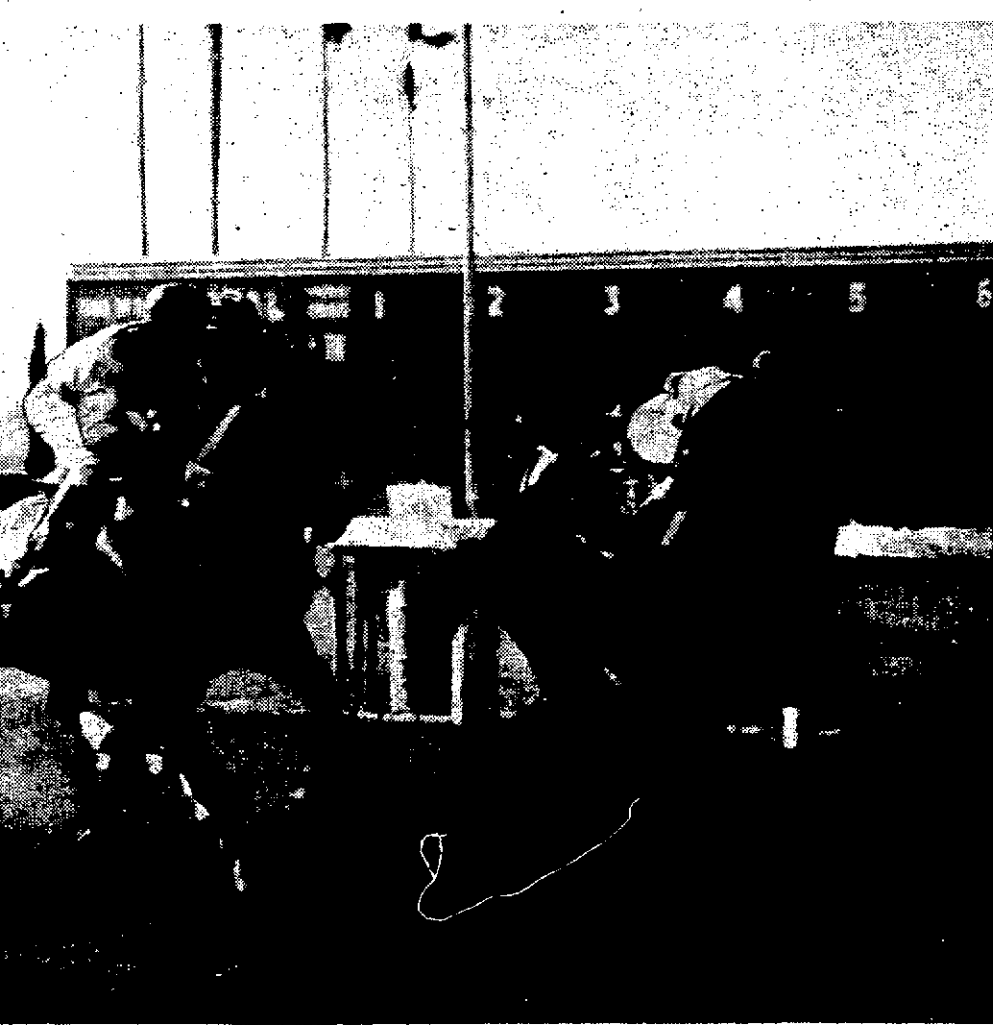

By JERRY WYNN

An opening day crowd of 8,707 watched Frank Cox' Miss Myrna Bar equal the track record of 18 seconds flat in scoring a nose victory in the $2,500, 350-yard Shue Fly Stakes at Los Alamitos race course Saturday.

Ridden by veteran Darrell McCown, the Johnny Longden of the quarter horses, the 4-year-old chestnut daughter of Three Bars was overlooked in the wagering and paid a handsome $19.90 for her winning effort.

Miss Meyers, another outsider, was second, and Bardella was a head behind in third.

Dividend, the strong favorite, in the field of 10, broke in the American Quarter Horse Assn. (Continued on p. B-4, Cols. 7-8)

Middlecoff Holds Lead in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff lost the fine edge that carried him to a near record score Friday, but par was plenty good enough Saturday to keep the golfing dentist out in front in the Masters tournament.

After the third round, Middlecoff still was four strokes ahead of Ben Hogan—just where they had been at 36 holes. Each had an even par 72 as they pursued an up-and-down course over the jam-packed, hot Augusta National layout, so it was Middlecoff 209 and Hogan 213 with one round to go.

Jackie Burke, the first-day leader, bounced back into a contending position with a fine 71, one of the day's few sub-par rounds, but there was no one else around to challenge Middlecoff. Sam Snead, who won his third Masters title in a playoff with Hogan a year ago, failed to improve his position and apparently lost his chance to become the first four-time winner. A 74 Saturday left Snead eight strokes back at 217.

Most of the field found Augusta National's par of 36-36-72 harder to slice than a six-bit steak Saturday. The greens were slick and fast and the pins were in risky positions.

3 SUB-PAR ROUNDS

Only three sub-par rounds were shot all day. Stan Leonard of Vancouver, Canadian PGA champion, had the best, 32-36-68. But that only gave him a 218 total. Frank Stranahan matched Burke's 71 with a 35-36 round.

As a result it was a day of false alarms instead of thrills for some 15,000 spectators who chased around the rolling 6,950-yard course looking for someone who was bidding for the lead or for a star who was blowing up.

First Middlecoff seemed to be "blowing" when he slipped over far four times on the first 12 holes. Then Hogan, who has been troubled all week by a game knee, appeared to have conquered that difficulty and to be making his bid for the lead. But just when Ben had a chance to pick up a few strokes, the situation was reversed and they finished even.

Hogan said his knee did feel

BEN HOGAN Still Trails by Four

Homer by Pramesa Tips Ports

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Catcher John Pramesa led off the last half of the 10th inning with a homerun to give Los Angeles a 3-2 Pacific Coast League victory over Portland Saturday.

The blast gave the Angels a 3-2 series edge, too.

Pramesa's drive tagged Carl Scheib with the loss. Scheib had taken over in the eighth for starter Red Adams.

The Angel winner was Bill Tremel, who choked off a Portland tying rally in the ninth.

Don Elston, Angel starter, had a shutout until the ninth when Russ Sullivan, Ed Mickelson and Walt Judnich reached him for successive singles. Turk Lowe came on, but Eddie Basinski and Frank Austin also singled and the score was tied. Tremel fanned Dino Destelli and got Scheib to bounce out ending the frame.

The Angels got their first two runs in the fourth on Bob Usher's double, Steve Bilko's single and another double by Pramesa.

Elston fanned eight men before he folded in the ninth. Tremel fanned two in his short stint, making 10 Beaver victims in all.

Prescott's Homerun in 11th Beats Sacs

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Hollywood stopped the unheralded Sacramento Solons' win streak at four straight Saturday night when George Prescott whacked an 11th inning homerun off reliever Milo Candini to give the Stars a 2-1 victory before 1,934.

Prescott, outfielder acquired from Denver where he hit 23 homers last year, hit Candini's first pitch of the 11th inning over the leftfield fence to enable the Stars to register their first win of the Pacific Coast League season.

Candini, who took over for Earl Harritt in the eighth, was charged with the loss while right-handed George O'Donnell, third Hollywood pitcher, got the win.

Ed Wolfe started for the Stars but he ran into trouble in the first inning when Jackie Tobin beat out a hit, went to second on a wild pitch, moved to third on an infield out and tallied on Nippy Jones' single to right.

That was all for Wolfe and Bob Garber came on and gave up only three hits before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

Hollywood tied the score in the eighth on Jim Baumer's single to left, a base on balls to Gail Henley and Bobby Del Greco's pinch-single.

The first four innings were played in a downpour of rain.

Once Over Lightly

by DAVE LEWIS

"Wham, bam! That's all, men!" That is one of the best descriptions of a quarter-horse race we've heard yet.

The races actually seem to be over that quick.

The events range from 220 yards to 549 yards and the various distances are run from around 12 seconds to 28 seconds.

Thus, you may wonder, what can a jockey do for a horse in a race lasting only a fleeting few seconds?

In thoroughbred races, even in the six-furlong sprints, a jockey has time to "rate" his mount... and actually can "plot" a race.

There is no question but what a smart and talented jockey can move a thoroughbred up several lengths with a well-timed ride. It has been proven time and again.

Most important duty of the quarter-horse jockeys is to get their mounts out of the starting gate as fast as possible.

Veteran riders on the quarter-horse circuit declare that the horse is well over 75 per cent of the short races... and that the start is 75 per cent of the race, everything else being equal.

Richard Lujan, 21-year-old king of the quarter-horse riders who won the 1954 championship by a convincing margin, says that "if a horse gets off even a half-length behind, it is difficult to make up any ground in a short race."

THERE HAVE BEEN a few "come-from-behind" racers in quarter-horse history, but they are rare, indeed. Actually, they don't really come from behind; rather the leaders just run out of "gas" and back up to them.

Both Lujan and Dale Centers, 33-year-old veteran rider from Oklahoma, agree that the start is everything. If you are left at the gate you might as well head for the barn right then.

Incidentally, quarter-horse jockeys have to hang on for dear life at the start, otherwise the tremendous kick starts of the racers would throw them off.

As Lujan explains, "all us quarter-horse jockeys have to wrap our fingers in the mane. We grab the horse's hair in order to stay aboard."

Centers is quick to point out that it is no easy trick to keep your seat when a horse hurls from the starting gate.

He also says that "a jockey's reflexes and alertness are extremely important, especially in those races where the horses are equal. A good rider 'senses' when the starting gate is about to be sprung. There is a lot of noise, then all of a sudden there are three or four seconds of silence. That's when the starter is most apt to send you off. The ones who can consistently anticipate the start are, naturally, the most successful riders."

Quarter-horse jockeys work harder and are closer to their mounts than most of the thoroughbred riders.

The leading quarter-horse riders gallop and work horses in the morning where most thoroughbred jockeys rarely work a horse unless he is being groomed for a special state event.

WORKING THE HORSES helps the quarter-horse pilots to learn the peculiarities of the animals. This extra knowledge is extremely helpful in a race which lasts only 18 to 20 seconds.

"When you work a horse in the morning," Centers reveals, "you can find out many little things that may seem unimportant to the average fan, but which will be responsible for winning or losing a race."

"For instance, you can discover whether a horse responds to a snug rein or a loose bit. Or whether he responds to a 'still' rider or one who boots him in the ribs."

"Horses are like people. Each one is different. You've got to learn their peculiarities before you can give them your best ride!"

Both Lujan and Centers have also ridden thoroughbreds... campaigning mostly at Denver, Oklahoma City, Omaha and Hot Springs, Arkansas.

And while the average fan pictures the thoroughbreds as being the most temperamental and difficult to handle of all the breeds, they maintain they have found thoroughbreds much less "spooky" at the gate than most of the racing "cow ponies."

"And that makes it all the tougher to get them out of the gate," Centers says.

Incidentally, Lujan was born within three blocks of where the immortal Jack Dempsey was born in Manassa, Colorado.

But to this day, the kid has never seen the immortal fighting machine.

Mayne Whips Griggy but Trojans Win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Southern California's unbeaten tennis team whipped the University of California 6-3 Saturday in a Pacific Coast Conference Southern Division match.

The Bears, however, won the singles feature match as Cliff Mayne beat the Trojans' Jack Griggy, 7-5, 5-7, 6-3.

The Trojans capped four singles wins to Cal's two. Troy also beat the Bears in the doubles competition, two matches to one.

New Cage Act

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Basketball coach Jack Sledge, whose Warriors posted a 24-3 record in the last season, was given a new three-year contract by Marquette University Saturday.

BRUINS WIN MEET DECIDER

UCLA fans jump with joy as Russ Ellis hits tape a stride ahead of Stanford's Walt Garrett in anchor lap of mile relay Saturday. Win gave meet to Bruins, 69-62. Ellis was timed in 47.3 and Garrett, who held yard lead at start of last lap, turned in 47.4 unofficial clocking.—(AP Wirephoto)

Williams, Jack in Standoff

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Former lightweight champion Beau Jack got up from a sixth-round knockdown Saturday night to battle his way to a draw with Ike Williams, another former lightweight crown holder.

Williams dropped Jack in the early seconds of the sixth round with a looping right, one of his few long-range swings of the evening.

However, Jack, the former Augusta shoeshine boy, came back strong, hurting Williams with a barrage of lefts and rights in the ninth and tenth rounds to even the scorecard.

Jack knocked Williams out between the ropes in the ninth, but it was not scored a knockdown.

The two former champs, both attempting comebacks, started slow, but Williams appeared superior, particularly during the in-fighting.

Jack, who spotted the 155-pound Williams 10 pounds, opened a cut on the Trenton, N. J. boxer's eye in the fifth and made the wound his target for the rest of the evening.

Favor Littler at Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Youthful Gene Littler Saturday was listed as the 7-1 favorite in the first official round of odds for the $35,000 tournament of Champions golf tournament, to be held here April 28-May 1. Betting is legal in Nevada.

Only winners of major tournaments during the preceding year qualify for the West's richest golf event, which will be held over the 7100-yard course at Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn.

Twenty players were listed as eligible to date.

Mike Souchak, Durham, N. C., who leads the money-winning parade, and Dr. Cary Middlecott, who heads the second-choice bracket, are at 8-1. They were followed by Doug Ford, Bob Rosburg and Bob Toski at 10-1.

Art Wall, longshot winner last year, was pegged at 12-1 along with Julius Boros, U. S. Open champion Ed Furgol, Lloyd Mangrum and Jerry Barber.

Records Fall as San Jose State Cindermen Romp

SAN JOSE (AP)—Four meet records were broken and one new field record was established as the San Jose State track team rolled up 96½ points to defeat Santa Clara Youth Center and Cal Poly in a triangular meet here Saturday. The Youth Center scored 58½; Cal Poly, 7.

Chuck Hightower of San Jose pole vaulted 14 feet, 4 inches for the season's best collegiate vaulting effort.

Don Hubbard, the Spartan's distance ace, won the two-mile in 9:37.7 to break an 18-year-old Spartan field record of 9:40.2.

Lynn Greene of San Jose won the javelin with a heave of 226-6; Spartan Billy Joe Wright, took the shotput at 52½ and Woody Linn of the Youth Center hurled the discus 171-3.

Ed Kreyenhausen of San Jose tied his own school record with a 146 high hurdle effort and teammate Mickey Maramonte bettered the 100-yard meet mark at 9.8. Kreyenhausen then shaded Maramonte in the low hurdles at 23.4, bettering both the meet and school records. A following wind prevented them from being made official records.

Skonecki Ousts Mulloy in Semis

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Gardner Mulloy of Miami, fifth ranking tennis player in the U. S., was eliminated from the Monte Carlo International championship Saturday by Polish refugee Wladislaw Skonecki.

Skonecki defeated Mulloy, 6-2, 1-6, 3-6, 6-3 in their semifinal match.

COSTLY COLLISION

Ennis Suffers Broken Leg; Ashburn May Miss Opener

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A late X-ray examination revealed Saturday that outfielder Del Ennis of the Philadelphia Phillies suffered a broken left leg in a collision with Richie Ashburn and may be sidelined for four to six weeks.

Ashburn was laid up at the DuPont Hotel in Wilmington, Del., with a sprained ligament in his left knee and it was doubtful he would be able to appear in the season's opener against the world champion New York Giants here next Tuesday.

The Phillies got their second jolt in as many days when Dr. Thomas McFar, team physician, said X-rays on Ennis, examined Saturday, disclosed a fracture of the left fibula, just below the knee. X-rays taken Friday night had proved negative.

The slugging Ennis and Ashburn were injured Friday while chasing a fly ball in the game with the New York Yankees at Wilmington.

Oxy Track Squad Clips A&M, 67-55

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Occidental College stepped into the big time cinderpaths to defeat Oklahoma A&M, 67-55, Saturday in an intercollegiate track meet before 6,000 sun-bathed fans.

However, it was the Aggies' great middle distance and sprint star, J. W. Mashburn, who provided the thrills at Patterson Field on the Oxy campus.

Mashburn helped put the first points in the A&M scoring column when he anchored the Cowpokes' 440-yard relay team to victory.

The fleet Oklahomaan came back to defeat teammate Fred Schermerhorn by 17 feet in his specialty, the quarter mile, and also won by 15 feet over Oxy's Bill Carling in the 220.

To top off his day's efforts, Mashburn ran a spectacular 47.5 final lap to win the mile relay by 10 yards over Occidental's Ev Trader.

Occidental took complete command in first places in the field events, winning all six. Oklahoma A&M captured eight of ten firsts in the running events.

The Cowpokes were helped in their point efforts by a trio of Scandinavians. Bjorn Bogerud of Norway won the two mile, Sture Landqvist of Sweden won the mile, and Fred Echhoff of Norway placed second in the mile.

The annual report of the SC-PGA, released at the association's Merit Award dinner Monday, contains several interesting items.

Total membership in its jurisdiction—extending north to Bakersfield, east to Phoenix and south to Tijuana—is 238, an increase of 37 over last year. Fourth largest a year ago, the section is now exceeded only by the New York Metropolitan section.

During the year, a total of $88,044 in prize money was played for in 47 events. No money-winning standings were announced but it was generally acknowledged that Ralph Evans, SC-PGA and State champion, would head the list with Elly Vines, Zell Eaton and Eric Monti ranking high.

Willowick's Dick Boggs is the new tournament chairman. Guy Bellitt and Howard Smith join George Lake, Willie Hunter, Sr., Frank Rodia, Vernon Allen (Arizona) and Boggs on the board of directors.

Although the general fund expenses ($87,772.65), exceeded the receipts ($83,307.39), the finances of the association are quite solvent with a healthy bank account of $12,705.41 and various sums in miscellaneous funds.

The 1954 championships at Recreation Park showed a net profit of $2,336.10. Concerning the championships, Hunter, the chairman of the Ways and Means Comm., had this to report:

"George Lake has so well organized the event that instead of worrying about ways and means of running a worthwhile championship, we now have a larger purse than any other wholly run sectional event in the country."

P.S.—In listing the SC-PGA Gold Card winners last week, we previously omitted the name of Milton Arthur of Virginia. CC Arthur, the new Recreation and Parks commissioner, has done too much for golf to be overlooked. He made doubly sure of getting mention by winning the honorary member fling in the Pro-President's tourney.

SAM SNEAD did it again. The drawing West Virginia Slammer, whose career has been dotted with amazing reversals of fortune, found himself trapped to the left of the green on his second shot on the famous 13th hole in Masters play Thursday and took five strokes to recover.

His third jammed the ball deeper into the sand, and his fourth even more so. His fifth almost cut the ball in two, and at the cost of a stroke, the ball was replaced in its sand pocket by a new one. He finally made the green on his next try and holed out in one putt, but the damage had been done. It cost him a murderous triple bogey.

The 470-yard, dog-legged 13th has frequently been the turning point of the Masters. The huge green can be reached by two good woods, but the second must clear a creek in front and stay clear of the yawning traps on the sides. Cautious golfers—the Hogans—play their second in front of the creek. The Sneads and Middlecoffs go for broke.

Ironically, it was the 13th that sent Snead into a tie and his eventual playoff victory over Ben Hogan last year. Snead birdied it three times. Hogan bogied it twice.

It was also the hole that spelled doom for Billy Joe Patton's Horatio Alger chapter last year. Five shots behind as the final round started, Patton aced the sixth hole to draw even with Snead and Hogan, but double-bogied the 13th when he landed in the creek to drop out of contention.

QUALIFYING for the Recreation Park Women's Club championship will be held Monday with match play Tuesday through Thursday. Jane Lange, Long Beach's "golfer of the year," will defend her title.

Bob Morey of 127 East Plymouth St. defied last Saturday's gale with an eagle-2 on the 304-yard 6th hole at Lakewood. He used a 4-wood and played with Tommy Rocha.

Qualifying for the annual South County Open, sponsored by George Lake, has been extended to next Sunday. All male amateurs with handicaps are eligible to compete.

Mrs. N. Alpersen's victory in the 54-hole medal tournament was heart-warming one for South County Women's Club members. Mrs. Alpersen is on the recovery road from a cancer operation.

Big Jim Ferrier tied the Lakeside CC course record with an eight-under-par 62 this week. . . . Season tickets for the U. S. Open, June 16-18, at San Francisco's Olympic Club went on sale Saturday. They cost $12.

Publix class championship semi-finals will be held next Sunday at Griffith Park. Recreation Park's Dick Clover is the last area hope for the championship flight title. He will face tourney medalist Seymour Black of Montebello.

And they still tell the old one about Cary Middlecoff when he first turned pro. A dental patient called one morning complaining of her aching cavities. "Dr. Middlecoff," she cried, "you've just got to squeeze me in."

The dentist replied, "Sorry, I've got 18 other cavities to fill first."

Charles Pearson, 77-13, won the Virginia Men's Club Saturday Sweepstakes with a nifty 64. Although two strokes off the pace, Long Beach City champion Del Walker grossed a two-under-par 69 to tie for second with Rex Welch, 77-11.

Grouped in third at 67 were Milt McGrew, 79-12; Hal McGrew, 73-6, and Dr. R. M. Johnson, 79-12. At 68 were W. W. Schoelling, 78-10; Dr. B. M. Tylick, 91-23; Dr. J. D. French, 75-7; J. L. Reed, 84-16, and Jim Crockett, 79-11.

Blind bogey (77) victors were Don Schorovsky, Edson Davis, C. F. Van de Water, O. M. Slosson, Cecil Northup, Bill Barbee, William Harrower and Wayne Ferrell.

Stanford Crew Scores Sweep Over Trojans
REDWOOD CITY (AP)—Stanford University's crew won three races Saturday from University of Southern California over a 2,000-meter course in Redwood City Harbor.

The Stanford varsity defeated SC by 2 1/2 lengths in 5 minutes 55 seconds.

The Indian JV won by 3 1/2 lengths after a strong stretch drive by SC. The time was 6 minutes 8 seconds.

The Stanford Frosh crew, leading from the start, finished 3 1/2 boat lengths ahead of the Trojans, in 6 minutes 14 seconds.

On March 23 Stanford made a similar sweep against Oregon State.

Stanford and SC will meet again on May 7 at San Pedro.

2 New Events on Gardena Jolopy Menu

Gardena Stadium's weekly jolopy menu of mechanized mayhem will be augmented by two special events today. Races start at 2:30 p. m. after time trials at 1.

One event, the 15-lap "hooligan" for novice drivers, is slated on a trial basis today but probably will become a regular fixture. Newer drivers have put too much good equipment out of commission, so they'll be restricted to their own class henceforth.

Also on the agenda is a head-on flaming barrier crash by Jay Byrd of Torrance riding prone on the hood of a speeding sedan. This spectacle replaces the "Destruction Derby" since available cars were battered to junkyard oblivion last Sunday.

ACE entries today include Rex Schendley, Fred Russell and Bob Standiford, Long Beach; Ed Van Eyk, Bellflower; Andy Anderson, West Covina; Jack Austin, Downey; Ivan Berryman, Redondo Beach; Bill Mitchell, Culver City; Lloyd Brownfield, Pasadena; Norm Stevenson, Santa Ana; Wild Dick Barry, Arcadia; Termit Snyder, Alhambra; and Clyde Smith, Compton. Schendley is top man in points with 480 to date.

Stars Buy Flyhawk From New Orleans
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Hollywood Stars Saturday announced they have purchased the contract of 20-year-old Clarence Duhailler, an outfielder, from New Orleans of the Southern Association.

Duhailler batted .325 and hit 19 home runs last year for Bruins in the Georgia-Florida League. He is expected to join the Pacific Coast League club immediately.

BOWLING ALONG

Winter league play practically wrapped up in moth balls, plans and schedules are rapidly shaping up for action in the summer sessions.

North Long Beach bowl will undergo a resurfacing job before the summer season gets too far along.

Top winter efforts were Clarence (Bronco) Millard's crack 77-15 series and Lowell Becker's rousing 298.

Ready for their ABC stint at Ft. Wayne, Ind., are Bob McConnell, John Newman, Stan Troost, Ken Page and Alan Alexander, the 24th and 25th of this month. Alexander will be a busy man competing in Ft. Wayne and hustling back to Stockton for the April 30th opening of the annual state tournament.

Alan, state secretary, says Stockton's entries surpassed Long Beach's last year and pushed the local tournament back to third place in size of contestants in all-time state tourney figures.

There are 312 teams, 1,743 doubles and 3,486 singles entries, ready to take the Stockton lanes.

Vic Hodge, 700 club pin buoy, is readying plans for a get-together with club teams from San Diego including Border City women's 600 teams, April 23rd at the Major. It'll be an inter-city affair with between 50 and 60 bowlers participating.

Lou Campi, whose unorthodox right foot finish at the foul line is a carryover from his bocci bowling days, smashed a 735 series on consecutive 245 games in the Bergen County Classic league at Lodi, N. J. recently.

Therm Gibson's 268 triplicate, in 1936 at Grand Rapids, Mich., is still the best on record, however. Campi, a member of the High scoring Faber Cement Block team, posted a 300 game on the final night of the 1954 All-Star meet.

BOB CARTEAUX bowled an 823 series recently at Ft. Wayne, setting what is believed to be an all-time record league high for left-handed bowlers.

Magazine's Yearbook credits southpaw Jerry Pisanelli of Poughkeepsie, N.Y. with a 798, on Feb. 14, 1940. Carteaux, 21, is in his fourth year of bowling. His games were 279, 289 and 255, placing him second on the year's national scoreboard behind the 826 of Milwaukee's Ted Scudder.

DON CARTER rolled the fourth ABC sanctioned 300 of his career, recently at St. Louis. It was the seventh perfect game at Floriss Lanes this season and preceded by a few hours an 804 series by Carter's Budweiser teammate, Pat Patterson Jr., in the St. Louis All-Star Doubles league. Another Budweiser, Ray Bluth, has two 300's in the All-Star league this season.

Middlecoff Holds Masters Lead by 4

a bit better today, but he did get into trouble a couple of times because he has shortened his backswing a bit on account of it. His drives weren't booming out with the old authority.

Middlecoff made two shots that brought shouts from the gallery. On the second hole, which stretches 555 yards down hill, he hooked his second shot into the crowd near the green, then hit the cup with a chip shot. It was almost an eagle. On the eighth, which has a tricky, hilly green, Cary watched his playing partner, Peter Thompson, knock his approach onto the slope so that it rolled back and then Cary tried the same thing. His ball rolled down within 30 inches of the cup for a birdie four.

TURNS IN EVEN PAR
After a bogey five on the third, where he chipped up weakly after hitting the bank in front of the green, and another on the seventh, where he three-putted.

Par out—454 343 484—36
Middlecoff—453 344 411—35
Hogan—453 344 411—35
Burke—454 343 453—36
Hogan—453 344 411—35
Middlecoff—454 344 387—35
Time—1:12. Scat: Light House, Mr. Solid Flame, Pure Speed and Fusser.

Middlecoff reached the turn in par 36. Then he bogeyed the 10th and 12th and seemed to be cracking.

After driving into the woods on the 10th, he missed a seven-foot putt for par. On the short 12th, he plunked a weak tee shot in the sand on the far side of a brook and had to stand in the water to knock it out. Those two strokes were regained with a birdie on the 15th, where he reached the green with a three-iron, and with a curling 20-foot putt on the 18th.

Hogan had a similar up-and-down round. He made an exceptional eight-iron approach for a birdie three on the third, then lost that stroke on the 190-yard sixth. Another birdie on the eighth, where his pitch hit the pin and would have been dropped if the flag hadn't been in place, brought him to the turn in 35.

Then, just like Middlecoff, Ben bogeyed the 10th and 12th and had to can a long putt for his par on 11.

A badly hit second shot that hit a tree and bounced straight back cost a stroke on 10. His tee shot on 12 didn't quite reach the front edge of the green.

CONSERVATIVE PLAY
Playing conservatively and taking no chances, Ben got those two strokes back with a 12-foot putt on 14 and a chip within eight inches of the cup on 15 for birdies. But he bogeyed the short, over-the-water 16th.

Burke moved into third place alone with a round of 36-35-71 that included birdies on the ninth, 13th and 15th holes, all earned by good approaches. He bogeyed the 10th, where he had to hit his second shot from a bad lie and went into a trap, and he three-putted the 11th.

Snead, who started the round tied with Burke for third place, shot 37-37-74 with only two birdies.

SOCIAL OUTCAST CRACKS RECORD

Bell O Shandon Rings Up Win in Golden Gate Run

(Compiled from UP and AP)
BOWIE, Md.—Social Outcast, the longshot in a select field of four, smashed the track record for a mile and a sixteenth Saturday as he came from behind to win the $75,000 John B. Campbell Memorial, the richest handicap in the history of Maryland thoroughbred racing.

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's chestnut gelding, spurred in the stretch by jockey Eric Guerin, edged out game little Fisherman by a nose and was a good two and a quarter lengths ahead of favored Helioscope.

Joe Jones, who won the Campbell Inaugural last year, was a head behind in fourth place. Social Outcast covered the distance in 1:42.3, a full second and a tenth better than the track record established last November by Country Bumkin.

The Vanderbilt five-year-old, weighted at 125 pounds, paid $19.40 and $7.40. Fisherman paid $5.60 to place. Because of the small field, there was no show betting.

At Golden Gate, Neil S. McCarthy's Bell O Shandon, a fleet filly bred in Ireland, roared from behind to win the $17,475 Richmond Handicap.

The Irish miss, lone filly in the field, whipped the best masculine 3-year-olds at the track. With Roy Lumm in the irons, Bell O Shandon finished three parts of a length in front of Beau Busher, the favorite, Noir was third, a neck farther back.

Racing the mile in 1:37 1/5, the Irish horse paid $15.40, $7.30 and $4.70.

Roslyt Farm's Go Lightly scored the first stakes victory of his career with a half-length triumph in the $30,400 Gotham Stakes at Jamaica but the colt finished the mile and one sixteenth in "rocking horse" time.

Taking command as the field of seven three-year-olds sped through the stretch, Go Lightly, eligible for the Freshness and the Belmont Stakes but not the Kentucky Derby, beat Howard Weinstein's Mr. Al L. in a driving finish.

Flying L stables' "Bangor" was third. Go Lightly paid $34.10, $21.10 and $7.20 across the board.

Marvin E. Affeld's Spur On, winner of two stakes events last winter, pulled away from seven rivals in the stretch at Lincoln Downs to score a two and one-half length triumph in the $10,000 New Haven Handicap.

He traveled the mile and one sixteenth course in a sparkling 1:45 flat and returned $9.20.

3 Big Holiday Inboard Meets Set Here

By BOB RUSKAUFF
Whatever speedboating's inboard racers do in their 1955 roostertail season, to feature the three holiday events at Long Beach once more, they'll have "the greatest" in action. Saturday night in their South Gate conclave to steam up the Big Three (May 30, July 4, Sept. 5), Commr. Kent Hitchcock of the Southern California Speedboat Club pointed out the record amassed in 1954 by western drivers: Out of 36 total records set over the world and national championships crowned, 28 were by Californians, eight out of state. Of the 28, SCSC driving members earned 20. No wonder they are called the "club of champions." Last to catch a mark was Guy C. (Red) Wilson, who trocked to Florida and set an E-Racing runabout mile mark of 83½ m.p.h. in his Slipper-E, only inboard driver in the Grapefruit Circuit to get one. Stock outboarders, who get first Long Beach action on May 1, will today have at it in their third 1955 meet, on Hanson Dam north of San Fernando. A probable 120 boats in eight classes will compete in 16 races. According to chairman Bud Vanderbush they'll start at 10:30 a. m. and be "on the road home" by 3 p. m. It's free to the public.

May 1 has been announced as re-sail date for the San Diego Lipton Trophy, which was halted after seven miles of a required 12 miles March 7 off Balboa, when time ran out. Same four challengers will race trying to keep Walt Elliott's Escapee from sharing a sixth win. When the classic fixture was halted by race chairman Harold Pearcey of NHYC, Escapee and Ken Croan's Akahi were in a nip-and-tuck leadership battle.

Still almost three months away and entry for the 1955 Transpacific yacht race has already smashed to a fare-you-well the all-time starting record of 34 boats (1947), with a total 49 bona fide entries announced by secretary Kenneth Carey.

There seems no question that well over 50 boats will be in the array to set out on July 4.

SHIP ROCK

No Report of Leaders

At a late hour Saturday there was no report as to leading boats among a field of 27 which sailed from a line off Balboa Pier Saturday in a post-noon fog, on the 62-mile Ship Rock race of the Newport Harbor Yacht Club.

Because of still hazy conditions over the channel none expected the first boat home would break the nine-hour 45-min. elapsed time record held since the 1951 inaugural race by the N-Sloop Westward.

The scheduled JC sailing championships off Balboa Yacht Club Saturday were postponed because of trouble in filling crews and will be sailed April 23.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

A new outdoor TV commentator in Los Angeles said the other night that trout fishing's going to be good but that ocean fishing is just so-so. Apparently he hadn't seen the loads of fish being trundled up the gangplanks at Pierpoint and Pacific Landings.

While April's windy beginning continued through some of last week's afternoons, most of the boats were getting fish. The catches ranged from small barracuda and white sea bass to large kelp bass and all the bottom fish anyone wanted to take home.

It's an excellent start for the local landings, which usually suffer through April and part of May. All signs point to one of the best seasons in several years. Both major landings here are in top shape to handle more crowds than ever. Pacific has just moved to its new home and Pierpoint has polished up some rough edges.

If you are a veteran at ocean fishing and have your own favorite boat and skipper, by all means look for them. If you are a stranger and want good service, you'll find it at either Pacific or Pierpoint.

Just remember that Long Beach boats won't confine their trips to 10-mile runs offshore. There are many fast boats this year ready to go as far as Dana Point, San Clemente, Santa Barbara or Catalina Islands, or any other place where the fish are running. If you want a restful day without a long boat ride, you can pick that type of craft, too.

MORE ABOUT ISABELLA
Cyril Ball and Mickey Chapman brought back a first-hand report on Isabella Lake, roughly 200 miles from here, which is now open to year-round fishing for anything you can catch—even trout. They arrived at Isabella Monday but the weekend blow was still keeping fishermen off the lake. But on Tuesday they sacked up two weight limits of trout—18 fish in all that ranged to 15 inches.

Cyril had this to say about fishing Isabella:
"Shore fishermen can hardly expect to catch trout, but the hundreds who did try found catfish by the hundreds. No one had thought much about cats, but apparently the lake's loaded with them. The same goes for whitefish, a native sucker-type fish in the Kern River.

"Trout fishermen need boats for trolling. Troll the deep end toward the dam with Hot Shots and Super Dopers. If you want to bait-fish, try the opposite end of the lake. The lake is low, but should come up within the next 30 days.

"There are several motels at New Kernville. If you want information about fishing, ask Ramona.

DOUBLE CHAMP

Hanks Files Midget Entry

Sam Hanks, only driver ever to win both the national driving championship and the national midget crown, Saturday filed an entry for J. C. Aguilera's 150-lap 3-A national championship midget auto race, next Saturday night at Gardens Stadium.

The Burbank thin man joins Indianapolis veteran Rodger Ward, Jack Turner, 1954 national midget champion; Indianapolis rookie Johnny Boyd; "Shorty" Templeman, Howard Kelley, Earl Motter, Dempsey Wilson and George Amick in the final "doodle bug" go before the name drivers pull out for the Memorial Day 500-mile classic.

Hanks won the 1953 National driving championship for Indianapolis cars, and won the midget crown in 1949.

Women's Softball Entries Now Being Accepted

Applications are now being taken for the 1955 women's softball program which officially opens on April 26, according to Mae Mathers of the Long Beach Recreation Department.

Two teams have already entered and four more have confirmed they will enter. Entries close April 14. A first come, first serve basis will eliminate extra teams.

Games will be played Tuesday and Thursday nights at 7:30 and 8:45. All games will be played at Recreation Park with a 12-inch ball. There will be three rounds of league play for the season.

All players must be at least seniors in high school and be at least 16 years old or older.

Trojans Rip Bears, 18-4

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Southern California Trojans took a half game lead in the CIBA standings Saturday as they blasted the University of California 18-4.

The Trojans knocked out three Cal pitchers as they scored 10 runs in the opening inning. Thirteen Trojans batted before the first out was made.

SC third baseman Bill Faddis collected a grand slam homerun in the first and his teammates, rightfielder Gerry Mason and Mike Honek who replaced him, also hit round-trippers.

With MALCOLM EPLEY

ON Christmas Eve and East-ern Morn, this column is given over to two chapters of history's greatest story, as related by Disciples of Jesus.

This Easter, the narrator is St. John, and the selections are from the 19th and 20th chapters. With this springtime story of hope and promise, Beach Combing wishes all readers a happy and inspiring Easter Day.

From the Gospel According to John (Revised Standard Version):

THEY took the body of Jesus, and bound it in linen cloths with the spices, as is the burial custom of the Jews.

Now in the place where he was crucified there was a garden, and in the garden a new tomb where nobody had ever been laid. So because of the Jewish Day of Preparation, as the tomb was close at hand, they laid Jesus there.

NOW on the first day of the week Mary Magdalene came to the tomb early, while it was still dark, and saw that the stone had been taken away from the tomb.

So she ran, and went to Simon Peter and the other disciple, the one whom Jesus loved, and said to them, "They have taken the Lord out of the tomb and we do not know where they have laid him."

Peter then came out with the other disciple and they went toward the tomb. They both ran, but the other disciple outran Peter and reached the tomb first; and stooping to look in, he saw the linen cloths lying there, but he did not go in.

THEN Simon Peter came, following him, and he went in the tomb; he saw the linen cloths lying, and the napkin, which had been on his head, not lying with the linen cloths but rolled up in a place by itself.

Then the other disciple, who reached the tomb first, also went in, and he saw and believed; for as yet they did not know the scripture, that he must rise from the dead.

Then the disciples went back to their homes.

BUT Mary stood weeping outside the tomb, and as she wept she stopped to look into the tomb; and she saw two angels in white, sitting where the body of Jesus had lain, one at the head and one at the feet.

They said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping?" She said to them, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him."

Saying this, she turned around and saw Jesus standing, but she did not know that it was Jesus.

JESUS said to her, "Woman, why are you weeping? Whom do you seek?"

Supposing him to be the gardener, she said to him, "Sir, if you have carried him away, tell me where you have laid him and I will take him away."

Jesus said to her, "Mary."

She turned and said to him in Hebrew, "Rabboni!" (which means teacher).

JESUS said to her, "Do not hold me, for I have not yet ascended to the Father; but go to my brethren and say to them I am ascending to my Father and your Father, to my God and your God."

Mary Magdalene went and said to the disciples, "I have seen the Lord," and she told them that he had said these things to her.

ON THE evening of that day, the first day of the week, the doors being shut where the disciples were, for fear of the Jews, Jesus came and stood among them and said unto them, "Peace be with you."

When he had said this, he showed them his hand and his side. Then the disciples were glad when they saw the Lord.

JESUS said unto them again: "Peace be with you. As the Father has sent me, even so I send you."

And when he had said this, he breathed on them, and said to them, "Receive the Holy Spirit. If you forgive the sins of any, they are forgiven; if you retain the sins of any, they are retained."

Now Jesus did many other signs in the presence of the disciples, which are not written in this book; but these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that believing you may have life in his name.

400 Students Will Attend Session Here

Representatives of over 80 chapters in California of the Future Business Leaders of America will convene here Friday for their sixth annual state convention. Approximately 400 high school and junior college young people have been chosen as delegates to the meeting. Lafayette Hotel will be convention headquarters.

Highlighting the sessions will be the awards. The Rosemead Chamber of Commerce will present the activity award to the most active chapter in service for the year and judging will be on the 12 purposes of FBLA. Fullerton FBLA Chapter will present a publicity award to the school having the best publicity in local, school and national newspapers and magazines. Ribbons will be presented to the chapter having the best display of club activities.

Inaugurated this year will be a Miss and Mr. Future Business Executive award. A perpetual trophy is being provided by the Long Beach Chamber of Commerce and typewriters will be presented by the Long Beach Retailers Association and Remington Rand to the winners. Judges will be Mrs. Louise Reed, Miss Mae Leese, Jim Crab, Bill Myers, Edward Peters, all members of the National Office Management Association education committee.

The Long Beach chapters of FBLA will be hosts to the visitors, with Jackie Kozak as student chairman. The convention will close Saturday night with a dance at which the "Stardusters" will play. A fashion show will be given during the dance by Walker's.

State officers are Fred Hall, Fresno Junior College, president; Phil Hill, Fullerton Junior College; Anne Sousa, Manteca High School; Mona Kile, Dinuba High School and Yvonne Mathisrud, Culver City High School, vice presidents; Louella Williams, Fresno Junior College, secretary; June Johnson, Fontana High School, reporter; Gracie Lee, Redding College, treasurer, and Lurita Johnston, Fullerton Junior College, parliamentarian.

State sponsors of the organization are Dr. Jack Martin, El Camino College; Dr. Bernadine Bell, consultant for the Bureau of Business Education, Sacramento. Dr. Jessie Graham, supervisor of Business Education, Los Angeles public schools, is the national trustee for the western region.

LAST YEAR'S CHAMP

Little Beth Can Spell Word of 45 Letters

Can you spell pneumonoultramicroscopicsilicovolcanokonio-sis?

Elizabeth Barnett, 14, of Fullerton, can.

But of course Beth has a head start on this spelling business. She won the 1954 Long Beach spelling bee finals sponsored by the Independent, Press-Telegram last spring and she went to Washington, D. C., to participate in the national spelling bee. There she placed 22nd in a field of 57 champion spellers. It was "visceral" that threw her at Washington. She missed the "c."

Now Beth is coaching Carol Gay Crosswhite, 13, who will represent her school, the Willshire Junior High School of Fullerton, in the 1955 Long Beach area finals, again sponsored by the Independent, Press-Telegram, at 2 p. m. Saturday at Wilson High School.

That's where that 45-letter word that starts "pneumo-" comes in. The girls were looking through the dictionary for the longest word they could find, and so far this is it. It means, Beth explains, a lung disease that miners get from inhaling fumes.

Beth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Barnett, 525 W. Valley View Dr., Fullerton, had a fine time. She and her mother had an all-expense paid trip to Washington, a week's stay in the Willard Hotel, they saw the House and the Senate in action, the Lincoln monument, the Jefferson monument, the White House, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, Mount Vernon and the FBI headquarters. They had a chat with Vice President Richard Nixon. The President was out of town.

Both won a $50 prize, which she spent going to mountain camps this year. She is 5 feet 6, and a smattering of freckles, with light brown hair, blue eyes. Her father is a development engineer in the research department of the Union Oil Co. She has two brothers, Grant, 10, and Mark, 6, and a sister Joan 8.

Bellwood Hospital Outlay Runs to $1,000,000 Total

BELLFLOWER—Second upward revision of expansion plans for the new Bellwood General Hospital which will increase overall cost of construction and equipment to more than a million dollars was announced Saturday by Eugene De Koven, administrator.

The announcement comes one week in advance of the scheduled April 17 opening of the initial units constructed at a cost of approximately $500,000.

The planned addition slated to start immediately following the opening will increase the basic 40-bed hospital to a capacity of 100 beds. Plans announced several weeks ago before the revision would have increased the capacity to 80 beds.

The new wings will nearly double the size of the 18,000 square foot initial unit. The plan will increase the maternity section to 25 beds and will include a fathers' waiting room.

Other facilities included in the basic unit now near completion are two major surgeries, one emergency room, clinical and pathological department and snack bar for visitors, physicians and employees.

Boys Club Meet Spurs 'Juvenile Decency' Drive

The boys clubs' nationwide program to combat juvenile delinquency will make a bid for stronger and more widespread support when an estimated 1,000 sponsors meet Friday at the Hotel Statler, Los Angeles.

Business and professional men from the Long Beach area will be among those attending the affair, the Southern California and Arizona Area Council dinner, Boys Clubs of America, according to Maurice Bugbee, director of the Boys' Clubs of Long Beach.

Albert L. Cole of New York, president of the national organization and general business manager of the Reader's Digest, will be principal speaker. Also programmed will be a dramatic presentation of boys clubs ideals and the "Operation Juvenile Decency" project which seeks to diminish delinquency.

Awards and honors will be presented for work in behalf of boys, and the program will conclude with a benediction by his eminence Francis Cardinal McIntyre.

Reservations for the dinner may be made through the Boys Club of Long Beach, 1585 Chestnut Ave.

Training Will Be Tough, Sgt. Tells Recruits

(Editor's Note: This is the first of several articles which from time to time will report on training of the Long Beach Platoon at the 6th Infantry Division at Fort Ord.)

By PVT. DON BURNS

FORT ORD—Fort Ord's Receiving Point is a long way from the post office steps at Long Beach.

Thirty-nine Long Beach men were sworn into the U. S. Army on those steps. Less than 24 hours later they were lining up, at 5:15 a. m., for their first Army formation in pre-dawn darkness just inside Ord's north gate.

For three hours after their arrival, the Long Beach area men, who were accompanied from Southern California to this post by their recruiter, M/Sgt. William F. Lillis of Long Beach, filled out forms and records of all sorts. Among records initiated were pay orders, next of kin lists, allotment forms, $10,000 life insurance papers and even income tax deduction statements.

Here, too, the receiving sergeant welcomed the recruits to Fort Ord's 6th Infantry Division. He told them that they were now members of a fighting division, rich in history and tradition. They learned that the red star which they soon will be sewing on their uniforms, the insignia of the 6th, has been seen on battlefields during the American Revolution, the War of 1812, Civil War, Indian Wars, Mexican Campaign, Spanish-American War, Philippine Insurrection and World Wars I and II.

"Training will be tough," the sergeant told the young men. "It has to be tough if you are to become good soldiers. You'll earn your red star and the title 'soldier.'"

The sergeant went on to tell the men of the Long Beach Platoon that they will be kept together and assigned to the same training company. There, they heard, eight weeks of intensive training would prepare them for future Army assignments.

Following the orientation and paper work, the enlistees were marched to a mess hall for their first Army meal. They had fried eggs, bacon, fruit, toast, jam and butter, cereal, coffee and milk. By 10:30 a. m. they had been given a partial issue of clothing and equipment and had put on new fatigues, the Army's working uniform. Into their duffle bags went their "civies," and there they will stay until the men finish their eight-week cycle.

Then the men were assigned to a barracks which included a platoon sergeant. He showed them how the Army wants its bunks made, how the floors are to be cleaned, how to "police" the area (clean up all debris), how to keep in step when marching and how to go on "sick call" when ill. The sergeant will stay with the platoon until it is sent on to the training company.

FACTORY SUPERINTENDENT

Paul Nichol Chosen to Key Chest Drive

Paul A. Nichol, factory superintendent of Procter and Gamble, has been chosen to lead the Community Chest's 1955-56 United Neighbors Campaign next fall, Roland E. Robbins, Chest president announced Saturday.

"Nichol, who has served in important positions in former Chest drives, will build a hard-working team for this fall's campaign," Robbins predicted.

"His membership on the board of directors of the YMCA, Belmont Heights Methodist Church, as a trustee of Seaside Hospital and a member of Rotary prove his interest and awareness of civic problems."

Nichol declared that of all causes to which people are asked to contribute, none serves so many in so many different ways as does the Community Chest.

"Those in the armed forces, our senior citizens, our children, our neighbors and mine benefit because of our 28 health, welfare and youth services," Nichol said, addressing a rally of Red Feather leaders.

The Community Chest is the largest coordinated voluntary enterprise and it deserves the biggest and best community support."

Floyd White, Chest campaign director, explained that the former 12 divisions of the campaign would be consolidated this year into five units for the purpose of simplification, with a chairman responsible for each unit. Agencies were asked to submit their minimum 1956 budgets for review before June by the 22 members of the Chest budget committee.

George E. Himmelbauer, budget committee chairman, told of the present job classification and salary study now being conducted by Louis J. Kroger and Associates and concluded that this would assist the budget committee materially in their recommendations to the Chest board.

Beauty Show Leader Dies in New York

Edgar William Stewart, 62, president of Catalina, Inc., and Miss Universe Beauty Pageant, died in a New York Hotel suite Saturday following a heart attack.

Stewart took over the swim suit and sweater manufacturing company in 1914 when it was doing about a million dollar business and built it up so that in 1954 it did 25 million. Oscar Meinhardt, associated with Stewart in both the Miss Universe pageant and Catalina, Inc., said, "Stewart had a dynamic personality," Meinhardt said. "I would say that among the national retail trade he was better known and better liked than any man in the industry."

Meinhardt said that Stewart's death will have no effect on the Long Beach beauty show of which he was president since its founding in 1950.

Robert Beck of Los Angeles, a son-in-law and salesman of the firm, said in New York Stewart complained of illness Friday. He died in his suite in the Hotel Barclay while on a business trip.

Stewart is survived by his wife, Elizabeth; a daughter, Mrs. Betty Beck; and two sons, David and William, all of Los Angeles. Funeral arrangements are pending in Los Angeles.

Merry Meals School Will Bring Prizes

A chance to whittle the household budget with better than ever meals will be offered to Southland homemakers at the four-day Merry Meals Cooking School opening April 19 in Municipal Auditorium.

Top flight culinary experts will conduct the school, sponsored by the Independent, Press-Telegram and open to the public without charge. An added attraction will be prizes totaling $3,000.

Ruth Hogan, field home economist of the National Livestock and Meat Board, will preside as lecturer, assisted by Beatrice Berman. Miss Hogan and her assistants are expert nutritionists, well qualified to reveal the secrets of the art and science of cooking zesty dishes with nutrients in balance.

In line with the growing interest in proper diets, the cooking school will call attention to the ranking of various foods as sources of the essential nutrients.

The accent will be on foods of high value in proteins, iron, phosphorus and other health-giving minerals. Homemakers will also receive new insight into the role of the vitamin.

In her lecture Miss Hogan will have at her command data from 30 years of research by universities and medical centers for the National Livestock and Meat Board.

Kitchen economy and myriads of labor-saving devices will be given top emphasis in the programs, which accent thrift in every phase.

In addition to their informative values, the sessions will reward those attending with a wide variety of prizes and a seasoning of entertainment.

Each program reaches its climax with a parade of foods, in which the dishes prepared are displayed, garnished and ready to serve, in the tempting array reflected by a revolving mirror.

For the women of the Southland the doorway to merry meals will open April 19!

Legion Post Sets Reunion

A dinner get-together for "old-timers" of the Arthur L. Peterson Post 27, American Legion, is scheduled for 7 p. m. Tuesday in Veterans' Memorial Bldg.

Some 250 members of the post for more than 10 years will join many past commanders in the reunion, chairman Ray McKinstry and co-chairman Spencer M. Redfield announced.

The late Congressman Walter F. Lineberger was the first commander of the post when it was started in 1919.

The second commander, James F. Collins, now a Los Angeles engineer, is scheduled to appear at the meeting. Present head of Peterson post is Gene Knight.

TUESDAY BLOOD BANK CANCELLED

Next Tuesday's blood bank has been cancelled, Llewellyn Bixby, chairman of Long Beach Chapter of Red Cross, announced Saturday.

The regular Tuesday banks will resume April 19 and donors may report to the chapter house at 319 W. Broadway from 3 p. m. to 7:30 p. m.

The need for blood is still urgent and donors are urged to contact the Red Cross Chapter for dates of mobile units that may be in their vicinity," Chairman Bixby said.

General Telephone Co. employees are slated to give blood Monday at 1777 E. 20th St. and Long Beach Shipyard employees may donate April 20 at Terminal Island, Lakewood residents are urged to report to Pan American Hall, 5157 Centralia St., on April 26 between 3 p. m. and 7:30 p. m.

President-Elect

DR. FLOYD H. TODD Harbor Dental Leader

Dentists Leave Old Grind for Field Day Wednesday

If you can't find your dentist in his office Wednesday, he'll probably be at the Lakewood Country Club for the Harbor District Dental Society annual field day.

Dentists from Torrance to Artesia and from Long Beach to Lynwood will tee off in the morning for the golf tournament. In the afternoon clinics will occupy their time.

Among the local men who will conduct clinics will be Drs. LeRoy E. Pitman, N. R. McCoy, Mulford Smith, Lawrence A.

Spaulding, and Arthur C. Meggs of Long Beach. From the outlying areas will be Drs. Dudley H. Glick, Stanton W. Phillips, and Ross Huntley of Los Angeles; Dr. Lester A. Becker of Costa Mesa, Robert W. Thompson of San Pedro, and Clifford J. Moore of Pasadena.

In the evening the dentists will banquet at the Lakewood Country Club. Dr. A. L. Vestermark will have charge of the evening fun. Retiring president Dr. Morgan S. Falls will hand over the gavel of his office to the president-elect, Dr. Floyd H. Todd.

L.B. Platoon 'Clipped' in Fort Ord Training

Group living takes a bit of doing, and after the initial shock, the pieces of the puzzle slide into place and the adjustment is made.

Fort Ord has one of the finest settings of any Army post. On the Monterey Bay, six miles from California's first state capital, Ord covers 28,600 acres. San Francisco is 115 miles to the north, Long Beach 380 miles southward.

Right now new grasses and wild flowers are transforming the rolling hills into breathtaking scenes. But it isn't likely that the men of the Long Beach Platoon will notice. They won't have time.

Before the Long Beach men move on to their training camp, they will have their blood typed, photos taken, metal identification tags stamped and shots administered.

A recruit's first haircut is a never-to-be-forgotten experience. The operation takes nearly 60 seconds.

For nearly a week the Long Beach Platoon soldiers will be processed. For an entire day they will be given written tests to discover education levels, aptitudes, mechanical abilities and proficiency in foreign languages. Here they are also tested to determine if they are officer material.

Dr. Herbert Stolz, Sacramento, deputy superintendent of public instruction in charge of special schools and classes for the California Department of Education, will be the principal speaker at Wednesday's general session. He will speak on "Challenge of the Team Approach" during a meeting beginning at 9:30 a. m. in Concert Hall.

Children's Council Will Convene Here

Friday night's speaker in Concert Hall will be Dr. Ruth Rattama, director of the division of maternal and child health of the Denver Department of Health and Hospitals. She also is chairman of the committee on exceptional children for the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Dr. George Tarjan, medical director and supervisor of Pacific State Hospital, Spadra, will speak on "The Psychiatrist Looks at Special Education" Saturday noon at the Wilton Hotel.

Discussion speakers Tuesday on the Council on Teacher Education will include Romaine Mackie, Washington, D. C., chief in charge of exceptional children, U. S. Office of Education.

Richard C. Dabney, Jefferson City, Mo., director of special education for Missouri, is president of the international council and will preside. Dr. Francis E. Lord, professor of education at Los Angeles State College, is

8 Destroyers Return From Orient Tasks

SAN DIEGO (UP)—Eight ships making up Destroyer Squadron 1 arrived Saturday from six months of duty in far eastern waters.

The Floyd B. Parks, flagship of the squadron, led the ships into the harbor. Other ships in the squadron are the John R. Craig, Orleck, Perkins, Bausell, Richard B. Anderson, Arerholm and Rogers.

The squadron participated in hunter-killer antisubmarine operations near Okinawa and patrolled Formosan waters for a month before the Tachens Islands evacuation.

Weeks Will Help Open Paris Fair

PARIS (UP)—Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks will take part in ceremonies May 14 opening the Paris international fair, at which the United States is exhibiting this year for the first time, it was announced Saturday.

Russia withdrew its planned entry in the fair earlier this week, saying fair authorities "did not allot enough space" to Soviet exhibits.

Portuguese to Visit
LISBON, Portugal (UP)—President Francisco Craveiro Lopes and his wife are to pay an official state visit Oct. 25-28 to Britain, historic ally of Portugal. Queen Elizabeth II invited them.

KEEPS HIM FIT

Clyde Beatty, who brings his circus to Long Beach Monday for two days, says working in a cage with Royal Bengal tigers keeps him in trim for he must be alert at all times. Two shows will be given here Monday and two on Tuesday at Veterans Memorial Stadium, sponsored by the Downtown Optimist Club.

'Suds in Your Eye' Tryouts Wednesday

Long Beach Community Play-lively comedy. The lead, Mrs. Feeley, will be played by Lottie Loeffler. Mrs. Tinkham will be played by Sybil Reed. "My Three Angels," current play there, closes April 23. The next play, "There's Always Juliet," opens April 29. Some 20 are in the cast of the

Beatty's Big Circus Here for Two Days

If you want to stay young take Clyde Beatty's advice. All you have to do is enter a cage of 16 lions. If this appears a little too tame then throw in an octette of Royal Bengal tigers, who probably won't like you any more than they do the lions. For protection you carry an old kitchen chair, a long whip and a gun full of blanks. Beatty claims this sort of thing does the trick in keeping a fit. It must work—for Beatty—because the famous star of motion pictures, television, radio and his circus, looks like a young man despite the fact he's been doing this for 30 years. The wiry, curly-haired wild animal trainer will mix it up with his lions and tigers when his all new Clyde Beatty Gigan-tic 3-ring railroad circus comes to Long Beach on Monday and Tuesday at Veterans Memorial Stadium show grounds at 3 p. m. and 8 p. m., rain or shine, the doors opening one hour earlier. The circus is being sponsored by the Downtown Optimist Club. Beatty adds: "Courage is by no means the most important asset in my job. Much more important is a sixth sense—an instinct that tells you how far you can go with each cat each day."

Traffic-Safety Talks by Youths Tuesday

Semifinalists in the Knights of Pythias-sponsored traffic-safety speaking contest will participate in a district meeting 7:45 p. m. Tuesday in Machinists Hall, 728 Elm Ave. The meeting will be conducted by Oceanview Lodge No. 397. Topic of the speech contest is, "What Can Youth Do For Highway Safety?"

Sign of Our Times: Revival of Faith

SCIENCE and rapid communications have given the historian of modern times a blur of events and phenomena to evaluate and record.

In America he couldn't ignore the impact of the automobile on our economic life and our cultural habits. He couldn't forget the swift development of television from an experiment into a major recreational, and sometimes educational, medium. He couldn't forget the wars, hot and cold, and their influence on our nervous systems, our thinking and our social habits.

Certainly he couldn't ignore the fact that over the past decade America has been going through a religious revival, which without doubt has been motivated by the pressures of modern life.

We have been doing more things, and we have been doing things more rapidly in the past decade than ever before. Our daily lives run at a swifter pace, as we strive to keep up with the plethora of gadgets and improvements and challenges. We drive faster. We live closer together. We receive the impulses of the daily tensions in world affairs more rapidly. In spite of a high level of physical well-being, we often feel a sense of uneasiness and an indefinable inadequacy.

It is not just an opinion, but a statistical fact, that more and more of our people have been seeking guidance in the churches, finding their hope in faith.

The proportion of church members in the total population has been rising throughout American history. The rise is more marked in some periods than others. We are and have been for more than a decade in one of those periods of remarkable resurgence.

In 1940 the percentage of Americans who were church members was 49. By 1950 the figure was 57 per cent. By 1953—59.5 per cent. The trend continues and has become a striking feature of American life, one of the big news stories of our time.

It seems no mere accident that this increased interest in the church and religion and faith has taken place in an era of two wars—World War II and Korea—and of the development of nuclear weapons, and of pulling and hauling between the Western and Eastern worlds.

The ordinary person is often awed by forces which he feels are beyond his control. It is natural that he should consider faith his last line of defense.

And the Queen's Butler Didn't Spill a Single Drop

WASHINGTON—A new story on Britain's Queen Elizabeth II and Prime Minister Sir Winston Churchill has just reached Washington via the diplomatic grapevine. It happened at the London conference of the nine British commonwealth prime ministers.

They were all receiving the queen at a Buckingham Palace dinner. Churchill was seated on a divan. Mohammed Ali, prime minister of Pakistan, was standing near "Sit down, Mr. Prime Minister of Pakistan," said Sir Winston. "Sit down and have a brandy."

Mohammed Ali indicated he didn't care for any.

"Then have some champagne," urged Sir Winston. Mohammed Ali replied he didn't drink. He was a teetotaler.

"A teetotaler!" exclaimed the British prime minister, suddenly realizing that the prime minister of Pakistan was a Mohammedan, and therefore took no alcohol. "God!" exclaimed Sir Winston. "I mean Buddha—I mean Allah!"

The remark was overheard, and the next day one of the guests had occasion to ask the queen if she had heard it.

"Yes," she replied. "Philip could hardly wait till after dinner to tell me about it."

"You know," he added, "we're going to promote the butler. We're going to put him on the palace football eleven. He overheard the remark, too."

Recent developments indicate that political assassinations now can get a man in jail in Latin America. This is about on a par with outlawing baseball in the United States or making cricket illegal in England.

It is suggested that Russian farmers come to Iowa to learn how to produce corn and hogs, but in the interests of defense let's keep them out of Indiana, where the secret of how to grow basketball players is hidden.

and he dropped his tray. But he caught it without spilling a drop before it touched the floor.

HE SHOULD BE

Another Churchillian gem was not caught by the official reporters in Parliament, though it happened in that distinguished assembly. As the prime minister walked to the government bench, one of the members was speaking. Sir Winston is becoming increasingly hard of hearing, so he leaned towards the minister sitting next to him and whispered loudly, "What's he saying?"

"He is saying that he is most about speaking," replied the bored minister.

The prime minister looked the speaker over for a moment and then mumbled, "No man has a better right."

BOSS FOR A DAY

Secretary of Treasury George Humphrey has a habit of giving his chauffeur, Ignatius Perry, a periodic ride in the back seat.

Treasury officials are bug-eyed once a week to watch the boss open the car door for Perry, climb into the back seat, and then observe Humphrey take the wheel and drive off. This routine takes place most every Tuesday afternoon at four, when Humphrey goes to the weekly meeting of the Foreign Economic Council in the old State Department building, a block away.

The secretary drives his personal car because the meetings usually last well past normal quitting time for the chauffeur. When he arrives at the old State building, Humphrey gets out at the entrance. Perry hops in the front seat, parks the car, leaves a note for the secretary where he has left it, and takes off for the rest of the day.

BROTHER ACT

There are an awful lot of brother acts in high places of the Republican administration. There's President Eisenhower and his brother, Milton, who though not on the government payroll full time, has done special jobs for Ike, like the mission to South America.

Then there's the Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, who heads Central Intelligence Agency.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell has his brother, Samuel M. Brownell, heading up the U. S. Office of Education.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., head of the U. S. mission to the U. N., has a younger brother, John Davis Lodge, working as ambassador to Madrid.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Randolph W. Burgess is the brother of Director of Census Robert W. Burgess.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander in chief at NATO, is the brother of Homer H. Gruenther, assistant to the deputy assistant to the President.

Air Force Chief of Staff Gen. Nathan F. Twining and his brother, Maj.-Gen. Merrill B. Twining, deputy chief of staff of the Marines, get together frequently in Joint Chiefs of Staff meetings at the Pentagon.

Was There Really Any Need for Broad Concessions to Reds in Yalta Talks?

WASHINGTON—There's evidently going to be a revival of interest from now on in what took place behind the scenes in Washington during World War II. That's because efforts are being made to argue that such mistakes as were made by President Roosevelt at Yalta were due to a feeling that concessions were necessary.

The other side of the story is coming out. Thus Capt. W. D. Puleston, USN retired, who has spent nearly all his time since 1945 writing a book called "The Influence of Force on Foreign Relations," has had access to official records and has painstakingly interviewed many of the persons who held top positions in America's military establishment during the war.

Capt. Puleston says there was no need to make concessions to Soviet Russia and that the late Harry Hopkins, intimate friend of Mr. Roosevelt, was the center of a pro-Russian atmosphere in Washington. Apropos of what was happening in the inner councils, the late Secretary Forrestal is quoted as having written to a friend in September 1944 that "if any American suggests that we act in accord with our own interests, he is apt to be called a . . . Fascist or Imperialist, while if Uncle Joe (Stalin) suggests that he needs the Baltic provinces, half of Poland, all of Bessarabia and access to the Mediterranean, all hands in Washington agree that he is a fine, frank, candid and generally delightful fellow who is very easy to deal with because he is so explicit in what he wants."

HOPKINS MEMO

Capt. Puleston tells how a secret memorandum by Harry Hopkins was circulated among the American delegates to the Moscow conference in October 1943. He quotes Robert E. Sherwood, biographer of Hopkins, as saying this document was of great importance because it shaped the policy which guided American delegates making decisions at Tehran and Yalta. Hopkins claimed that his memorandum of 1953 was taken "from a very high level United States military strategic estimate."

The text of the document reads in part as follows:

"Russia's postwar position in Europe will be a dominant one. With Germany crushed, there is no power in Europe to oppose to South America."

Then there's the Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and his brother, Allen, who heads Central Intelligence Agency.

Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell has his brother, Samuel M. Brownell, heading up the U. S. Office of Education.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., head of the U. S. mission to the U. N., has a younger brother, John Davis Lodge, working as ambassador to Madrid.

Undersecretary of the Treasury Randolph W. Burgess is the brother of Director of Census Robert W. Burgess.

Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander in chief at NATO, is the brother of Homer H. Gruenther, assistant to the deputy assistant to the President.

pose her tremendous military forces. . . .

"The conclusions from the foregoing are obvious. Since Russia is the decisive factor in the war, she must be given every assistance and every effort made to obtain her friendship. Likewise, since without question she will dominate Europe on the defeat of the Axis, it is even more essential to develop and maintain the most friendly relations with Russia."

"Finally, the most important factor the United States has to consider in relation to Russia is the prosecution of the war in the Pacific. With Russia as an ally in the war against Japan, the war can be terminated in less time and at less expense in life and resources than if the reverse were the case. Should the war in the Pacific have to be carried on with an unfriendly or a negative attitude on the part of Russia, the difficulties will be immeasurably increased and operations might become abortive."

Yet, just before this memorandum was taken to Moscow by Harry Hopkins, an entirely different military estimate was being made in writing, as the records will show, by top officers in the Navy Department. Capt. Puleston was one of these. He writes in his book:

"Many Naval officers in Washington did not agree with Hopkins' document. Most of them were convinced that Russia needed the support of the United Nations more than they (the allies) needed that of Russia. The Navy thought we had heard too much of Red contribution to victory and too little of Anglo-American. They feared that if the Anglo-American representatives continued to extol Russia's effort and apologize for their own, Stalin would demand more and more concessions. They proposed to tell the Kremlin that we would not attempt to impose on them but would not be stupid enough to let Russia impose upon us."

UNTOLED STORY

The detailed story of the pressure in Washington on the Roosevelt administration not to grant concessions to Soviet Russia and of the leverage which the United States had on Moscow because of the need for America's lend-lease supplies in the critical months just after the Yalta conference has yet to be revealed. Likewise, America had the atom bomb in store in 1945 and it is, therefore, surprising that a big alibi now is interjected which says that no other course except surrender was possible at Yalta.

Tidelands Fight Gets Tougher

EVEN THOUGH IT SEEMS incredible that Long Beach may lose half of its tidelands money through the close Supreme Court decision in the Mallon case, that could be only the half of it. The loss could be seriously extended through legislative action.

The Supreme Court decision greatly complicates the problem of turning back the forces headed by Assemblyman Bruce Allen, which are far from satisfied with 50 per cent of the city's tidelands wealth apparently awarded to the state by the court.

At a press conference in Los Angeles last week, Allen repeated what he told this writer weeks ago in Sacramento: he would take all the rest of the tidelands money on hand and all of that to come in the future, except for a meager allowance to run the harbor — and that amount would be set by the state. He would kill off such tidelands projects as the Marina, Sports Arena, and Armed Services YMCA, which are planned under authorization of legislative acts unaffected by the court's decision.

This would be an unbelievable injustice to a city that has developed a great oil field under a program yielding almost unprecedented revenue to the public — revenue which it now seems likely the state will share even though it has contributed nothing to the planning, the management or the community drive that brought it about.

But this injustice could happen unless Long Beach puts forth a supremely effective effort in the remaining nine weeks of the legislative session. Legislative-wise, these probably will be the most important weeks in the history of Long Beach.

One effect of the Mallon decision was immediate announcement of a legislative counsel's opinion that the Allen bill, if passed, would be unconstitutional. In the early part of the session, there had been strong speculation that his proposal would not stand up legally.

But it should be pointed out that the fact that a measure passes the test of constitutionality doesn't necessarily mean that it would be just, honorable, or sound public policy. For various good reasons, the Legislature at each session turns down hundreds of proposals that would pass the mere legal test.

Another strong argument offered earlier against the Allen bill was that no legislation should be undertaken so long as the Mallon case was pending in the Supreme Court. When the Supreme Court acted, it disposed of that argument. It would be helpful, of course, if through re-hearing or further appeal, the legal issue were re-opened.

So it will be necessary for Long Beach to re-tool its legislative program for the fight ahead. It has a strong case, if justice and fair play mean anything, but it will have to be presented in the most effective way possible if it is to succeed.

Meanwhile, the other side is plenty busy. Emboldened by the "break" in the Mallon case, they are gathering force for an attack on everything the city has in the tidelands.

Several public relations agents have shown up here and there throughout the state, working for the Allen bill. They have put out at least one large piece of publicity material, full of inflammatory material against Long Beach. They are setting up a statewide organization.

Thus the lines are drawn for a big fight. Everything that has heretofore been said to Long Beach people warning that they must be alert and aggressive in behalf of their community, needs to be repeated with double emphasis.

Plight of the Honeybee Puts Gloom on Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Consider the plight of the bee. It works hard, saves its honey, gets itself immortalized by those who admire druggery, and what happens?

Someone comes along with a new insecticide. The insect powder falls on the just and the unjust, the worker and the drone alike.

Which partly explains why Congress, with the whole world to worry about, is also bothered about honeybees.

The House already has decided that $200,000 should be spent next year in research on bees, beekeeping and honey. The Senate has the problem before it now.

COLONIES VANISHING

Clarence L. Benson of the American Beekeeping Federation said in his testimony before a House Appropriations Subcommittee that the bees are dropping off at the rate of 60,000 colonies a year.

This doesn't merely mean less honey for biscuits. It means far more than that. For man, with all his cunning, still hasn't been able to beat nature's way of pollination. When the bees go, some 50 crops go with them.

Benson said losses run into untold millions because the bees haven't been on the job. Ironically, the farmers themselves are often to blame. "Many times a farmer in an attempt to control injurious insects," Benson said, "will also destroy the honeybees which he needs for pollination."

The result: A crop failure for him, and a staggering blow to the beekeeper.

Did you know that bees are so important in pollination that in some places farmers rent them during the blooming season?

Benson, who lives in Arizona, rents bees at $5 a hive to cantaloup growers.

But in asking Congress for $200,000 of the taxpayers' money for research, the beekeepers said they had a lot of troubles besides insecticides.

For one thing, bees are kept pretty much as they always are; that is, expensively, by hand. And although honey probably was one of man's first foods, not too much is known about it.

"We know honey is an excellent food," Robert B. Willson of the honey industry council said. "However, we don't know many of the reasons why, for example, honey is an excellent food for athletes as well as invalids, why it is so effective as an antiseptic in surgery."

Nor do the beekeepers know why, with writers since Biblical days praising honey so highly, we eat so little of it. Present consumption: around a pound and a half for each person in this country each year.

All in all, a gloomy picture.

Masters Pontiac Agency Purchased by M. F. Salta

Sale of the Masters Pontiac Co., Inc. 1545 American Ave., with the new owner, M. F. Salta, taking immediate occupancy was disclosed here Saturday.

Salta, who has been in the automotive field for 10 years, came from Dallas where he had held the Lincoln-Mercury dealership. However, he is a former Long Beach resident, having been with the Wane Management Service, Salta is originally from Portland, Ore.

"We will continue to carry on the fine policies established by the Masters Co., and most of the same personnel will remain," said Salta.

"The plant is so new and so well equipped there is no need for any changes," he added. "I hope the public will accept us as well as they always have the Masters Co." The name will be changed to Salta Pontiac.

Mrs. Salta and their four children have arrived in Long Beach to join him and will establish a home at once.

With the sale of the big agency it brought to an end 36 years in the new automobile business for Owen Masters, but he isn't quitting the auto field completely.

"While I intend to devote most of my time on a cattle ranch I have purchased near Riverside, I am continuing to operate a used car lot, insurance and loan business at 1860 American Ave.," said Masters. "A few of my close associates will operate that business while I tend to my cattle raising. I always have wanted to raise cattle and finally I'm going to do it."

Masters started in the auto field in 1920 with a Chevrolet agency and for the last 21 years has been a Pontiac dealer. He came to Long Beach in 1943 from Glendale.

"It always has been a pleasure to be in business in Long Beach," he declared. "The pub-

How to Improve Sales Contact Object of Three-Night Clinic

"Put the pay in what you say," is the theme of a three-night Sales Communication Clinic starting Tuesday, April 19, at the Wilton Hotel, under auspices of Long Beach Sales Executive Club.

Conducted by Charles Bury of Dallas, the clinic is open to all business people who desire to do a better selling job by telephone, written, or personal methods, officials point out.

In face-to-face selling, Bury says that words can "confuse, distract, give wrong meanings." Also, many salesmen are in a rut of using "deadpan" words "words that are worn out through overuse" like, "bargain," "good buy," "best there is," Bury advocates the use of "picture words" . . . words that make the other person "see what he is hearing."

With the proper words, Bury says, a salesman can "visualize, persuade, convince. There's magic in words . . . and gold in the way you use them."

TELEPHONE CONTACT
The second . . . and more difficult method of customer contact is by telephone, Bury explains, "and here is where the trouble starts."

"Over the telephone, the other person forms his impression of you solely by your voice. He can't see the expression on your face, nor can he feel a warm handshake. The only thing that counts," Bury says, "is what meets his ear . . . your voice."

CHARLES BURY
There's Magic in Words

"Descriptive words are especially needed in telephone work because the other person cannot see the merchandise. You have to be the customer's eyes."

Summing up, Bury said: "On the telephone your voice has to sell as well as tell."

Third . . . and most difficult of the three methods of customer contact, Bury continued, is by the written word, business letters. In a letter, Bury adds, "the other person cannot see you, nor can he hear you. Your words stand alone."

CAN BE COSTLY
The most common abuse of words in business letters is the use of the "hackneyed" word, such as "wishing to advise," or "begging to state." Sharing equal honors, is the use of the "windy" phrase, such as, "In the normal course of our policy procedure . . ." Bury suggests that this phrase be replaced by the one word . . . "Normally . . ."

A poorly phrased sales presentation, or business letter can destroy the efforts of the sales and advertising program, he maintains.

As a means of breaking bad speaking and writing habits, and molding new ones, Bury uses "shock treatment."

"I ridicule, I dramatize. I show how foolish it is to use such phrases," he explained.

Bury's "parting words" were, "Choose your words with care. Don't commit 'word suicide'!"

For more information regarding the Bury Clinic a telephone call can be made to 6-1408 and an illustrated brochure will be mailed.

JUST OFF FREEWAY

Orange Terrace is showing a second unit of 101 three and four-bedroom, two-bath homes, typified above, just off Santa Ana Freeway, at Parker and Eckhoff Sts., in the City of Orange. Vets get "no cash down" terms. Developed by W. I. Wilkie, the homes have many features usually found only in a custom-built home. Payments run from $64.65 a month. This view of one model is from the rear looking across the patio toward the living room and den.

OPENING TODAY

Birch cabinets are attractive features of new Sunshine Homes for non-vets opening today in Artesia. Terms as low as $295 down are offered.

Non-Vets May Buy Home on $295 Down

A limited number of non-vets are built for lasting satisfaction with quality for the low-down payment of $295 on the new Sunshine Homes for Non-Vets in Artesia, which will have their formal opening today, it was announced by S. V. Hunsaker, builder.

Furnished model homes are located at Del Amo Ave. and Del Amo Blvd. This new group of Sunshine Homes, Hunsaker pointed out, is easily accessible from Long Beach industrial centers, such as Douglas, Procter and Gamble, and the harbor area. Offering 2 full baths and 3 bedrooms for monthly payments as low as $68.75 (including both principal and interest), these homes on Del Amo and Del Amo Ave.

Lampson Plaza Located Between Two Big Freeways

Location of Lampson Plaza has proven a decisive factor in the heavy sales reported in the Tri Built Homes Inc., development, Garden Grove. Located between the Santa Ana Freeway and Garden Grove Blvd., both offering fast routes into Los Angeles and Long Beach, the homes are on Lampson Ave., between West St. and Budro St. Priced as low as $11,630, terms starting at $59.89 per month for principal and interest are available and veterans need no down payment other than costs and imposts.

In both 3- and 4-bedroom stylings, the homes have 2 baths, fireplaces, knotty pine cabinets, waste king disposals, large lots, are well insulated, and each has a double garage. Shades and screens are installed as are the clothes poles and incinerators. Hardwood flooring is featured with ceramic tile in the kitchen. Genuine plaster walls are inside with stucco exteriors. "We feel we have included everything a buyer could wish for at a price within reach of the average person today," said a spokesman for the sales agents.

As old as man . . . yet as modern as Dior. That's La Merina! You'll see it soon!

Now Near Sellout in Windsor Village

"Windsor Village, new Garden Grove development of 3- and 4-bedroom homes, is fast approaching a sell-out," states George Petrow, sales manager for the McCarthy Co., sales agents. "The rent or buy plan plus the fact that there are several homes available for immediate occupancy has proven very popular in Windsor Village," Petrow said. Decorator-planned, the homes have harmonizing color schemes on the exterior, as well as the interior. It was noted, California contemporary architectural styling was used in the development. Ceramic tiling is a feature of the kitchens which have the new louvered windows and are equipped with garbage disposers.

KNOCK ON THE WALL!

Cork tile floors are praised by visitors who appreciate their beauty, resiliency, and durability, Petrow said.

Landscaping of the front and side yards of the oversize lots is a winning feature of the homes.

Other attractions are walls of glass in the living rooms, added storage space found in the two-car garages which also have work areas, television jacks and outlets, weatherstripping, rock wool insulation, and 50-gallon hot water tanks. Thermostatically-controlled heat assures even temperatures throughout the home.

Pullman-type baths, stall showers, and American Standard colored fixtures are bathroom qualities at Windsor Village.

The homes are available to veterans for no down payment. Monthly payments of principal and interest are as low as $60.53, it was revealed. Although Ball Rd., the most convenient street to the subdivision, is now under repair, visitors are welcome to visit the models of the homes, open daily and Sundays, by driving out Seventh St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) to Gilbert St., and north to Windsor Village. From Los Angeles and northern points, take the Santa Ana Freeway to Highway 39, south to Cerritos and then east to Gilbert. Watch for signs.

High Quality of Glen Dell Unit Praised

Off the ground construction on traditional foundations with raised sub-floors, covered with hardwood flooring, are drawing discriminating home buyers to Glen Dell Park, it was stated yesterday by William P. Bowman, vice president in charge of sales for D. & E. Corp., builders and developers of the new residential community of three-bedroom, two-bath homes on West St., between Chapman and Katella Aves., Garden Grove.

"Buyers tell us they appreciate D. & E.'s policy of using only high quality materials and proven methods of construction, and recognized and recommended by recognized authorities in the construction industry," Bowman said.

"They like the fact that all Glen Dell Park homes have walls of thick, durable, genuine lath and plaster."

Bowman said attendance has shown a marked increase in the past two weeks at the display of three model homes, each furnished by Aaron Schultz of Long Beach and Anaheim.

Priced from $11,595, the homes are offered in a wide variety of styles to vets for nothing down with no cash needed for costs and imposts. Monthly payments, including principal and interest, are from $60.25, with many vets qualifying on earnings as low as $350 per month, according to officials of the Pioneer Land Co., sales agents.

Kitchens have such features as a combination dining nook, breakfast bar, buffet and desk, a copperized hood with built-in fan over the range area, double sink beautifully and protected by ceramic tile, a natural finish kitchen cabinets with hammered copper hardware and Waste King garbage pulverizers.

THROGS VISIT HOMES

Hundreds of cars daily visit Gilbert House & Garden homes, new Tobin Company development in Garden Grove. Ninety-three and six-tenths of the homes have been sold. Complete outdoor features are included in the purchase price, including full landscaping, sprinklers, and six-foot redwood fences.

Outdoor 'Extras' Included in House and Garden Home Price

Because Californians live outdoors as much as indoors, new homes at Gilbert House & Garden include full exterior development, the builders announce.

One purchase price covers such items, usually bought as "extras," as full professional landscaping, complete sprinkler systems all-inclusive six-foot redwood fences.

In less than 30 days 93 6/10 per cent of the Gilbert House & Garden development in Garden Grove has been sold according to officials of The Tobin Company builders.

They report enthusiastic customer acceptance of the unique outdoor-indoor combination,

REALTOR OF WEEK

Lewis Cox Recalls Race for Cimmaron

A man who was in the original cast of Cimmaron, only in that performance they played for keeps and not for the films, is the Realtor of the Week, honored by the Long Beach Realty Board.

Lewis K. Cox, one of the most affable of the more than 700 members of the board, could recite many interesting tales of history from actual experience. Yet he is so modest it really was difficult to learn many facts of his life.

Born in Kansas, Cox was taken by his parents to the Oklahoma Territory and they joined in the greatest horse race in history. His father filed on a claim on the Cimmaron near Guthrie after competing in that mad dash for land.

Growing up in the territory, Lewis K. Cox became a cowboy and as a youth he imported, trained and sold Montana wild horses. Later he took up farm-and they lived in the postoffice at the time Clair was born. He attended schools in his home town and then went to the University of South Dakota. In 1923 he came to California and moved to Long Beach in 1938.

IN OIL 25 YEARS
The second day he was in California he went to work with the Shell Oil Co., in the refinery near here, and served 25 years there. He still is a member of the Oil Workers' International Union, C.I.O., and served several years as chairman of the Shell unit and also served on the negotiations committee.

After completing 25 years in the refinery, Reed left Shell and went into realty. He received a broker's license in 1949 and then went to work with Ruth Lindquist Realty. He has been with Howard Butler Realty, 6176 Atlantic Ave., since 1953.

A stickler for the job, Reed never misses being at the office or out with a prospect except for one thing. If you can't locate him it is a sure thing he has gone fishing, his favorite form of recreation.

Around the Reed household at 6395 California Ave. there is no politics discussed. That was decided long ago. "I'm a Democrat, by preference," says Clair. "And I'm a Republican," says Mrs. Reed.

Reed has two sons, one a student in Jordan and the other employed at Douglas Aircraft after service in the Air Force.

Sales Jump in Shamrock Village Unit

"Sales were brisk at Shamrock Village this past week," states Frank Hart, sales manager of Walker & Lee, Inc., sales agents for Garden Grove Developments of 3 and 4-bedroom homes.

"The rent-with-option-to-buy plan which was introduced last week has been extremely popular at Shamrock Village," Hart continued, "so many people are undecided about the advisability of renting or buying at this time, and the opportunity to live in a new home in a new neighborhood while making up their minds has been enthusiastically received."

One of the things that makes Shamrock Village so appealing to new home buyers is that needed appliances such as refrigerators, automatic washers and ranges can be added to the home by applying the cost of them to the loan. This arrangement makes it possible for a veteran to purchase his home and the appliances without the necessity of putting any money down.

Shamrock Village dwellings are available in a wide selection of floor plans and exteriors, with 3 and 4 bedrooms and 1 or 2 baths. Lots are unusually large and the front side yards are landscaped. Hart pointed out that this latter feature has proven very popular. Not only does it save a home buyer money, but invaluable time and trouble. Thermostat controlled heat, rockwool insulation, weather stripping, oak hardwood or cork floors are other desirable features.

Popular Shamrock Village kitchens are both efficient and spacious. All work spaces are of ceramic tile. Bathrooms with pullman type lavatories have colored fixtures, Marlite over tubs, stall showers and some models have electric bath heaters.

Priced from $10,400 to $11,700, Shamrock Village homes are close to churches, schools, shopping; recreation and industrial areas are nearby.

Furnished models of the homes are open daily. Visitors from Long Beach drive out Seventh St. (Garden Grove Blvd.) and turn north on Harbor to Shamrock Village.

John R. Howell Elevated to Vice President of Firm

John R. Howell of Long Beach, who is with Sterling Electric Motors, Inc., Los Angeles, was appointed vice president in charge of sales at a meeting of the board of directors. Howell has been with Sterling for 27 years, serving as sales manager since July, 1964, and for six years prior to that time, as assistant sales manager.

Howell is a graduate of the California Institute of Technology and has a broad understanding of every phase of the electric motor industry. He is particularly versed in the field of application engineering, which today is of such great importance to industrial management because of the growing need for more efficient production methods and because of the increasing trend toward automation.

As a resident of Long Beach for 45 years, Howell has been very active in community affairs. He is a member of the Pacific Coast Club and for 25 years has been a member and active in the affairs of the First Baptist Church, as well as being a former president of the men's council of the church. His interest in other activities is indicated by his current responsibility as Boy Scout counselor.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell have two children, both of whom have been educated in Long Beach schools. Throughout the school years of their children, the Howells have given much time to the P.T.A. and, in recognition of their services, Howell holds an

Aldon's Buena Plaza Attracting Throngs

Simultaneous offering of completed 4-bedroom, 2-bath homes in the noted "Masterpiece Series" and 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes well into construction in the new "Triumph Series," both at no cash down terms for vets, has brought Buena Plaza its biggest crowds in the history of the new Aldon Construction Co. development.

This was announced by spokesmen for the home building firm, who said both visitors and sales are constantly increasing, both week days and week ends.

Buena Plaza's unusually choice location at Miller St. and La Palma Ave. in suburban Buena Park, just off the Santa Ana Freeway, was cited as a major consideration guiding home seekers to the property.

"As a result," a key spokesman reported, "the 4-bedroom 'Masterpiece' homes are now 90 per cent sold out, though a fine selection of diversified styles is still offered. As to the new 'Triumph' 3-bedroom models, advance reservations have already accounted for about 40 per cent of the 521 to be built in this popular unit."

In both series, vets can buy for no cash down, not even for costs and impounds, according to E. (Billy) Hamburg, sales agent. The 4-bedroom model payments are $71.49 for principal and interest for vets, and the 3-bedroom homes are $66.16, Hamburg said.

Included in the monthly payment on the 3-bedroom homes are a built-in Western-Holly range and eye-level oven, with clock controls, in choice of copper finish, stainless steel or pastel colored enamel finish.

These built-ins are also available in the 4-bedroom series, for an additional monthly payment of $1.94.

The "Triumph" series homes have floor-to-ceiling slumpstone or used brick fireplaces, forced-air heat, sliding walls of glass and model kitchens with custom hardware, natural finish birch cabinets, big double sinks with coved-plastic top, practical asphalt flooring, Waste-King garbage pulverizer, Dish-Whiz semi-automatic dishwasher and folding partition for extra service area.

NOW BEING OFFERED
Two new series of homes, "Masterpiece" 4-bedroom and "Triumph" 3-bedroom, both with 2 baths, are on the market at Buena Plaza, Miller St. and La Palma Ave., Buena Park, off Santa Ana freeway. Above is a "Masterpiece" exterior.

PLAN NEW WAREHOUSE
Ground-breaking ceremonies will be held Tuesday for new 16,000-square-foot distribution facility to be built for Mytinger and Casselberry, Inc. Designed by Roy Donley, A.I.A., the building is being constructed by Millie and Severson. Lease negotiations were handled by Philip Parkinson, associated with Bill Brooks, industrial realtor. The warehouse will be distribution point for Nutrilite.

F.W. Sinclair in Bank Post

Announcement was made by Jay L. Reed, vice president and manager of the First Western Bank & Trust Co., Long Beach, that Freeman W. Sinclair Jr., who was raised in Long Beach, has become affiliated with the bank at 130 E. 1st St. He will head the installment loan department and will handle all types of dealer financing as well as direct loans to the public.

Sinclair spent five years as a naval aviator during World War II and has been appointed to the rank of commander in the Naval Reserve. He is still active with the air reserve at NAS, Los Alamitos.

Sinclair is also very active in Long Beach Lodge 888 of the Elks, having been installed as the treasurer on April 4. He is also a member of the Flyers Post 765 of the American Legion.

Kitchens Appealing in Golden Key Homes

Brookhurst Golden Key kitchens have the same warm beauty characteristic of other parts of these unusual new homes. Such practical beauty, according to building authorities, is an essential part of the modern philosophy of home planning.

The trim, attractive kitchens in this Henry C. Cox development at Gilbert and Bixby, Garden Grove, offer natural wood finish Philippine mahogany kitchen cabinet work. The large and conveniently arranged work surfaces are colorful and ceramic tile. Walls are Zolatone for long wear and easy maintenance.

Scientific waste motion, to eliminate waste motion, these spacious kitchens have the finest nationally known built-in electrical equipment, including completely automatic Hotpoint electric ovens and ranges built-in at a convenient height to prevent tire some stooping.

Electric exhaust fans keep the air fresh and free from cooking odors. All electrical equipment is so built-in that there are absolutely no hard-to-clean crevices. The total result is a pleasant, efficient work center that means more leisure time for the homemaker.

Brookhurst Golden Key homes are available for immediate occupancy at close of escrow. Four furnished models are open for inspection in these 3 and 4-bedroom, 2-bath Brookhurst Golden Key homes available to veterans on no down payment terms (impounds only).

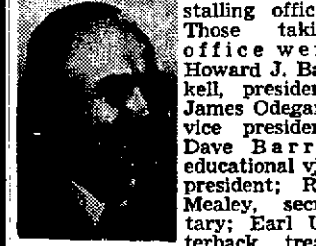

Model homes are easily reached from Long Beach by driving east on 7th St. (which becomes Garden Grove Blvd.) and turning left (or north) at Gilbert to the intersection of Bixby where the model homes are located.

Realty Speakers Install Barkell

Installation of recently elected officers of the Realty Speakers Club was held Thursday night at the weekly dinner of the organization.

District Governor Carl Crothers was the installing officer. Those taking office were Howard J. Barkell, president; James Odegard, vice president; Dave Barry, educational vice president; Roy Mealey, secretary; Earl Uterback, treasurer.

H. J. BARKELL, Uterback and Charles Lutz, sergeant-at-arms. Past President Larry Miller was appointed public relations director. Principal speakers on the program were Reg Dupuy, Frank Baldwin, Albert Meyer and Max Walker.

Second Unit to Open in Lakewood Crest

BUILT BY BILTMORE

A second unit of Lakewood Crest, Studebaker Rd. and Turnergrove Ave., is opening today, Biltmore Homes, developers, announced. This is one of the many models shown.

This might be one way to protect your property, but—

THE T.I. WAY IS THE SURE WAY

Playing hide-and-seek with property won't give it guaranteed protection... any more than searching your own title will!

For it's very involved and risky... this business of trying to make your own title search when you buy land. You'd have to spend countless weeks tracking down and verifying land records that go back over 100 years. And if you made one little slip-up (just one), you could be a no-property owner. So it's not surprising that most people prefer Title Insurance for the job. We're a regular title "factory," you see... with hundreds of trained title specialists, plus the only complete title records of every square inch of Los Angeles County since rancho days. We're able to finish your search in days or hours. For a very modest fee. This small charge also includes that very important document—your Title Insurance policy, which guarantees our search to be 100% accurate. Every title policy we issue is backed by strong assets. For 62 years now, we've helped make California land safe. We'd like to do the same for your property, when you buy.

Two significant events are taking place this week-end at Lakewood Crest at Studebaker and Turnergrove Road in Lakewood, according to officials of Biltmore Homes, developers and builders.

First, grand opening of Unit No. 2 will be held following near sell-out of all homes in the first unit.

Second, homes will be sold to veterans for the first time on lowered qualification requirements, builders point out, since a veteran now needs have an income of only $345 per month to be eligible for one of these distinctive 3-bedroom, 2-bath, rooms-and-a-den or 4-bedroom homes. Good financing for non-veterans is also available, they say.

With a wide choice of six basic functional floor plans, and a variety of attractive exterior designs, sales representatives report prospective buyers have underscored the importance of the community's choice location.

Priced at $13,240 the 3-bedroom and den, 2-bath homes in the second unit are available to veterans for no down payment except imposts and closing costs, with monthly payments, that include principal and interest, starting at $67.09.

Homes include many living comforts at no additional cost not usually found in homes in this moderate price bracket, such as Western-Holly built-in ovens and ranges, large, distinctive brick fireplaces with wide hearths and gas log lighters; Waste King garbage disposers; Nu-Tone exhaust fan over range area, and Thermador electric heaters in the master bath.

Other features are 50-gal. Rheem water heaters; Matico parquet floors in living room, dining space, bedrooms and hallways; natural finish birch kitchen cabinets and doors; built-in upholstered car garages; some with extra door into the house, and all with storage areas and room for laundry equipment; large showers with glass shower doors in the second bath; pullman lavatories, and wainscoting in the den.

Lakewood Crest is reached by driving out Lakewood Blvd. to Del Amo Blvd., east on Del Amo Blvd. to Palo Verde Ave., south on Palo Verde Ave. to Turnergrove Rd., then left on Turnergrove Rd. to Studebaker Rd. and furnished model homes and sales office.

Oil Industry Firm, Franks, Is Sold

The Franks Manufacturing Corp. of Tulsa, Okla., long credited with literally "putting the oil industry on wheels," has been sold to Cabot Shops, Inc., of Pampa, Texas, for an undisclosed price.

This announcement was made jointly by Carl White Jr., president of Franks, and R. A. Baker, vice president and general manager of Cabot Shops, Inc.

Baker will become president of Franks, in addition to his present position with Cabot.

It is expected that members of the present executive, engineering and sales departments will remain with the company, as well as all plant, field and office personnel, according to White and Baker.

"The record of achievement of the Franks Corp. is the development of portable well-servicing units, drilling rigs and telescoping derricks is well known in the oil industry," said Baker.

Franks maintains sales and service offices in Compton at 909 N. Alameda, under the direction of R. M. White, district sales manager, and Joe S. Winter, district service manager.

Servicemen May Rent Until Eligible for Their GI Loan

Home seekers are taking advantage of the opportunity to rent or buy in Banner Park, popular Garden Grove development of 3-bedroom, 2-bath homes, according to Frank Hart, sales manager for Walker & Lee, Inc., exclusive sales agents.

"This rent-with-option-to-buy plan is ideal for families who are not certain of the permanency of their status and particularly is it good for servicemen who are not yet eligible for their G.I. loan," Hart continued. Hart listed some of the following features in these homes: Walls of glass, open beam, celotex-insulated ceilings, floors of Kenkork tile in all rooms other than the bathroom and kitchen, which have an asphalt tile, built-in Western-Holly range and ovens, Stantony stove hoods, with electric light and fan.

The homes are available to veterans for no down payment, and non-veterans may use FHA financing. The dwellings are priced from $12,500; and monthly payments amount to approximately $67, principal and interest.

Models are open daily and evenings until 9, and are reached by driving out Seventh St. (Garden

South Splits Over Ending Segregation

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON (AP) — A split South is approaching an historic decision — whether to 'live within or without the Supreme Court's decision on school segregation.

On Monday the court is scheduled to begin oral arguments on public school desegregation; not on whether to end it—it already has decided that—but when and how.

Each southern state is going to have to decide, perhaps within the year, whether it will abide by any desegregation order of the court.

Since the court outlawed public school segregation in 17 states and the District of Columbia the South has been in a legal and moral ferment. On May 17 last year the court held the South's doctrine of "separate but equal" schools unconstitutional.

The four deep south states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia and South Carolina have said they intend to keep segregation no matter what the court says.

Each of these states has said it will turn public schools over to private operators before submitting to white-Negro use of the same classroom. Some have taken other steps. Georgia, for example, has made it a felony to use state funds for desegregated schools.

So far as these states are concerned, the next move is up to the court.

Missouri, West Virginia, Delaware and Kansas, all border states, have begun or completed desegregation in 80 of their 129 counties.

Segregation has ended in schools in the District of Columbia, Baltimore, St. Louis, and two north-west Arkansas towns, Charleston and Fayetteville.

Oak Ridge, Tenn., has voted to end segregation next September.

In Tennessee, Gov. Frank Clement vetoed two legislative measures which would have strengthened segregation in two counties with heavy Negro populations on the grounds that the only result would be "to foment racial disorder where none exists."

A bill to retain statewide segregation was killed by the Arkansas Legislature while in North Carolina a proposal to abandon public schools rather than submit to the court's decision was shunted aside.

Meanwhile, just last month the U. S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals at Richmond, Va., dispelled any doubts that the whole field of public segregation is under attack.

In a decision March 4 the Circuit Court ruled segregation in public parks and playgrounds unconstitutional.

When the Supreme Court handed down the school decision it asked the affected states to submit advice on how best to end the practice.

Arkansas asked for gradual desegregation with enforcement left to Congress.

Maryland, Virginia, Delaware and North Carolina also asked for gradual integration with enforcement and guidance left to district courts.

Florida went along with the gradual thesis but warned that desegregation could not be achieved "hurriedly or through the legal coercion of school officials."

Texas asked the court to "preserve the right of free selection and choice by the patrons of public schools in selecting the school which shall be patronized."

Oklahoma asked only for the time to straighten out its complicated tax structure, which includes special taxes for Negro schools.

The four defiant states refused to offer suggestions on the grounds that any such action might be interpreted as concurrence in the original decision.

Hard of Hearing

According to the Basic Diagnostic office, it is now possible for many who are hard of hearing to regain all or part of their hearing loss.

So many have told us, "We have tried everything and we are so discouraged that we hesitate to try anything else."

Once they try this new and proven method they are overjoyed. Just like magic, in many cases folks are able to hear without their hearing aid after the very first treatment.

The treatment is simple. It consists of three steps and takes about 45 minutes. If the hearing loss is due to a nerve condition a special treatment is given, if the loss is due to catarrh a different treatment is given and if it is a bone condition, the tympanic-oscillations treatment is given.

"I have been wearing a hearing aid for a period of three years, after receiving only three treatments I was able to discard my hearing aid. I highly recommend Tympanic-Oscillations to anyone now wearing a mechanical device."

Mrs. A.C.

Easter Season's Radiance Over Churches, Families

By BETTY WENTWORTH
Independent Women's Editor

Someone has said that originality is undetected plagiarism; hence instead of penning something new about the event we celebrate today—this would be most difficult, believe me—we'll just quote from Christina Rossetti's shining lines for the season. "Spring bursts today, for Christ is risen and all the earth's at play."

Churches will be thronged with family groups which will issue forth to join the Easter parade of finery and go on to homes and clubs to dine together. We learn from our congressman, Craig Hosmer, who spent a few days here last week that he and his wife and children, Susan and Larkin, will spend their holidays in New York and Atlantic City.

Newly elected president of the Junior League, Mrs. Franklin Waters, with her husband, Dr. Waters, and small sons, Joel and Daniel, will attend St. Luke's Episcopal Church. Yet others have traveled to resorts for rest and recreation as have Mrs. Percy Hight and her daughter, Mabel, who trekked to Palm Springs.

One of the largest family gatherings will be that of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Walker at their Modjeska Canyon home. There'll be a hunt for gaily colored eggs for the children this morning and the possibility that the Walkers' son, Ens, Dave Walker, will arrive from Athens, Ga., where he has just finished attending Naval Supply School. He is en route to join his ship in the Pacific.

Others attending will be Mrs. C. J. Walker, Mr. Walker's mother; the Dick Walkers with Diane and Ricky, the Kenneth Walkers with John, Howard and Daniel; the Joseph McLaughlins with Stephen, Larry and Suzanne; Don Walker, Dave's twin brother who's attending USC; Mrs. Walker's sisters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Casey of Los Angeles and Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams of Glendale with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Roberts.

Joining Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Marquand for Easter dinner at their home, 262 Argonne Ave., are to be their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Scott with Sharon, Carol, Eleanor and Charlie, and their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Marquand and son, Edward.

Friends of Cecile Appletons are well acquainted with her duo of cats, part-Persian Mr. Bogart and Sugar, and therefore had no hesitancy in recognizing the cute felines sketched on Cecile's invitations to a coffee hour on April 14 from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. They stroll along a fence, living dangerously it is obvious, or reclining in relaxed cat fashion. Our Siamese has been quite restless ever since she heard about them, and we feel she years to be immortalized on an invitation.

Cecile has invited 160 guests who will be served punch on her sunny enclosed terrace prior to coffee et al inside. She has asked to assist her Mmes. Carol K. Scott, J. John Rowe Jr., Ely Somerville, Don Murphy, Mildred Brayton, Lynn O. Hosson, Gordon Dougherty, Marjorie W. Sawyer, Myrl Ott and William Mead of Lido Isle.

Invitations have been plopping in the mailboxes of about 50 couples bidding them to a cocktail party next Saturday at Emmy Lou and Wilbur Ingrams' abode, 3845 California Ave. Hours are from 5 to 7 p. m. and those assisting are Margaret and Bub Sully, Dorothy and Lyle Golding and Berta and Earl Fast. The only other advance details we garnered had to do with pink carnations in the decor.

With Jane Mannex's wedding to Lt. Bill Began just around the corner on April 16 many a hostess is spotlighting Jane at parties. Judy (Mrs. Dale) Deatherage gave a linen shower in her honor on Wednesday eve at the home of her mother, Mrs. Julian Hickman, 217 Mira Mar Ave.

On Monday a quintet of hostesses, Mmes. Ben K. Parks, Gordon Brown, Davis A. Gorman, Walter Joralemon and Charles Holm will entertain at a tea and crystal shower at Anabel Parks' home, 5280 El Roble.

Then on Thursday a group gift with Jane's future kitchen in mind will be presented at a coffee hour given by Marjorie (Mrs. John) Clarke and Ina

Mrs. Jay L.) Reed at the latter's home, 276 St. Joseph Ave.

At which point we arrive close to the wedding date and the rehearsal dinner to be given on April 15 by Bill's aunts, Mrs. George Reeves of Pasadena and Mrs. James McQuaigg at the residence of Bill's mother, Mrs. Joseph Began, 1921 E. Ocean Blvd. The nuptial mass will take place at St. Matthew's Catholic Church.

On Tuesday Eleanor and Harvey Lochridge set forth for New York where they'll join a group composed of members of AID (American Institute of Decorators) and embark on a marvelous trip. They've chartered space on the new Greek ship Olympia and will hold the national AID conference aboard ship. Miss Lottie Cahill of New York will travel with the Lochridges.

They'll disembark in Lisbon, thence to Italy where they'll have the privilege of seeing displays of the handsome modern furniture, textiles and glass being designed by the talented Italians these days. They'll attend a dinner dance in Venice given by one of the firms—off in a gondola to dine—lovely thought. In Rome they are to meet the Earl Burns Millers for dinner and will celebrate Earl's birthday as well as the Lochridges' anniversary.

They'll separate from the AID group in Milan and spend three weeks vagabonding through Italy without benefit of schedule. On May 31 they sail for home on the Andrea Doria. Mrs. Mabel Jackson of Los Angeles will occupy their home in their absence.

Soiree for Stevensons Prior to Tour of Europe

One of the much anticipated events of next weekend is the cocktail party and buffet supper being given by Messrs. and Mmes. Don Berry, Mark Kendall and Dr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Carlson at the Berry home, 4110 Country Club Dr. They have bidden 150 guests to honor the Albert Stevensons and their daughter, Mrs. Ethel Severson, before their departure for Europe later this month.

The patio will be enclosed and canopied for the overflow of guests. Eleanor Carlson will supply background music at the Hammond organ. Invited to assist are Dr. and Mrs. Houston Fairley, Messrs. and Mmes. Lon E. Peck and Walter Greshong.

Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Severson and son, Corky, will sail May 4 on the Queen Elizabeth for Southampton, England, where they will be met by their private Daimler limousine and chauffeur whom they will have throughout their trip.

In England they will stay at Stratford-on-Avon where they will see one of Shakespeare's plays presented and in Wales they will visit historic Warwick Castle and will spend several days at Grosvenor House in London.

They will cover all of Ireland spending several days in Dublin and Killarney and will kiss the "blarney stone" at Cork Castle. In Scotland they'll have two days of golf at St. Andrews golf course.

In Paris they will stay at the George V Hotel and plan to go to St. Cloud. They'll tour the chateau country and will make a private chateau, Chateau de Temple, their headquarters. Next they'll go to Cannes, Monte Carlo and other spots or the French Riviera.

After Switzerland they will tour Italy including Capri. Mr. Stevenson will attend the National Petroleum Convention in Rome. Next they'll go into Austria where the traveler has to have a gray card from the U. S. government to get into Vienna. They will go all through Western Germany, the Bavarian Alps, and cruise up the Rhine.

Scandinavian countries will be next with Denmark of special interest as Mr. Stevenson's father was born in Copenhagen and they will look up relatives there.

The Swedish lake country, Gothenberg and Stockholm will attract the tourists in Sweden and in Norway they'll make Oslo their headquarters.

They then return to Holland where they have friends near Amsterdam and Belgium where they will spend several days with friends in Brussels, Col. Henri Materne and his family.

In August they return home on the Ile de France. In their absence Mrs. Stevenson's sister and her family from Bakersfield will enjoy their home and pool.

Traditional Egg Hunt at Chace Home

The traditional Easter egg hunt and dinner for members of their family will take place again this year at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Chace of Rolling Hills. Their children Pamela and Stephen will assist their parents at this eighth annual event.

Following attendance at church, the families will gather for the hunt with the young people going horseback riding in the afternoon. Those attending will be grandparents, Mrs. Nathan Chace and Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Ripperdan; Supervisor and Mrs. Burton W. Chace of Long Beach, and daughter Paula, a student at USC; Mrs. Marguerite Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Penrose and Marcia; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ripperdan, David and Claudia; Mr. and Mrs. George Pearson and David; Mrs. John Woodford, Betty Jo and Johnnie, all of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Winfield of Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Dowell, Don and Doug Jr., and Mrs. A. Walsh of Palos Verdes.

Compliment Mrs. Collins

A courtesy welcoming Mrs. Dale E. Collins to Long Beach was a coffee hour given Wednesday by Mrs. John E. Wicks Jr. in her home, 5266 Appian Way.

Mrs. Collins is the wife of Capt. Collins of the USS Manchester, and the hostess is the wife of the executive officer aboard the ship.

Thirty guests, all wives of officers aboard the Manchester, were guests at the coffee hour. Spring flowers decorated the Wicks home for the occasion.

Captain and Mrs. Collins arrived recently in Long Beach from the Orient.

Home for Easter

Home in time to spend Easter with their families today are Alice Berry and Patricia Campbell who spent spring vacation in Palm Desert where they were guests at the Adobe.

grandmother, Mrs. Frank Armin. Mrs. Carroll is gowned in a pink checked cotton with white linen collar. No doubt Willayne and Ree already have found the Easter baskets and bunnies hidden in the yard for them. As other families throughout the world, they, too, will worship this day at the church of their choice.—(Staff photo by H. S. Melvin.)

Pitcher Up! That's Familiar Call Around Bob Lemon Home

By ELAINE RISINGER

The first whiff of spring air means just one thing to the Bob Lemons—BASEBALL! And for this family quintet everything else of interest fades into the background during the next five months. Even little 2-year-old Jerry, who probably hasn't added that major word to his vocabulary, no doubt is impressed that his daddy is associated with the Indians, any kind of Indians.

Tuesday Bob will take to the pitching mound again when the Cleveland team faces the Chicago White Sox in one of the American League openers. Here in their Long Beach home awaiting opening day results will be his pretty blonde wife, Jane, and their boys, Jerry, Jimmy, 4½, and Jeff, 7. "Sometimes I feel I'm working mentally just as hard as Bob is when he's pitching," Jane Lemon commented a few days ago.

"I used to go to all the games, but now with the children I can't. I usually go when Bob pitches and to as many others as I can." Baseball governs the Lemon family with an exacting but pleasant hand. Each spring brings the annual trek to Cleveland for Jane and the children. Bob left in March for spring training and the exhibition games which precede the league season. His family won't see him until May when they move to the Ohio city.

"I'll take a house there. This so often means that we have to move blankets, silverware, coffee pot—everything. It's just like camping out for three or four months in the summer," the diminutive Mrs. Lemon said.

"When you're in baseball, you're never settled," Mrs. Lemon adds. "And the pace is certainly exciting. The idea of an orderly household schedule during the summer is ridiculous."

"The children have had to learn to live like we do. For a night game at 8 o'clock, Bob has to be at the ball park at 5:30 p. m. This means he has to leave home at 4:30 p. m., and eat around 4 o'clock," she explained.

The tension of the season filters into the lives of all the players. Team members think about baseball constantly during these months, Mrs. Lemon said.

If the team has had a bad day, Jane wisely avoids the subject. She knows that Bob will bring up anything he wants to discuss.

The Indians are on the road about three weeks out of each month. During this time, the wives get together for luncheons and informal parties. Although Jane enjoyed baseball before she was married, she was never an avid fan until she and Bob were wed. "Once you live, eat and sleep baseball, you finally get to know about it," she smiled. And of course her most exciting sports event was when Bob pitched a no-hit, no-run game in 1948 against Detroit.

Following in his father's footsteps might be the Lemons' older son. "We think Jeff has a pretty good arm. He already knows the form of a pitcher. But Bob has said he is not going to push him into being a ball player," she said.

Even during the off season, the Lemon home is busy continuously. The telephone rings constantly with demands on Bob's time for benefit events and banquets. This means a greater share of the responsibility for running an efficient home falls to Jane.

"I hope to take up golf when I get all the children in school. I'd like to join a few clubs too. But Bob is gone so much of the time. All I have time for now is the house, children, scrapbook and fan mail." But she also takes time out for predicting. The penant is in the bag for the Cleveland Indians, naturally.

Mrs. Lemon modestly comments, "They've got a beautiful chance of coming out on top, now that they've got Kiner and a new pitcher, Herb Score. I haven't seen him work out, but they're expecting big things from him."

Of course there's always that other pitcher on the team. He's from Long Beach.

Miss McMahon Here From Arabia to Visit Hamiltons

London, Tokyo and Dhahran are familiar ports of call for Miss Elizabeth McMahon, who is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hamilton (Lucille and Jack) of 5563 Sorrento Dr. Miss McMahon, who is serving with the Department of State, has just returned from Arabia and following a two weeks visit in Long Beach will go to her new assignment in Toronto, Canada. Her former assignments have been in London and Tokyo. Miss McMahon and her hostess were school chums in Gary, Ind.

Saturday evening the Hamiltons invited a few friends in for cocktails and buffet to meet their guest. A cozy nest of colorful Easter eggs centered the long buffet table while spring flowers were used in profusion throughout their Park Estates home.

ball season opens Tuesday when the Cleveland Indians face the Chicago White Sox. Mrs. Lemon and the children will join Bob in Cleveland in May for the summer baseball season.—(Staff photo.)

The Wild Waves Are Saying What That Rabbit Told Us About You!

By IOLA MASTERSON

It doesn't really matter how you say it—as long as you do say it. If you were in Italy today you would repeat "Buona Pasqua" to everyone you met and in Spain you'd say "Pascua Sagrada." The French are bubbling over with "Bonnes Paques" and the Germans are grunting "Froehliche Ostern" and the Scandinavians, by yumping yimminy, are saying "Han Lever." And here in the good old U. S. of A. we're wishing you a "Happy Easter" and may none of your Easter eggs be cracked!

Shocker of the week comes with the news that Nona and Jim Lantz and "Sir Cedric" are leaving us. What have we done to deserve that? They'll be moving to Philadelphia May 1 where Jim will pick up duties with his insurance company in a very advantageous new position. They returned this weekend from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where Jim and Nona attended a national meeting of his company and the good news of his promotion was made public.

Naturally, this popular couple isn't going to get out of town without being given something of a terrific sendoff. One of the big parties in the planning is to be a cocktail and dinner affair which Jackie and Charles Oliver and Luba and Dr. Alex Kadvan are giving. The festivities will take place at the Kadvanys' home, 3205 E. 1st St. on April 24 and clever invitations will be in the mail soon.

The conversation was rolling along a mile a minute last Sunday at Ruby and Elmer List's Rolling Hills home at 36 Saddleback Rd. when they celebrated the 14th anniversary of their bridge club gang get-togethers. Trodding the red carpet, the Lists put out for their guests were Lillian and Will Courtour, Mary and Bob Ruchti, Freda and Floyd Hickman, Cecile and Charles Colvin, Lucille and Harold Gray, Beulah and Scott Jones, Ann and Will Smith and Maude and Wallace Taylor, who were specially invited to join the card shufflin' crowd for the day.

As is the way with old friends, there was a little bit of everything going on following the 6 p. m. dinner with some playing their own brand of bridge, some watching TV and others talking.

"Polyrama" may be renamed "Polymania" after April 16 which, as time flies, is next Saturday. On that night the teachers and parents are going to put on a big variety show that has been in rehearsal, for these many weeks.

A preview peek netted us some hilarious moments. For instance, a group of the men teachers at Poly are in rehearsal for a "Miss Outer Space" skit in which the smallest man on staff, Gordon Dooley (he counts his weight in ounces instead of pounds—small, but mighty, that's what) and the biggest, Jerry Dennerlein (who counts his weight in tons not pounds) are stars.

Then the "phiz-ed" gals are going to do a Gay 90's routine that should amaze the audience and send the students watching into positive gales. When little Helen Gass and statuesque Elva Kinzer line up in the "chorus" in those "By the Sea" swimsuits—wow!

Parents are working, too, and one of the more "serious" acts will be given by Russ Cunningham, Ed Uecker, George Sutton and Jim Pulliam who have been trying out their voices frequently in close harmony in the Pulliams' rumpus room at 5822 Lemon Ave. They've dubbed themselves the "Four-fathers." "Coney Island" and "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" are in for a new version, or we miss our guess. One thing for sure we won't miss and that's seeing that show next Saturday if they'll let us in after this! General chairman of the big show is Josephine (Mrs. Bruce) Heller.

Polly Garverick celebrates that all important 21st birthday today and in honor of the occasion sister Jean flew back yesterday from studies at Stanford. Last night Polly's parents, Dr. Calvin and Marian Garverick, hosted at a party dinner at "Bit of Sweden" on the Strip and there to say "Happy Birthday tomorrow" were Jean, "Mom" and "Pop," grandmother Mrs. G. A. McGinley, and Bill Ridgeway. Today there'll be cake and more wishes as 21 candles get the usual birthday treatment.

Sun Valley-ing are Patty and Dr. Chuck Bartell. While Chuck takes in the athletic features of the famed skiing resort Patty will paint some of the beautiful scenes. She's a mighty skilled artist, is Patty. We'd like to say the same about Chuck's skiing prowess but we haven't the foggiest notion how he does on the wooden runners.

Understand that Barbara Clark and young daughter, Janet, loafed through Easter week in style in Las Vegas.

Promptness is a fine thing but sometimes it can be overdone. Take the case of the five commissioners of the Long Beach Civil Service Board. Those guys are so doggone prompt it's taken them four years to save up enough money out of their fines-for-being-late-money to blow themselves and their wives to a dinner! But finally they managed and Friday night over at Bill and Norma Harris' house there were chickens, chickens, chickens roasting to golden doneness over charcoal white sniffling the delicate aroma were Edna and Bill Roberts, Ida and Earl Spencer, Mary and "Pat" (Ralph) Corvett and Tom Anderson as well as office personnel, especially invited, Lillian and Henry Davies, Verna and Harold Putman and Thelma and Carl Swenson.

A fun get-together Tuesday with a business twist was fare for CVOers who gathered at Margaret Sully's smart home at 3908 Myrtle Ave. Over coffee and good things to eat such women as Sally Nesmith, Bess Olson, Mildred Wing, Jackie Lucas, Avis Roemer, Ethel Johnson, Jerry Green and Clara Andrews planned for this year's CVO course in May.

Patricia Ann Williams, a blue eyed cherub if there ever was one, didn't quite know what to make of all the excitement last Sunday but her proud folks, Betty and Dick Williams, her grandmother, Winifred Smith, and her doting great aunt, Mrs. Fred Murphy, will explain it all to her a little later in her life. It was the occasion of her christening at Second Presbyterian Church and Rev. Clifford Jones of Pasadena officiated. Afterwards this granddaughter of Winifred's and the late Jeanne Brown was tucked into her little cozy bed while the "big folks" talked about her during the reception and tea at her home. Assisting Betty were Mrs. Murphy, "Grammav" Smith and Juanita Deffenbaugh.

Miss Patricia Pierson to Wed Craig Meacham

At a dinner party for relatives and close friends the betrothal of Patricia Ann Pierson, and Craig Lei Meacham was announced by her parents, Judge and Mrs. Ralph K. Pierson of Compton. Pierson is a judge of the Long Beach Branch of the Superior Court for Los Angeles County.

The bride-elect attended Palm Springs High School and University of Arizona. Her fiancé, son of Mrs. Leonard Feenstra of Whittier, is a graduate of Roosevelt High School in Los Angeles. A veteran of three years of Air Force service in Germany, the prospective bridegroom is attending Los Angeles City College and is employed by the Whittier Police Department.

Dr., Mrs. John Wright to Reside in San Diego

The marriage of Jacqueline Jean Goldsmith, daughter of Mrs. Olive D. Goldsmith of Duluth, Minn., and the late Clive D. Goldsmith, and Dr. John Sherman Wright was solemnized last week in a ceremony at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wright, 112 W. Hill St.

After a honeymoon in Las Vegas, Nev., the couple will reside in San Diego.

The bride wore an aqua suit and a white orchid corsage. Attending her was Barbara Power of San Diego, Robert G. Wright of Whittier, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Rev. Wendall Greenlee of Westminster Presbyterian Church performed the service.

A wedding dinner for the couple was given in the private dining room at Lillian Ekel's Tea Room preceding the service, and a reception followed. Hostesses at the reception were Mrs. E. Finigan, sister of the bride, and Barbara Rotvig. The bride, a graduate of the College of St. Scholastica in Duluth, Minn., was formerly a

Margaret Meikle Says Vows

Mexico City will be the home of Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Reedy who are honeymooning in Mazatlan and Guadalajara. Wedding vows were spoken by the bride, Margaret Meikle, former vice principal at Wilson High School, and her husband Tuesday at 8 p. m. in First Congregational Church.

Rev. Emerson G. Hangen and Rev. William P. Reedy, father of the bridegroom, read the ceremony in the presence of more than 300 guests. The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Lt. Col. A. Wayne Nickel, (Ch. C.).

The new Mrs. Reedy, daughter of Mrs. Hortense Gibbens Meikle of Oklahoma City, and the late John Meikle, is a graduate of the State University of Iowa and received her master's degree from Northwestern University. Her affiliations include Pi Beta Phi, Delta Kappa Gamma, Phi Beta Kappa, Chapter IB of PEO and Soroptimist Club.

Her husband, son of Rev. and Mrs. Reedy of Los Angeles, is general secretary for the International Committee of the YMCA in Mexico. He is a graduate of Los Angeles High School and Oregon State College and holds memberships in Sigma Phi Epsilon and Rotary Club.

For the service, the bride chose an attractive wedding gown of imported candlelight rose point lace combined with bluish illusion tulle over shimmering ivory satin. The dress was fashioned with a fitted bodice and a bouffant skirt. A crown of matching rose point lace and seed pearls caught her illusion tulle veil, and the bride carried a handmade lace handkerchief which had been used by the bridegroom's mother and grandmother at their weddings. Lilies of the valley centered with a white orchid formed the bridal bouquet.

In the entourage were Jane Roller, niece of the bride, maid of honor; Mrs. R. William Biddle, Mrs. Charles V. Ruzek, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Fred H. Nestler, bridesmaids; Warren Reedy, son of the bridegroom, best man; Dr. Arthur Hayton, Santiago Rodriguez, Glenn Snyder, William Biddle, Harry Brittain, Ricardo Rivera and John Shaw, ushers. Jon Wayne Nickel, nephew of the bride, lighted the candles.

The bridal attendants were gowned in sea mist blue crystal ensembles and carried bouquets of daisies and ivy and wore daisies in their hair.

A reception followed in Pilgrim Hall at the church. The bride's mother received guests in a rose Chantilly lace over taffeta gown, and Mrs. Reedy wore a pink chiffon dress over net.

Hostesses were Mrs. John O. Roller, Mrs. A. Wayne Nickel, sisters of the bride; Mmes. George R. McKelvie, F. Ross Cutler, Harry Brittain, Richard T. Crawford, Arthur Hayton, P. N. Hyndman, L. V. Lund, Donald N. Palmeter, Robert Swain, and Misses Mary Mercer and Marion Darlington.

Miss Hazel Collins to Direct AAUW Activities

By RUTH REECE
Press-Telegram Club Editor

Miss Hazel M. Collins, 4008 E. Fifth St., was elected president of the Long Beach Branch, American Association of University Women, at a recent meeting in the YWCA auditorium. She will succeed Mrs. Francis B. McCall. Sharing the program with newly-elected officers was the British-born John Pettley, scholar and humorist.

Miss Hazel Collins

Other officers chosen were Mmes. Vaughn Abrams and A. J. Plourde, vice presidents; Mrs. Arthur Huey, recording secretary; Miss Shirley Welch, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard R. Loynes, treasurer; and Mrs. R. L. Davidson, financial secretary.

Directors elected were Miss Doris Rumsey, arts; Mrs. Glen N. Michel, education; Mrs. E. L. Reynard, fellowship; Mrs. Sherman Mix, international relations; Miss Marian Tripeny, social studies; Mrs. George R. Lake, status of women; and Miss Jeanne Seeger, legislation.

Miss Collins is a foreign language teacher in the city schools, with a master's degree from the University of California, and did graduate study in Mexico and the Sorbonne in Paris. She has served as vice president and program chairman, secretary, director of education and status of women, and six chairmanships. She attended the international AAUW convention in Stockholm and other national and state conclaves, and is a charter member of the Napa AAUW.

She has traveled in Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Central America, made four trips to Europe, three trips to Mexico, and has toured 46 American states. Her most recent tour in Africa included an 8,000-mile automobile safari.

Gales of laughter greeted John Pettley, now instructor at Webb School at Claremont, when he described the superlatives which awed him when he first came to America in 1947. Under the direction of the J. Arthur Rank Moving Picture Co., maker of Shakespearean films, he received his MA degree from the California Institute of Technology.

On the serious side, he pointed out that Americans and Britains have the same fundamental philosophy on government, morality, and charity, differing only on trivialities. He commended America for her great concern in aiding the rest of the world, and he shattered the illusion that our cousins across the sea are lacking in a sense of humor, beginning with the old gag that the English collect jokes in their youth so they may laugh at them in their old age.

Melvin West to Present Organ Program Tuesday

Melvin West will present an organ recital Tuesday at 8 p. m. in Immanuel Baptist Church. He will perform works by Bach, Mozart, D'Aquin, Honeger, Langlais, Bingham and Dupre.

West, son-in-law of Dr. and Mrs. Paul Nilsson of Arlington and Long Beach, now resides with his wife, Betty Ann, in Redlands, where he is completing work for his master of music degree at the university. He is studying with Dr. Leslie P. Spelman, chairman of the music department, and will be granted his degree in June.

A graduate of the Emmanuel Missionary College in Michigan, West spent the following year in television work in New York on the Faith for Today program. He then accepted the position of instructor of organ and theory at Atlantic Union College in South Lancaster, Mass., and is now on leave of absence.

West previously studied on the undergraduate level with Allan Bacon of the College of Pacific and Claire Coci of New York City. He has been elected as a member of Pi Kappa Lambda, musical scholastic fraternity, and will enter the American Guild of Organists Young Artists Competition this summer. He just gave his master's recital at University of Redlands.

CC Patrons
"Education and the United Nations" will be the subject of a talk by Herbert J. Fenn, vice principal of Jefferson Junior High School, to be given at a meeting of the Patrons of City College at 1:30 p. m. Friday in Municipal Art Center. The speaker will be introduced by Mrs. William Casselberry.

Tea after the program will be in charge of Mrs. Irwin Mosingo. The event is open to all interested in the subject to be discussed. A meeting of the board of directors is set for 1 p. m., with Mrs. Jessie H. Helwig presiding.

Garden Club
Long Beach Garden Club will hear a talk by Joe Littlefield, garden authority, on the topic "Plant for Summer Color" after which he will show a color movie entitled "Garden Chats," at a meeting set for 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in Linden Hall. A jitney potluck dinner will precede the program.

An exhibit of flowers grown by members will be a feature of the evening. Mrs. E. L. Ibbotson, president of the club, announces that a garden tour at Mottell & Peck's has been arranged for April 18.

Junior Matrons
Plans for the traditional election and tea April 20 for Junior Matrons of Ebell Club were formulated when officers of the department assembled for luncheon at the home of Mrs. James A. Bickel, 4030 Pacific Ave., with Mmes. H. S. Matthew and H. K. Allen as assisting hostesses.

Mrs. Charles Evett, chairman, presided. Preliminary plans for the installation luncheon May 18 were discussed. Following the meeting, the group played bridge.

Toastmistress
Long Beach Naval Shipyard Toastmistress Club and Wilmington Toastmistress Club will hold a joint dinner meeting Monday evening at the Plantation in Long Beach, with Mrs. Harold Claybourne of the former club presiding.

Mrs. R. Teel has planned a program to be given by members from both clubs. Toastmistress will be Mrs. Ada Fohl, past president of Council No. One; topicmistress, Geraldine Griffin; timekeeper, Nadine Shortel; and grammarian, Mary Webster.

Paul Clayton of Huntington Park will evaluate the feature speeches to be made by Vivian Clary, Jacky Rocker, Mary Connolly, and Avis White. An Easter theme will feature the dinner table decor, with multi-colored lilies used.

Writers Club
Long Beach Writers Club will hold its workshop sessions Wednesday at 10 a. m. in Municipal Art Center, with Mrs. James A. Worsham presiding.

Miss Helen Johnson will lead discussion of the technique of writing short stories during the opening hour, and at 11 a. m. Mrs. Gustav Fleissig will direct the study of articles. At 1 p. m., following the noon luncheon hour, Olive Spencer will be in charge of the study of juveniles stories, and at 2 p. m. Mrs. Randall Scott will discuss confession story writing.

Mrs. M. G. Moore of 1321 Appleton St., assisted by Mrs. Laura Knapp, entertained recently with a brunch for officers of the club.

Opera Section
A "Cook's Tour" of Europe to visit three famous opera houses and to hear performances at La Scala, Milan, Italy, the Paris Opera House, Paris, France, and the Berlin State Opera House, in Berlin, Germany, will be presented by the opera section of Woman's Music Club at 1:30 p. m. Wednesday in Ebell auditorium.

The sequence will be given by Mrs. James Kimber, chairman of the section, and appearing will be Betty Arntzen, William Johnson, Laura Killingsworth, James Jay, Lucretia Lamson, and Ray Vaughn. Accompanist will be Rose Bishop.

Lady Lions Plan Dinner

Belmont Shore Lady Lions Club announces a dinner meeting Thursday at the Lions' club room in Naples.

According to Mrs. Edward Byrnes, president, a surprise program will be presented by the hostesses of the evening, Mmes. Ken Moxley, Ned Christensen and James Fowler, immediately following the business session.

Officers of the club met recently at the home of Mrs. Robert Berkemer, when plans were formulated for an afternoon card party May 3 at the Lions' club room in Naples, to which the public is invited.

Buffums' proudly introduces Jacqueline Cochran featuring new greaseless flowing beauty formula that brings dewy moisture to aging or sensitive skins ...

FLOWING VELVET $3 plus tax 2-oz. Size

Jacqueline Cochran's beauty representative, Miss Patricia MacArthur will be at the new Jacqueline Cochran counter, Monday, April 11th through Friday, April 15th, to consult with you, to analyze your skin type and tell you how to use Jacqueline Cochran cosmetics. This new line exclusively at Buffums'.

For years without end women have "battered" their faces with stifling greases to no avail. It's a pity they didn't know about this amazing discovery. Flowing Velvet is a new concept in beauty ... unlike anything you have ever known, ever used. Only flowing velvet can act like Flowing Velvet. For it contains a new scientific, moisture-giving ingredient, hydrolin, owned and controlled by Jacqueline Cochran ... the secret of the dewy moisture that flows into the skin ... and stays there! Flowing Velvet is a three-way flowing formula. It acts on your skin three ways:

1. It furnishes moisture that actually sinks into your skin.

2. It supplies necessary oils for essential lubrication.

3. It maintains the normal balance of oils and moisture.

Beauty Overnight ... Beauty All the Day

Use this flowing fluid cream at night. It disappears instantly into the skin, leaving not a trace of grease on your face, on your pillow, on your husband. Use Flowing Velvet by day. It sinks at once below the surface, with only a cool moistness to show it was ever there ... but oh, the beauty of that dewy, cared-for look! And over it goes your foundation and make-up, while Flowing Velvet works its magic all the day! This is the one and only Flowing Velvet ... there are no successful imitations.

Mrs. William Steven Skeen

Afternoon Service Joins Skeen-Tibbet Families

A white nosegay was carried by Neville Lynn Tibbet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Tibbet of 3732 Myrtle Ave., when she became the bride of William Steven Skeen. Rev. James Hughes officiated at the afternoon service last Sunday in Atlantic Ave. Methodist Church.

The new Mrs. Skeen chose a white embroidered imported Swiss organdy dress with a tiered skirt which ended in a sweep train. A crown of seed pearls held her fingertip-length veil.

Bridal attendants were gowned in pale blue crystal-lette, carried blue and white nosegays and wore blue and white floral headresses.

They were Marilyn Miller, maid of honor; Donna Miller, Marilyn Stivers, Margo Robertson, Lou Ann Barnett, Janet Hackney and Susan Upson, bridesmaids. Brad Merrill served as best man, and ushers were Tom Uecker, Burton Johnson, Bill Price, Tom Beck, Don Wells and Bob Cotter. Assuming hostess duties at shopping sense

by Lisa Towne

Best dressed shopper we saw this week wore a charcoal grey, full skirted jersey dress with black patent shoes, belt and bag and a tiny mustard yellow sailor hat with exactly matching gloves. Made the gals in treader pants look just a wee bit underdressed. . . . All we had to do was mention name brands and we got more calls than ever for them. This sort of information is very easily gotten. Thanks for calling and call again, soon. It's extension 249.

Would you like to decorate a wicker basket in an unusual way? Want to jewel a sweater? Like to make your own rope beads to match a costume? Need sequins, jewels, embroidery, felt appliques, flowers or lace? FADS AND FASHIONS, 4438 California Place, in the Bixby Knolls Shopping Center has all of these and many wonderful gift making ideas besides.

Need new draperies? HERRON'S INTERIORS, 2228 East Fourth St., has a beautiful selection of drapery fabrics. We liked their antique satin, reversible to use either the shiny or dull side, in 30 stunning colors from white to lipstick red. This makes up beautifully and is priced at $4.50 a yard. Something very new is a floral on a pastel background with a metallic stripe. $4.00 a yard. HERRON'S also have this in matching plain pastels priced at $3.00. Take advantage of decorator service in your choice of drapery or upholstery fabrics at HERRON'S.

Brides need bridal gowns, lingerie, veils, head pieces, Bibles, garters, ring pillows, flower girl dresses, mother's dresses, bridesmaid dresses and accessories. LEON'S BRIDAL AND FORMAL SHOP, 353 East Ocean, knows this and have collected an outstanding selection of all of these things in their charming shop devoted to brides. Sizes 7 to 44, flower girl's sizes from 3 to 8 in beautiful dresses for a lovely wedding. Open Mondays and Fridays from 9:30 to 9. Other evenings by appointment.

You know it's Spring when you see your first robin and "Straw Hat" appears on the counter at the Egyptian Drug Co., 5128 East Second St. in Belmont Shore. This spicy fragrance is made for summer wear only by Fabergé. The cologne and the perfume, $3.00. . . the bath powder, $2.00. . . the perfume sachet, $2.50. If you like a variety of perfumery, you'll like the beautifully boxed Ciro package of four outstanding fragrances, "Danger," "Reflections," "Surrender" and "New Horizons," all for just $3.00.

You ladies who have called to find out about CHARIS FOUNDATION GARMENTS will be glad to know that Mrs. Bertha Ramsburg is a Long Beach representative for these wonderful, well fitted garments. Call her at 4-4345.

Just to show you how style conscious Chevrolet is this year, the CORMIER CHEVROLET CO. at Sixth and American Ave. has some new arrivals this week in this year's stunning styling in three new Chevrolet models. We stopped in to take a look at the new Chevrolet Bel Air hard top convertible. . . a car you should see. Every interior appointment is absolutely luxurious, from the lush carpeting to the straw cloth patterned upholstery. It has a flattering colored ceiling, door arm rests and comes in really lovely color combinations. This model is typical of the entire Chevrolet line. Call 6-5291 for further information.

Which Way Progress?

IN A WORLD where everything moves at super-sonic speed, there is a tendency to label every change as "progress." This applies to ideas, customs and manners as well as fashions.

HERE at Schick's in our many years of fashion-history, we have had to evaluate, to edit—and to preserve the best. We have not accepted everything. But we have kept many of those old-fashioned niceties which we are proud to uphold.

GRACE SCHICK has spent 25 years on Pine Avenue in the Fashion Business. As a charter member of the Amos Parish Fashion clinic, she attends twice yearly, clinic meetings at the Hotel Waldorf-Astoria in New York. Here fashion trends are translated into reality for your Fashion Store. At Schick's "Good Fashion" is traditional, and woven into the pattern of this establishment is the firm belief that True Fashion is never costly.

THE FRIENDLINESS of our staff. The warm welcome you will receive when you enter these doors. The flowers you see here and there throughout the store. The gentle insistence of our saleswomen that you buy only what you like, and what is becoming to you. That a garment is without value unless it fits, in the true sense of the word.

THESE QUALITIES have never changed with us. We hope they never will. Some may call it old-fashioned. But we call it progress—progress of a single idea—to keep Schick's one of the nicest stores you can find to shop in—to make every single minute of your shopping here a lasting pleasure.

Arline Louise Tripp Now Mrs. Gordon Stuart Yater

Arline Louise Tripp returned to Lynwood, her home town, for her wedding to Gordon Stuart Yater of Anaheim. Lynwood First Christian Church was the scene of the recent ceremony, performed by Rev. George Darsie and witnessed by 200 guests, who were then greeted by the couple at a reception in Fellowship Hall.

Gowned in a white floor-length Chantilly lace and pet dress, and a seed pearl tiara and veil, the bride was lovely as she walked down the aisle with her father.

Attending as maid of honor was Miss Zell Ransford, classmate of the bride. Bridesmaids were Nancy Tripp of Palmdale, sister of the bride, Roberta Tripp and Virginia Tripp, both cousins of the bride and both from Sherman Oaks. All of the attendants were dressed in turquoise taffeta and tulle dance-length dresses, with white pearl and tulle headresses. Flowers carried by the attendants were miniature copies of the nosegay carried by the bride and were fashioned of white carnations, with showers of turquoise tulle and ribbon.

Attending as best man was Robert Padgett, his classmate, with Mike Hammond and Dale Grives serving as ushers.

Mrs. Yater, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tripp of Palmdale and recently of Lynwood, is a graduate of Lynwood High School, where she was active in drama productions. She is a sophomore at Long Beach State College, majoring in drama education. Her home is now in Long Beach, where she plans to continue her education.

Yater, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Yater of Anaheim, was a student in his senior year at the same college, where the young couple met, and a member of Sigma Phi fraternity. He was called into service in January.

This Easter Sunday

Its Promise Brings Hope to All Who Bear Burdens

By ANGELO PATRI

Easter is the joyful morning when the sun dances in the heavens because life is reborn. The stone has been rolled away from the silent dark and that which was thought to be dead, forever lost to sight and sound, has risen to life again and all creation sings, "He is risen."

This renewal of life is spiritual and actual. All creation feels it. The sun shines with strengthened light; the buds swell; the flowers bloom in the softened air. The songs of returning birds send a wave of warmth and hope to hearts grown cold beneath the gloom and chill of winter. Heads long bowed in sadness lift with new gladness. Eyes shadowed in fear glow with renewed courage. Backs bent under the weight of the cross straighten triumphantly as the burden rolls away. "He is risen."

In this lies the meaning of Easter. The story of the cross dramatizes it. Nature tells it in the progress of the seasons, in her way with earth, sea and sky. We live it every day. The steady round of toil, endurance, overcoming and rejoicing, tell it over and again to every living soul.

Each must bear his own cross. Each of us sees a part of Him die as a cherished dream fades, a hope is denied, a trust betrayed. It is so that we know death and by faith rise again to the knowledge that life will be renewed in us that we may rise to a better, nobler spirit.

Without the hope and promise of Easter, the belief in the resurrection, we could not go on. The faith of Easter is the knowledge that in time the stone that burdens our spirit will be rolled away and the life that seemed hopelessly ended will be renewed in better spirit and heightened power. It is this faith that gives meaning to life's trials.

But there must be that faith. There must be firm belief. Faith, the substance of things not seen, the evidence of things hoped for, is inherent in the Easter message. Belief in one's self; belief in other people; belief in the wisdom and goodness of God is what restores the spirit and brings it to triumphant life once more.

There is no reality in death. Its power is temporary. Life is eternal, forever renewed, forever triumphant.

PAST PRESIDENTS

Conclave, Dinner to Fete Leaders Occupy Pilot Club

Twenty-one Long Beach Pilot Club members are back in town following a three-day stay at the District 18 convention of California Pilot Clubs at Hotel del Coronado in San Diego. Representing the Long Beach club at this seventh annual conclave were Margaret Fenwick, president; Ruth Tay, president-elect, and Margaret Darby, vice president-elect.

Mildred Morris of Long Beach, past district 18 governor, installed the 1955-56 district officers at an impressive candlelight ceremony. Members of the Anchor Clubs of Poly, Wilson and Jordan High Schools, which are sponsored by the Long Beach Pilots, assisted in the installation program. Installed as District 18 governor of Pilot International was Lura Loring of Oakland; Ruth Cunningham of the San Gabriel Valley Pilot Club, lieutenant governor, and Beatrice Kent of Beverly Hills, treasurer.

Eleanor Dahl of Oakland, a member of the executive committee of Pilot International, was official representative from headquarters in Macon, Ga. District 18 governor, Dr. Madeline S. Beckenbach of Santa Monica, presided at all business sessions.

Important matters of business transacted at the meet included the vote to support a state-wide toy loan program during the coming year. Margaret Fenwick was appointed a member of a committee to study the possibilities of establishing a project in California on a permanent basis with all Pilot Clubs in District 18 lending support. San Francisco was chosen as the 1956 district convention city and the fall council meeting will be held at the Huntington Hotel in Pasadena this October.

All past presidents of the local Pilot Club, and the current president, were honored at a dinner program meeting recently in the Mirror Room of Hotel Lafayette. They include Margery Procter, 1949-50, Peggy Finley, 1950-51, Hazel Blair, 1951-52, Mildred Morris 1952-53, Eleanor Boyd, 1953-54 and Margaret Fenwick current president. Corsages in Pilot colors of yellow and green were presented to each by the club. Music was provided by the Singers' Workshop and

Camp Fire Peanut Sale Report Given

The report of the successful sale of the peanuts was given at the Camp Fire board of directors' meeting by Mrs. Don Bettis in the absence of the peanut sale chairman, Mrs. Russell Cocks. The Blue Birds, Camp Fire Girls and Horizon Club members proved to be wonderful salesgirls as the number of cans sold topped the record of any previous year.

The Blue Bird birthday party was held recently when groups attended the Children's Theater production of "Alice in Wonderland." During intermission the groups which had earned the Community Chest Achievement Award for service were given special recognition. After the theater party members enjoyed picnics at local parks throughout the city.

Grand Council Fire Ceremonials for Camp Fire girls are being held by districts during April. Groups who have fulfilled the requirements for the Community Chest honor and also the National Birthday honor and girls who have completed three and five years of continuous membership as Camp Fire girls will receive their honors. The theme of the ceremonials is "Let Freedom Ring," with a special candle lighting service representing the four freedoms.

Milton B. Smith discussed plans for enlarging the facilities at Camp Hemohme in the mountains near Wrightwood. He announced that registration for day camp and mountain camp will be held May 21st at Bancroft Junior High School.

new safe All-in-One capsule discovery for easy reducing science now helps you take off your fat while you eat the foods you choose

Do you like sweets, candy, cake, butter, gravy, potatoes? Have you tried one thing after another to reduce, spent dollar after dollar for pills and tablets and in spite of everything you've tried you're still too fat? Well, be as skeptical as you like, but now, right now, there's a wonderful new kind of capsule that helps you take off pounds and inches of ugly fat safely, quickly and so much easier you hardly know what's happening. You don't suffer starvation dieting hunger, you take no drugs, you don't exercise. In fact, you don't even diet one bit more than you want to, because you automatically eat less and here's why...

counteracts hunger

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL THE RECOGNIZED proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories, yet expands when it absorbs water, thereby helping give the feeling of a full contented stomach. In fact, these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

fat goes fast

You'll be surprised at the fat you lose the first week, the inches that disappear the first month. No hunger, no strict dieting, no drugs, no exercise. And the cost is absolutely nothing unless you grow slim, more youthful looking, more active and enjoy better health.

SUCCESSFUL REDUCING

WITH PROPER GUIDANCE, every woman can have a normal figure, well proportioned from top of head, to tip of toes, as in center drawing above. Common figure faults, as illustrated above, are wide hips, large thighs, thick ankles and sway back, and if you fit into one of these categories, and are distressed, then consult the leading figure analyst on the West Coast, Miss Pat Walker, with her figure consultants, is ready to tackle any figure problem you may possess. These figure faults and others are being corrected in Miss Walker's salon by a supervised, "tailored" course of treatments.

BETTER FIGURE PROPORTION ANSWER TO WEIGHT PROBLEM

By MARTHA AINTREE
Special Beauty Editor

Easter is almost here and the new, exciting fashions are an answer to the well-groomed woman's dream. But are you ready to look your best in the sylvanlike creations? Is reducing the answer? Have you tried to stick to a diet and then given up in despair? There is an answer, and it's being revealed by the leading figure authority on the West Coast, Miss Pat Walker. "A perfect figure is every woman's most valuable asset; and every woman can have it—with proper guidance," said Miss Walker in an interview with this reporter. "We begin with a fairly good figure in our teens and then we have a tendency to sag," she remarked, "not only in the relaxed muscles of the abdomen but hips, arms and legs. Nature didn't intend that."

Getting back to our original state, or improving it, is the task assumed by Miss Walker and after dealing with more than 20,000 women in the Southland with regard to their weight and figure problems, she is a pretty good authority.

The most common figure faults are (1) protruding abdomen, (2) enlarged thighs and hips, (3) bulging waistline, (4) large legs, ankles and arms, and (5) sway back.

These common faults can be and are corrected in Miss Walker's four salons in the Southland. First, there is a figure analysis when she decides what problems need to be corrected and then a regular course of treatment is mapped out for the customer. "Most women have the will power to stick to the treatments," said the figure authority. "Only once in a hundred ever backslides after starting the reducing course."

The treatments, by scientific methods, are personalized and supervised by figure consultants in each salon. Every woman requires different treatments for her own personal figure problems.

What if you do not have a figure problem? You'll still be interested in the "toning up" treatments, designed to relax and soothe the nerves of the tired working girl or the harassed mother! The salons feature privacy and low cost. Results guaranteed.

You may have a complimentary treatment and figure analysis at no obligation. Hours: 8 'til 10. Remember, there are only four locations in Southern California where you get the reducing service developed by Miss Pat Walker, nationally famous figure authority. Phone or call collect to: L.B. 35-5397 at 938 Pine Ave. in LONG BEACH; TUCKER 6872 at 643 South Olive St. in LOS ANGELES; SUNSET 3-3760 at 4653 Lankershim Blvd. in the VALLEY; SYCAMORE 5-3283 at 808 E. Japanese Music Concert This Afternoon at Center

A concert of Japanese music played on native instruments will be given this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the opening of the Municipal Art Center's exhibition "The Architecture of Japan." The concert will follow a speech by Vice Consul Naomichi Tsukahara of the Japanese Consulate at 3:30 p. m.

Music of both old and new Japan will be played on traditional Japanese instruments: the shakuhachi (a bamboo flute first used by ancient Buddhist monks to play their hymns), the koto (a stringed instrument once played only by the Japanese aristocracy) and the shamisen (also stringed).

"The music is sometimes sad, sometimes merry. Though it first seems strange to Western ears, through a different scale and different instruments, this Japanese music soon becomes very satisfying," says Dr. Gerald Strang, composer and head of the Long Beach City College music department.

In some of the modern music to be heard, Dr. Strang finds a "very effective and encouraging fusion" between authentic Japanese tradition and new ideas inspired by the West.

The players are Kimio Eto, teacher and musician of Japan now in the states on an extended visa; and three Japanese Americans: Hogetsu Nomuri, Hokyoku Yamaguchi and Mrs. Chihoko Nakashima.

Admission is free. The concert will be rebroadcast over radio station KFOX from 8 to 9 p. m.

Three DAR Chapters Note Events

A guest speaker from Indian Center, Beverly Hills, will discuss the needs and problems of the American Indian at a meeting of Gaviota Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, at 2 p. m. Tuesday in Municipal Art Center.

During the business session at which Mrs. H. P. Dunlop, regent, will preside, there will be the election of a nominating committee. A summary of the resolutions passed at the DAR State Conference in San Francisco will be given by Mrs. H. W. Waldbillig.

Mrs. Fred C. Murphy, tea hostess, will be assisted by Misses Walter Nye, A. P. Bonzer, Fred Clarke, E. J. Weller, B. R. Wells, Donald Morgan, Otto F. Boll; Misses Bessie L. Skinner, Erma Hodges and Garland Smith. The executive board will meet at 1 p. m.

Reveal Truth at Dinner

Announcement of the engagement of Sheila Mary Mallon and Robert E. Rakestraw was made by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter F. Mallon, 6087 Lime Ave., at a recent informal dinner party. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Earl B. Rakestraw, West Los Angeles.

The bride-to-be, a graduate of St. Anthony's High School, where she was a member of Philaletheans, attended City College. Her affiliations include TNT and Spinsters Club.

Her fiancé, a graduate of USC with a degree in engineering, is a member of Phi Kappa Psi. He served two years in Korea with the Air Force.

An interesting program on Americanism will feature the luncheon meeting of Long Beach Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at noon Tuesday at the Lafayette Hotel.

The occasion will honor Public Schools Week. Guest speaker will be Inez Lehman, a teacher at Wilson High School, whose topic will be "Americanism in the Public Schools." The regent, Mrs. James Radcliffe, will preside.

Reservations may be made with Misses Robert Clingan or Glenn E. Taylor.

Los Cerritos Chapter, DAR, will have a luncheon at noon Tuesday in the Lafayette Hotel, with Mrs. William Florea, regent, presiding. Color slides on the Valley Forge Memorial Bell Tower, a DAR project in Pennsylvania, will be shown.

Emblem Club Plans Events

Choral group of Emblem Club No. 106 will meet Tuesday at the Pearl Rausch Studio, 5856 Orange Ave.

Luncheon and card party will be held in Linden Hall Thursday with Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, chairman, in charge. The public is invited.

New members will be honored at a tea from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m. Friday in Mottell's Garden Room. Mrs. Peter Greenberg, president, will pour.

Friday Club to Plant Tree in Park

At a time when Recreation Park was much smaller than at present, an area in the northeast section was set aside to be known as Greenleaf Grove. Since April, 1926, when the first tree was planted in the new grove by Mrs. R. C. Henderson, then president of Friday Morning Discussion Club, each succeeding president has added a tree as her memorial to the originator and founder of the club, Mrs. Emma Greenleaf.

Varied and unusual have been the plantings which have come to make up this charming section which lies north and east of the Fly Casters Clubhouse. Represented are the flowering trees, including jacaranda, locust, eucalyptus, Japanese Flame and magnolia. There are also cut-leaf birch, Chinese elms, camphor, acacia and Brazilian pepper trees.

Especially interesting for its ties with early American history is the elm planted by the late Mrs. Cora P. Hughes. For here, grown from a cutting made from a slip from the original tree is the "grandchild" of the historic Washington Elm under whose branches in July, 1775, Gen. George Washington assumed command of the Continental Army in Cambridge, Mass.

Bringing the story up to the present time, this year will see a beautiful magnolia tree added to the memorial grove.

Among Career Women

Dental Assistants Prepare for Annual 'Clinics Night'

By ANNE GILCHRIST

Some wage earning women are given to self pity and complaining because they have a subordinate job. Other career women just dig in and try to make their job the very best job of its kind in the world with the theory that they will never allow a subordinate job become a "sub-caliber" one!

Dental Assistants are among the many Long Beach business and professional women who belong in the "best job of its kind" category. These professional women have been busy preparing material to present to their fellow members at the group's annual Clinics Night Monday, April 18 in the Ballerina Room of the Lafayette Hotel. The Third District Dental Assistants Assoc. sponsors such a clinic once a year and at this time the clinicians present a variety of table clinics. These demonstrations represent hours of patient work in preparation. Months of research are spent by each assistant on the talk and demonstration she presents and many new theories and ideas are discussed, with the knowledge gained doing the research shared by all members viewing the clinics.

Dr. Mark D. Miner, D.D.S., is donating a Clinic trophy to the clinician judged the most outstanding. Judges serving from the Harbor Dental Society will be Dr. Earl Donaldson, Dr. Frank Bowman, Marcia Sneden, Thomas Nettleton and Mark Miner.

Clinicians participating and their subjects will be Eva Hastings, (with Dr. L. A. Spaulding, who will discuss, "Vacuum Investing with Controls"; Thora Dowling, (Dr. J. C. Nolan), "Pyorrhea Playhouse"; Dorothy Johnston (Dr. Mark Miner), "First and Last Impressions"; Evelyn Parsons (Dr. R. H. Wudel), "Aids for the D.A.'s"; Nadine Woodman, (Dr. J. Whitaker), "My Role in Children's Dentistry"; Evelyn White (Dr. George C. Chuck), and Betty McClure (Dr. R. H. Jensen), "Orthodontic"; Jacqueline Van Sickle (Dr. Niles Vest), "It's All in the Way You Call"; Edith I. Querio (Dr. Harland W. Appel), "Oral Surgery"; and Jeanne Kasten (Dr. Stanley Challis), "Basic Bracket Table Set-ups."

Student clinicians from Long Beach City College who will participate are Ann Schwartz, Clea Blackledge, Harriet Van Houten, Iris Bradshaw, Dorothy Pearson, Marilyn Ward, Peni Katzoff, Carole Ann Ford, Pat Whalen, Marlene Hahn and Shirley Deaton.

The ten representatives from the Long Beach area will also compete with dental assistants from the entire Southern California area at the annual meeting of the Southern California State Dental Assistants Assoc. at the Statler Hotel May 8-10. These girls will, in turn, compete for the state trophy.

National B & PW

Easter, through lovely decorations, came to the Long Beach National Business and Professional Women's Club at their last meeting, when they gathered at the YWCA for program and a social hour. The tables were cleverly done in the mode of the season by Kay Campbell, Florence Anson and Lucinda Robinson. Refreshments were served by Winnie Neudeck and Florence Anson.

For their program Helen L. Smith, chairman, presented Officer William J. Meyer of the Long Beach Police Public Relations Dept. who gave an instructive talk on traffic safety emphasizing his remarks with blackboard illustrations. His discussion revealed the fact that during 1954 38,300 persons were killed in highway traffic accidents across the nation. In addition the speaker showed a short film entitled, "Motor Mania."

Women Accountants

Monthly dinner meeting of the American Society of Women Accountants will occur Wednesday at the Lafayette Hotel beginning at 7 p. m. President Virginia Youngquist will conduct the business discussion and will ask for approval of a nominating committee. Election will be in May.

J. G. Bretherton, district manager of the Long Beach office of the Social Security Administration, will be guest speaker and will discuss the new provisions of the 1954 amendments to the Social Security Act as administered by the Bureau. Katie Dell Latham made arrangements for the prominent speaker's appearance.

Of special interest to members is the appointment of Norma Farris, editor of the club's monthly bulletin, the ASWANIAN, to serve as editor of the "Coast-to-Coast" feature of the national magazine. She will gather and write news of all the chapters, both in the United States and abroad.

Reception at Villetta Before Tour

One of the most eagerly anticipated events of spring in Palos Verdes is the annual Peninsula Homes Tour to take place this year on April 30 and May 1 when the doors of numerous of the handsome and individual dwellings are thrown open for public viewing. Prior to the tour it has become a tradition for committees working on the event to be honored at a tea and reception at the Villetta, beautiful estate of the Kelvin Vanderlips at Portuguese Bend and is slated for April 20.

Palos Verdes College benefits from the tour, and a group from the college is to entertain at the tea with a program of modern dance, including a Medieval Suite. Hostesses for the garden event, in addition to Mrs. Vanderlip, are to be Mmes. Almeron J. Field, Robert H. Finch, Leigh Harline, Ruth Mattinson, George Partridge, Donald Bennett Pugh, Helen Ryan, Robert Schaeffer, Charles Soderstrom and John Vanderlip. Mrs. Ivar Hanson is chairman of the group.

PREPARE FOR CLINICS

Weddings, Spring Trips Highlight Lakewood Scene

By BERNICE AHRENDES

Saturday evening at 8 o'clock lovely Carlene Bremer walked down the aisle, escorted by her father, to become the bride of A/2c Gerald Lee Cockell. The double ring ceremony was performed by Bishop Thomas C. Eynon in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bremer of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, wore white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin with a train. Her illusion net veil was held in place by a Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white orchids. Mrs. Myrtle Jean McBride, matron of honor, wore a pink ballerina-length organza gown as did bridesmaids Flosiene Van Lerio, Barbara Messer and Sheila Bass.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Cockrell of Burns, Ore. They were here for the wedding, as was Mrs. Mildred Case, Miss Bremer's aunt.

This past week many Lakewood families took advantage of the Easter vacation to get away from home and have fun.

Ten days ago Mr. and Mrs. Tom Walker from Cyril, Okla., arrived in town to visit with their daughter, Ruth, and her husband, Robert Davis. They have had an enjoyable time taking numerous local trips during their Easter time vacation.

From Northern California came Mrs. J. H. Bliss and daughter, Andrea, of Healdsburg. They visited at the home of her daughter, Carol, and son-in-law, Harold Barrett.

Today a turkey dinner is being served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Davis as they host Mr. and Mrs. John Uribe of San Francisco, Miss Rosemarie Boyball, Hazel Kuhl and John Kostoph.

Surprising their many friends was the recent wedding of Vonnie Dayton and A/1c Robert Seymour. The bride's parents are Mrs. Ida Dayton of Lakewood and Henry Dayton of Torrance. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seymour of Artesia. He is in the Air Corps stationed in Long Beach. They were married in Yuma, Ariz., March 14 and are now making their home at 9908 Arkansas Ave. in Bellflower.

Ebell Club

Louis Alber will tell Ebell members about recent shifts in the Kremlin hierarchy at tomorrow's program in Ebell auditorium. The speaker has been a life-long student of Russia and of the world communist conspiracy since the Soviet system came into being. Mrs. James Bryan Murray will preside, and Group E-J, Mrs. James Maddux, chairman, will serve the luncheon.

Gimpel Sets Civic Music Performance

Jakob Gimpel, famous pianist, will perform Monday evening at Wilson High School Auditorium sponsored by the Civic Music Association. This masterful artist has appeared with nearly every leading orchestra in the world.

Born into a highly talented musical family, he began his study of the piano in his native Poland at the age of five. Later he studied in Vienna, Austria, where he made his debut at 18. In Sweden in 1938 when Hitler invaded Austria, he cancelled his European tour and came to the United States.

He has performed with leading symphonies in this country including the San Francisco, Chicago, Buffalo, Los Angeles Philharmonic and Boston "Pops" Orchestra.

Nurses to Meet

Mrs. Verna Jackson will be guest speaker following a 6:30 p. m. dinner in Mottell's Garden Room Wednesday by Long Beach Licensed Vocational Nurses' Assoc. Div. No. 9. Dinner reservations may be made with Mrs. Ruth Ellis, chairman of the evening.

Thursday Event

Blue Star Mothers of America, Chapter No. 1, will meet at 1:30 a. m. Thursday in Elks Club for luncheon and business session. Delegates to Department convention will be elected. Blanche Bell will conduct the meeting.

Dental Group Field Day Date Told

Annual Field Day for the Harbor (Third) District Dental Society is a gay event to which all 119 members look forward. While the men play golf their wives, who form the auxiliary to the society, will be enjoying a festive luncheon, entertainment and bridge Wednesday at Virginia Country Club.

Mrs. A. L. Vestermark Jr., president; Mrs. Trevor W. Bullock, president of the state auxiliaries, and Mrs. Morgan S. Ralls, wife of the president of the Harbor District Dental Society, and hence traditionally chairman of the day, will welcome guests.

Mrs. Harold H. Morris will be in charge of the table decor. In keeping with the launching of the newly named Harbor District, flowers will be styled in large ships and set at each place will be a small WAVE hat fashioned as a nut cup by the executive secretary of the society, Mrs. Freda Dunwoodie. Mrs. Gordin G. Brown will distribute door awards.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Max R. Eshelman, vocalist; Mrs. H. Chester Moore, flutist; and Mrs. Joseph C. Nolan, accompanist, will provide musical selections. The day will end with auxiliary members joining their husbands for a gala dinner-dance at Lakewood Country Club.

Miss Janet Hackney

Corey-Hackney Nuptials Set During September

September 4 is the date set for the wedding of Miss Janet Hackney and Carlton Corey. The betrothal was revealed when the bride-elect offered the traditional box of chocolates to her Entree Nous Sorority sisters at City College.

Foundation to Benefit From Pageant

It takes a kind heart and helping hand to keep a training center in operation. It has taken many kind hearts and many helping hands to get the Long Beach Exceptional Children's Foundation on an operating basis. This school, for the training and recreation of the retarded child, is the incentive for a fashion show to be co-sponsored by the House of Leon and Barbara Blakeley Mannequins' Guild.

Scene of the pageant of spring and summer fashions and newest in hair styles, will be the Pageant Room of Wilton Hotel at 7 p. m. April 17.

A few of the local merchants who have already prepared to enter the show include the Parisienne, Mr. Bob, Knit Togs, Town Shop, Emilies, Lullaby Lane and Al Lee's Maternity shop. Merchandise will be in the form of suits, dresses, play clothes, swim wear, jewelry, millinery, lingerie and maternity wear and will be shown in all price ranges.

The training center at the present time is located at 1005 E. Sixth St. but a new building is under construction at 4519 E. Stearns with all labor being donated by the American Federation of Labor building and trades. Monies raised by other organizations will be used for schoolroom supplies and playground material for the school.

Tickets, donation of a dollar, may be secured through the Mannequins' Guild, 644 Alamitos Ave.; House of Leon, 1220 E. Carson, or the Exceptional Children's Foundation.

Service Set Parties Flourish

By VIRGINIA NEWTON

The popular Officers Wives Club at NAS, Los Alamitos, will gather for luncheon April 21 at Officers Club at the base.

Hostesses for the day will be Mrs. D. Farrell, Mrs. Grayson and Mrs. Pressley.

Mrs. Howard Sturm, wife of Lt. Comdr. Sturm, has left for New York with Mrs. H. Sturm Sr. to attend the wedding of Mrs. Sturm's brother, Dr. Milton Grossman of Nashville, Tenn.

Lt. and Mrs. Thomas Shema were genial hosts recently at a buffet supper party at their home. Among officers from the USS Bellgrove and their wives who attended were Lt. and Mrs. William Little, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gross, and Lt. (jg) and Mrs. Earl Heckroth.

Mrs. Frank Durnell announces the engagement of her daughter, Ruth Anne Durnell, to John William Pearce, son of Dr. and Mrs. Dayton Pearce of Chicago, Ill.

A former lieutenant (jg) in the United States Navy, the bridegroom-to-be is a graduate of Northwestern University where he was a member of Theta Xi. Ruth Anne attended UCLA where she was affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta. She obtained her teacher's degree at Long Beach State College. The young couple has set May as the wedding month.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edward Garrett entertained recently at a covered dish bridge supper party. Among those present were Maj. and Mrs. Willis Brook, Maj. and Mrs. Robert Nixon and Lt. and Mrs. Robert Cuzmak.

Black cigar smoke was rolling heavily over the Naval Ammunition and Net Depot, Seal Beach, recently when Lt. J. W. Ross announced to "all hands" the arrival of the first boy, James W. Ross III, who weighed in at 5 pounds 11 ounces. Young Jimmy was greeted at home by his two sisters, Rommie and Jennie.

On the evening of April 23 at the Meadowlark Country Club the personnel of the Naval Ammunition and Net Depot both military and civilian and their guests will enjoy a spring dance.

Capt. and Mrs. G. W. Davis are enjoying a family Easter dinner party today at the home of Mrs. Davis' son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mertz of Palos Verdes.

One of the prettiest parties of the week was the most attractive far away luncheon event given by Mrs. Benjamin Chiswell honoring Mrs. Benjamin Shoemaker who will be leaving shortly with her family for Japan.

Reveille is early at the home of Cpl. and Mrs. Andrew Barles since the arrival last week of petite Robin Ann Barles, who was born at the Corona Naval Hospital.

April 13 at noon, Wives of Navy Doctors Club will gather at Officers Club, Allen Center, for their luncheon party. Cards will follow.

Col. and Mrs. Nap. Rainbolt have as their Easter week house guests Mrs. William Brown from New Mexico and Mrs. Howard Burke from Oklahoma City, Okla.

The ways and means committee of the Coast Guard Officers Wives Club are sponsoring a games night for the group and their husbands. The public will be invited. The event will be held at St. Cornelius Hall April 29.

Maj. and Mrs. Robert Nixon have as their house guests from Canada, Mrs. James MacArthur and daughters, Maureen and Susan.

Mrs. Ann Davis of 64 St. Joseph St. has as her house guests, Capt. and Mrs. S. Gregory.

Col. and Mrs. Frank Lowery entertained recently at a barbecue honoring their son, Frank Jr., who is a law student at UCLA. Attending were 14 of his school friends.

Maj. and Mrs. Thomas Gibson returned from visiting friends at Bonsall Heights for several days.

Lt. Col. and Mrs. William Funderburk have as their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Norton Meyer and daughter, Melinda, from Stockton. Mrs. Meyer and Mrs. Funderburk are sisters.

Lt. Walter Auerswald of NAS, Los Alamitos, has returned from two weeks in Alameda.

Why Grow Old?

Luxurious Bath Aids Beauty

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Beauty doesn't just happen! It is a habit of life in physical care, good health and good grooming, and also in emotional balance and mental outlook.

In these busy days we are eager to combine health and beauty routines, to take exercises which do more than one thing, to use all the time-saving gadgets, because most of us are very busy.

It is too bad that we so often have to take a hurried bath with cleanliness the only object, because a bath can mean many things. It can soothe the ruffled spirit and it can be a period of relaxation, actually a rejuvenating rest period! It can be luxurious, too, and it can even make you feel a bit more glamorous.

Whether you are a homemaker or a career woman, try to give yourself some leisure while taking your bath. A half hour is best but even 15 or 20 minutes will help.

Draw a warm bath and relax as well as scrub. Here are a few suggestions which will help you do both.

1. In the first place, relax and soak. Then reach for the soap.

2. A bathbrush will help you rub spots you could not otherwise reach and will also act as a mild massage.

3. If you can find time to make your bath really relaxing and luxurious, use one of the bath oils or treat yourself to a real bubble bath. The bath oil, by the way, is especially good for dry skin.

4. Buy a bath tray to put across the tub. You can pat cold cream in while you soak, or read a book, or both. On the tray you can place your creams, manicure tools, and nail and back brushes.

5. For real, solid comfort why not use one of those foam rubber bath tub pillows equipped with suction cups to cling to the tub.

6. Some women like to follow their warm tub with a shower. If you do this, make the water warm at first and gradually cooler.

Try to work in one truly restful tub each day after the most rigorous of your days' duties are over. This can combine soap and water cleanliness, which is the basis of all beauty, with a beauty treatment and a period of relaxation.

This feature runs daily in the Press-Telegram.

Conferences for P.T.A. Presidents, Principals

In co-operation with the California Association of Secondary School Administrators, 33rd District, California Congress of Parents and Teachers, will sponsor two high school-junior high intermediate conferences for secondary P.T.A. presidents and school principals.

Liaison committee members of the administrators organization who have been working with Mrs. John H. Koekkoek Jr., of Long Beach, district chairman of high school and college service, in the planning are: George Drake, principal of the Lincoln Junior High School in Santa Monica, and John W. Wilson, Jordan High School principal, Long Beach.

The first meeting is arranged for Wednesday in the Jordan High School auditorium, Artesia Blvd. and Atlantic Ave., in North Long Beach, for principals and P.T.A. presidents from Council areas of Montebello, Whittier, Norwalk, Downey, Lynwood, Compton, Paramount, Bellflower, Excelsior (Artesia) and Long Beach.

The second, for personnel from Beverly Hills, Centinela Valley, Culver City, El Segundo, Inglewood, Lawndale, Santa Monica, South Bay and Torrance, will be Friday in the Centinela Valley High School administration bldg., 365 Hawthorne Way (one-half block west of Hawthorne Blvd., between Broadway and 120th St.), in Hawthorne.

Both conferences will open at 10 a. m., and adjourn at noon. Wilson, on Wednesday, and Drake, on Friday, will speak on the subject, "How the P.T.A.s Can Help Administrators Interpret the Public Schools." District president Mrs. H. A. Spurgeon of Compton will discuss the topic, "How the P.T.A.s Should Co-operate With School People."

Discussion will also be presented on the subjects of the study course, "Teaching Today's Youth," and reasons why it is helpful to the parents of secondary school-age young people. Other topics include: Teacher Recruitment, High School Day at State Convention, and a discourse on how to promote a more effective P.T.A. at high school level. Mrs. Koekkoek will preside.

To Hear Talk by Teacher

Miss Gwen Boon, an exchange teacher from England, will speak at the next meeting of the Junior Group of the Long Beach branch, American Association of University Women, at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the community room of the Bank of Belmont Shore.

Miss Boon, a teacher at Long Beach Polytechnic High School this year, will talk on "An English Teacher Looks at America." Her home is Crofton, England, where she teaches in a girls' college preparatory, academic, high school. Hostesses for the evening will be Mmes. Kendall Robinson and A. M. Dollar.

Zonta Leader

Virginia Eastlick, governor of District 9, Zonta International, will visit Zonta Club of Newport Harbor at a luncheon meeting Thursday at the Villa Marina.

Susan's Window Shopping

he had won the first trick in dummy, he'd have tried a club finesse. The choice was purely one of convenience.

South was pleased to discover that he had picked the right suit to develop, for dummy's nine of diamonds held. East played the three of diamonds as though it were the most normal play in the world.

Since he was now in dummy, South tried a finesse of the queen of clubs. This lost to the king, and back came a heart.

South now had eight tricks in sight and needed only one additional trick for his contract. From South's point of view, it might be dangerous to go on with the clubs, but the diamonds looked perfectly safe. South therefore led another diamond, and the hand blew up in his face. East promptly took four diamond tricks, defeating the contract.

If East had taken the first diamond trick, South would have made his contract. South would have been forced to try two finesses in clubs, winning one of them. The defenders might have taken three diamonds and one club, but no more.

Chef of the Week

Printing Trade Chief Is New Culinary Art Expert

By MILDRED K. FLANARY

Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

Raymond H. Green Jr., today's nominee for Chef of the Week, seems to have medical science under control—he's exclusively the father of boys. Sons, 4, 2 and 1 year call him "Pop."

Ray has learned, too, to confine his vocational activities entirely to his business, that of secretary-treasurer and assistant manager of Greens, Inc., 427 American Ave.—he joined the 48-year-old company in 1947.

Any attempts he's made on repair jobs at home have required the later services of an expert carpenter. He also has some preconceived ideas about foods. What he likes, he loves; what he doesn't like, he just ignores.

Long Beach has always been his home—and Longfellow, Poly High and City College his alma maters. A basketball player with a notable record, he served as captain of the Poly team. A golf addict and a rabid baseball fan, many of his friends believe that nothing would inspire his profound fondness for the L. A. Rams.

A Rotarian, Green serves as president of the Long Beach Printing Trade Assn., and is a member of the Long Beach Sales Executives Club.

A meat and potato man, our "chef" will settle often for a batch of spaghetti. In fact, he can eat mounds of it! He can prepare it, too, and here's his recipe:

SPAGHETTI AMERICANO
2 lbs. ground round
1 medium size onion
2 cans Chief Broyard sauce with mushrooms
2 cans tomato sauce
1 small can mushrooms
1 tsp. paprika
Salt and pepper to taste
Brown the meat and chopped onions together in a saucepan. When meat is browned add prepared tomato sauce and spaghetti sauce. Add salt, pepper, paprika and canned mushrooms. Cook over a low fire for 1 hour or more. Serve over hot cooked spaghetti.

Beverly Abrams, Beverly Gottlieb, Rhoda Orenstein, Nancy Speizer and Miriam Wechsler. Mrs. Lee Stearns will be in charge of the luncheon. Mrs. Beverly Abrams is president of Young Matrons.

"Architecture: Contemporary Viewpoints" will be the topic of William Sutherland Beckett, Los Angeles architect, Tuesday evening at the Long Beach City College Art Forum. The program, open to the public without charge, begins at 7:30 p. m. in room 502 of the City College art building, Faculty Ave. at Harvey Way.

William Beckett

After graduating from Yale University in 1943, Beckett served as chief designer for Spaulding-Rex Architects in Los Angeles until he opened his own office in 1949. He won the First Honor Award of the American Institute of Architecture in 1952 for the design of the Beckett Office Building in Los Angeles and has since won other national and international prizes in design.

Beckett's work has included design of schools, factories at the Catalina Isthmus. Final City College Art Forum of the school year will be May 3.

Opening today at the Long Beach Municipal Art Center, 2300 E. Ocean Blvd., is "The Architecture of Japan," an exhibition aimed to enrich Southern Californians' understanding of this once esoteric land that has recently assumed new importance in Western affairs.

Vice Consul Naomichi Tsukahara of the Japanese Consulate, Los Angeles, will be guest of honor at the exhibition opening and will speak at 3:30 p. m. A concert of Japanese music by a Japanese ensemble playing native instruments will be held at 4 p. m. An informal reception will follow. Costumed Japanese hostesses will be present. "Japan needs understanding by the West. Modern times have wrought many changes in Japan, but American insight into our culture can be one medium of comprehension of the Japan of today," Consul General Shinsaky Hogen said in a recent interview.

Vice Consul Tsukahara then discussed the 15-century history of architectural developments illustrated in The Architecture of Japan: Shinto shrines, Buddhist temples, tea houses, gardens and finally contemporary architecture.

The tea house, Tsukahara explained, arose from the emphasis placed by Zen Buddhism on the calm contemplation of beauty as a means to integration with the whole of nature. And gardens are indigenous to the architecture of Japan, he added, because they are considered "refined imitations of nature" and thus form an appropriate environment for meditation.

Modern architecture in Japan, as illustrated in the exhibition, reflects Japan's increasing quest for interrelationship with America and the Western world.

The Architecture of Japan will be on exhibition at the Municipal Art Center from April 10 to May 15. Japanese prints and art objects supplementing the exhibition are lent by Ralph Altman, Los Angeles; The Santa Barbara Art Museum and the Long Beach Public Library. Much of the exhibition material was made available through the co-operation of the Japanese Consulate, New York; the Japanese Foreign Ministry; and Kokusai Bunka Shinkokai, the Society for International Relations, Tokyo.

California artists are invited to enter a fabric design competition sponsored by the Dixi Hall Studio of contemporary arts in Laguna Beach. Purpose of the contest, in cooperation with Los Angeles fabric converters, is to discover new design talent and the provide it with a market in the California apparel industry.

Designs are to be suitable for reproduction on cotton fabrics to be used for men's and women's sportswear. Seven cash prizes will be awarded. First $100, second $75 and third $50 with four honorable mentions of $25 each. For any design used an additional $50 will be paid the designer, plus royalties based on sales. Contest closes May 14. Winners will be exhibited for two weeks beginning May 16 at the Dixi Hall Studio gallery, 476 S. Coast Blvd., Laguna Beach. Entry blanks and rules are available at the same address.

"Early Los Angeles," a series of pen and ink sketches made for the Boyle Workman book, "City That Grew," and Thompson and West lithographs of Los Angeles in the 1880's will be shown through May 15 in the Los Angeles County Museum, Exposition Park, Los Angeles. The 31st annual exhibition of the Pasadena Society of Artists is shown in the Pasadena Art Museum, 46 N. Los Robles Ave., Pasadena.

True Salesmanship Founded on Scientific Techniques

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case N-396: Pete W., aged 41, is a very successful sales manager for a famous American company. "Dr. Crane, I notice you say that phenologists and physiognomists are not regarded as scientific," he began.

"Well, I am doubly interested, for last year I put my O. K. on bringing a phenologist to address our salesmen. He conducted a 6-weeks' course and each man paid $50 tuition. As a result of that course, moreover, our sales output increased very definitely. So how could this phenologist be unscientific and yet pep up our salesmen?"

That's a fair question, but easily answered. For no field of activity requires more assurance and confidence than does salesmanship. Unless a salesman is sure of himself, then he creates a vague "aura" of uncertainty. That soon affects the prospect, who indirectly grows doubtful of the merchandise and thus doesn't buy.

So let a glab talking phenologist stand up before salesmen and assure them POSITIVELY that he is giving them a sure-fire, 100 per cent effective plan to diagnose personality, and he can give the sales crew new assurance. Thus, they will go forth with supreme confidence, even though their system of character analysis is unsound. And the resulting confidence will actually zoom sales.

That is one of the interesting things about psychology, for some of the most effective personalities get results on the basis of their own dynamic personality rather than because of their merchandise or medicine.

Clergymen, teachers and doctors, as well as insurance vendors, are all salesmen and should bubble over with enthusiasm, for the prospects catch some of this confidence by proximity. Many beginning salesmen, however, are rather shy. They get stage-fright at the thought of ringing a strange doorbell, so they may walk around the 'block a couple of times or even resort to a snort of whisky or two cups of black coffee to bolster their nerve.

These timid salesmen, if reassured even by an unscientific system like phenology, thereafter exude more positiveness. And that very confidence pays off in greater sales. Real salesmanship, however, is a toponotch profession, so if you want the true scientific facts about it, send for my bulletin, "The New Psychology of Advertising and Selling," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

Salesmen are sparkplugs of civilization, so they should be undergirded with true scientific facts instead of bogus systems of character analysis.

Molly Mayfield

Bride-to-Be Faces Problem

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:
I am 18 years old, and planning to be married this June. My problem is deciding who should give me away.

You see, Mrs. Mayfield, my parents were divorced when I was 9 years old. My mother remarried, and we were raised and supported by our stepfather. He's really a swell guy, and has treated me and my sister as his own. He is always buying us things, and likes us to come to him with our problems.

My dad is working in another state. He is always writing to us, and we write back, of course. We don't see him often, but he never forgets our birthdays, and special occasions no matter where he is.

My dad is a happy-go-lucky sort of guy, sweet, gentle, and all a father should be. He has never mistreated us, and gives us things when he can. He, too, is always ready to advise us with our problems. We love him dearly. And that's part of the problem.

You see, I don't want to seem ungrateful to my stepfather since he has done so much for us, but I feel my father is the one who should have the honor of giving me away.

Mother feels it should be my stepfather.

How can I choose without hurting one or the other? Please help me.

PERPLEXED P. S.
DEAR PERPLEXED P. S.:
I know how you feel. I know it is your wedding, and you feel that the arrangements should be all of your choosing. And that seems right enough.

But, let's take another look. Your father would have to come all the way from another state. His being here would offer manifold problems. There would be parties which he must attend along with your mother and stepfather. There would be many intimate little occasions when he would have to be present.

Don't you see how awkward this could be for your mother? For your stepfather? And for your dad?

A wedding should be a happy occasion without any more strain and stress than possible. It certainly seems to me, that letting your stepfather give you away would be best on all counts. And it would be one way of showing him that you appreciate all he has done for you during the past nine years.

M. M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:
I wonder if some of your readers would send cards to my little 10-year-old nephew who has rheumatic fever and must stay in bed all the time. He is Tommy Nex, 1452 Monitor Ave., Chicago, Ill.

HIS AUNT.

Child Care

Tot's Grief Over Death Is Brief

By MILTON I. LEVINE, M. D. and JEAN H. SELIGMANN
(Q) "My mother, who has been living with us, is very ill and will not live more than six months. My little boy, age four, is deeply devoted to her. What shall I tell him and what should I do when she passes away?"

(A) Your son knows that his grandmother is ill. There is no need at this point to tell him that she is not going to live. This would only cause him unnecessary anxiety.

the truth.

But young children do not have the same emotional reactions to death as we adults do. To them, death signifies little more than a separation. Of course they do feel sad, but they feel sad at any separation from a loved person. The deep grief of an adult is far different from the sorrow of a small child. At one moment a youngster may be sobbing bitterly, and five minutes later he may be playing and laughing with his friends.

Most child psychologists feel that it is better not to send a child a way during the trying period following a death. It will not harm him to be with you in your sorrow. In fact, it will help him to realize that you are human and that you are sad over being separated from your mother. Be close to him and reassure him that you and Daddy are going to stay with him.

All questions possible will be answered through this column. Send them to CHILD CARE in care of the Press-Telegram.

This feature appears daily in the Press-Telegram.

an Easter Prayer

Published here for the first time, this deeply affecting invocation was written by the late Chaplain of the U.S. Senate, Peter Marshall

Our Father, as we go, hushed and breathless, to the Garden of the Resurrection this Easter morning, may each of us find the risen, living Christ. May He find us. How much we need Him, Lord! For we have eaten at the world's table, and are still hungry. We have followed bright lights, and are still in darkness. We have striven after joy, and still have cheerless hearts.

But now, on this glad day, the waxen throats of Easter lilies trumpet the good news that:

We may have unending fellowship with our Risen Lord.

Our problems can be solved by His wisdom.

Our weaknesses may be turned into strength by His help.

Our struggles may become victories by His grace.

Our sorrows may be turned into joy by His comfort.

There is no death!

For mercies like these we are forever in Thy debt. We, who like Mary, came to the Garden to weep, now may stay to worship in gladness of heart and newness of life. In the name of our triumphant Lord, we thank Thee.

Amen

THE REV. Peter Marshall (above) was Chaplain of the U. S. Senate and pastor of Washington's New York Avenue Church from 1937 until his untimely death in 1949. Renowned for his extemporaneous prayers, Marshall became world-famous as the subject of A Man Called Peter, a book by his wife Catherine (shown below with their son Peter John, 14). PARADE's prayer was taken down in shorthand by a girl State Department worker. Other prayers have just been published as a book, The Prayers of Peter Marshall (McGraw-Hill, New York), and a movie version of A Man Called Peter will be released this week.

ONE WORD on the blackboard sums up what Eleanor Powell is trying to teach her pupils. "I'm happier teaching scriptures," she smiles, "than studying a movie script."

Most Glamorous Sunday

Onetime dancing queen Eleanor Powell has traded her screen

HOLLYWOOD.

Remember Eleanor Powell, once called "the world's greatest female dancer"? Ever wonder what became of her when she quit movies?

Well, in 1943 she married actor Glenn Ford, hung up her dancing slippers and retired to a life of domesticity and motherhood. By nature civic-minded and religious, she began in 1949 to teach a Sunday School class at the Beverly Hills Presbyterian Church.

"Since then," says her pastor, "she hasn't missed a class. She just loves church work."

Because of that, "Ellie" recently was visited by the Rev. Clifton Moore of the local presbytery. Moore had a proposition. "There are 34 church programs on radio and TV," he said, "practically all aimed at adults. We need a religious program for children. Will you teach your Sunday School class on television?"

The ex-star shook her head. "I've been in show business, and many people feel show business and religion don't go hand in hand."

Moore smiled. "There are just as many who do. Won't you give it a try?"

Finally "Ellie" agreed. The result is Faith of Our Children, a weekly half-hour telecast on

EAGER HANDS shoot up when this lovely teacher asks a Bible question.

KRCA here that has met with a tremendous popular response. (Already it is being shown by kinescope in upstate New York. An NBC executive says: "It's just a question of time before it gets a nation-wide network audience.")

The reasons are three: 1) Eleanor Powell herself; 2) Her "big name" pupils, including children of such stars as Roy Rogers, Fred MacMurray, Joanne Dru, James Stewart and Randolph Scott; 3) The warm, well-paced nature of the program, which features a choir (above, right), visual aids, participating children and varied guest stars (Jeanette MacDonald, Ralph Edwards, baseball's Bob Lemon and the like).

Since the show began, last November, Eleanor Powell has spent seven days a week casting, writing and supervising it. Her pay, by union regulation, is $23.10—after deductions, $6. This is $4,994 less than she used to earn each week at MGM, or what she's been offered often in the past five years to return to dancing.

"But you know," she says, "there isn't enough money in the world to make me give up my church work. How can you compare money with a little boy's smile or a child's growing awareness of God?"

Make the Most of

Here's how: start now, plan carefully—and use

ONE DAY SOON your vacation period will roll around. If you're average, here's what you'll do:

Shoehorn the family into the car and make for the open road.

Log about 1,200 miles.

Halt for quick visits to five points of interest.

Stay two or three days in each place before your itchy foot drives you on.

Shell out about $400 for the trip.

Stagger back home in about 2½ weeks.

Feel exhausted, broke and vaguely dissatisfied.

Maybe your vacation isn't until August, and you think it's a trifle early to talk about such things. But it isn't. Last year, when PARADE interviewed a number of psychologists about the value of vacations ("Your Vacation: Harmful or Helpful," May 30, 1954), all agreed that one reason vacations sometimes fail to accomplish their purpose is inadequate planning. The American Automobile Assn., the American Society of Travel Agents, the National Assn. of Travel Organizations, airlines, railroads, hotel managers and resort operators told PARADE the same thing this year.

So now is the time to start thinking about how you'll spend your 2½ weeks. Bring the family together and talk it over in detail. Write for information. Remember that the most popular places will be crowded; the sooner you get your bid in, the better. And remember that you're probably going to spend around $400—an investment worth real thought.

You'll find, from the start, that thousands and thousands of places are bidding for your $400—despite prevailing opinions of "tourists." One travel agent told PARADE: "Tourists are goofy. They'll plan for a year to go some place, badger me nuts about folders and reservations and tickets, scrimp and save to pay for it—then stay there for two days, kick over the traces and head for some place down the road they've decided they like better."

Then there are opinions even less complimentary. Hotel owners say that you—in your tourist role—are a petty thief; resort operators call you a vandal; police brand you a menace. And some would say your choice of attractions shows the taste of a boob.

But they all want you back, no matter how much they hoot at you. Because you, the American tourist, are big—but BIG—business. Without tourists, the nation's economy might fall flat on its face. In most states, playing up to visitors ranks as the third biggest industry; in a few, it ranks even higher. Further, travel plays a big role in world affairs. Somerset R. Waters, special consultant to the Department of Commerce, calls travel one of the five major methods of expanding world trade. Last year, for instance, Americans spent $1,200,000,000 abroad; the figure will be 5 to 10 per cent higher this year, according to Commerce Department estimates.

In fact, travel has reached new records, both in number of travelers and in expenditures, each year since World War II. So 1955 should be the biggest yet. The AAA's guess is that 75,000,000 people will be on the go; the NATO estimates the amount to be spent at $17,500,000,000, or nearly twice the annual prewar figure.

Where They Go

Where will these footloose multitudes go? Everywhere in the world: last year, some 662,000 went to Europe, 600,000 to the Caribbean, 450,000 to Mexico, 89,500 to South America, 189,500 to Asia, Australia and the Pacific islands. The biggest group of globe-trotters in 1954? Housewives!

In this country, the National Parks and National Monuments draw the most sightseers. The Park Service expects that this year's crowds will top even 1954, when 30,421,587 people visited our 28 parks and 84 monuments.

Aside from the latter, our No. 1 tourist mecca is New York (city and state). NATO figures show that New York runs away with the race for the tourist dollar, taking in $1,400,000,000 in the last year for which figures are available. Florida, with $970 million, was second, followed by California, $884 million; New Jersey, $868 million, and Michigan, $600 million. The next most popular states, in order, were Ohio, Illinois, Virginia, Kentucky and Indiana.

Such statistics receive close scrutiny by travel experts, who thus can tune to the average traveler's wavelength and guess which way he's going to jump next. They can tell which resorts are up-and-coming, which are dying off, which places have pegged their rates at the right amount. The information can be valuable to you for the same reasons: you can base your plans on how, when and where the rest of the nation is vacationing.

Here are some of the experts' findings:

You're almost certain to take a vacation this year. And, as your income increases, so do your chances. The latest figures break down like this: 63 per cent of the families earning less than $3,000 a year were on the road, staying away 2.2 weeks. From $3,000 to $5,000, the figures were 73 per cent and 2.4 weeks; from $5,000 to $7,000, 79 per cent and 2.6 weeks; above $7,000, 83 per cent and 2.8 weeks.

You'll go by car. The AAA says about 17 out of 20 tourists do. And the percentage is still creeping upward. Airlines, buses and trains split the rest.

You'll take the family. Reflected by the number who travel in cars, this trend also shows up in the booming business done by attractions for children.

You'll try to cover several points of interest. The average, the AAA says, is about five; most tourists aim for a couple more, but can't cram them in. Usually, you spend two to three days in each place.

Your primary aim is sightseeing. Again, this shows up in the fact that most tourists travel by car. After sightseeing, surprisingly, the biggest lure is history; then come photography, the seashore and mountain scenery.

You'll spend your time on the move. The number of vacationers who spend their time anchored to one spot is decreasing steadily (although many still locate at a favored place and use it as a base of operations for side trips). The plush resorts are dying fast: places like Newport, R. I., now have to this guide to pick out your best bets depend on convention business to make ends meet.

You'll spend about $23 a day. The AAA thinks this figure should be higher, probably around $29.50 a day. It feels too many tourists are cutting corners, skimping on meals just to prolong their travels.

You'll drive about 1,200 miles. This is a nationwide average, but it is misleading. If you travel in the West, where roads are more open and distances between attractions greater, the figure is low. In the East, with its traffic congestion and compactness, it is high. A recent trend in the East, the AAA says, is for shorter vacations, taken more frequently.

You're out to get every cent's worth from your vacation dollar. This shows up in several ways. Camping out, for example, is becoming more popular (bigger areas for tenting are being set aside in parks, camp-equipment sales are up). So are off-season vacations (when resorts offer lower rates).

Resort owners and transportation agencies, watching these trends, have been quick to give you what you want. When auto travel became the rage, the motel was born; today, even long-established hotels are setting up parking lots and other facilities to lure the motorist.

The trend toward vacations for everybody has made the resorts economy-conscious. One answer is the package tour, which applies the business advantages of buying in quantity to the tourist trade. Actually, Eastern Airlines claims it first dreamed up this idea 24 years ago, but it has come into full flower only in recent years. Competition is keen, and prices drop lower and lower.

To some extent, the package tour has been held back by the American tourist's yen to do his own exploring, instead of trailing along behind a guide. (The American Society of Travel Agents estimates that two out of three travelers prefer to wander around on their own.) Consequently, the airlines have pioneered in another plan to make vacation spending as painless as possible.

This is the pay-later plan, scarcely a year old and coming fast. Almost every airline today has some variation of pay-later, which amounts to financing your trip over several years, via installments plus the usual carrying charges.

Airlines, bidding for a bigger share of passenger revenue (Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker of Eastern predicts they will outdistance both trains and buses within five years), have introduced other cut-rate features—for example, tourist flights to Europe, and coach flights within this country.

Still the search for travel bargains goes on. It has brought prosperity to some vacation lands, made one-year "hot spots" of others. Take Florida, which used to laze in the sun for eight months after the last winter tourists left. Now, with off-season summer rates, it caters to as many tourists (but doesn't take in as much money) in summer as in winter. Even exclusive Palm Beach, a holdout to the last, will break down this year and plump for summer trade. And last year, scads of tourists flocked into Mexico when the devaluation of the peso sounded the call of "more-for-your-money."

Combined with your yen to stretch a dollar is your search for new, unusual, exotic spots—places off the beaten path, where the crowds of other tourists are far, far away. Alaska, the ASTA says, has been magnetizing more tourists each year in just this way. Other travelers have "discovered" the lesser islands of the Caribbean, including sun-drenched dots like Guadeloupe and Tobago.

With these trends in mind, PARADE's reporters have criss-crossed the continent in search of those lesser-known spots that might appeal to you. Their series of eight reports (one for each major region of the country) will begin in the April 24 issue.

Although each report will center around one resort and give you a look-see at neighboring attractions, they're not regarded as inflexible. Naturally, every motoring tourist can sit down and map out his own swing around the country; many prefer to do it that way.

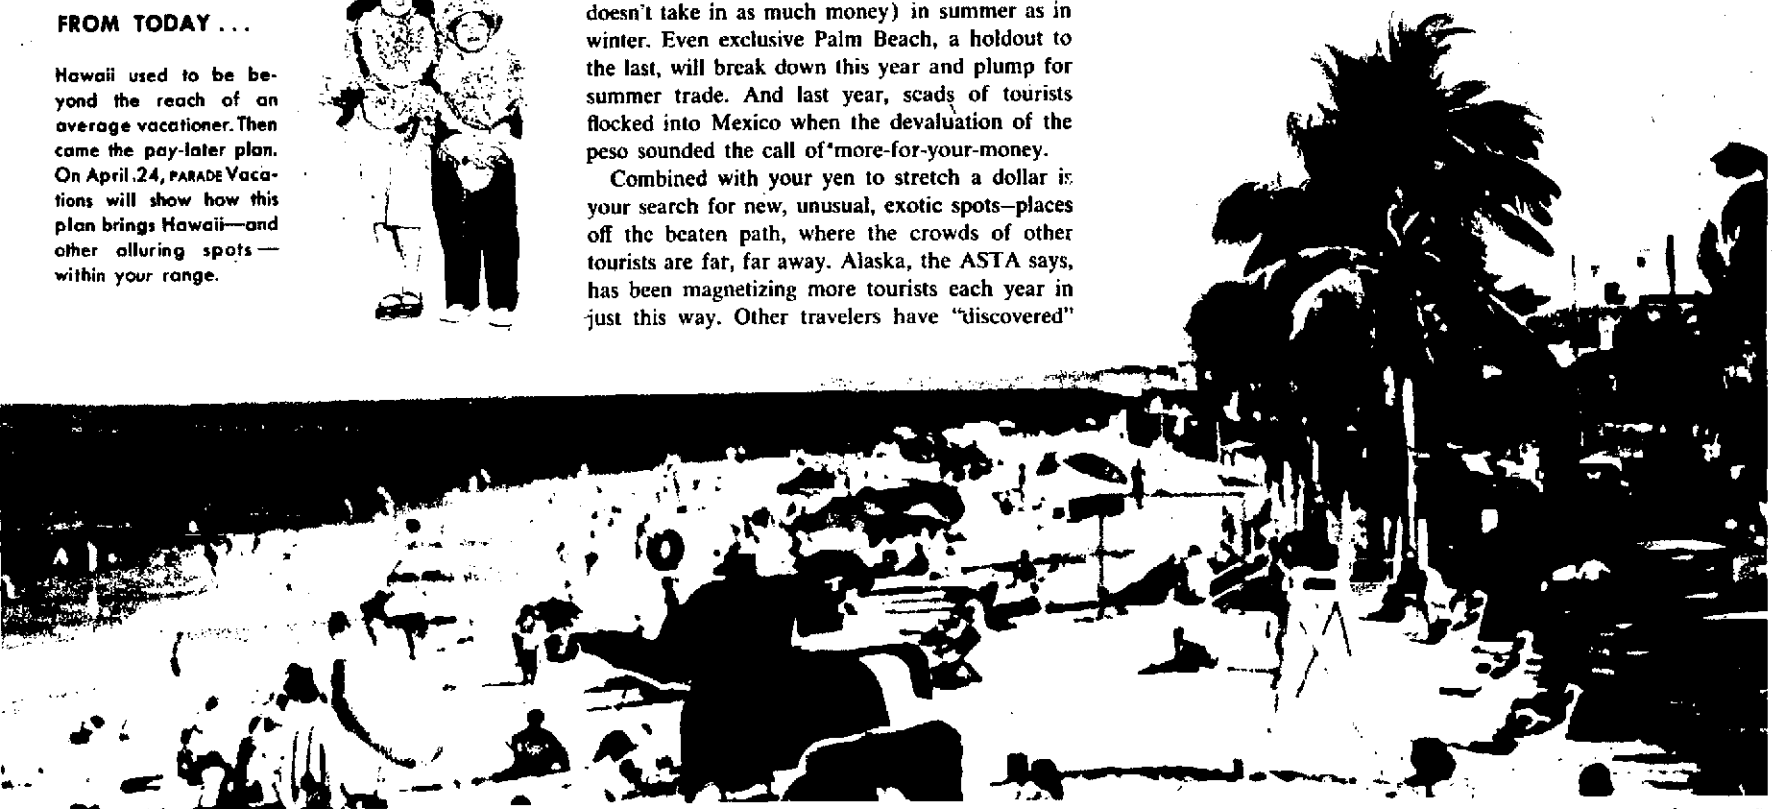

But these reports do point out spots you might like to visit, for a few hours, for two or three days, maybe for several weeks. Not all are new; some are new looks at old familiar places. Not all are out-and-out economical, although most offer budget rates. And, most important, not all will appeal to everybody; they aren't intended to. But they offer a sampling of interests for the average family. They're well worth thinking about.

Now—today—is the time to start. Call the family together, talk over your interests, decide the kind of place you're looking for. When PARADE's series begins, you should find something that falls right into your plans.

Twelve hundred miles is a long distance, and $400 is a lot of money. You owe it to yourself to invest both money and mileage wisely. ■

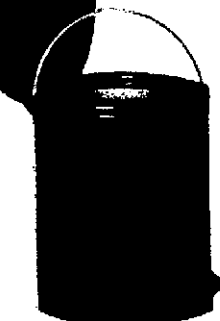

TWO WEEKS FROM TODAY ...

Hawaii used to be beyond the reach of an average vacationer. Then came the pay-later plan. On April 24, PARADE Vacations will show how this plan brings Hawaii—and other alluring spots—within your range.

$255 DRESS

She wears this with equal verve. For afternoon, in steel-gray peau de soie, it is a Sophie original.

Her 'Frozen' Face Is Her Fortune

by SAM BOAL

NEW YORK.

At 28, Jean Patchett is the most successful fashion model in the United States. She gets $50 an hour for posing and her income is estimated at over $25,000 a year. In countless variations of the pose on today's cover (and the costume detailed on page 2), her face is familiar to millions of fashion-conscious Americans.

Jean's explanation of what started her on the road to wealth and fame is disarmingly simple: "I went home and started to become a ham."

That happened about seven years ago. On her 21st birthday, Jean borrowed some money from her father, a plumbing contractor in Preston, Md. (pop. 395), and came here to storm the world of fashion. In three months of modeling she earned exactly $50.

"I was getting nowhere, but fast," Jean recalls. "Then one day I overheard a chance remark by a photographer. He said all good models had to be part ham. That's when I decided to ham it up. I went home and practiced before a mirror. I was coy, sad, winning, loving, angry, pensive, aloof. The aloof look seemed to fit me best. Well, then, I would be haughty, distant, frozen."

That did it. Jean's Glacier Look

In just five seconds

was a hit almost overnight. Photographers liked it because it gave dignity to their pictures. Designers liked it because, while it was attractive, it did not take the reader's interest away from the dress. Almost alone, Jean changed the accent in high-fashion modeling. Before, models of that ilk often had a warm, girl-next-door look. Today they mostly appear unapproachable, unattainable, though none of them has this quality to so icy a degree as Jean.

Just why Jean brings out the best in clothes and thus makes herself so commercially valuable is not entirely clear. Although she is strikingly beautiful, her appeal is more than beauty. At 5'9" she is taller than most girls (though not most models), and for a girl that tall her weight—117 pounds—is not exactly what the doctor would recommend. Moreover, her figure is not of the classic mold immortalized by painters and sculptors. In fact, she sometimes calls herself "skinny."

Yet Jean is booked as much as a year in advance. Photographers willingly pay her price, even though model fees begin at $10 an hour, because one hour's posing with Jean can produce more usable photographs than, say, three hours with a $15-an-hour model.

The Girl Is Foolproof

As one ranking photographer puts it: "I just can't make a mistake with Jean Patchett. It's hard to believe, but she is incapable of assuming anything but a graceful pose. She could model a wet bath mat—entrancingly."

All this has made Jean a minor celebrity. Young girls wanting to be models often recognize her on the street and ask for advice. Others write her, seeking help.

"I always tell them the same thing," Jean says. "They think that being pretty does the trick. But other things are more important. A model is a kind of actress. A photographer will say: 'Now, be petulant' or 'Look surprised' or 'Someone just stepped on your toe!' The girl must be able to respond immediately. This takes long practice."

"Girls read that models work only 20 hours a week, and that is true. But an hour's modeling is not exactly an hour sitting in a movie. It's hard, exhausting work. The reason girls work such seemingly short hours is not that they're lazy but that they get so tired. A model must be infinitely patient. Sometimes when stylists poke at me, stick pins in me and comb my hair three thousand times I feel like screaming. But I can't."

"Furthermore, a model must watch her diet. I'm no good if I'm plump. And I'm no good at all after 'the night before.' So when I'm tempted to stay out late—I go home to bed."

"But most important—and most difficult—a model must become a vivid, unique person. I'm a type; I can't compete with a junior type, and she can't compete with me."

The Simple Life

To many people, Jean Patchett represents all the flossy glamor of New York life. Actually, her life is almost ascetically simple.

She has been married for four years to 29-year-old Louis Auer, who is in the banking business. Both of them dislike going out for dinner, so every day Jean quits work at 4 p.m. and does her marketing. She cooks mostly rather plain things, such as steaks and chops.

The Auers are devoted movie fans and see two or three a week. Beyond that, they spend their evenings in their Manhattan apartment listening to the radio or reading. Sometimes friends—equally divided between the worlds of fashion and banking—drop in, but the parties are never late ones. Jean can hardly remember staying up beyond one o'clock.

"I have the best sleeping pill in the world," she says,—"that camera I have to face tomorrow morning."

How long can Jean last as a top-flight model? Indefinitely, if she keeps her figure. Style, flair and grace do not depend upon youth. Perhaps the one thing that could "retire" Jean is what she herself created: a brand-new look that no one else could copy. ■

Test yourself with this 'Insurance I.Q. Quiz' to see if you understand what you're paying for

Most people believe in insurance, but they get lost wading through the big and small print of policies and wondering about the many interpretations that can be placed on a theft, fire, accident or fatality.

That's the opinion of insurance expert Michael H. Levy, who heads a group of New York brokerage firms. To clarify every type of insurance for Mr. and Mrs. Average American, Levy has written a book, Your Insurance and How to Profit by It.

He says: "With apologies where due," the average person knows no more about insurance than he can pick up from reading advertising and listening to sales talks. For PARADE readers, Levy has prepared the "Insurance I.Q. Test" on these pages.

ANSWERS TO QUIZ

1 No, unless the loss was caused by theft.

2 No. Summer homes, except by special endorsement, are covered only when actually occupied.

3 Yes—up to $100 for money, up to $500 for securities.

4 No.

5 Yes—in the Western Hemisphere.

6 No. Losses caused by a relative who lives with you for an extended period are excluded.

7 Yes.

8 Yes. "Theft damage" is covered in your policy.

9 Yes. This was negligence, not merely good housekeeping. You created a safety menace.

10 Yes. You can't stop negligence once it has begun.

11 No. The insurance company can't be expected to sponsor your personal antagonisms.

12 Yes. You're guilty of not keeping your car in safe shape.

13 Only if you have comprehensive automobile insurance.

14 No. It's not worth the expense unless you have a particularly big, beautiful or brand-new car.

15 Yes—if the policy has a "cancellable" clause.

16 Certainly.

17 No. This is a friendly fire; your insurance covers only "hostile" fires and smoke rising from them, as well as lightning. A "friendly" fire is where it should be, doing what it should be doing—a log burning in the fire place or an oven broiling a steak. A "hostile" fire is one you didn't plan.

18 Yes—if the damage arises directly from the fire.

19 Replacement value.

20 No, never. The sooner you die, the better bargain the insurance company gets.

21 An endowment policy. But many experts feel that the aims of an endowment can be met more efficiently and economically through renewable term insurance plus any other conservative program of investment.

22 Absolutely not. It's still far and away the best value in insurance.

23 Term insurance. It's "pure protection" against death.

24 No. All contracts are mathematically equal. You get what you pay for.

25 Here is a simple formula for determining your life-insurance needs:

1) The amount of money necessary to pay all outstanding debts, taxes and expenses at your death; plus—

2) The amount which, with interest, would "carry" your widow and all minor children until the youngest reaches age 18; plus—

3) The amount necessary to carry your widow for the rest of her life.

TRAINER LEWIS advises you not to try this: he's letting Wideawake, an elephant he once knew at the Seattle Zoo, hold him upside down in her mouth.

Warning: Beware the ELEPHANTS

by GEORGE LEWIS as told to BYRON FISH

OKLAHOMA CITY, OKLA.

If you are going to a circus or zoo this summer, get it out of your head that elephants are nice, harmless giants. It may save you bruises, maiming—or worse.

I have handled hundreds of them over the last 28 years, for some of the largest circuses and zoos in America; I am elephant man at the Lincoln Park Zoo here because I like elephants, but I know from experience that they are among the world's most dangerous animals.

Because one of them is seen standing calmly in a circus tent without a cage, or walking docilely along a street or on the zoo grounds, people forget that it is still a wild animal. To the public, a truly wild animal is represented by the big cats, with their snarls and roars whenever a trainer goes in their cage. Circus men know that for every trainer killed by claws and fangs, a half-dozen are gored or trampled backstage by elephants. Because elephants are a main attraction, circuses seldom let the truth get out, unless it involves the public. But I have known of elephant men who died messy deaths or have dragged around as cripples after an attack by one of the nice giants.

I used to think elephants were nice and harmless too, but I have scar tissue from the time, 14 years ago, when an elephant named Ziggy caught me off guard at Chicago's Brookfield Zoo, batted me almost 50 feet with his trunk and tried to gore me into the ground.

In spite of the elephant's long association with man (over 2,000 years), it is the subject of more misinformation than any other animal you are apt to meet.

An elephant trainer gets so tired of the standard misconceptions he seldom tries to dispute them. We go on, hearing that elephants are afraid of mice; that they go off to some mysterious place in the jungle to die; that they dig a hole to mate; that they live to be 150 years old; that they would be dangerous if only they knew their own strength; that they never forget; that they kill anyone who offers them tobacco or smells of whisky.

All of these popular beliefs are total nonsense. I've never know an elephant that wouldn't eat a cigarette and enjoy it. They like whisky, too. As for their memory, it's about the equal of an average human's, and they are afraid of nothing, including mice. The legend that elephants go to some mysterious place to die stems from the fact that few elephant skeletons are ever found. Sick elephants usually drop back from the herd at river crossings. After they die, scavengers eat their flesh and the bones are buried by the sand.

Even encyclopedias are sometimes wrong about them. One describes them as "quite hairless except for the tail," but all elephants are covered sparsely with stiff, bristly hair, a leftover from their woolly mammoth ancestors.

People believed that elephants were strictly vegetarian—until one night in Zurich, Switzerland, a nice elephant named Chang killed a girl. All the keepers found was her hand.

On the other hand, the remarkable things that are true about elephants seem to be little known. Because apes look the most like us, people think they are closest to human beings. Actually, elephants are the most like human beings of any animal. Their growth to maturity and their life span are almost exactly the same as ours. Records kept of 1,700 elephants by the Bombay-Burma Trade Corporation, over a period of half a century, show that none lived over 70 years. About 90 per cent died under the age of 55.

Both males and females reach maturity between the ages of 15 and 20, when they act a lot like teenagers. Like us, they start raising their families—usually four young ones, born separately—at 20 to 35. Like us, some are bright, some stupid, some good-natured and some criminal.

They even die from some of the same diseases. One of the biggest, Tusko, died of cerebral hemorrhage. Another that I had died of an infected toenail.

One of the silliest things people do is slap them on the trunk—which is their nose. They often do exactly what you would do—slap back. But a slap from an elephant's trunk is capable of breaking your ribs.

Like humans, elephants come to the aid of their fellows in danger, sometimes even to the aid of trainers. In 1940, Queen Tut of the Fort Worth, Tex., Zoo was credited with saving Jim Brown, now the director of the zoo, after he was knocked down by another elephant. Queen Tut stood guard over him until he was rescued.

Elephant men dread the mysterious "must" period that unexplainably hits male elephants once or twice a year. Contrary to popular belief, "must" has no proved connection with sex; but while it lasts the bull is truly insane and will kill anyone he can reach.

After a bull named Black Diamond killed a woman in the street in Corsicana, Texas, in 1929, most bull elephants were executed to allay public fear. Today there are only six bulls among America's total elephant population of somewhere around 275.

An elephant gone berserk is from 5 to 7 tons of animal dynamite, able to shuffle along at 15 to 20 miles an hour (faster than you can run), rip down even concrete with its tusks and kill anything in sight. Only heavy rifles can stop them.

At the circus, keep your distance. ■

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

by Beth Merriman,
PARADE'S FOOD EDITOR

Today we feast on the traditional Easter ham. Tomorrow, depending on the size of the ham and the number served, there will be leftovers to "cope with." Perhaps you will have enough to try all three of these recipes. We hope so, because it would be too difficult for us to say which is best.

1. HAM-ASPARAGUS BUNDLES

- | | |
|--------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|
| 2½ cups ground cooked ham | 2 tablespoons milk |
| 1 medium-sized onion, finely chopped | 24 stalks cooked green asparagus |
| ½ teaspoon cloves | 2 tablespoons butter or margarine |
| 1 egg, beaten | 2 tablespoons flour |
| ½ cup fine dry bread crumbs | 1 cup milk |
| | ¼ teaspoon salt |
| | 1 tablespoon prepared mustard |

Combine ham, onion, cloves, egg, crumbs and milk; mix well. Divide in four portions; shape each portion around 6 stalks of asparagus. Wrap each bundle securely in aluminum foil; place on baking sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 45 minutes. Meanwhile, make mustard sauce by melting butter or margarine over low heat; add flour; blend. Add milk; cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt and mustard; mix well. Serve mustard sauce over asparagus-ham rolls. Serves four.

2. BROILED LUNCHEON SANDWICH

- | | |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 4 thin slices baked ham | Salt and pepper |
| 4 slices white bread | 4 slices processed Cheddar cheese |
| 24 to 32 stalks cooked green asparagus | 4 poached or fried eggs |
- Place one slice ham on each slice bread. Top with 6 to 8 short asparagus spears; sprinkle with salt and pepper. Cover with cheese slices. Broil 3 to 4 inches from source of heat about 3 to 5 minutes, or until cheese is melted and golden brown. Top each with poached or fried egg and serve. Serves four.

3. WESTERN SHORTCAKE

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|-------------------------|
| ¼ cup chopped onion | 2 cups diced cooked ham |
| ¼ cup diced green pepper | 2 eggs |
| 2 tablespoons butter or margarine | ½ cup milk |
| | 1 pkg. corn muffin mix |

Mustard Eggs*

Cook onion and green pepper in butter or margarine until soft but not brown. Add ham; cook until lightly browned. Add eggs and milk to corn muffin mix; stir to blend. Stir in ham mixture. Bake in two square 8" cake pans in hot oven (425°F.) 20 to 25 minutes. Place one layer on serving plate; add half the Mustard Eggs*. Add second layer; top with remaining Mustard Eggs. Garnish with 2 additional hard-cooked eggs, quartered. Makes six servings.

*Mustard Eggs: Stir 2 tablespoons prepared mustard into 2 cups well-seasoned medium white sauce. Add 4 hard-cooked eggs, quartered. Heat well.

KITCHEN HINT:

Save 7-oz. flat cans (as of tuna). Remove top and bottom, leaving metal "rings." Grease these; place on griddle; drop an egg in each; cook firm. Neat fried eggs!

General Queries

... on mothers-in-law, and such

There are many general questions that come in to me from PARADE readers and in this column I shall answer as many as I can.

Q. Is it proper to drop in on people or must you wait to be invited? My husband and I often drop in on friends when we are out driving, but no one will visit us unless we mention a definite night.—H.B.G., Youngstown, O.

A. Most people today do not encourage the "dropping in" of friends. This is because, with so few servants, people are virtually forced to see anyone who arrives unannounced—in other words, they cannot gracefully avoid seeing those whom, for various reasons, they may not wish to. I am happy to see that most people now call only "by appointment." It is the considerate thing to do.

Q. Must a daughter-in-law call her mother-in-law "Mother"?—Mrs. A.J.L., Long Beach, Calif.

A. Not necessarily. Many young mothers-in-law today prefer to be called by their first names or to be called "Mrs." rather than "Mother" by their daughters-in-law.

Q. How should I address a boy baby when sending him a greeting card? When does a boy get to be "Mr."?—Mrs. M.R., Cranford, N. J.

A. A boy, until the age of 12, is "Master." Between the ages of 12 and 18 he has no title; he is just "John Smith." At the age of 18 he becomes "Mr." The age used to be 21, but I feel now it should be 18, the age at which a boy becomes subject to military service.

Q. I am going to a farewell party for four boys going into service. I am giving gifts to two of them whom I know well. Must I give anything to the two I don't know?—D.D., Elmwood Park, Ill.

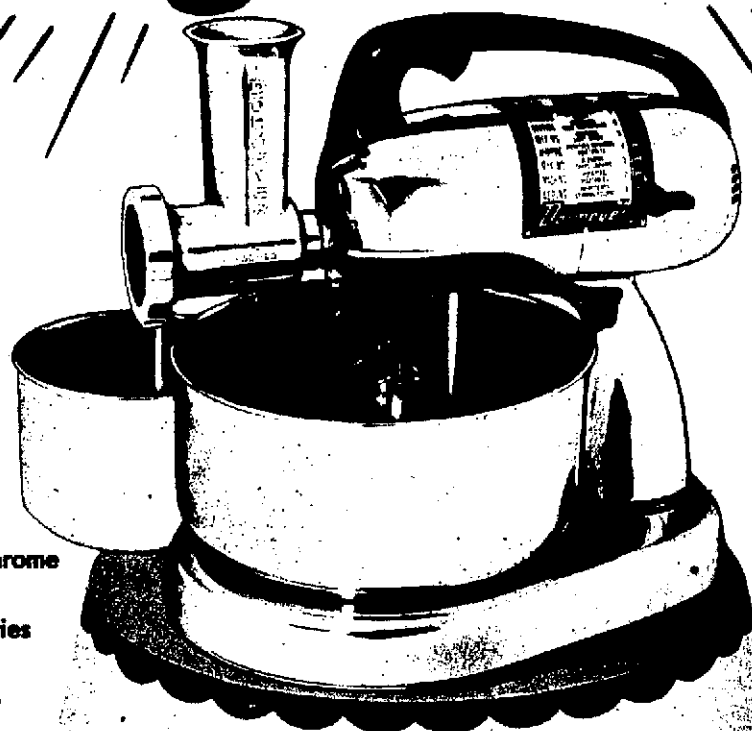

A. As the party is given for all of the boys, you take gifts to the two you know—and take the other two some little, impersonal, inexpensive tokens. For the first two, you may give anything a soldier appreciates and which can pack easily. If you want something of a more or less permanent nature I would suggest a service pocket Bible, an identification bracelet, a lighter, a religious medal, a fitted shaving kit or any hand-knitted things that come within the regulations.

QUESTIONS FROM READERS will be answered in this column as space permits. (Miss Vanderbilt cannot answer letters personally.) Address: Amy Vanderbilt, c/o PARADE, 285 Madison Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

A market report on new ideas to make your daily life easier

ERASES DRIVEWAY STAINS

• Stubborn oil and grease spots on your driveway and garage floor? Sprinkle on a new powder, then flush it away with a hose; the unsightly stains and spots go with it. Maker claims it does an effective job on cleaning brick, cement and black top. $1. BEATTY, Dept. PP, 7410 Santa Monica Blvd., Los Angeles 46, Calif.

NEW SHOE FOR BABY

• An ingenious pre-walker infant shoe will be welcome news to mothers. Just lace and tie it on once, to get the right fit around the ankles; thereafter, you can put it on and take it off quickly and easily with the plastic zipper that divides the back and sole. It's designed, too, so the child can't kick it off. $2.98. LILLY, 21 Ross, South Berwick, Me.

CLEANING-DAY AID

• If disassembling and storing your vacuum-cleaner hose and extension wand is a problem after every cleaning, here's a simple solution: two special holder brackets you can screw onto any wall or door. They have protective cushions and rubber-like clips that hold both attachments firmly, without scratching, and in little space. $1.98. THRIFTY PRODUCTS, P. O. Box 98, Brooklyn 30, N. Y.

STOVE-TOP OVEN

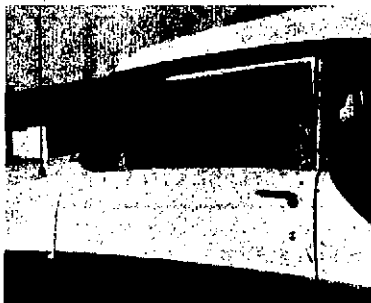

• An inexpensive extra oven uses only one burner atop your stove to roast or bake meats, pies, cakes, potatoes. It's a three-piece, heavy-gauge aluminum unit: top with built-in thermometer, baking rack and heat-diffuser base. 10" in diameter, it holds a standard 8" pie pan, is as easy to clean up as it is to use. $3.98. WOOD, Dept. PP, Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

COOLER PIPE

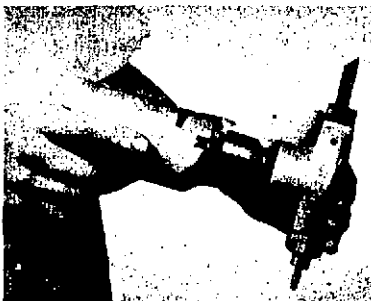

• News for pipe smokers: a pipe with a hand-turned concentrically fluted bowl that's said to provide twice the cooling surface of conventional pipes. Has a twin-barreled aluminum filter and flush bit; tapered for grip. Of lightweight briar in natural blond or mahogany. $4.50. ERNST DE KOVEN, P. O. Box 5, Centuck Station, Yonkers, N. Y.

ADJUSTABLE SHELVES: For more storage space in house or garage, you can put up three adjustable utility shelves in a jiffy with a new kit. Steel shelf brackets lock at any level in upright channels. With mounting screws and accessories for wood or glass shelving. L. A. DARLING CO., Bronson, Mich.

SNAP-ON SUNSHADE: Made of hundreds of little aluminum sunshades, it keeps out glare yet gives you a clear view—and makes your car many degrees cooler in summer. You can put it on and take it off in a few seconds. $2.95 and $3.40, according to car model. G & S MFG., 2824 E. Washington, Phoenix, Ariz.

DOES ALMOST EVERYTHING: This attachment for your electric drill saws wood, plastic, plasterboard. Cuts metals in pipe, bar, tube, rod or sheet form. Adaptable to any tool needing reciprocating motion, it can file, rasp, chisel, gouge, hammer. LITTLE BEAVER, 38809 Mentor, Willoughby, O.

Sammy Lee wins friends for America as a . . .

'DIVING DIPLOMAT'

by RUBE SAMUELSEN

FORT CARSON, COLO.

Maj. Sammy Lee, of the U.S. Army Medical Corps, is probably the first accredited "diplomat" ever to promote the ideals of democracy from a high-diving platform. Just 5' 1¾" tall, this Olympic champion has been winning new laurels "selling" capitalistic America to mistrustful people abroad.

Currently chief of the ear, nose and throat section of the Army hospital here, Major Lee is more or less between "missions." But in South-east Asia today are thousands who cherish a warm feeling for the U.S. because of his 20,000-mile, 12-country tour there last fall.

Born in Fresno, Calif., and married to the former Rosalind Wong, a San Francisco girl of

Never a Lump when you make Cream Sauce with BETTER-BLENDING Carnation

1. For 2 cups of cream sauce, blend 2 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan over low heat until smooth.

2. Gradually add 1½ cups (large can) undiluted Carnation to the butter-flour mixture. Stir until thickened and smooth; serve over vegetables.

Smoothest cream sauce you ever made! Quickest, too! That's because Carnation has special blending qualities not found in any other form of milk. And because it's double-rich—you need only half as much flour and shortening.

for native swimmers during an exhibition.

Chinese extraction, Lee likes to call himself the "Oriental from Occidental." This refers to Occidental College in Los Angeles, where he first enrolled in the Army Student Training Program in 1942. He took his medical degree at the University of Southern California. A year's internship followed. Then the Army called him back.

As Olympic high-platform diving champ in 1948 and 1952, Lee thrilled thousands with his exhibitions. In 1953 he won the James E. Sullivan award as America's outstanding amateur athlete. And in 1954 he proved that U.S. athletic stars can do a bang-up job promoting understanding of American ideals in Asia.

In fact, the 34-year-old "envoy" was successful beyond expectations. Says the State Department's Harold E. Howland, who picked Lee for this mission: "In Bombay, police escorts had to hold back the crowds seeking autographs and interviews. He captivated everyone."

On tour, Lee's first job was to give diving exhibitions. The better native divers, he found, were about on a par with American beginners—so instead of competing with them he offered advice and counsel in informal "clinics."

On occasion he also stood toe to toe with Oriental Communists and bandied words with the skill of a diplomat. Take his experience in Colombo, Ceylon: "I had an argument with a rabid Communist who preached that 'Communism will prevail all over the world because the United States does not want a two-doctrine world.'"

"So I asked him: 'Why can't the world be all democratic?' He answered: 'Because the capitalistic world has subjugated the colored people long enough.' Then I said: 'If that is so, why am I, a member of the colored race, here as a diving champion and a doctor of medicine? Also, why is it that after competing in two Olympics, receiving a gold medal each time, I have yet to see a member of the colored races represent the Soviet Union or its satellites in this brotherly competition?'"

"The Communist said: 'You do not yet see Orientals in the Olympics because they are backward in the Soviet State.' My comment was:

"Then who in this world of two doctrines is retarding development of the colored races?"

"He sputtered at that and finally left."

But it wasn't all argument. Major Lee's favorite story is about the 13-year-old girl he met in Madras, India. She shyly shook his hand and said: "You are the funniest-looking American I have ever seen." Lee gulped, then explained that he was like many other Americans whose parents had been born in Oriental lands.

While Lee is American through and through, he is proud of his Korean ancestry. His own father lost his life defending the cause of South Korea, and Lee himself was based there in 1952. "I would be very proud if you were my son," Pres. Syngman Rhee told him at that time. But when he offered Lee and his wife a trip to the Olympics in Helsinki, Finland, if he would represent Korea, Sammy said no. He won time off from the Army and went as an American—while his wife took a job to pay her own way.

On his return to Seoul, he found himself something of a public idol. And he left the country later with strong opinions.

"We must teach the Korean people personal pride, give them something they can look forward to," he says. "There is an inner strength in them. When movies of the Olympics were shown in Seoul, the spontaneous shouting over any victory, or any good showing by a Korean, would send the people into a frenzy. Their eyes would shine, for here was the expression of their fighting spirit."

With his profound love of America and deep understanding of Oriental pride and ambitions, Sammy Lee was an obvious choice for a goodwill tour. But he went primarily as an athlete, and in that capacity did a great deal to stimulate the eager, but still fumbling, urge toward sports in such countries as Indonesia, Burma, India and Pakistan.

One immediate result was that his tour was followed by four others. Three Olympic champions—half-miler Mal Whitfield, hurdler-sprinter Harrison Dillard and pole-vaulter Bob Richards—made the "circuit." So did Brutus Hamilton, U.S. Olympic coach in 1952.

At longer range, Lee was convinced anew that he should try for his third Olympic title at Melbourne, Australia, in 1956. He will be "an old man of 36" then—but, win or lose, America will be the better for having him on her team. ■

IN BURMA: America's good-will "envoy" is greeted by a genuine statesman, Premier U Nu.

NEW HOME PERMANENT MIRACLE NOW MAKES POSSIBLE—

The wave you need for the hair style you want!

Loose Casual Lilt

New! Loose-Casual Lilt to give you a loose, casual wave for hair styles like these—

Medium Lilt

New! Medium Lilt to give you a medium wave for hair styles like these—

Very Curly Lilt

New! Very Curly Lilt to give you a very curly wave for hair styles like these—

Never before have home permanents been created to give you exactly the right degree of curl, wave and body... to suit the hair style you prefer!

The new conception is so different, yet so simple, really. No wonder it's been so hard to get an interesting, exciting hair style! Never, until now, could you get exactly the wave that is right for the hair style you have in mind. Now you can—because Lilt has created new waves, specially developed for this purpose.

If you like a carefree, "just-brushed" hairdo—something on the casual side—then you need Loose-Casual Lilt, for a loose, casual wave. It gives your hair a little body, and a soft, flowing curl. So you can set the style you want—quickly, surely and perfectly.

Or you may choose Medium Lilt for a medium wave, and avoid extremes on either the casual or curly side. Medium Lilt gives you plenty of curl to do what you like in the way of sweeping rolls, or end curls. But there's never a "tight" look to it.

Very Curly Lilt gives you a very curly wave, for firm curl where you want it and lots of body. You can set it to all-over curly styles, to more sophisticated "sculptured" lines, or to a richly feminine, deep wavy look.

Three new home permanents—three new waving lotions. (And a quick sniff will tell you how wonderfully new the lotions are! They smell much nicer.) So forget about old-fashioned home permanents. Tomorrow get the Lilt that's right for you and be sure of getting the wave you need for the hair style you want.

See here, this is how far you walk! Instructor Mrs. Talma Hupfield of City College shows pile of paper representing distance traveled by inefficient housewife at work. Small pile at left, work tape of "emancipated housewife." Two men at the table are businessmen invited to give talk on shopping.

Don't Break Your Heart

DO YOU know how to keep house?

Sure you do. But do you know how to do it without getting backaches and tired feet — or developing a neurosis — or making your heart go pocketa-queek-pocketa?

The average housewife walks farther, bends harder, stretches higher, and groans more than she ought to. As much as 60 per cent more.

This fact got to bothering the Homemaking Department of Long Beach City College last year. If able-bodied women were tying themselves into knots of ache and frustration, what about the housewife afflicted with heart trouble?

That question led to one of the country's most fascinating adult education courses, a pioneer in its field. Universities and colleges all over the nation are tracing its progress.

SO ARE HUSBANDS. They are watching wives walk around the house, leaving footprints of chalk dust on the rugs.

Unless they are meek husbands, they are asking: "What goes?"

And getting the answer: "I'm trying to see where I've been how many times."

It's no gag. But a practical illustration of misused motion. If the average housewife could see where she's been and how many times, she'd flip her curlers. That's the first step toward making life in front of the kitchen range and behind the vacuum cleaner more beautiful. The gimmick is to get women interested in the intelligent, economical use of time and motion. Common sense — applied.

The City College course goes by the prosaic title of "Home Organization and Management." It was pioneered by Mrs. Gertrude Pinniger, chairman of the homemaking department. She was interested in filling an educational gap — training housewives with heart trouble to work easily.

"The doctor tells the heart patient to take it easy," she says. "It seemed we had a job, to do in showing how." Doctors agreed.

THE IDEA BROADENED in scope. Last year the first classes were held. One was for general adult attendance — cardiac patients, working women, women who wanted to learn how to keep from being cardiac patients. The other class was for vocational nurses training at local hospitals.

Mrs. Doris Olson, executive director of the Long Beach Heart Association, directed the class for the nurses, with doctors taking over the technical phases of instruction. One idea was to teach nurses to conserve their own strength, so they wouldn't collapse while tending someone who had collapsed. The idea proved sound, and another class for the nurses in time and motion study is slated for spring.

The general attendance class is being repeated now. Its instructor is a home economics graduate named Mrs. Talma Hupfield, who knows many marvelous secrets.

A mere male, which is what the writer is, felt pretty clumsy and humble after talking with these three women and sitting in on a class in "Home Organization and Management."

Did you know that grandmother had about 300 things around the house to take care of and keep in working order, while today's woman has something like 3,000?

In a way, modern woman is a victim of progress, refinement, and an improved standard of living. To de-victimize herself she can hire a maid and go to the park — or streamline her methods of work.

DO YOU KNOW how many calories per hour per pound of body weight you use when awake, lying still? It's 0.5. Know how much you use walking at 2.6 miles an hour? 1.30. It stands to reason you conserve more energy when you're lying still. The problem is to find ways of conserving time so there'll be more opportunity to conserve energy, so you'll be able to get up and conserve more time.

It gets complicated when you talk about it. But the main idea is to keep strong in body and sweet of temper and still get the work done.

You may think you do well to iron a shirt in 10 minutes. Mrs. Ruth Edwards, now of 1412 S. Burris Ave., Compton, a graduate of the course, can put one out in five minutes, sitting down. She learned to fold a shirt before ironing, in such a way as to eliminate time-consuming turning and switching. Nor does she burn her arm on the iron.

She and others have learned lots of new things.

In setting the table, do you walk round and round it like a doggy making a nest? There's no law against reaching across.

Do you bend down to sweep the dust into a dustpan? That's tiring. Undignified. There's such a thing as a long-handled dust pan. It may embarrass you at first, but before long it will make you feel as smug as a husband with a power mower.

Are you a shorty? Then why keep those dinner plates on the shelf up next to the attic? Do you have supplies scattered haphazardly around, causing you to trace, retrace, and re-trace your steps? Try rearranging them, putting them at the point of first use. You know, like when you're playing cards.

If you have a baby crawling around on the floor, you may find it necessary to pick him up. You can do this by bending stiff-legged and slipping a disk. But why? God made women with myriad joints and muscles, all hooked together in marvelous ways, even better than 1955 autos. Bend and use them — knees, hips, thighs, and all. What right have they to hang around without doing some of the work?

Well, that's the idea — time and motion economics. And it works.

But don't take it from a mere man. Dr. Lillian M. Gilbreth, expert in home efficiency, says so, too.

The Long Beach City College course borrows liberally from studies made by that mother of 12 children.

And there, ladies, is one woman who HAD to know what she was doing.

Why stoop? Sweep up with long-handled dust pan, as does Mrs. Jeanne Atkinson. Mrs. Alice Balchin works hard way.

So that's where I've been! Mrs. Ruth Edwards of Compton studies footprints of work track on kitchen floor.

He Brought Life to Death Valley

Bloss Elias, Tecopa operator, inspects one of many mineral springs on property.

Tecopa Hot Springs, little California desert resort town, is the realization of the dream of a 70-year-old arthritic who regained his health through treatments with hot water and hot mud baths of area.

ON THE FRINGE of Death Valley, 55 bleak miles north of Baker and a mile and a half from the Inyo County hamlet of Tecopa, there has grown, in the last decade, one of the most unusual health resorts in America. Built almost entirely out of railroad ties salvaged from the historic but now abandoned Tonopah & Tidewater Railroad, the miniature metropolis of Tecopa Hot Springs is the fulfillment of the dream of a man who went into the desert to die.

The quiet little community, with wide streets, store, gas station, bungalows, Roman baths, recreation center and modern power plant — nearly all of which are constructed out of ancient railroad ties—is literally the creation of the hands of one man, 70-year-old Bloss Elias, with the courageous help of his petite wife, Betty. Yet only 10 years ago Elias was an arthritic cripple, facing slow and painful death, and the town was nonexistent.

At that time, Elias, who was despondent, pain-ridden and jobless, acted on the suggestion of a friend that he leave his home in Long Beach and camp out in a certain remote spot in the desert where the friend, also an arthritic, had found relief some years before. In this particular region, the man explained, there was a sort of "hog wallow" where warm mud bubbled out of the ground. "Lie in that mud for a few weeks, and you'll feel like a new man," was his prediction.

Elias accepted the advice.

Guided by a crude map, he found the spot and set up camp. In a few days the pain subsided and Elias discovered that his joints were limbering up. He began making explorations into the surrounding desert. Soon he was hiking 10 miles a day, poking into remote corners of the area which had been virtually deserted except for an occasional prospector. The forays turned up some interesting discoveries.

Most important find was a series of strange mounds or domes on a large section of table land. They ranged in size from that of a beehive to several which were more than 30 feet high with a circumference of a hundred yards. Kicking into the crusty, salt-like surface of the domes, Elias was amazed to see warm water spurt forth. Investigating further, he found that water, in most every dome, was only a few inches under the mineral crust. The place was literally undermined with a network of hot springs.

IT OCCURRED TO ELIAS that the "hog wallow" where he had found relief was just another of these underground springs. The different chemical makeup of the soil there created a mud hole instead of a hard-crusted dome.

It was then that the erstwhile cripple formulated his dream. He would, he vowed, build a resort here where other invalids could bathe in the healing waters.

The property, he knew, was under government control but possibly he could lease it. Lack of capital would not deter him — he'd build the spa with his own hands, if necessary.

But his enthusiasm was short-lived. When he applied to the Federal Land Department office in Los Angeles an official shook his head.

"Sorry, but that land can't be leased," he said. "It can't even be homesteaded like most government land. It was set aside by an act of Congress following the Civil War for a specific purpose."

He explained that thousands of acres in that vicinity of Death Valley had been earmarked for homesteading by discharged soldiers of the Union Army. Upon being mustered out each veteran received $2,000 worth of government scrip convertible into real estate at the rate of 160 acres for each bonus payment. Thus, the government had intended to encourage settlement of the then sparsely populated western territory. Few veterans took advantage of the offer, however, and the land was still under federal ownership.

"But, if you had $2,000 worth of that scrip, you could get clear title without question," the official said. "Trouble is, though, the stuff is now probably all destroyed or in museums after three-quarters of a century."

Crestfallen, Elias drove home.

On his way his thoughts turned back to his childhood in North Platte, Neb., and to his grandfather who had been a Union soldier in the Civil War. He remembered the parlor and his grandfather's framed war souvenirs over the mantel. Suddenly he gasped at a certain recollection.

"I recalled that in the picture frame there were a number of large currency-like coupons," Elias explains. "It struck me that these could have been land scrip. I immediately made arrangements for a trip home to Nebraska. The house was still in the family and there was a slim chance that Grandfather's souvenirs were still around somewhere."

A WEEK LATER Bloss was again at the Federal Land Department office. "You should have seen the look of astonishment on the agent's face when I handed over $2,000 worth of Civil War scrip and asked that 160 acres of that land be made out in my name," Elias chuckled. "It was 45 years since I'd left home but the frame and its contents were still hanging over the mantel, exactly as I'd last seen it. There was only one thing in the world which could have enabled me to obtain title to that property I wanted so much—and I found that one thing!"

A small amount of capital was raised to build the resort and Elias, with the help and encouragement of his wife, Betty, a former nurse, began the task of realizing his dream. Setting up housekeeping in a tent, they hauled lumber, hardware and building supplies from Baker and Barstow. They laid out streets, an airport, installed utilities and a diesel-operated power station.

Roman baths, eight feet square and four feet deep, dot the town. Though Elias has unearthed several springs of cool water, most of the domes yield steady streams of liquid at a consistent 107-degree temperature.

TODAY THE HAMLET of Tecopa Hot Springs, as Elias has named his town to distinguish it from the neighboring community of Tecopa, boasts a complete street light system and a grove of 500 athel trees—a fast-growing tree of African origin, and the only real tree which will flourish in the Death Valley climate.

Tecopa Hot Springs, still under constant expansion—and still virtually hand-built by Bloss and Betty — has two new indoor swimming pools, as well as public shelters around mud bath facilities and a steam room, the heat and steam being provided by nature.

As Elias surveys with pride his bustling little desert empire he likes to muse on his transformation from a penniless, pain-ridden cripple into a vigorous, happy man of substance. "I've learned that a man can take what he has, no matter how little, and make from it what he wants. Death Valley brought life to me—and I brought life to Death Valley!"

Strange water domes abound in a desert area that fringes on Death Valley. Water has therapeutic value. One of the domes shown above.

Tecopa Hot Springs has indoor swimming pools of circulating hot mineral water fed by natural springs. Bathers enter hot pools carefully.

Miracles in Modern Education

Stringing beads of different sizes and colors helps Susan Grau, 4, develop better eye-hand co-ordination in special class for cerebral palsy children.

Special equipment like relief map protects the limited vision of Pat Finley, a student at Wilson High School.

Inspired teaching is taking place daily in the special classes of the Long Beach Unified School District for boys and girls who are blind, deaf or crippled. If there are miracles in education, they are performed in this field of special education. Teaching a deaf child to "hear" with his eyes or a blind child to "see" with his fingertips, for example, takes infinite patience, inexhaustible energy and an abiding faith in the worth of the human being. Special education in Long Beach includes classes for the hard of hearing, the deaf, the partially sighted, the blind, the mentally handicapped, the crippled, for those with speech difficulties, and for those who are unable to attend school. Shown on this page are youngsters in some of these classes. National attention will be focused this week on the local program as upwards of 2,000 leaders in this educational field assemble in Long Beach for the 33rd annual convention of the International Council for Exceptional Children. Some of the Long Beach school activities in this highly valuable field are shown on this page.

It's possible to feel a sound. Michael Tucker, 8, learns this from teacher, Mrs. Joanna O'Brien, in class designed for the educationally deaf children.

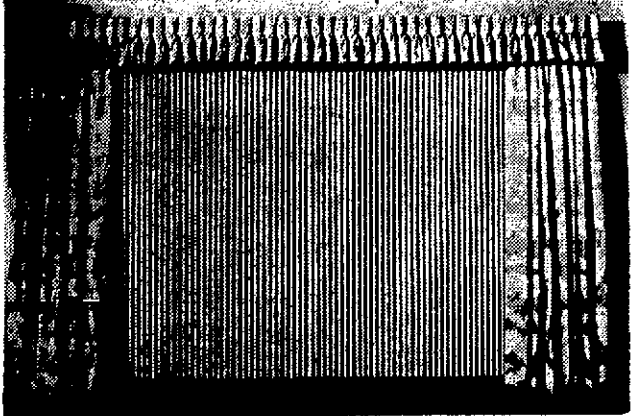

Vibrations received through head phones help Patricia Holtz, 7, left, and Sherrie Burkhead, 8, hear reading instructions by teacher, Mrs. Ruth Hapke.

James Bennett, 3, uses a shoulder wheel in a physical therapy room in use at the Tucker Elementary School.

How to Be Your Own Guest

"You're the best hostess, Jane. How DO you do it?"

IF A HOSTESS is relaxed and acts like her own guest at her dinner parties, the evening is sure to be a success. The prosaic mashed potatoes-meat-vegetable, family-type dinner entails a lot of last-minute preparation and, when guests arrive, a hostess always finds it necessary to run in and out of the kitchen several times. This, of course, has the psychological effect of making guests feel as if they were causing extra work and effort by their presence.

Usually a woman guest will say, "Is there anything I can do to help?" and the perspiring hostess will mop her brow with her apron as she stands in the kitchen doorway and smile bravely as she answers, "No, not a thing." It's quite obvious there's still plenty to do in the way of mashing potatoes and broiling meat. Guests often feel after an evening like this that they might as well have stayed home. A busy and uncomfortable hostess creates a tense atmosphere around her.

By Stella George

Now, it is possible to entertain with ease if all the work is done ahead of time, and if the menu planned requires no last minute preparation on the part of the hostess.

BUFFET DINNERS, whether served on a large kitchen table, in the dining room, or in the living room, make for the easiest type of dinner entertaining. When everyone serves himself from an attractive buffet, then sits wherever he chooses, has second helpings if he so desires; an informal gaiety prevails which cannot be duplicated well at a sit-down dinner. Also, more people can be served with greater ease if buffet style is used.

A good fundamental menu for buffet dinners consists of a main casserole dish, a tossed salad or a celery-radish-olive dish, rolls,

French bread or bread sticks, a lazy susan full of condiments, mints or a dessert (such as brownies) which can be picked up in the fingers, and coffee. Wine with dinner is, of course, optional. Menus such as this can be prepared in their entirety ahead of time, and the hardest work the hostess has to do when her guests arrive is heat up the rolls and main dish and add the salad dressing to the salad.

A WISE HOSTESS will perfect about six basic casserole dishes. These menus can then be written on a sheet of paper and tacked, for easy reference, on the inside of a kitchen cupboard. If a great deal of entertaining is done, it is smart to keep a record of which menus were served to which guests, and when.

Entertaining at dinner parties is fun, if it is not a chore. It only becomes a chore when the hostess works while her guests are present. A really smart hostess gains her reputation not only by the food she serves, but by always being her own guest at her parties. Everyone has fun, and all the women present wonder, "How does she do it!"

"Not a single cavity in over 2 years"

... thanks to ANTIZYME, the first continuous-action anti-enzyme tooth paste.

"BEFORE USING ANTIZYME, WHENEVER I USED TO VISIT THE DENTIST, I ALWAYS HAD TO HAVE NEW CAVITIES TAKEN CARE OF. I HAVE DEVELOPED NO NEW ONES IN THE PAST TWO YEARS SINCE I STARTED USING ANTIZYME. AND WHAT A RELIEF!"

"MY NAME IS BILL CORRIGAN. THIS IS MY WIFE, JACKIE, AND TIMOTHY, WILLIAM, JR., AND PAMELA. WE'VE ALL BEEN USING ANTIZYME FOR THE PAST TWO YEARS AND NONE OF US HAVE HAD A SINGLE CAVITY IN THAT TIME. I USED TO HAVE A PARTICULARLY TOUGH TIME WITH CAVITIES, SO I'M VERY GRATEFUL TO ANTIZYME."

Actual, living proof!...this new, completely different kind of tooth paste really stopped decay!

HERE'S WHY...

Stops the major cause of tooth decay every minute of every day

- 1. No other type of tooth paste — regular, ammoniated or chlorophyll — protects for more than 1/2 hour.
- 2. Each Brushing Protects 12-24 Hours! Now, Antizyme, the first continuous-action anti-enzyme tooth paste, stops the major cause of tooth decay 12 to 24 hours with each brushing. This has been proved for 9 out of every 10 people tested.

Reducing Bacteria is NOT the Answer

Dentists have known for years that most tooth decay is started by a kind of chain reaction:

Bacteria (always present in everybody's mouth) produce enzymes that attack sugars and can form the decay acids that cause cavities.

No tooth paste can get rid of bacteria in your mouth for more than a few minutes at a time.

Only at the "enzyme" stage has it been proven that you can stop this chain reaction that so often leads to tooth decay.

'He Is Risen ...'

By Robert Breen

THE REVIVAL of religion in the United States, which has brought church membership this year to a record 100,000,000 plus, led to an exchange of Easter religious greetings in proportions unheard of a decade ago.

Cards portraying the message of the Resurrection are in greater demand than ever before, according to Hallmark Cards officials. In addition, all of the traditional Easter symbols — rabbits, chicks, colored eggs and lilies — still are popular as Easter greetings.

This increase in demand for religious Easter designs may reflect the spiritual upsurge that has caused church membership to grow twice as fast as the country's population during the past 20 years. Some 35,000,000 Americans now are enrolled in Sunday church schools; more Bibles were published in the 1940s than in the previous 40 years.

The custom of remembering family and friends with affectionate greetings during the Easter season is believed to have stemmed from an annual pre-Christmas rite of the Persian sun-worshippers. They began the ritual each March 21 with a "Festival of the Sun," at which they exchanged brightly colored eggs dyed with herbs.

Early Christians consecrated eggs and continued to give them as presents at Easter, staining them deep red to symbolize the blood of Christ. As the centuries passed, eggs were deemed impractical because of their fragility and the difficulty of sending them any distance.

In the middle of the 19th Century, residents of northern Germany began dispatching special Easter cards, not too unlike those that are known and exchanged in many countries today. Those early greetings were mostly religious scenes mounted on vividly colored velvets and silks, and often had a silk cord and tassel with which they could be hung on the wall.

One of the most unusual and inspirational Easter greetings to be introduced this year is Hallmark's "The Easter Story," which traces the events of Holy Week in pictures and story based on Biblical passages.

Christ in various settings, parchment booklets handsomely illuminated in the style of ancient religious masterpieces, open Bibles with white lilies, colorful stained glass church windows and angels are some of the traditional spiritual symbols that will be found on this year's reverent Easter greetings.

Hallmark officials say the increased use of religious Easter cards goes hand in hand with the greatly-increased observance of Lent and Lenten services, the greater popularity of Good Friday services, and the pronounced increase in sunrise and traditional Easter services.

TELEVISION

The Game's in a Name

By Terry Vernon
Independent Television Columnist

BACK IN 1775, Paul Revere stood beside his horse and patiently watched the steeple of the distant Old North Church for the light that would send him riding into history.

In 1954, Paul Revere stood in the wings of a TV stage and waited 16 weeks for the word that would send his image and voice across thousands of miles of land into millions of homes.

The latter-day Paul Revere is a milkman in Plainview, Long Island, and he was the stand-by for ABC's TV show, "The Name's the Same." One of the necessary elements in producing the show is to have enough contestants to fill the time so there is always someone standing by.

In Revere's case he had to be in the studio every night the show was on and just stood by waiting for time to elapse. For the first few weeks he had a good time but later on he lost interest pretty fast.

It is up to Doris Hibbard to find the people who will appear on the show and, of course, names are the important thing. It is also a tough job to get some of the people to appear on the show at all.

"We located a Benito Mussolini," she said, "and he lived near by in The Bronx. But we couldn't get him to come on the show at all."

"We've spent months trying to find a Mahatma Gandhi, Hailie Selassie and Franklin Delano Roosevelt. The closest we have come to the latter is a set of triplets in Arkansas named Franklin, Delano and Roosevelt."

Some of the names submitted to the program cannot be used.

THE MOST POPULAR names submitted to the show have been Fred Allen, Mary Martin, Robert E. Lee, Joan Crawford and Helen Hayes. There seem to be thousands of persons in the country bearing these monickers.

One time a picture of a girl named Joan Bennett appeared in a little Ohio weekly paper and within three days there were 87 clippings piled on Miss Hibbard's desk. "Guess everyone who saw the picture thought they would be doing a favor to send it in. They were, too, as we love to get tips and help on people whose names are the same as others."

The current stand-by on the show has been doing just that for 17 weeks.

The staff has canvassed the nation many times and has found two other famous names, Eleanor Roosevelt in Illinois and Amelia Earhart in Kansas, but neither woman would consent to appear on the program.

We don't know how this will make Robert Taylor feel, but there are over 500 Robert Taylors on file at the "Name's the Same" offices.

Panel of TV's "The Name's the Same" seeks people bearing famous names. L. to r., Abe Burrows, Joan Alexander, Meredith Willson and Robert Q. Lewis, show's first MC.

Los Altos Community Library is one of several additional library buildings, including a new central branch, planned by Long Beach library system.

SOUTH COAST SURVEY

The Library Goes to the People

(Third in a series of articles describing the business, industrial, recreation, and cultural development of the Long Beach area. These articles appear every other week.)

THE SUBJECT of George Washington's teeth is not one that is likely to arise every day. But, someday when you're sitting in a dentist's chair, you might startle him with this bit of information—if he takes his hands out of your mouth long enough to let you utter a sentence: "George Washington had false teeth. In 1796 he was presented with two sets of teeth made of ivory." A goodly number of people get information of this sort from the Long Beach Public library—285,170 reference questions were answered by the library staff last year—but the queries were not limited to 'conversational odds and ends that arise as a result of television and radio quiz programs or bar arguments. For instance, some clubmen were wondering about the sword of Damocles and somebody asked, "what sort of hair did it hang by?" The library came up with the answer: Horschair; color not specified.

By George Eres

It's a legitimate question, if you've caught a mackerel, and ask, how do you salt it?

Some people are interested in rattlesnakes. One wanted to know where he could market rattlesnake venom.

But the library has other functions beside reference questions.

The Long Beach Public Library phonograph record collection is the largest of any public library in the state.

WHEN A LECTURER at the University of Southern California wanted to illustrate his talk, he borrowed films from the Public Library's 16mm film collection.

A doctor, slated to appear on a television program, went to the public library for information on incidence of blindness in the United States and Long Beach and a high-ranking Naval officer drew on the library's material for international law governing "neutralization of international waterways."

In all, more than 1 1/4 million volumes circulated last year among 86,772 borrowers whose (adult) tastes ranged from Norman Vincent Peale's "The Power of Positive Thinking" to Polly Adler's "A House Is Not a Home," while children seemed to favor, among others, Richard Atwater's "Mr. Popper's Penguins," Ludwig Bemelmans' "Madeline's Rescue" and "McElligot's Pool" by Theodore Geisel.

Long Beach is one of the reasons why California leads the nation in utilization of public libraries.

The library's 86,772 borrowers had 280,990 volumes to choose from—not near the American Library Assn. standards of 420,000 books for cities of this population. But then, expenditures last year were $623,052 as compared with the ALA standard of $840,000.

What with answering the millions of questions, in person and by telephone, doing research, and handling the daily routine, the 130 professional people and clerical workers in the 11 library stations and two bookmobiles, found time to participate actively in the community's life.

Most of the library's work is dealing with individuals, but the staff last year handled these other chores: Conducted or arranged Great Books discussion groups, American Heritage groups, World Politics groups, discussion groups for "senior citizens" — in all, librarians talked to 296 groups, while a total of 631 adult groups met in libraries. Further activity in connection with club program chairmen is under way.

To further interest young people in the library, Youth Councils were organized in the high schools. Children's librarians work with the individual child, advise parents on reading material, conduct story hours on radio, television and in classrooms, and arrange film programs.

MUCH OF THIS WORK is done in inadequate structures but the city has plans for construction of a number of additional library buildings, including a new central branch.

The library's role in the community, according to City Librarian Edwin Castagna, is to assemble material for "the communication of ideas in order to promote, through guidance and stimulation, an enlightened citizenship and enrich personal lives. This is being done by providing a place where inquiring minds may encounter the original, often unorthodox and critical ideas so necessary as corrective stimulants in a society that values and depends for its survival on free competition of ideas."

When the Bookmobile stops at residential corner on weekly rounds, it is met by regular patrons, all eager for knowledge and pleasure it brings.

Fall In, Cadet Teresa!

By Caroline Coleman

IMAGINE the furor if girls tried to join the ROTC at Poly or Jordan High Schools!

Well, the reaction is about the same at Georgia Tech—at ATLANTA, no less! —where a couple of girls have maneuvered their way into one of the last retreats of college males.

By virtue of sweet talk and determination, 18-year-old Teresa Thomas and 17-year-old Jackie Easton are Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets the first in any Army, Navy or Air Force unit in the nation.

When the two girls boldly inquired about joining the Air Force ROTC unit last fall instructors told them they couldn't expect special treatment.

But despite this cool official reaction, the girls, wearing trim blue WAF outfits and receiving academic credit for the course, now are nearing completion of a year's training.

MIRAMAR HOTEL—Santa Barbara

Summer rates from $8.00 double, cottage suites from $14.00. Breakfast 1.25. Lunch 1.40. Dinner 2.25. This is a most charming hotel with cottage type accommodations, a honeymooners' delight. Right on the beach as you approach Montecito, easily recognized by the blue-roofed buildings, wide lawns, private beach, swimming pool, spacious lobby, sunny dining room and cozy cocktail lounge. Many of the cottages have full house-keeping arrangements.

DE ANZA MOTOR INN—Santa Barbara

Rates from 4.00. Modern and comfortable in the most modern tradition. Right on the highway south of Santa Barbara with spacious grounds, flowers and trees. Close to fine restaurants and beach. Maxine and Col. Van Svarud are most gracious hosts. Phone Woodland 9-2412.

PASO ROBLES INN—Paso Robles

Rates $5.50 Single, $7.50 Double, Twins $8.50. Coffee shop open from 7 a. m. to 11 p. m. Dining room for lunch and dinner. Picturesque cocktail lounge. The forerunner of the modern highway hotel, the Paso Robles Inn has everything. Built on several acres of ground the buildings are situated among age-old oaks. Picturesque little bridges cross the small stream which wanders through the grounds in the center of which is the swimming pool.

CASA MUNRAS Hotel & Cottages—Monterey

110 Units from $5 Single, $8 Double. Coffee shop, dining room, cocktail lounge, evening entertainment and dancing. The main building is the original home of Don Esteban Munras built in 1942 and a piece of the wall has been cut to show the ancient heavy adobe construction. The guest cottages, however, are all new and modern with a swimming pool for relaxation. Smart shops face the main patio. Truly a wonderful place for overnight stop or your vacation on the Monterey Peninsula.

MISSION BELL MOTEL—San Francisco

Mail Address: 6843 Mission St., Daly City. 110 units from $4 to $12. Family style place with all types of accommodations ranging up to the most de luxe, all with garages. Many with kitchens. 15 minutes from Civic Center. Quiet, no train or truck noises. Right on El Camino Real or if you are on the Bypass (Payshore Hwy.) turn left at San Bruno to El Camino Real.

San Francisco, City of Destiny

By Ray Hewitt

Resort Editor, Independent, Press-Telegram

EMBRACING an area of less than 10 square miles, San Francisco is one of the world's most fascinating cities.

From the day in July, 1776, when Mission San Francisco de Assisi, better known as Mission Dolores, was established as the sixth in the California chain of Franciscan missions, up through the gold rush days of 1849 and on into modern times, San Franciscans have been bound together by a bond of loyalty to their city that has worked miracles. Theirs is a living example to the world of what can be done by united effort. History holds no equal instance of the miraculous rebuilding of a city as was done by San Franciscans after the disastrous fire and quake of 1906.

Today San Francisco is impressive . . . it is extremely metropolitan and it is lovely. As with a beautiful woman, one does not attempt to separate and catalogue her charms. . . . It is the ensemble that wins admiration. So it is with San Francisco. However, anyone who has stood on Twin Peaks looking down at the twinkling lights of this city . . . anyone who has flown in from the north, or the Orient, or anyone who has sailed in through the Golden Gate to approach her front door via San Francisco Bay . . . will always remember with a thrill of appreciation the vista which greeted their eyes.

San Francisco is a hospitable city. Although they are busy, the people of San Francisco take guests literally to their homes. The hurrying man, or woman, on the street is never too engrossed to stop and give the stranger advice and directions. The police force is the most courteous in the entire world.

While many old-timers bemoan the passing of the ferries, which were a part and parcel of the romance we knew in our youth, and the passing of the cable cars on which we rocked over the hills of San Francisco, none of us would deny that if progress is necessary San Francisco met the challenge head on with the two magnificent bridge structures which span the bay and the Golden Gate.

The modern visitor to San Francisco can still taste of its romance with a visit to Chinatown, the largest true Chinese center, outside of China, in the world. Here old customs still prevail, with many of the natives still wearing the costumes of old China.

and browse through the older California cities such as Ventura, Santa Barbara, San Luis Obispo, Monterey and San Jose. In other words, make a real vacation trip of it and you'll find it fully as enchanting as France, Italy, Spain or the Far East.

This is the last in a series of stories about the Mission Trails, so once more we want to advise our readers that the California Mission Trails Association, a non-profit travel promotion group, will gladly send you their colorful brochure and vacation guide if you will drop a card or letter to Ray Hewitt, care of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

THE IDEAL WAY to visit San Francisco is to drive your own car so that you can get around, and to take several days in which to enjoy all its charms. And the ideal way to approach this visit is to drive up the Mission Trails, once known as El Camino Real (the King's Highway) and now officially as U. S. Hwy. 101, the Coast Route.

AROUND THE WORLD WITH DELAPLANE

"Can you outline the correct procedure for a 'bon voyage' party on shipboard? Another lady and I are going to Hawaii on the Lurline. Can we invite as many people as we like or is it limited? Are we supposed to take our party to our cabin or to the bar? Who pays for the drinks? If we pay for them, do we put them on our account?"

I AM NOT SURE of the Emily Post on this. But the custom is that you pay for the drinks. You can sign the chit if you like. You can invite as many people as you like. You can take them to the cabin or to the bar. This doesn't apply to all ships as some of them don't open the bar until they are at sea. The Lurline does open though.

I think you would prefer a cabin party. Buy your own liquor and send it or take it aboard. Call the Matson people and tell them you want a waiter, ice and glasses an hour before sailing. They'll arrange it. Have them make hors d'oeuvres for you. They have a regular routine for it and will do you something special with hot things. They also have a great deal in caviar with chopped onion and egg. Tip the waiter $10 for 10 people or less.

"Can you tell me the best 'Bohemian spots' in Mexico as well as the best mixed drink?"

IF THERE ARE any bohemian spots in Mexico City, I must have missed them. You mean like Greenwich Village? The odd night clubs might be Catacumbas or the Saratoga Club or Mil Y Una Noches. You could take your wife. There is a lot of professional competition around the bar. But they won't object.

The best drink in Mexico is tequila. You order "tequila anejo" for the smoothest. You dip a little salt and lick it, drink the tequila, then suck a lime. Some people like it with a little Worcestershire sauce, a couple of drops.

Around Guadalajara they serve it with a chaser of orange juice and hot sauce called "sangria." A specialty in Oaxaca is a lime, orange juice, hot sauce, gin and salt cocktail called "sangre de pichon."

"Is there any good place in Europe where we could have a comfortable and not too expensive vacation where my husband can fish?"

Ireland is supposed to be very good. Try Waterville on the southwest coast in Kerry County. I stayed at the Butler Arms there and found it very good. A nice hotel and excellent food. They have lake, stream and ocean fishing.

Another great place for fishing is Spain. I'm sorry I don't have the name of a resort. But Spain is inexpensive, especially in the country. When you land in Madrid, contact Max Borrell at the Direccion General del Turismo. Next to the Palace Hotel. He arranges all the fishing trips for Franco and can tell you everything from location to bait.

Yesterday's City

The ancient city of Pompei, smothered in 79 A.D. by hot volcanic ashes spewed from Mt. Vesuvius but brought again to sight after careful excavation may be visited by tourists daily from 9 a. m. to sunset. Located on the outskirts of Naples, Pompei may be reached by auto, organized-tour coach or the trains which make the 35-minute trip several times a day. Americans who take one of Trans World Airlines' 17 flights a week from New York to Rome for an Italian holiday will find Naples itself a fascinating city only 2½ hours from Rome by train.

When Redbuds Bloom

A deep crimson blush ascending the hillside of picturesque Lake County heralds the opening of the redbud season, one of Redwood Empire's most popular springtime wildflower displays.

Peak season for the redbuds will continue until April 24, it was announced today by John Halberg, president of the Lake County Chamber of Commerce.

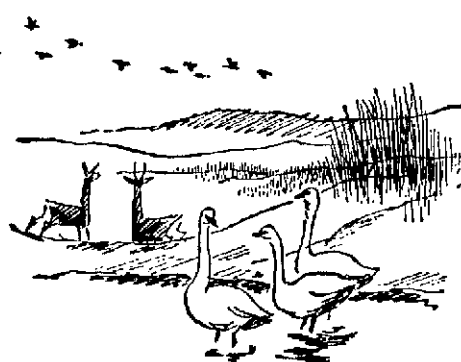

Significant both in Indian and white man's lore, the blossoming redbud trees are admired each season by Pomo Indian tribesmen as well as the throngs of white visitors.

The Indians regard redbud time as an especially propitious occasion for conducting tribal affairs and engaging in the more pleasurable pursuits of romance.

In the white man's legend, the redbud blossoms are symbols of the tragedy and shame that Judas Iscariot brought upon himself by his betrayal. The story goes that the redbud tree, known also as the Judas Tree of the Holy Land, once had white blossoms. But when Judas hanged himself in remorse from its limbs, the blossoms turned scarlet in shame.

BOOK REVIEWS

Battle Stations Undersea

THE SUBMARINE WALRUS was scarcely out of Pearl Harbor on its way to Japanese waters when it sighted an enemy vessel. But the Walrus was a new ship, the skipper was commanding his first wartime cruise, and the crew was as green as grass.

The Jap sub escaped. Then the Walrus was to be twice suckered by Japanese defenses, finally sunk. But not until it had made a sensational score against the Japanese navy and commerce.

Few novels dealing with war are written from the perspective of command, and for that, alone, "Run Silent, Run Deep," by Comdr. Edward L. Beach (Holt, $3.95) is unusual.

But this story of the submarine in action in World War II is more than merely unusual. It is the thrilling story of Comdr. Richardson and his submarine, the Walrus; his executive officer, Jim, and of tense, dramatic situations in World War II that will keep your eyes glued to the page past normal bedtime.

Comdr. Beach, now naval aide to President Eisenhower, wrote "Submarine!" and this fictional sequel is just what the blurb says: "A narrative taut with drama, told with the intimacy of confession."

The Comdr. Richardson of fiction seems as real as Comdr.

WHEN IT RAINS IN MORGAN, ALA. It had not rained in Morgan, Ala., for a long, long time. Otherwise things had been fairly quiet. One day three strangers arrived in town with bank robbery in mind. It finally rained, and the nervous strangers finally robbed the bank. That's the story W. L. Heath tells in "Violent Saturday" (Harpers, $3). He tells it as it affects the lives of Helen and Shelley Marlin; of Emily and Boyd Fairchild; of Sugarfoot, the porter; of a peeping Tom and a knock-kneed nurse. 20th Century-Fox is releasing the movie simultaneously with the novel. Heath's first. If the movie's as good as the novel (mighty good) don't wait until it gets to the late television shows.—G. C. F.

Beach, a veteran submariner. What "Battle Cry" did for the Marines, "Run Silent, Run Deep" may do for the submarine service. — GEORGE C. FLOWERS.

New Stamps

Another in the Rotary 50th anniversary stamps has arrived on the philatelic scene. This set is from the Philippines. The 5, 18 and 50 centavos stamps depict the Mayon volcano in the province of Albay. Also seen is the Rotary wheel emblem and native plants.

"THE BIG STORE". (Pren-tice-Hall, $3) by Oscar Schisgall describes the upheaval in a large, tradition-bound department store when a genius in sales promotion takes over.

Too conservative to adopt the new methods of mass selling and yet too profit-hungry to ignore them, members of the board of directors present an interesting study in human nature.

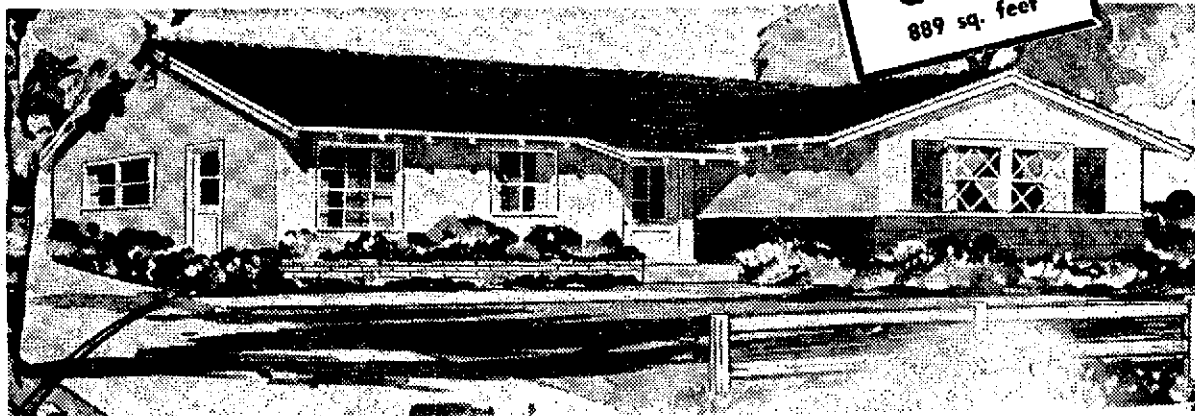

Schisgall writes convincingly, describing the executives and their problems from the viewpoint of a promotion man, which he has been for 20 years. — F. T. H.

Golden State's First Easter

Stone and wrought iron marker indicates spot where the first Easter service in state was believed conducted.

THOUSANDS of Southlanders will rise before daybreak on Easter and make a pilgrimage to some secluded spot on top of a mountain, in a beautiful park, or in a churchyard. Wherever it is, they will all be there for the same purpose—to honor Him at an Easter sunrise service.

What a contrast there would be if the well-dressed worshipers and beautiful ceremonies of today could take place beside the dark robed padre, weary and half starved soldiers and barely clothed neophyte Indians who knelt in prayer to honor Him on that first Easter dawn in the California wilderness 185 years ago!

Today's worshipers will drive sleek cars in a matter of minutes over super freeways. Some of them will pass the spot where those first Easter worshipers paid homage to their Savior. It was beneath a giant oak along what is now Arroyo Boulevard, just south of Hermosa St. in South Pasadena that Don Gaspar de Portola, soldier of the Crown, and Father Juan Crespi, soldier of the Cross and missionary under Father Serra, paused with their band of soldiers, muleteers and Christian Indians on their second journey out of San Diego to find the port of Monterey. Records show it had been a rainy winter season as streams were swollen. There must have been fields and meadows of California's golden poppy out toward Altadena, because the soldiers exclaimed, "La Sabanilla de San Pasqual!"—the Great Altar Cloth of Holy Easter.

THOUGH it is only a matter of minutes today to drive many miles, those Spanish explorers had been a year out of Baja California, cutting their way through tangled brush, passing through sterile, arid land, "lacking grass and water, and abounding in stones and thorns," according to Fr. Crespi's diary. Upon reaching San Diego on the first trip north, they found distressing conditions, but pushed on to Monterey, where it was felt there was an urgent need to establish a presidio and harbor for Manila galleons and to curb threats of Russian aggression in New Spain. More than a century and a half before their countryman, Sebastian Vizcaino had described Monterey in glowing terms. But the terms were so glowing as to be misleading, and the party moved northward above San Francisco before they were convinced they had missed their mark. The return trip was more gruelling—starvation, cold, fatigue and scurvy followed them the length of California to San Diego, where they found that mission in distress with illness, low food supplies and hostile Indians.

There was talk of abandoning the settlement of Alta California and returning to Mexico. But after a waiting period of prayer a mercy ship arrived at San Diego and with fresh supplies Portola and Father Crespi again set out for Monterey. They left in April, 1770, still gaunt from their first trip. But they apparently made the second journey with much less hardship. Now it was spring and there was an abundance of flowers, "plenty of water and an infinity of rose bushes, including the queen of them all, the Rose of Castile." There were green pastures, "willows, tule and a glad sky," and much of the way was "level, straight and happy."

THESE WERE the conditions as they camped beneath the Cathedral Oak and sang their praise. Today the mesa of flaming gold has disappeared and time has destroyed the roots of the tree. But on another April morning in 1932 another group of crusaders who cherish our heritage placed a plaque which reads:

"Under This Oak
the Legend Runs,
The First Easter Services in California Were Held by Father Crespi in 1770.
Marked by Oneonta Park
Chapter D. A. R."

Those who saw the tree at that time recall there was a faintly visible carving of a cross on the rugged trunk that must have been made by a member of the first Easter worshipers who used its branches as a temple.

With the passing of the historic tree the D.A.R. unit in 1952 erected a stone monument and a wrought iron cross that the thousands of motorists who drive along this scenic boulevard to and from Los Angeles will be reminded as they pass of some of the blood and sweat and tears that went into the making of California's romantic history.

To entertain a bride-to-be or to plan a bride's buffet, Mrs. Gus Lueking has a "just right" recipe. See chicken salad recipe elsewhere on this page.

By Mildred K. Flanary
Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

"ALL THE WORLD loves a lover" — so the saying goes. Yes, sentimentality reigns supreme, and the theme of "hearts and flowers" is never outdated when there's a wedding in the making.

June is the traditional month for weddings, but even this early, brides-to-be are all a-flutter with this and that and many other things, and many a mother and many a shower hostess is wondering what to serve that's beautiful, delectable and quick-to-prepare.

You'll find that a buffet is the easiest, most attractive way to serve your guests. The food must be exquisitely different, however — as colorful as it is tasty.

Mrs. Gus Lueking, 4245 Virginia Rd., who is naturally endowed as a hostess and a civic leader as well, has some recipes tucked up her sleeve which are elegant, yet simple. Her Bride's Buffet Chicken Salad will enhance any buffet menu, as will her Bridal Date Ring and Bride's Pineapple Salad. The recipe for the Chicken Salad is featured

Mrs. Lueking's Bride's Buffet Chicken Salad:

- 2 cups cubed chicken
- 1/4 cup diced celery
- 1/2 cup blanched almonds, toasted
- 2 tbl. chopped green olives
- 2 tbl. chopped ripe olives
- 2 tbl. chopped mixed pickle
- 2 hard-boiled eggs, sliced
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing

Combine ingredients, toss lightly and add a dash of freshly ground pepper. Serve in tomato aspic mold. For luncheon this may be served in stuffed tomatoes or on crisp lettuce leaf.

elsewhere on this page. Others follow:

Bridal Date Ring

- 1 pound dates, pitted and chopped fine
- 2 dozen marshmallows, chopped fine
- 1 cup walnuts, chopped
- 3 dozen graham crackers, ground fine
- 1/2 teaspoon almond extract
- Cream

Combine dates, marshmallows, nuts, cracker crumbs and almond extract. Add just enough cream to bind mixture together. Press the mixture into a greased ring mold and chill. Then turn out of mold and serve with sweetened whipped cream.

Party Pineapple Salad

- 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
- Scant cup sugar
- Juice 1 lemon
- 2 packages gelatin
- 1 cup chopped pecans
- 1 cup grated Tillamook cheese
- 1/2 pint whipped cream

Heat pineapple, sugar and lemon juice. Dissolve gelatin in 2 tablespoons water and add to above hot mixture. Cool until thick, fold in whipped cream, nuts and cheese. Color green with green vegetable coloring.

Mrs. Lueking has also sent along her favorite recipe for Champagne Punch and one for a Ginger Ale Punch. You'll want to clip each of them.

Bridal Champagne Punch

Take 2 pounds strawberries, cover with sugar, add a pint of champagne, let stand about five hours at room temperature. Then place a large cake of ice in the punch bowl and pour over it the strawberries and a 26-ounce bottle of cold champagne. Add 2 ounces Curacao and let stand until the liquid becomes a delicate pink — then serve. The punch is deceptively smooth and charmingly sophisticated.

Ginger Ale Punch

- 3 cups sugar
- 1 quart grape juice
- 1 small can crushed pineapple
- 2 quarts ginger ale
- 12 oranges
- 12 lemons
- 1 cup strong tea
- 3 quarts of water

Boil the sugar and water together for eight minutes, add the tea, then chill. Add juice of oranges and lemons, grape juice and pineapple. Place in refrigerator to mellow for about 2 hours. Before serving, add 2 quarts of ginger ale and ice cubes. If served in a punch bowl, add quarter slices of orange and lemon and one small bottle of maraschino cherries. It's mighty good punch! Serves about 50.

It's nice, especially for a wedding, to float a gardenia or two on top of punch.

Kitchen Tip:

Mrs. Lueking's Kitchen Tip: Honey added to mayonnaise makes a delicious dressing for fruit salad.

look to see what goes into his plans.

With a wealth of practical experience behind him, we must deduce that the particular specifications that go into his house are the ones that have proven over and over again — to his satisfaction, at least — to be practical, functional and of enduring quality. His, then, is not an experimental house. It is the composite of a great many "sure bets."

Such is the home built two years ago by Mr. and Mrs. William Harbert, 3731 Cedar Ave.

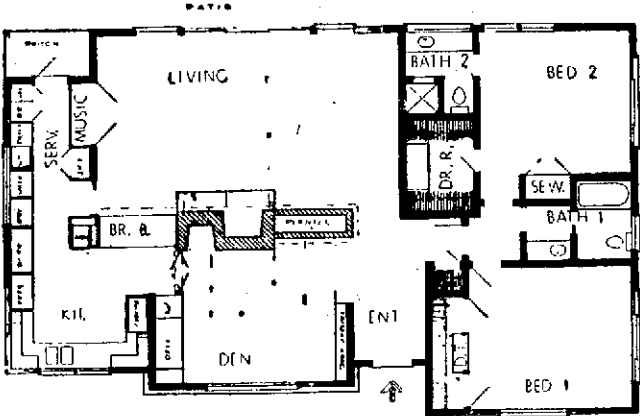

The house, snuggled in among long-established trees and perched peacefully on its rolling lot, exemplifies all the Harberts wanted most.

Specified for the exterior was a merger of redwood, stone and stucco. Interest is created not only from the standpoint of texture but from color as well. The board-and-batten siding is painted a rich red-brown, which points up the sunny yellow of the stucco. An abundance of natural Santa Maria fieldstone contributes a distinction that no other material seems ever quite to equal.

THIS HOUSE appears larger than its actual footage, thanks to that architectural "sleight-of-hand" — open planning.

Located directly to the left of the entry is the den. It joins the kitchen through a doorway only suggestively closed off with short, swinging shutters. And an interesting storage unit that

A 16x29-foot living-dining area faces the rear of the lot and enjoys an uninterrupted view of the tree-shaded garden through lofty windows and 12-foot sliding glass doors.

The kitchen looks into the living room through a capacious pass-through, the shutters of which are usually pushed genially back so that activities around the fireplace are visible to the cook in the kitchen.

From the Harberts' desire for an open plan, the actual layout of the house was evolved. Second in consideration were the materials that were to compose the structure.

Harbert's desire was to have the design expressed predominantly in three media — wood, stone and glass. The natural properties of the three have lent the building warmth, security and a feeling of freedom.

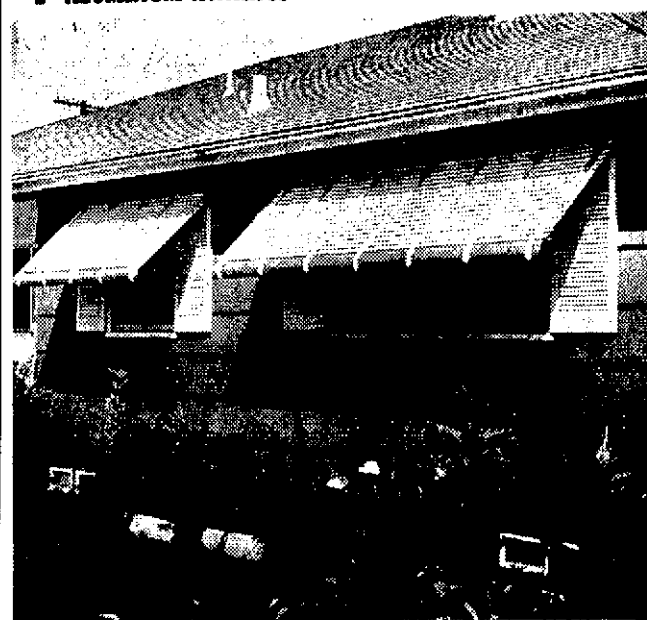

Mahogany has been utilized extensively in the living room, as evidenced in vertical panels and huge exposed rafters. A (Continued on Page 20.)

Set on casters, this clever dining bar can be moved easily for service in some other part of the house.

California Pine

When we think of lumbering in California most of us think first of Redwood because of its world-famed reputation for size and usefulness. However, both Douglas Fir and Ponderosa Pine are produced in greater volume in California.

Pine boards are always in popular demand because of their soft texture and sound knots. They are light in weight and color, dry, paint well and are easy to work and install. We like to sell them.

You'll find them ideal for lining the walls of your family TV or playroom—and useful too, for shelving and cupboards.

Drive into our yard and let us show you this clean, aromatic lumber from the California forests.

Let us serve you.

prolific expanse of Santa Maria fieldstone, spanning from floor to ceiling, contains the open fireplace.

THE STONE is carried over from the fireplace facade to mask a six-foot-high wall-partition which, on the den side, offers itself for storage. Topping this partial wall of masonry on the living room side is a handsome planter.

The chief function of the den is in the service it offers Herbert for an office. Flush overhead lights illuminate his recessed desk. Insulative material, used on the ceiling between the exposed rafters, and cork flooring counteract noise, main disadvantage of any open plan.

Backed to the living room fireplace is a smaller one in the den. Of the same natural stone, it features a raised hearth and a firebox small enough for handy barbecuing.

Contributing an important element of interest as it hangs on the stone wall is an antique brass clock of French origin. More than a century old, the ornate timepiece never fails to provoke conversation.

Through the swinging doors is the kitchen. A pass-through serves as a handy breakfast bar. The outstanding characteristic of this innovation is its unexpected mobility. Standing on casters, the bar may be readily pushed out of its niche for party service any place in the house.

THE UNUSUAL CHARM of the Harbert kitchen is attributable to the superb craftsmanship of the extensive birch cabinets. Patiently designed to house everything from tiny (and often evasive) spice cans to seldom-called-for party casseroles, the cabinets express the functional and aesthetic qualities that can be realized in the modern-day kitchen.

Two bedrooms and two baths comprise the rest of the house.

A completely feminine color scheme of turquoise, pink and white has been used in the Harberts' daughter's room. Wallpaper, portraying dainty pink blossoms on a ground of white point up pale pink quilted bedspreads with blush-tint organdy dust ruffles.

The main bath is divided into bath and lavatory units, the latter serving as an attractive powder room.

The master bedroom has an adjoining bath carried out in pink and wintermint. Whimsical paper portraying rather sedate rows of pink and green mermaids add charm and a suitable color fillip to the scheme.

able. The school was a male bastion until 1952, when the first woman was admitted. Now there are 15, and the first will be graduated this year.

HAVING USED a sugar-coated infiltration process to move into the classroom, and even onto the football field by becoming cheer leaders, the girls set their sights on the ROTC unit.

Jackie, an aeronautical engineering student from Lantana, Fla., planted the seed when she asked assistant dean of students John Pershing about joining. He said, in brief, no.

Pershing later jokingly told Col. Hugh Moore, who heads the Air Force unit, about his caller. The colonel laughed. Then he thought it over and invited Jackie to come by. Teresa, a friend from Marietta, Ga., who is majoring in chemical engineering, also was interested. She accompanied Jackie to visit the colonel.

Moore says they were determined but cautious. "Won't somebody think we're invading the last male stronghold?" they asked. "Well, we'll see," he replied.

Male cadets are supplied free uniforms, but the girls had to pay about $70 each for theirs. Instructors still do not know whether they should allow feminine coats to be worn over uniforms.

SOME CADETS seemed to resent the encroachment at first, Teresa recalls, and others took full advantage of the opportunity for a little ribbing.

A cadet officer would stroll around Teresa growling that she needed a haircut. "Of course," she says, "I would get tickled, so he'd say he was going to give me demerits. At the final evaluation, he asked me, just like the boys, if I thought I were officer material and if I were a gentleman."

After the novelty wore off, Col. Moore recalls, the girls were fully accepted. "I can't really see too much difference between an ROTC class and a chemistry lab or a math class," he says.

On the first day Teresa was called upon to drill her squad the students put up a howl. Afterward, however, they let her know she had done all right.

"In fact," she says, "the one who laughed loudest said it was the best anybody had drilled."

The girls spent most of their time learning about aircraft armor, what makes a plane fly with respect to air flow, how jet turbines operate, leadership and the like.

DAY or NIGHT!

Collector of old-fashioned wearing apparel. Mrs. H. R. Skinner wears period wedding dress.

This lavender gown of bygone years started Mrs. Skinner on her collection of costumes.

Lavender and Old Lace

THE FASHION DICTATES of Christian Dior mean very little to a Long Beach lady who is fascinated by the women's styles of bygone days. The days when the fluctuating "H-Line" silhouette was decidedly not the mode!

Collecting period dresses and accessories is the hobby of Mrs. Harry R. Skinner of 4173 Gardenia Ave. Mrs. Skinner started her hobby several years ago when "browsing" through a local salvage store in search of something to wear to a costume party. Hanging on a rack was a little lavender gown sadly in need of repairs but still flaunting an air of dignified gaiety from days gone by. Being an excellent seamstress, Mrs. Skinner saw the possibilities of restoring the dress, whose dainty embossed silk was held together by thousands of tiny handmade stitches. The dress renewed, the idea of collecting a complete outfit — shoes, hat, handbag and all the accessories worn by milady at the turn of the century — intrigued her.

More than a year was spent in finding just what she wanted. An ivory-tinted, hand-embroidered linen parasol was the first purchase. It was minus a handle and further search was needed until just the right carved-gilt one was found.

SEVERAL PETTICOATS were added next, one full-length with camisole top, and all made of white cotton with yards of crochet, embroidery and lace edging.

A pair of white wool stockings, trimmed with a floral demitts and, finally, a string of jet beads completed the ensemble.

A friend gave Mrs. Skinner a wedding dress worn in 1875, which started her on the quest of another outfit. Made of russet-colored bengaline, it is trimmed with brown taffeta and crocheted buttons.

A poke bonnet, stylish at the time the dress was new, will be needed. Also a bustle to show off the voluminous cut of the skirt in back. Plus, of course, gloves, fan, drawstring bag and everything necessary to complement the gown.

Mrs. Skinner is looking, too, for a maid's uniform of 50 years ago. She already has the cap made of flocked dimity, and resembling a modern plastic bowl cover, and also the apron.

FORTUNATELY, Mrs. Skinner's diminutive size and slim waist make it possible for her to wear old-fashioned clothes to parties and club functions. She is particularly in demand when February and P-T. A. Founders' Day arrive.

By Helen Smith

Barbara Lee Riehl looks over a starfish, found at Balboa and preserved.

Preserving a Starfish

By Edna Ward Hicks

IT'S A MAJOR THRILL to a little waterfront stroller to see for the first time a live starfish. Right before the eyes and within reach! A child is always overwhelmed with a desire to take it home.

Usually the youngster will put the starfish in the trunk of dad's car and talk about it all the way home, planning to hang it on the wall in the play room next day, tucked in the swag of a yard of fish net.

When the family arrives home pop and the kids throw open the car trunk. Behold, the prize trouble-making starfish is drawn up into a little ball, closely resembling a seedy, ugly flower and smelling like a dead whale—slippery, soggy and cold.

BY SUCH TRANSITION the disappointment is registered by all except the starfish.

They do everything to preserve that coveted starfish's clammy body. They pull the legs out; they draw up again. They soak it in vinegar, bury it in salt and a dozen other things. Finally, in desperation, they nail the five tentacles to a board. The result is that it was ruined and moulded. Even the sea gulls glide over it in horror.

But since last summer they have learned a few things about how to treat and preserve the attractive little fish.

If it is a little star, anything under the 18-inch washtub size, they fill a tub with hot water and a handful of borax and then drop in all their starfish. This relaxes the muscles and the starfish will straighten out and remain in good shape on a slab of wood.

They will put the starfish flesh side up, out of doors and leave it in the sun. If it rains bring into a garage or a dry place and turn the starfish over every day or so.

To preserve the star they pour on a solution of formaldehyde the first day—one part formaldehyde, five parts cold water. The sun will do the rest.

Say It With a Photo Card

By the Shutterbug

WE'RE ALL FAMILIAR with the photographic Christmas card. You know how nice they are, both to send and to receive. That's why we think it is a good idea to adapt them for use on other occasions throughout the year on which you want to say the same thing to at least 10 people, in a personal and original way.

Your photofinisher does all the work for you—all you have to do is pick up the picture you'd like to use and he'll print it for you on the standard 4¼x5½ inch card, leaving room for your message. Many photofinishers have facilities which would enable them to print the message you wish on the card. If yours does not, you can take the card to a printer or write your greeting in long hand, if you wish.

They are excellent for saying thank you on occasions such as graduation... for extending greetings at Easter time... for invitations to parties and open houses. If you are moving, it's a fine way to not only spread the word of your new address, but to show people where you live as well. It's a simple matter to take a snapshot of the house whether it is new—or just new to you—and have it printed on a card.

You'll want to select a picture appropriate to the occasion, of course, but that shouldn't be difficult. A wedding thank you will bear the picture of the newlyweds in their bridal finery. The graduate's expression of appreciation will have a picture of the boy or girl in cap and gown.

WINNERS IN PRINT competition of the Professional Photographers Association of Long Beach, held Monday at the Pacific Air Industries plant were: Commercial class, Lynn Hawkins, first; Harold Schneider, second, and H. A. Russell, third; portrait class, Verbie Schneller, first; Irene Feldt, second, and Perry Griffith, third. The 30 members and their guests saw two informational films, "Behind Your Snapshots" and "Photolithography," by Eastman Kodak Company. Contest judges were Larry Stumph, Rudy Spica and

LONIE CHAFE... And Her Easter Friend

PET PARADE

Keep Peter Rabbit Hippity-Hopping!

By Eleanor Avery Price

LONIE CHAFE, 4-year-old daughter of the Clement Chafes, 4327 Clark Ave., is a very lucky little girl come Easter mornings, for her grandparents, who live in Garden Grove, raise rabbits, and somehow or other, a bunny always manages to hop over to Lonie's to be with her and her brother and sister on Easter morning.

Sometimes the Easter bunny doesn't stay very long, but then that makes sense, for neither does Santa Claus remain for long.

In many homes, however, a little Easter bunny will arrive with intentions to stay as a child's pet, and his life will depend on the care he receives. In most cases the mother of the household will be responsible, but if adequate provisions are made to keep the pet healthy and youngsters are not permitted to maul it, the little animal will have a long life. It will be a fruitful life, too, if a rabbit of the opposite sex is also adopted.

If the rabbit is a tiny one, he can be started off with bread and milk and perhaps prepared pellets from a pet store. Green foods should be added sparingly until the pet is accustomed to them. The healthy, thriving rabbit should have bulky foods such as clover, alfalfa and lawn clippings. He will relish root vegetables, including carrots, turnips, beets and sweet potatoes. Hay is acceptable if most of the stems are removed. Rabbits also enjoy wheat, buckwheat, oats

"Want to Quit Smoking? Try BANTRON!"

— Says Manny Paul

Amazing New Formula Helps Break Smoking
Habit in 5 Days Easily and Pleasantly

Read Mr. Paul's True Story!
Manny Paul is a well-known Chicago television art director. Here is what he says about Bantron!

"I am in a high tension business and I used to smoke all the time. My doctor told me that I ought to stop. Time and time again I tried. Then I would get so nervous and irritable it just didn't seem worth while.

"One day a friend told me about Bantron so I decided to try it. Bantron gave me just the help I needed. No longer did I feel that craving. And best of all—I stopped smoking without feeling irritable or nervous.

"After I had taken Bantron for five days I just didn't want to smoke any more. Now I feel just wonderful. I have got a real release from that craving. I only wish that years ago I could have found this marvelous help. I can only advise anyone who wants to stop smoking to try Bantron."

In a series of dramatic tests scientists proved that in 83% (4 out of 5) of the cases, Bantron helped men and women to stop smoking in 5 days. And here is the wonderful thing. Bantron is easy and pleasant to take. It has no unpleasant after-effects and is not habit forming.

Bantron was discovered in the research laboratories of a great American university. It comes in tablet form. You just take 1 tablet with water after each meal.

This new scientific formula does not work by making you dislike smoking. It does not interfere with your taste for smoking, or for anything else. Smoking establishes a craving in your body—Bantron helps relieve that craving. Because of this, many people use Bantron to help them cut down smoking.

We Guarantee Results

Purchase one box of Bantron and take as directed. If you feel Bantron has not helped you stop or cut down smoking within 5 days, just send us the empty box and we will refund your full purchase price.

Bantron is recommended to the thousands of men and women who can benefit from stopping or cutting down smoking. If your doctor advises you to stop smoking, try Bantron.

HOW TO Install Paving of Stone to Improve Your Garden

STONE PAVING FOR YOUR GARDEN is durable, good-looking, and easy to keep clean. And you have a wide choice among its warm earthen colors—buffs, dusty yellows, warm browns, and grays. Use stone to save maintenance time on those spots that take wear: for the place you use so much it should be a terrace, on scuffed garden paths, or around your barbecue pit.

You can get stone in its natural, rough state, or in a trimmed, "dressed" form. Semidressed stone is widely used because it is easy to handle, yet relatively inexpensive. Limestone, shale and sandstone are all commonly available. Choose the one that gives you the color and texture you like best. When you lay stone, you have three choices of base. You can use a tamped-soil base if your stones are at least 3 inches thick. This base, fairly inexpensive, is durable where soil drains well.

If you prefer a more stable base, lay stones on sand. First excavate soil 10 inches deep and fill with 4 inches of crushed rock or gravel. Level and cover with 2 or 3 inches of sand. Tamp firmly and place your stones.

For completely permanent terraces, bed your stones on a 3-inch concrete slab. When the slab is 24 hours old, trowel fresh mortar (1 part cement, 3 parts sand) on small areas, and place a few stones at a time. Tamp and level while mortar is plastic.

1. NO MORTAR, just stones on a tamped-sand base will give you a smart all-weather terrace like this. This pattern is typical of those made from full-dressed stone. Notice how small stones give variety to the pattern. Experiment to get the design you prefer.

3. CONSIDER the possibility of a sand pile if you build a terrace. When sand scatters here, a few sweeps of your broom will put it back in place. When children out-grow sand pile, you can fill it in to match the rest of the terrace or convert it to a planting bed. Low brick wall is seat height.

5. FOR INFORMAL terracing, use irregular stone flagging. It looks rugged, and is rugged. For best results, use stones of similar color and size—you'll avoid a crazy-quilt effect. You can place in concrete to prevent the small stones from heaving above the surface during winter months.

2. YOU CAN MAKE your flagstone terrace more attractive by interplanting with groundcover between the stones. For additional cover, put a few flowering rock plants into the line where your terrace joins wall.

4. USE A DOUBLE course of bricks to trim your semi-finished stone terrace. You'll get more "professional" look. Bricks can be set in either mortar or sand. Place edge of bricks slightly below lawn surface, and you can run mower right over the edge of grass. Less hand trimming!

An Affair With Daffodowndillies

Drawing by Parker Markle

"Strowe me the grounde with daffodowndillies," quoth Chaucer . . . in this case, obviously, a team operation.

By G. C. Flowers

"STROWE ME the grounde with daffodowndillies," said the lady of the house, glancing up from her breakfast Chaucer.

So we did — with a hammer and chisel.

Only those who have dented the adobe packs of Lakewood will understand that the hammer and chisel method of planting daffodils might be practical. If daffodils are to bloom in Lakewood, a strong chisel, a brawny wife and a husky mallet are essential gardening tools.

One fine, blustery, rainy, foggy day last November the Small But Mighty Woman and the Author of Sorts assembled a Daffodil-Planting-for-Lakewood Kit, consisting of:

1. One bushel of daffodils, procured at the neighborhood supermarket.
2. One pickaxe.
3. One set of large cold chisels.
4. Ten cents worth of bone meal.
5. The neighbor's hammer.

The method of planting was as follows:

SWINGING THE PICKAXE lightly, the Tiny But Titanic Lady worked easily through the topsoil to a depth of between two and three inches.

When the pickaxe broke, it became apparent that the first layer of adobe soil had been reached. Now the technique changed.

With cold chisel and mallet, the Lady pounded out individual holes for each daffodil, to a depth of nine inches. By working through the nights, also, she was able to complete this project by mid-December.

Daffodil planting is strictly a team operation, so the Author now stepped into the picture. Using a teaspoon, he measured out the bone meal into equal portions, dropping a slight amount into each excavation.

Since turn-and-turn-about is strictly fair play, the Little Lady returned. With the hammer, she pounded clods of adobe until they reached the approximate consistency of brick dust. She sprinkled about an inch of dust into each hole, over the bone meal. The Author now carefully established a bulb in each hole, and the Lady, in her turn, filled the holes with more adobe dust.

The daffodils grew like mad, and bloomed in profusion. The Author has been congratulated by his doubting neighbors — Frances Sadek, Lee Williams, Verena Summers, et al. Only yesterday the Author felt it necessary to share the rewards. He allowed the Little Lady to pick two daffodils for her bud vase.

THE DAFFODILS are vanishing now. At breakfast today, the Little Lady quoted from Robert Herrick:

"Fair daffadils, we weep to see You haste away so soon."
But her fears are transient.
By next November her blisters will be healed and we'll be at it all over again.

Tips on Gardening

Gardening tips for the week . . . For a quick show of color plant fuchsias and pelargoniums. These varieties will continue to flower for many weeks to come. They are sold already in flower and you should have little trouble transplanting them to your garden.

Perennial vegetables require a certain amount of attention at this time. When artichokes have finished bearing, they should be cut back to the ground. Then fertilize and keep well watered. Feed asparagus plants now and supply them with plenty of water as long as the warm weather lasts.

This is a good time to fertilize all evergreen shrubs and trees. Nutrients are essential to sustain the growth now developing.

a summer garden flower.

Marigolds Gain Favor

By Walter Finch

ONE of the most popular plants in the gardens of California this summer will be the marigold. Because of its ability to adapt itself to most garden soils and to withstand the heat of summer and the conditions that predominate the fall season, it will indeed be much desired. The original marigold came only in yellow and orange. However, today some of the lighter yellows are approaching a white tone and some varieties, particularly the dwarf marigold, are reaching towards the red shades.

Few plants in the modern garden can cover the wide range of heights offered by the summer marigold. Some of the dwarf varieties are as low as six inches in height, with practically a steady climb in other varieties until finally topped by the three-foot height of the African marigold. This means that marigolds can be used for many purposes—from border, through the medium height plantings, and as a background plant.

As for flower shapes and sizes there are carnation flowered, chrysanthemum flowered and some of the modern dwarf varieties even in a single petal arrangement. The flowers range in size from one inch up to five inches in diameter.

AS MARIGOLDS thrive under warm summer conditions they should not be planted in shade areas. The smaller varieties should be planted approximately six inches apart, with the larger African variety given one foot between plants. Any spot in your garden that is located in a sunny area and where color is desired for many months, would be ideal for marigolds. At least one variety can be found from the wide selection available that will fulfill your requirements. Not only your yard but your home can benefit since marigolds can be used in most home flower arrangements and a combination of many of the sizes and colors can brighten even the darkest room.

Few pests attack this fast growing plant and with a minimum of care a maximum of beauty can be achieved. To keep these plants blooming over a longer period of time it is best to cut off each bloom prior to its going to seed. Most people find that it is best to cut the flowers in their prime for use in the home, thus doing two jobs at one time.

HAPPY EASTER!

Now you can grow ROSES with brighter colors, longer stems!

It's easier now to grow perfect, flawless roses—with brighter, deeper colors than ever before. The "secret" is Bandini Rose Food—a richer formula blended to promote larger blooms and longer stems. You'll notice a smoother, finer petal texture—and a new, more exhilarating rose fragrance!

Available at leading nursery and garden supply dealers

is the word for FERTILIZER!

Flowers, Too, Need 'Three Squares'

Beautiful blooms, green foliage on sturdy stems require proper feeding. (Rose above is Lowell Thomas.)

By Bob Gilmore

GARDEN ornamentals have need of regular and adequate feedings, just as humans have need of their traditional "three square meals" to promote health and development.

Plants will grow vigorously only if the soil in which they are planted contains sufficient fertilizer to satisfy their demands—and this food must be of the right kind. The three most important food factors in plant fertilization are nitrogen, phosphorus and potash. The manner in which these three focus work is a most interesting story.

Nitrogen has great value as a plant food, yet can be a dangerous element. It increases susceptibility to disease because it brings out the lush, green new growth. This is very tender and also quite sensitive to frost. Nitrogen also aids in producing the green coloring in foliage and this explains why fertilizers with a high nitrogen content are frequently recommended for lawns. Sulphate of ammonia is one example of this. But keep in mind that lawns can not prosper for long on a diet restricted to nitrogen.

Too much nitrogen delays maturity, may bring about a weakened stem growth and often lowers the quality of vegetable crops. On the other hand, the right proportion of nitrogen in the diet of vegetables such as lettuce, spinach and endive increases palatability and tenderness.

PHOSPHORUS, the second food factor, promotes faster maturity, aids in root development and strengthens stem growth. Phosphorus is also believed to aid cell division.

Potash is a sort of balancing agent between nitrogen and phosphorus. It aids in the development of roots and is therefore essential for root crops. Yet it tends to delay maturity. Potash should be used liberally in sandy soils which usually are deficient in this factor.

A lack of potash leads to an abnormal leaf color and in certain cases may produce weak stems. Potash adds tone and vigor to most plants and the coloring of the flowers is usually intensified by its proper use. Potash is linked with the process of photosynthesis, being of considerable value in the formation of chlorophyll.

When fertilizing a lawn with a dry commercial food make sure that the blades of grass are dry. Otherwise, severe burning may result. And immediately after applying the food, water it thoroughly into the soil.

Keep Peter Rabbit Hopping

and barley. Soybeans, peanuts and linseed can be added to the food to raise the protein level.

REFUSE from garden vegetables are fine foods, but they should not be spoiled or soiled.

If you feed the rabbit at night, which is good practice since it is a nocturnal animal, remove all food that is not eaten by 10 o'clock in the morning so the pet won't nibble on old soiled food. If there is food left at this time, you are overfeeding the pet and should cut down the amount given.

Clean water must be available at all times and especially before meals. Use crocks to hold grain and water, and wash them daily. Do not scatter food indiscriminately in the hutch.

THERE ARE many types of hutches. Preferably there should be a run with a wire-mesh bottom so eliminations can fall through. There must be a nest box if the rabbit is to spend cold nights outside or is bred to bear young. The nest box should be lined at the opening with metal to prevent gnawing. A nail keg is excellent. Do not jam the nest with bedding material but use about four inches of loose hay which the rabbit can hollow out and line with fur.

Keep the hutch, nest, removable tray or the ground beneath clean.

If young are born, do not over-handle them or disturb the nest, or the doe may kill or even eat her babies. Improper diet will also cause a doe to destroy her family. Adequate protein and minerals must be supplied her.

A complete handbook, "Rabbit Raising," by H. M. Butterfield, may be obtained from the College of Agriculture, University of California at Berkeley. It includes pictures of different kinds of rabbits that the average layman may not know exist.

LA PALMA PARK in Anaheim is the setting for the Santa Ana Valley Kennel Club dog show and obedience trial to be held Sunday, May 1. Entries must reach Jack Bradshaw, 1412 W. 12th St., Los Angeles, by midnight Monday, April 18.

at sewing and who have a penchant to redecorate and dress up their rooms and furniture, will get some wonderful ideas and know-how advice in "Upholstery, Drapes and Slip Covers: How to Repair and Make Them Yourself" (Wm. H. Wise, $3.95).

Author Dorothy Wagner leaves little to the imagination of those who set out to make drapes or slip covers — step-by-step instructions are all here — with more than 200 pictures, plans and diagrams, some in beautiful color. Moreover, here is advice on which materials to use on various styles of furniture, how to determine the amount of material needed, tools required, and answers to virtually every recovering problem. Not a book to be overlooked by the handy-woman. — F. T. K.

DANCE OF FIRE — When an adventurous and fearless man meets a gentle woman whose forte is poetry, a good story is possible. "Maracaibo," by Stirling Silliphant (Farrar, Straus, $2.75) is an exciting and fast-paced novel of blazing oil. Vic Scott met Laura Kingsley under water, when he speared a barracuda which frightened her at Havana. And when Vic was ordered to Maracaibo to blow a burning well, Laura went with him, wearing only the clothes designed for dancing. And the dance that followed was filled with fire, love and hate.

EVERETT BOYETTE
Let's Have Some Shrimp

ONE OF THE NICE touches at Everett Boyette's Charcoal Broiler, 5907 E. 2nd St., Naples, is the fact that guests — from any seat in the dining room — can see what's being cooked on the restaurant's great charcoal broiler.

This means that patrons with just ordinary appetites soon develop extraordinary appetites because no one can view the steaks, chops and sea foods on the broiler without getting extra hungry.

Boyette, a man with umpteen years of experience in the restaurant field, recently added a new item to his menu which has caught on with a bang and a bang. It is charcoal broiled shrimp. The shrimp are a mammoth variety from Mexico and are placed on the broiler after being dipped in a marinade of oil and spices. The results are sensational. The shrimp, in season now, are currently Boyette's most popular item. Priced reasonably at $1.95 on the complete dinner, the shrimp are served with a fine rich soup, salad with Green Goddess dressing, choice of potato, choice of beverage and choice of dessert.

BOYETTE'S Charcoal Broiler is also the only place in town where the patrons are handed branding irons with which they may sizzle their initials into their steaks. Served on a dinner complete from soup to dessert, the broiler's steaks are thick, beautiful and succulent. The eight-ounce top sirloin dinner is $2.75, filet mignon, $3, and the 16-ounce top sirloin dinner is $3.75. Also served are extra large filets, New York cuts and a 20-ounce T-bone giant.

George Grandee is featured nightly on the restaurant's piano. And, incidentally, the broiler has a party room which is available by reservation for groups up to 25. Closed Wednesdays, the restaurant serves dinners daily from 5 p. m. on.

Panel 1: NEXT IN OUR PARADE OF TWINS ARE SIXTEEN-YEAR-OLD MIRRORS, JAN AND JILL JACKSON. MRS. JACKSON WAS A CHARTER MEMBER OF OUR REPEAT CLUB.

Panel 2: YOU CAN STOP SWAGGERING LIKE A CHORUS GIRL NOW, JAN! THE BOYS ARE COMING OVER.

Panel 3: HIYA, JACKSONS! NOW THAT YOU'VE DONE YOUR ACT, LET'S SCRAMBOLA!

Panel 4: YUH, CHECK IN WITH CHICK OR CHUCK, CHICKS, AN' LET'S BE GONE!

Panel 5: OH, REALLY? NOT IDENTICAL HEAPS, TOO? NOW I'VE SEEN EVERYTHING!

Panel 6: NOT QUITE, JAN! HEH-HEH! WE EVEN PARK IN THE SAME PLACES! PILE IN!

Panel 7: OH-OH! THIS CHARACTER'S A WOLF WITH A CAPITAL WOO! WONDER HOW JILL'S GETTING ALONG BACK THERE!

Panel 8: I WONDER HOW JAN'S GETTING ALONG UP AHEAD THERE! THIS BOY IS JUST AWFUL!

Panel 9: SAINTS PRESERVE US!

Panel 10: B-BLACK COFFEE, M-MABEL! EITHER A CAR JUST WENT AROUND THE BLOCK IN FIVE SECONDS OR DANIEL MEGINTY IS SEEIN' THINGS!

Panel 11: REALLY, I'M WARM ENOUGH, CHICK!

Panel 12: HEY, I KNOW WHAT TO DO! JAN CAN HANDLE WOLVES BETTER THAN I, SO...

Panel 14: MAYBE JILL'S DATE'S EASIER TO HANDLE! I'LL CHANGE PLACES AT THE SHACK!

Panel 15: THIS BABE ISN'T MY TYPE! I'LL PULL THE OLD SWITCHEROO IN HERE!

BO

By Frank Beck

Panel 1: BO HAS BEEN OVER IN MY GARDEN AGAIN! CAN'T MR. GREEN REPLACE THAT MISSING BOARD IN YOUR FENCE AND KEEP BO HOME!

Panel 2: I'LL SPEAK TO HIM ABOUT IT--

Panel 3: IT'S HIS GARDEN! TELL HIM TO FIX THE FENCE HIMSELF!

Panel 4: DON'T BE SILLY-I CAN'T SAY THAT!

Panel 5: THEN TELL HIM TO MOVE SOMEPLACE ELSE IF HE HAS TO HAVE A GARDEN.

Panel 6: BE SENSIBLE! HE'S AT THE DOOR WAITING--

Panel 7: TELL HIM I SUFFER FROM CLAUSTROPHOBIA AND JUST CAN'T BEAR TO BE COMPLETELY SHUT IN---

Panel 8: SUCH A SENSE OF HUMOR!

Panel 9: OKAY THEN-- TELL HIM ANYTHING YOU WANT TO--

Panel 10: MR. NEHER! YOUR WIFE TOLD ME TO COME IN AND SPEAK TO YOU MYSELF--

Panel 11: I'LL NEVER FORGET THAT EXPRESSION ON HIS FACE!! HA-HA-HA-HA!

Floats DIRT and GREASE Right Down the Drain!

ABBIE and SLATS by RAE BURN VAN BUREN

THEY CAN'T HIDE A RARE PITCHIN' TALENT LIKE YERS UNDER A BARREL VERY LONG, BAZOOKA. YER CHANCE'LL COME WAIT AN' SEE. WE'RE JUST BREAKIN' INTO THE MAJORS FROM THE GROUND UP—LOOK AT IT THAT WAY!!

YESSIR, IF YOU SAY SO, SIR!

PEANUTS 10¢

GET YER MEAT HOOKS ON THAT BALL, SONNY!! IT'S GOT OPPORTUNITY WROTE ALL OVER IT!!

I-I GOT IT, MR. GROGGINS!

THROW IT HERE, BOY.

NOW (GASP) IS YER CHANCE. GIVE 'EM YER LOW FAST ONE!

LOW FAST ONE COMIN' UP!

THE REASON, DEAR READER, YOU HAVEN'T SEEN THE BALL IS SIMPLE. BUT DON'T LET IT ALARM YOU—NOBODY WITH NORMAL VISION (INCLUDING THE CATCHER) COULD POSSIBLY FOLLOW THE FLIGHT OF BAZOOKA BROWN'S FAST BALL!!

ON YOUR FEET, SLUGGER! THIS IS NO TIME TO TAKE A SIESTA.

I (CHOK) CAN'T FIGGER OUT EXACTLY WHAT HAPPENED! A TALL SKINNY KID SELLING PEANUTS WINDS UP—AND THEN I'M FLAT ON MY BACK!

I WANT THE MAN THAT THREW THAT BALL BROUGHT DOWN HERE PRONTO!

WELL, BAZOOKA, MY STRATEGY IS WORKIN' OUT FINE!

IF GOIN' TO THE HOOSGOW IS PART O' YER STRATEGY, MR. GROGGINS—I (GULP) AGREE!

THERE'S THE PICTURE, BOSS... AND I DID A LITTLE CHECKING!

ARNOLD ZICK HAS A FANCY WINTER PLACE IN FLORIDA WHERE THIS PICTURE OF HIM AND ED BLACK OBVIOUSLY WAS TAKEN

OKAY! SO HE'S GOT A PLACE IN FLORIDA—SO HAVE A LOT OF OTHER PEOPLE—WHAT DOES THAT PROVE?

NOTHING, IN ITSELF—BUT IT DOES SUGGEST SOMETHING!

ED BLACK, THE BUILDING INSPECTOR, TOLD ME HE DIDN'T KNOW ARNOLD ZICK... HE'D NEVER EVEN HEARD OF HIM!

BUT HERE'S A PHOTOGRAPH OF THE TWO OF THEM, PROBABLY TAKEN AT ZICK'S PLACE IN FLORIDA! IT'S A HUNDRED TO ONE THAT BLACK SPENT HIS VACATION THERE!

MEANWHILE...

WHO DID YOU SAY WAS HERE?

W-H-Y, HER NAME WAS JANE ARDEN, A REPORTER—SHE SAID SHE WAS WRITING A NICE STORY ABOUT YOU, ARNOLD, AND...

THAT'S WHAT I SAID, AUGIE!... THROW A GOOD SCARE INTO HER!

I'd Even Settle for a Ricochet Romance!

MY DATING RATINGS DOWN TO ZERO! AND LIFE'S DEFINITELY GRIM WITHOUT A HIM, LET ME TELL YOU!

I'LL TELL YOU SOMETHING, TOO, SUE! YOU'VE GOT EVERYTHING IT TAKES—EXCEPT THE FACTS ON COLGATE DENTAL CREAM!

HERE'S WHAT SUE FOUND OUT!

NEW COLGATE DENTAL CREAM WITH GARDOL! CLEANS YOUR BREATH WHILE IT GUARDS YOUR TEETH! FOR GARDOL, COLGATE'S WONDERFUL NEW DECAY-FIGHTER, MAKES COLGATE'S DOUBLY EFFECTIVE!

YOUR DENTIST WILL TELL YOU HOW OFTEN YOU SHOULD BRUSH YOUR TEETH! BUT REMEMBER! EVEN IF THAT'S ONLY ONCE A DAY, COLGATE DENTAL CREAM GIVES THE SUREST PROTECTION ALL DAY LONG! STOPS BAD BREATH INSTANTLY IN 7 OUT OF 10 CASES THAT ORIGINATE IN THE MOUTH! FIGHTS TOOTH DECAY 12 HOURS OR MORE! IN FACT, CLINICAL TESTS SHOWED THE GREATEST REDUCTION IN TOOTH DECAY IN TOOTH PASTE HISTORY!

LATER—THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM!

THIS NEW ROMANCE IS STRICTLY DUE TO WHAT NEW COLGATES DID FOR SUE!

Even If You Brush Your Teeth Only Once A Day Colgate Dental Cream Gives The Surest Protection All Day Long!

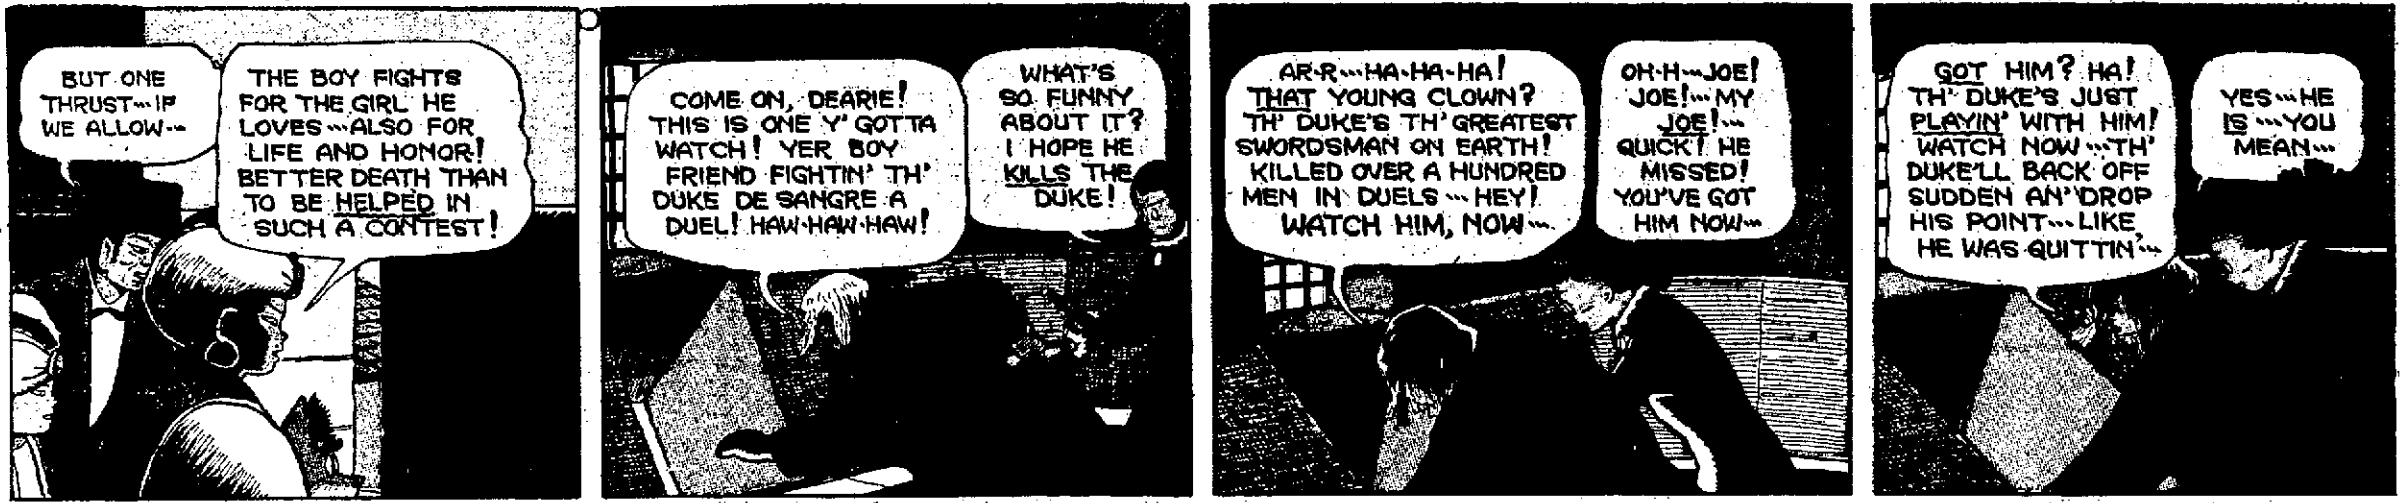

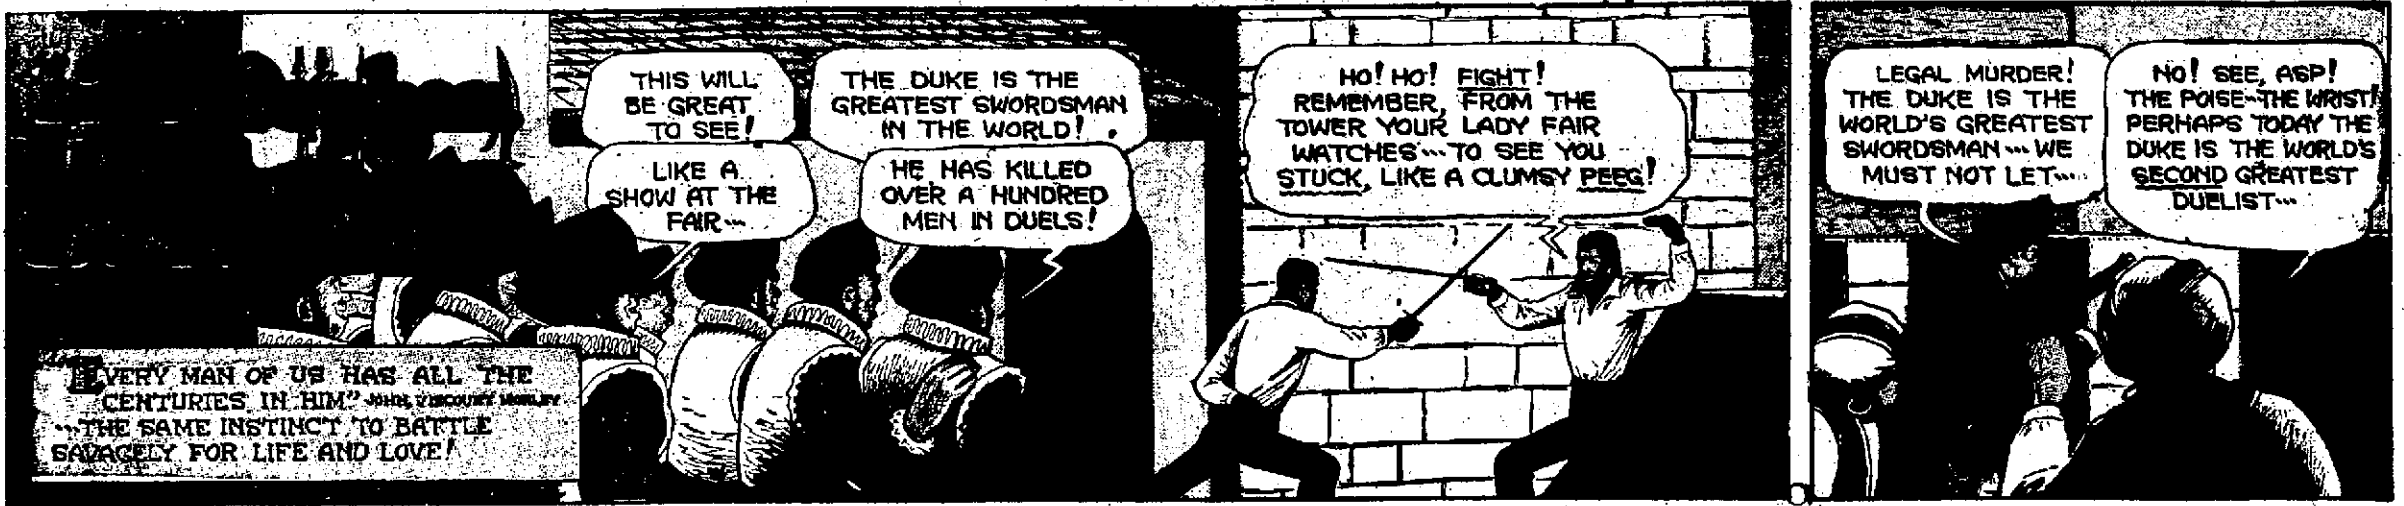

Brushing For Brushing, It's The Surest Protection Ever Offered By Any Toothpaste! Because Only Colgate Dental Cream—Of All Leading Toothpastes—Contains Gardol! To Stop Bad Breath Instantly—Guard Against Tooth Decay Longer!

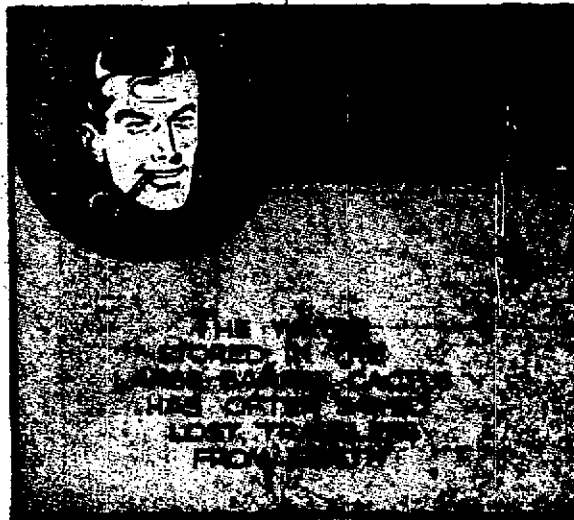

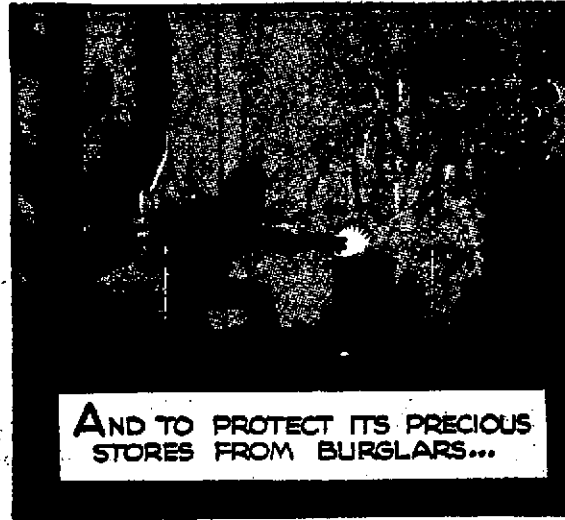

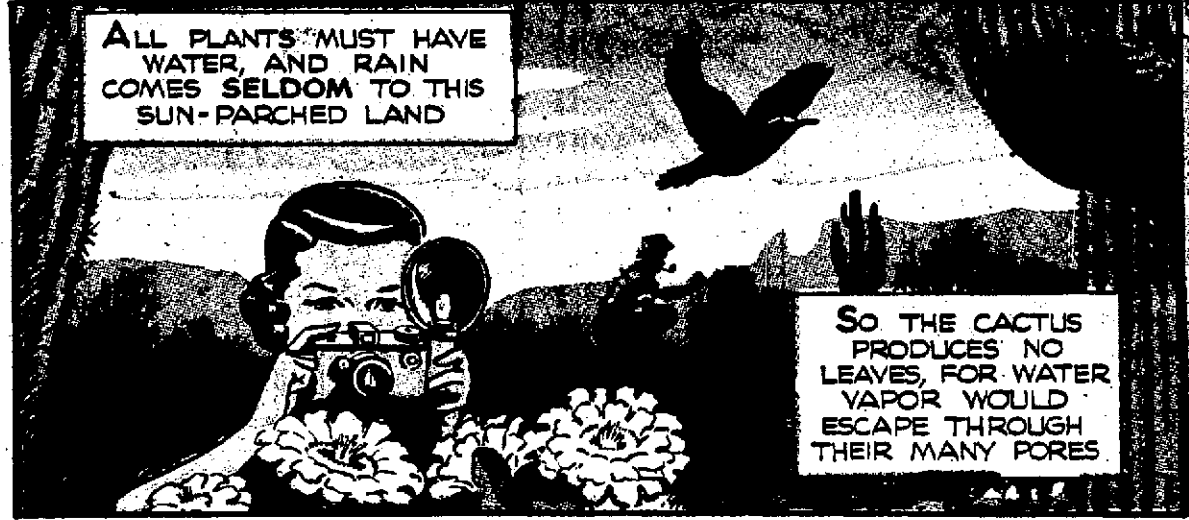

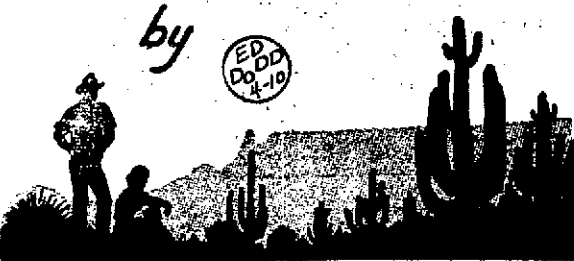

Gardol, Colgate's wonderful new decay-fighter, forms an invisible shield around your teeth. You can't feel it, taste it, or see it—but Gardol's protection won't rinse off or wear off all day. That's why Colgate's with Gardol fights tooth decay 12 hours or more!

This is the kind of CLEANLINESS every woman wants in a wash!

A lineful of clothes—fresh—bright—sweet as clover! This is the kind of wonderful washings you can expect to take out when White King Soap goes in your washer.

The reasons?

WHITE KING Soap washes clothes so white—so clean.

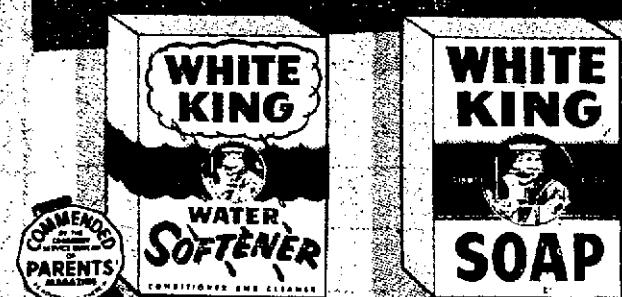

WHITE KING Soap washes dirt out of heavy work clothes so easily—and so thoroughly.

WHITE KING Soap is so kind to fabrics and colors.

WHITE KING Soap gives you such dependable washing results in any washing machine—conventional or automatic.

Remember:—White King is the original soap for washers. There's never been a washday soap made anywhere to equal or surpass it. In fact it is so good—that in White King territory—more women prefer and use White King Soap than all other brands of washing machine soaps combined.

1-2 WASHING METHOD

1.—Soften your wash-water with WHITE KING WATER SOFTENER to give you the miracle of soft-water washing even in hardest water.

2.—Add just the right amount of WHITE KING SOAP to give you sufficient suds. This "1-2" method saves you up to HALF on soap.

This "1-2" WAY-TO-WASH helps rid clothes of heavy soil. It's the perfect combination for any washing machine... CONVENTIONAL- OR AUTOMATIC!
